Eight Thousand Persons Killed In German Revolution

Should French Expand

STIRRING DEBATE IN OTTAWA LAST EVENING--DISTINGUISHED SPEAKERS.

THE RESULTS

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, March 22.—"Should the French Canadians remain within the confines of the Province of Quebec or colonize the other provinces of Canada? This much discussed and controversial question which has been debated intermittently in French Canadian political and journalistic circles during the past half century again surged forward last night on the occasion of the annual public debate of French Debating Society of Ottawa University at the Russel Theatre.

A large and distinguished French Canadian audience filled the theatre. The oratorial treat provided by four of the ablest debaters of Ottawa University, revealed real eloquence and argumentative powers of a high order in their bid for victory and the gold medals offered by French Canadian Educational Association of Ontario for the best speeches.

The three biggest, who were Mr. Ernest Lapointe, M.P. for Quebec East and members of the oCuncil of Public Instruction of the Province of Quebec. Rev. Father N. L. K. Lafamme, O. M. I., pastor the Sacred Heart parish and Mr. Charles Lecklerc, President of St. Jean Baptiste Society of Ottawa.

The judges, however, reached a unanimous decision. Mr. Lapointe, who announced verdict, adjudged Messrs. Tache and St. Denis the best speakers in the order mentioned, and also the winners of the debate. In making known the result of the debate Mr. Lapoint remarked that if he had been guided by his personal opinions rather than by the merits of the debate, he would champion the cause of French-Canadian expansion outside of Quebec.

RECORDS YOU SHOULD KNOW

Here are new Victor Records obtainable in the Victrola Parlours of Ye Olde Firme of Heinzman & Co., Limited, George and Hunter streets, Peterborough, Ont., that will give pleasure to everyone who owns a Victrola—ad who does not. The records are: Non a ver ('Tis Not True), McCormack, $2.00; Arm, Arm, Ye Brave (Judas Maccabaeus), Witherspoon, $2.00; Pastorale, de Luca, $1.25; Little Firefly (Wah-wah-Taysee), Powell, $1.25; Lord is My Light, McCormack, $1.25.

THE WEATHER

Yesterday, according to the almanac, was the first day of spring. The sun rose in the true east, and set exactly in the true west. The day and night were exactly equal. This year the season has come along according to the usual schedule, and up to the present time is neither early nor late. The prospects are for still milder conditions for a few days. An odd spring bird is already here, but the great immigration is yet to come. Some yellow grosbeaks with their handsome plumage, were seen at noon, but it is likely that they will soon be taking their departure farther north. A robin here and there has been reported for a month past, but it looks as if some of these fellows had forgot to depart last fall, and had taken their chances of the severity of a winter in this section. Observers of bird life claim that the birds of some species are remaining all winter to a greater extent than ever, more particularly in western Ontario.—W. P.

SITUATION IS BECOMING QUIETER IN THE CAPITAL

FIGHTING CONTINUES IN MANY PARTS OF GERMANY—A NEW CABINET WILL BE FORMED.

STRIKE SITUATION

(United Press.)

LONDON, March 22.— Despatches here to-day indicated the situation in Germany is becoming somewhat quieter.

A new cabinet will be formed with the co-operation of the Labor Unions.

Officials of the Von Kapp insurrection will be punished.

Re-organization of the Adminstration through appointment of Republic officials.

Socialization of industry, including nationalization of mines and the potash industry.

Stronger measures to conserve and increase the supply of foodstuffs, prosecution of illicit traders and new agrarian measures.

Re-organization of the Reichawehr under leadership of Republican officers with special recognition of the labor unions.

Removal of all known reactionaries from the government.

The Right Socialists parties have decided that Gustav Noske, Minister of Defence, Gustav Bauer, Chancellor, and Herman Mueller, Minister of Foreign Affairs, must be dismissed according to a News Agency despatch from Berlin.

Karl Legien, secretary of the General Trades Union Commission, has been mentioned to succeed Bauer, the despatch said.

Conditions in Berlin Becoming Normal.

Berlin was beginning to assume a normal aspect to-day although it was admitted the situation has not yet cleared. Radicals were electing revolutionary councils to-day. These councils to-morrow will vote on the Labor Unions proposition to call off the general strike.

Some restaurants and theatres have re-opened. A special train arrived from Stuttgart to-day. American correspondents, who came on the train, which carried President Ebert cabinet said that the train was stopped at Chemnitz, where Spartacans searched it. They said they were hunting for Defence Minister Noske, but he was already in Berlin.

The Red Army Well Armed With Artillery

(Canadian Press.)

BERLIN, March 22.—The Ministry of Defence announced this morning that conditions in the Ruhr district were becoming worse. Towns of Oelde, Ahlen and Drensteinfurt, in Westphalia had bee taken by Communists, it was stated, and the movement was spreading north and east. Pitched battles have been fought the Ministry's information showed and two crack government troop regiments have been forced to fall back on the fortress of Wesel on the right bank of the Rhine, north east of Essen ,after heavy losses had been sustained on both sides. The red army, it was added, was well armed with artillery. Spartacan forces in the Ruhr valley, number at least twenty thousand, while other estimates place the number at forty thousand.

Strike Situation.

(United Press.)

BERLIN, March 22. — The Independent Socialists, it was reported, demand additional concessions over these grants by the government Saturday, when the Labor Union leaders agreed to call off the strike. The Independents believe that the serious situation in West Germany where many town are in control of Radicals, will force the government to grant its demands for still more radical reforms.

Claims Increased.

(Canadian Press.)

PARIS, March 22. — Negotiations between members of Ebert government and party leaders of German National Assembly and delegates of workers, which have been going on at Berlin are declared in official British report to have been interrupted because of an increase in claims of workers. Eight thousand persons have been killed since the revolt broke out on March 13 according to advices received here. Of this number 850 were killed in Berlin alone.

Supplies Shut Off.

(United Press.)

PARIS, March 22.— The American Mission in Berlin has presented Premier Bauer with a communication declaring the United States cannot furnish any more food to Germany if a Soviet government is established, a Berlin despatch to-day said.

OPENS CAMPAIGN AGAINST BANKERS

MANITOBA GOVERNMENT REACHES LAST LAP IN THE FIGHT.

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, Man., March 22.—On Tuesday next Hon. Edward Brown, Provincial Treasurer, will launch his campaign against the bankers of Canada who he claims refused to give him money at six per cent. for Manitoba rural credits societies. Mr. Brown will introduce a bill into the Legislature to provide power for the provincial treasury to accept deposits for rural credits societies. This is the last lap of the war on part of Provincial government and rural credits societies on the matter of interest rate which shall be charged organizations. The government has done everything in its power to secure co-operation of banks with the societies, but the banks have refused to do further business with societies unless they are permitted to raise the interest rate from 6 to 6 1-2 per cent.

The Provincial government will pay 4 per cent. on all deposits for use of rural credits societies, according to a bill which will be brought down. The government in the coming election will use the bankers' position as an election cry with the farmers.

ALADDIN BUILDING NEARLY COMPLETED

WOOD USED THROUGHOUT ON CONCRETE FOUNDATION—IS WELL LIGHTED.

The Dickie Construction Company of Toronto have nearly completed the Aladdin Co.'s factory immediately south of the Henry Hope company. The building, 100 feet by 200 feet, is finished and workmen are steaming the ground inside, drawing the frost preparatory to laying the concrete floor. A siding has been built from the G.T.R. and reaches along the entire length of the lot to the north side of the building. March 15th was the date set for the completion of the building, but it is understood that there is no penalty clause in the contract. The work was begun in January and was rushed through the extremely cold and prolonged winter.

DEEPLY STIRRED BY ASSASSINATION

NO CLUE TO MURDERERS OF LORD MAYOR OF CORK.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, March 22.—Despatches from Ireland during the week end show the murder of Thomas MacCurlain, Lord Mayor of Cork, to have produced an intense if subdued sensation throughout Ireland. In Dublin consternation was created by the assassination and citizens are looking to the future with anxiety and alarm. The Motive of the murder continues as mysterious as ever. No arrests have been reported nor, so far as known have any clues to the perpetrators been obtained. London has been deeply stirred by the incident, and newspapers which, while unreservedly condemning crime, maintain it does not differ from those which have long terrorized Ireland.

Dominion G.W.V.A. Convention Opened In Montreal To-day

DELEGATES TRAVEL ALL THE WAY FROM THE YUKON—ALBERTA SENT FORTY DELEGATES AND BRITISH COLUMBIA SENT A WOMAN DELEGATE—DOMINION CONVENTION WILL BE EASIER THAN ONE HELD IN PETERBORO.

Special to The Examiner.

MONTREAL, March 22. — Following closely on the convention of the Ontario G.W.V.A. Convention, the Dominion Convention opened here at 10 o'clock this morning, in the Windsor Hotel.

There is every indication that the five days in which the delegates will deliberate will prove to be of unprecedented importance.

Four hundred delegates have registered, representing branches from Dawson City to Halifax, and owing to two other conventions being held at present in the city the local branches of he G.W.V.A. have had great difficulty in finding accommodation for everyone.

All roads lead to the Windsor Hotel. The Montreal organization has placarded the main streets with numerous arrows. These all point towards Windsor Hall

Took one Month to Reach Montreal

Great enthusiasm is much in evidence. It has taken W. L. Johnson of Dawson City one month to reach his destination. He represents a branch of 96 members in the Yukon.

Alberta has sent a grand total of 40 delegates here and judging from their conversation they are among the most eager of those assembled. Twelve thousand dollars is the cost of bringing these men to Montreal.

Halifax is well represented and British Columbia has a quota of 30 delegates.

For the first time in the history of the G.W.V.A. a woman will take part in the deliberations of the convention. Mrs. W. Garlan Foster is her name. She comes from Nelson, B. C. Interviewed she evinced unusual enthusiasm for the mission of the Great War Veterans Association and showed herself exceptionally well versed in the problems contronting returned soldiers.

Mrs. Foster is the widow of the late Captain W. Garland Foster. Before the war he was a British Columbia newspaper man, and in the war Adjutant of the 54th Battalion. The lady delegate has the honor of being Canada's fourth Alderman. She was elected to the city council of Nelson, on Jan. 17th and was immediately appointed chairman of the Street Railway Committee. She obtained admission into the G.W.V.A. by virtue of her services overseas with the British Red Cross.

Many Contestants in Presidential Race.

There are several possible candidates, although it is conceded that R. B Maxwell of Winnipeg, and Canon Scott of Quebec, will probably be in the lead at the finish.

The Toronto delegates are confident that S Stalford will be successful in becoming the First Vice-President of the Dominion Command.

President W. P Purney of Halifax arrived in the city last night, but it is uncertain whether he will remain during the whole period of the convention against the expressed wishes of his physician.

This convention will be just a little bit different to the one held by Ontario last week in Peterboro. In some ways the Dominion convention will be easier on the delegates. There will be no evening sessions. All the business will be transacted during the morning and the afternoon.

To-night the Central Branch of the local G. W. V. A. have arranged for a social function in the Khaki Club.

To-morrow night a civic welcome will take place in the Rose Hall of the Windsor Hotel.

Last night the Resolutions committee which has been working for five days, finished its work. Over three thousand resolutions were presentd to it by th various branches throughout the country through the Dominion secretary, C. G. MacNeill. These three thousand have been boiled down to thirty major resolutions and will incorporate every problem of returned men brought to the attention of the G.W.V.A. up to date.

Mr. W. J. Black, chairman of the Soldiers' Land Settlement Board at Ottawa, arrived here yesterday afternoon and attended last night's meeting of the Resolutions committee. He conferred with the membrs on all the various resolutions affecting his department.

At ten o'clock this morning the credential committee began their work and were busy until noon. Thn the numerous other committees appointed for the five days were announced.

Among the many delegates assembled for th convention are: Major G. W. Andrews, M.P. Winnipeg, Brig.-Gen. James Kirkaldy, Winnipeg, H. F. McCleod Fredericton, Prof. W. G. Tait and Pro. C. McMillan, McGill University, R. B. Maxwell of Winnipeg, First Vice-President T. Days of Edmonton, Major R. D. Ponton, Belleville, S. Stalford, Toronto, Dr. C. E. Wilson and Col. A. T. Hunter, of Toronto, R. H. Rawlinson and T. Armstrong, also from Toronto, Canon Scott, Quebec, Col. J. J. Creelman, Montreal, Col. Penhale of Shawville, and L. S. Woods, President of the Calgary branch.

A New Scheme of Gratuities.

Seen to-day Mr. Woods stated that he intended to bring up before the convention his new scheme of gratuities, which he brought before his branch a short time ago. It is a plan based on length of service and in some respects resembles that which Col. Margeson of Ottawa, presented before the Parliamentary committee last October.

It is hard to say what effect the Ontario convention will have in the Dominion convention now in progress. For instance the policy of open door passed the Provincial gathering without much difficulty. But everyone realized here that same question may have a harder path to travel here in Montreal Ottawa, Nova Scotia and several other parts of the country are against it.

TO ALL PAINTERS.
THERE IS AN OPEN MEETING ON TUESDAY, MARCH 23, OUR ORGANIZER AND OTHER SPEAKERS WILL BE PRESENT AT 8 O'CLOCK. SEC. 2d-69-8330

NEWLY ELECTED MONARCH HAS DECLARED A BOYCOTT

COUNTRIES EXCLUDED

(Canadian Press.)

BEIRUT, March 22.—Emir Feisal, the newly elected King of Syria, has declared a boycott against the countries occupying the territory of the Arabs—France and Britain, and has organised a commission for the purpose of bringing Moslems and Christians into a better understanding.

Posters displayed at Damascus, where the Syrian Congress proclaimed the independence of that country, declared: "In spite of himself, the Moslem is a brother to the Christian and Jew. Arabs existed before Christ, Moses, or Mohammed, and freedom and independence are the rights of Syria. Religion is of God and the Fatherland belongs to His children."

The Syrian Congress signed a decree asking foreigners to evacuate that region, and Palestine and Mesopotamia are reported to have been specifically included.

A committee has been organised in Lebanon, which has issued a statement alleging that the district was illegally represented in the Congress of Damascus when the independence of Syria was declared.

Lebanon is a section of Syria supposed to be strictly loyal to France and anxious for the French mandate, but the Turkish Nationalists and the Syrian movements are so general throughout Syria and Cilicia that it seems improbable that France can continue her occupation of the districts there unless she receives strong reinforcements.

The entire Adana section is in a ferment, and the roads are infested by hillmen co-operating with the Turkish Nationalists, who make the position of thinly-scattered French forces perilous.

C. G. MacNEILL,
Secretary-Treasurer of the Dominion Command of the G.W.V.A., which meets in convention in Montreal commencing to-day.

FAIR DIRECTORS WILL GET PLANS

COW BARN IS FIRST NEED—MANUFACTURERS' BUILDING IS ASSURED.

The Fair Directors revised their prize list for light horses on Saturday and made considerable increases in the prizes. The specials in this class will be discontinued this year and more attention paid to the standard horses in this class.

The directors decided to call for plans and prices for a new cow barn. Two sets will be obtained, one to include a concrete floor which would be a big advantage for a winter show, and the other without the special floor. The grant received from the County Council will be especially devoted to this work, and the city's money will be spent on new lavatories and other permanent improvements.

The site of the lavatories has not yet been agreed upon; but it has been practically settled that an extension will be made to the grandstand. In the meantime the manufacturers and merchants reporting encouraging intentions. Their new building will be directly north of the present one. It is understood that they have fully decided to erect it themselves in their desire to develop the exhibition and to assist the directors by relieving them of this expenditure.

Pictures Are Not Always Truthful

Some Mail Order Houses Find Them Very Useful in Their Business

Can "Doctor" Photograph

Concerns Can Give Wrong Impressions with Illustrations While Sticking to Truth in Descriptions

"Figures never lie," it has been claimed, but this is far from the truth. The defaulter, who has "doctored" his books in such a way that he has escaped detection fro years, knows that figures can be made to lie. The shrewd politician who knows how to juggle statistics, knows that they can be made to tell a story that is far from the truth.

But there is another medium of expression which is also supposed to be a stickler for truth but which is a greater prevaricator than figures. That is a picture. A picture of any person or thing supposedly is an exact reproduction of the oringinal, but this is frequently only a wild supposition. The photographer who did not make his picture tell a little fig now and then would soon go out of business from lack of patronage.

Pictures Better than Words.

Pictures have come to occupy a very important place in the life of the world in recent years. It has been said that for newspaper purposes a picture which tells its story strikingly is worth more than columns of written words on the same subject. Newspapers and magazine have realized the truth of this fact and as a result pictures are used profusely in illustrating the news and the action of the day.

No one has been quicker to realize the possibilities of the picture when properly—or it might be said improperly used, than the mail order man. He has realized that a picture will do more to sell his kind of merchandize than a column of words and figures. One reason for this is that it is harder to catch a picture in a lie than it is printed words and figures. For instance if you sell a man a table on the strength of a printed statement that it is 48 inches wide and if when he table reaches the customer it is only 36 inches wide the customer not only has a moral right to kick but he has a legal right to accuse the seller of obtaining money under false pretences. However if the customer buys a table which looks in a picture to be 48 inches wide but which proves upon its arrival to be only 36 inches wide, he has no legal grounds upon which to base a complaint if the seller has not told him so in so many words that the table was 48 inches wode.

Some unscrupulous mail order houses have taken advantage of this selling power of pictures in a very ingenious way. They adhere strictly to the truth in the actual measurements given in the catalogues of the articles which they have to sell. They may employ descriptions which exaggerate the qualities and appearance of the articles offered but when it comes down to actual measurements, the descriptions given are technically correct Then these concerns rely upon their pictures to sell the merchandize, realizing that a picture will make a deeper impression upon the mind of the prospective buyer than the actual figures given. A picture of a wide roomy bed will attract the eye and the reader probably will not stop to measure off the width of the bed as it is described in the catalogue to see whether it is as wide as desired. Figures in the abstract mean little to the average reader and do not convey the impression that is given in the picture.

A former manager of a mail order house tells how his concern manipulated pictures in this way to suit its purposes. It has pictures of ill chairs retouched so that the legs seemed to be an inch and a half in diameter, when they were really less than an inch. It made narrow beds appear in the picture to be wide and comfortable. Posts of iron beds that were really an inch in diameter were made to appear as if they were three inches in thickness. These things are easy for any competent artist to do.

Patron has no Recourse.

This concern however adhered rigidly to the truth in the measurements included in the descriptions. Customers who found when they received their goods were not what they expected, could kick, but it would do them no good. The mail order house could show that it had set forth the measurements truthfully in catalogs and there was no recourse for the customer.

There is no question but that pictures will lie sometimes without any manipulation and the person who buys an article of merchandize from a picture is taking big chances even though the picture is not intentionally altered to give a wrong impression. Any amateur photograhper knows from experience how the camera often will give a wrong idea of proportions.

The only safe method is to buy from the local merchant where one sees the article itself and not a picture of it. The article itself cannot lie about its dimensions at least.

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unsurpassed."

MONDAY, MARCH 22ND, 1920.

A FEW REASONS.

Vote for the Canadian General Electric By-law to-morrow:

Because it means that an additional $120,000.00 in wages will be distributed in Peterborough every month.

Because it means employment for local carpenters, bricklayers, etc., in the erection of the new plant.

Because it means the addition of over 1,000 employees to the present staff.

Because it means that other extensions the company will find it necessary to make will be erected here.

Because the extension of the fixed assessment of the company is only carrying out an agreement made ten years ago Because the securing of such a plant means growth and progress for Peterborough.

Because the defeat of the By-law would be helping to build up some other city at the expense of Peterborough.

TO-MORROW'S VOTE.

The result of the vote on the Canadian General Electric By-law will have a deeper significance than the mere aiding or otherwise of a local industry for the submitting of the measure is a test of the ratepayers and of Peterborough's chances of developing into that bigger and better and busier city that so much has been talked about and read about in recent years. A substantial majority in favour of the C. G. E. By-law will be an unmistakable sign that the people of Peterborough are for progress and advancement.

Conversely a decision against the measure will be an evidence of stagnation and narrowness that will not advertise Peterborough as a city that is growing and flourishing.

We are always prattling about new industries, their value to a community and the impossibility of making progress without them. When Oshawa or Windsor or Hamilton or some other Ontario city lands a promising manufacturng concern, we sigh enviously and talk about how fast those places are growing and how prosperous they are.

Well, to-morrow Peterborough has the opportunity of securing an industry that will spend a million dollars in buildings and machinery, and will pay $120,000.00 a month in wages. To make sure of this large plant, it is only necessary to carry out what was agreed upon between the company and the city ten years ago, and to renew the fixed assessment of $150,000 for another ten years.

Never was a big concern offered to any city on such easy terms, and no wonder other centres are making offers of much more lavish concessions to snatch the new plant of the Canadian General away from Peterborough. The verdict rests with the people who have the privilege of voting to-morrow. If they mark their ballots in favour of the By-law, Peterborough will get a million-dollar concern. If they defeat the measure, the prize will go elsewhere, and with it all hopes of any further extensions that may be decided upon by the company.

The benefits that will follow the erection of such a huge addition to company's plant in this city so far overbalance the little issues that are being dragged herring-like across the trail that the intelligence of the voters can be relied upon to see the real issues and staunchly support the By-law.

SUZERAIN OF EUROPE.

Having by its action virtually decided that the United States shall not be a member of the League of Nations, which is charged with the task of maintaining the peace of the world, the U. S. Senate proposes that Uncle Sam shall assume the role of dictator to Europe. In 1895, in the course of the dispute over the Venezuela boundary question, Secretary of State Olney flatly told Lord Salisbury that the United States is suzerain over the whole Western Hemisphere. Now, if the U. S. Senate adopts a resolution endorsed by the Republican leaders, the U. S. will claim a sort of suzerainty over Europe. This is the resolution:

> It shall be the declared policy of this Government that the freedom and peace of Europe being again threatened by any Power or combination of Powers, the United States will regard such a situation with grave concern, and will consider what, if any, action it will taken in the premises.

It is equivalent to a threat that if any European Power or combination of European Powers behaves in such a manner as to merit Uncle Sam's disapproval, Uncle Sam will go over and wallop that Power or combination of Powers.

It is conceivable that a result of the threat will be the declaration of a Monroe doctrine for Europe.

But why should the U. S. Senate be satisfied with limiting the extension of American suzerainty to Europe? Why not to Asia and Africa, too? In both the latter continents there is great danger now, and will continue to be danger, of breaches of the peace, Are not they also entitled to the blessings to be derived from American admonition, interference, and, if necessary, beneficent coercion? There is some danger that our Uncle Samuel may be too modest and unassuming.—Hamilton Herald.

THE HOUSING PROBLEM.

The scarcity of houses in Peterboro coupled with the steadily climbing rents, is one of the most important problems, that is before the people at the present time. So serious is the situation that the City Council, the Board of Trade, the Trades and Labour Council, the Great War Veterans Association, and other public and semi-public bodies, would be performing a great service to the community if they would use their best efforts to find a solution to the problem. There is no other public question now that is of more importance and with the building season at hand there is need of haste if anything is to be done to remedy the conditions. First, of course, the decision of the Drury Government on their policy in connection with the housing problem will have to be awaited. If the new Government decides to carry on the policy adopted by the Hearst administration, the $200,000 asked for by the local Housing Commission will sooner or later be available, and building will commence under that scheme. But if the Government's decision is against a continuance of the arrangements of last year, what is to be done? The organizations mentioned at the beginning of this article should ask themselves that question and endeavor to find a way out of the difficulty.

The situation briefly is that in the whole of Peterboro there is not a score of vacant houses, and these naturally are not all of a desirable nature. There will be no hope for new industries under such conditions for it will be impossible to house the employees, and manufacturers looking for a site will be afraid to take a chance. And the man who does not own his own home is suffering, for he is in daily fear that the house will be sold over his head, and he will have to start on the almost hopeless search for a new habitation.

"The moral well being of its citizens is a responsibility which rests to a great extent upon the shoulders of the city council. That body must, if it would live up to its obligations, at least make an earnest effort to solve the housing problem which exists in this city. One cannot expect to find the highest type of morality when as many as seven people of different sexes are forced to occupy one room, or when families have to live crowded together in dwellings which have not the slightest semblance of sanitary conveniences. Children growing up under such conditions are unfairly handicapped in their effort to face the battle of life. Their physical well-being must be neglected. The parents are not altogether to blame, for it is a well-known fact that for every house which becomes vacant in the city to-day there are dozens of applicants. We believe that the people who live in those houses which should be condemned are eager to get out of such surroundings, but where can they go? There are no houses available of a type to suit working class families. Where houses do become vacant, the rents are so high as to make them prohibitive to working class people. The shortage is alarming, and if the Board of Health was in a position to do its full duty, there would be an impossible situation in Kingston in Kingston.

"Is it not time then that the matter was brought up in council in a serious manner? The council we will admit, has many burdens to bear this year but it might well make an attempt to find a satisfactory solution of the housing problem. From the point of view of civic morality it is essential that a remedy must be secured, and surely with the experience of other cities to guide them, the city council of Kingston can put forward something that will meet the urgent needs of the case.

THOS. A EDISON GLAD EIGHT HOUR DAY WAS MISSING FROM HIS YOUTH

Thomas A. Edison reached the 73rd milestone of his life on February 11th. Most men at that age consider that they are through with active participation in the business affairs of the world. But not so with Mr. Edison. He is as physically active as most men who are many years younger and his mental powers are in full bloom. And, instead of anticipating a permanent vacation from the decades of ceaseless toil for which he is famous, Edison is eagerly looking forward to the many years of accomplishment which, he believes, will be his great possession.

"On my birthdays, I like to turn for a moment and look backward over the road I have traveled," was the opening sentence of his birthday message to his fellowmen.

"Today, I am wondering what would have happened to me by now, if, fifty years ago, some fluent talker had converted me to the theory of the eight hour day and convinced me that it was not fair to my fellow workers to put forth my best efforts in my work," continued Mr. Edison.

"I am glad that the eight hour day had not been invented when I was a young man. If my life had been made up of eight hour days, I don't believe I could have accomplished a great deal.

"I am not against the eight hour day, or any other thing that protects labor from exploitation at the hands of ruthless employers, but it makes me sad to see young Americans shackle their abilities by blindly conforming to rules which force the industrious man to keep in step with the shirker. If these rules are carried to their logical conclusion it would seem that they are likely to establish a rigid system of vocational classes, which will make it difficult for a working man to improve his condition and station in life by his own efforts. I have always felt that one of the principal reasons for American progress in the past has been that every man had a chance to become whatever he wanted to be. It used to be fashionable to be ambitious. The employees planned to become an employer; the unskilled man sought to become more skilful. A young man was not well thought of, if he was not striving for a higher place in life. There appears to have been a change in recent years. The present disposition is seemingly to say, in effect: "I am what I am and so I shall remain. I aspire to nothing better than my present job. I ask for nothing, except larger wages and shorter hours."

"Of course I realize that leaders of Union Labor have their political problems and that they must appeal to the collective intelligence of their followers, which is lower than the average individual intelligence of the same men, but there ought to be some labor leader, strong enough and wise enough, to make Trade Unions a means of fitting their members for better jobs and greater responsibilities. I wonder if the time will ever come when the Unions, generally, will teach their members how to be better workmen, and train the ablest and most ambitious to become bosses and employers. In other words, will Trade Union grasp its opportunity to become a school of industrial and commercial training for its members—the poor man's college and a friendly rival of our technical institutes and schools of commerce? If that time ever does arrive, Trade Unionism will bon, of the world"s greatest forces in social progress, and I think there will be a much better understanding between capital and labor."

In Mr. Edison's private studio, bushels of congratulatory letters and telegrams from all parts of the world, and flowers in profusion from admirers of his genius awaited him. President Wilson's message was as follows: "I cannot deny myself the pleasure of sending a message to be read at the celebration of Mr. Edison's seventy-third birthday. I am proud to count myself among the friends and admirers of Mr. Edison and beg that you will convey to him my warmest congratulations and my hope that he will see many very happy returns of the anniversary, marked by an increasing number of scientific triumphs. Cordially and sincerely yours.—Woodrow Wilson."

Among the most unique and most appreciated presents to Mr. Edison were those from Edison Phonograph Jobbers. A framed testimonial, that Mr. Edison will treasure, was presented to him by the Edison Disc Jobbers' Association. The testimonial contained the pictures of all the members of the Association; the pictures were arranged to form the number "73." The message of the Association to Mr. Edison, which appeared below the pictures, was: "We, the above officers and members of the Edison Disc Jobbers' Association, extend to you our felicitations and congratulations on this the seventy-third anniversary of your birth. We trust a Divine Providence will permit you to remain among us contributing your genius for the welfare of humanity.—Canadian Phonograph Journal.

GIFTS FOR THE HOME FOLKS.

CHAPTER LXXVII.

Years afterward I knew that it was my outburst of several days previous that had caused Everett to ask me if I were happy and to dance with me—that he had been dwelling upon what I said about having young company, like the boys and girls at home. And he had determined to try and give me a little more pleasure—himself. He feared the effect of young people upon our life together. They might make me discontented. This really had been the cause of his refusal to let me go home or to have some folks visit me.

Had he told me then, explained that he would have allowed young company had he not feared it would make me discontented, I could have assured him on that point and perhaps might have had courage enough to tell him that I had learned to love him so well that no one could take my affection from him. When he was kind and pleasant, and with me, I asked for nothing more. It was when I spent long days and evenings alone that I longed for companionship, and naturally for those of my own age.

So the days passed — occasinoal happy ones when Everett was kind and considerate, others when I felt terribly lonely and alone. Thomas and James were both about attending to their duties. The burglar never had been caught. The detective insisted that my ticket had given him his chance, so making me feel that I was in a way to blame for the loss of my sapphires.

I had been married just two years when Everett said:

"If you wish I will take you home for a visit."

"You really will! You will go too?" I exclaimed. I never could become accustomed to his sudden kindnesses. He had many times asolutely refused me permission to visit my home, always saying that he would let me go after a while.

"Yes. I would have taken you long ago had it been for the best. I wished you to become thoroughly acquainted with me, with your duties as a wife before you returned to the compannions of your girlhood. I did it for your own sake although you may think it strange. You are older now, have more poise etcetera. You will perhaps know better how to maintain your dignity as a wife, even when your young friends call me 'grandpa' and other names because I am older than you."

"They really didn't mean anything, Everett," I apologized, my face flushing. I had forgotten that he had heard them call him grandpa: nor had I the slightest idea that my younger brother had told him.

"I know they didn't ,and care nothing about it, save that now you are more capable to holding your own with them. I shall take you, leave you for a couple of weeks then come for you. I have business near there." he explained.

I was delighted to go home. Hetty helped me to pack, and I insisted that she put in all my pretty clothes, although she declared I wouldn't have time to wear them if I were to remain away only two weeks.

I didn't say so to Hetty, but I thought that if I couldn't wear them I could show them to the girls. Mother ,too would be glad to see what a handsome wardrobe I had.

The day before we were to start, Everett gave me a $50 bill.

"Get some little trifles for your people," he said.

I thanked him, really very much pleased at this thoughtfulness. I took the car, called for Alice Sloane and spent a happy afternoon shopping. I bought material for a dress for Mother, a soft challie for afternoons, a set of boys' books for my brothers, and a dressing jacket for Dad. I showed them all to Everett before I packed them, and he said I had used very good judgment in my selection.

"Here's a box of sweets to add to your gifts," he said handing me a five-pound box of candy. "Your Mother, as I remember, was foud of sweets, and the boys surely will not dislike them."

I scarcely knew how to act when Everett was like this. But I thanked him profusely then packed them, after which I went back down stairs, onl yto find he had gone out without telling me.

"Mr. Graham was called out. He told me to say that you need not sit up for him," James informed me when I asked where he was.

"He's probably gone to say goodbye to Irma Barton" I said to myself, all my good feeling because of his kindness gone.

Voice Of The People

To the Editor of the Examiner,

Sir,—As an Aldeman of the city I ought to be able to give a reason why I am favorable to giving the Can. Gen. Elt. Co. the fixed assessment asked for. Because—Any industries that send out representitives, and have come here for the purpose of finding out what inducements we have to offer for them to locate here. They have not been established in our midst or grown up with us, and we are in the dark some what as to their future. We are assured of the future in this company and on their improvements we are sure of the full amount of taxes for schools, and local improvement which means one third of the tax rate for 1920.

Because—We know all about this company that they are a reliable, financially strong, and a going and growing concern, with a great future for their products.

Because—The Can. Gen. Elt. Co'y gives a great deal of employment outside their shops in this city. On many occasions have the foundries in this city been short of work for their employees, and have secured contracts from the C. G. Elt for castings which enabled them to keep running and give employment.

Why hold out inducements to new concerns to locate here that very little is know of, and not recognize one who is needful to this city.

Because—They employ all classes of labor and pay just as good wages as they are compelled to, the same as do any other large concerns, or companies, or individuals for that matter. I have yet to work for any firm who will pay any more.

Because—They are established here and we want all the improvements and buildings to be placed here for once here we can in future deal with them accordingly.

Just so long as firms put up improvements that will justify encouragement I will be favorable to them.

THE BALLOT.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Will you please state if it is proper, when voting by ballot, to demand that the name of the voter be signed to the ballot? Have you ever known of a ballot being taken with the instructions to the voter that the ballot must be signed or it will not be counted? I had always thought that voting by ballot was a system of voting secretly, by ballot or tickets. Originally, I believe, a ballot was a ball, for secret voting—white and black balls to indicate the affirmative and negative. Does not a signature or an initial on a ballot divorce it from its intended value?—Yours, Voter.

Editor.—Webster's Dictionary defines the ballot as the "act of voting by a written or printed ticket, whether secretly or not."

As a general rule balloting is a secret method of voting, but the society or organisation reserves the right to prescribe its own individual form or method of accomplishing this result.

MUCH ROLLING STOCK FOR CANADIAN ROADS.

Equipment ordered by the Canadian Pacific Railway recently will amount to $15,000,000, the major portion of which will be constructed in the company's own car shops at Angus.

As was stated recently, the Canada Car and Foundry Company of Montreal is filling orders for cars for the C. P. R., involving approximately $5,000,000. This business, in addition to the $25,000,000 worth of rolling stock ordered by the C.N.R. from Canadian companies, brings the total amount of current business under this category to $40,000,000.

A large order for locomotives has been placed by the C.N.R. with the American Locomotive Company, which is not included in the above total.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. VOTE FOR C.G.E. BY-LAW

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,—The following are some reasons why I think every ratepayer should vote for the C.G.E. by-law on Tuesday:

If it was a new factory coming here we would tumble over oureselves to vote for it.

If a new factory came here to employ 1,000 hands we would give them the exemption. Why not the C.G.E.?

If it was a new factory coming we would give them fixed assessment and fifteen acres of land. The C.G.E. ask for only a fixed assessment. They bought the land they intend to build on themselves.

Because, in a sense, when a factory becomes established it belongs to the people. It is a place for citizens to work in. It increases the value of every man's property. For example if every fatcory moved from Peterborough this year what would your house and lot be worth. We would be simply a village.

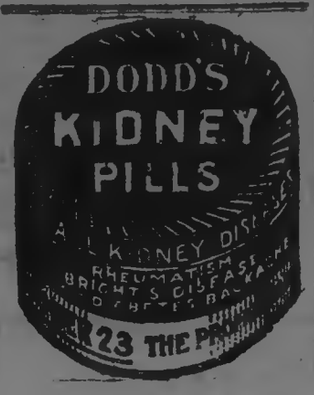
Because sooner or later honuses to factories will be done away with. Then we will have the factories and the taxes too.

If our city was without factories our property would not be worth twenty cents on the dollar. Hence, if the factories we have make property worth what it is, why not get more factories?,

I am a heavy taxpayer., but I will vote for the C.G.E. fixed assessment by-law that will provide more work for the people of this city.

I think Lindsay, Port Hope, Campbellford would vote almost anything for this extension factory of the C. G.E.

Your sincerely
R. C. BRAUND.



LESS CANADIAN BEEF NOW GOING TO BRITAIN

The export movement of beef from Canada to Great Britain has been slackened temporarily by the fact that considerable stocks are now on hand in the importing market. There have been liberal shipments from Argentina and the United States, shipping space has been freer and a more extensive movement of food products has been possible in recent months The present condition of the British market is viewed as merely temporary. The movement of Canadian beef overseas is likely to resume in the near future in normal volume.

HORSE MEAT SUPPLY.

To supply the demand for horse meat in certain parts of Europe the development of a new industry is proceeding at Calgary and is supplying a market for the large number of small superfluous horses in the west. Contracts for 5000 barrels of horse meat, boned and salted, have already been made, and as on the average there will be one horse to a barrel 5,000 animals will be required to fill the contract. A permanent industry will doubtless develop with the European market.

PRESENTATION TO RIDDLE FAMILY

FAMILY IS LEAVING LAKEFIELD COMMUNITY.

The combined Ladies' Mission Circles of the Baptist church gave a very excellent programme in the Sunday school room. F. Ashton took the chair and the following was the programme:

The chairman called Deacons McDonald, Darling and Riddle, also Mrs. Riddle to the front of the platform at the conclusion of the programme, and the folowing gifts were presented by Deacon Darling to Mr. and Mrs. Riddle and son Murray: A beautiful cut glass dish for Mrs. Riddle; a gold signet ring for Mr. Riddle and a fountain pen to Murray.

Mr. McDonld read the following address which was very feelingly responded to by Mr. Riddle on behalf of himself and family.

The meeting closed by the singing or "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," and Benediction by Deacon Campbell.

To Mr. and Mrs. J. Riddle, Lakefield,

Dear Friends and son Murray,—It is with exceedingly great sorrow and regret that we are compelled to say good-bye to you. We were hoping against hope that you would be able to see your way clear to remain amongst us for some time to come, but evidently it has not to be. We shall miss you more than we care to think about at this present time. Mr. Riddle will be missed from the Ladies' Mission Circle ,of which she has been a member for so many years. Her attendance has been so faithful, and her interest to the cause of missions has been so intense that at the present we sacrcely know how we shall get along without her. We know that her faithfulness will bring its own reward. The Deconate, the Sabbath school, the Choir, the Board of Management, the church in all itc activities will miss you Brother Riddle for you have always been so faithful as Deacon, Superintendent, Choir Leader and Organist that it makes your going from us a very severe loss indeed. Our will be the loss in every way, but we know it is going to be for the gain of God's kingdom in some other part of His vineyard. We shall miss the, bright intelilgent face with which Murray attended Sabbath school and church, and his earnest attention to the lessons. Your going from us is also deplored by the community of which you have been very worthy citizens. We do pray that God will bless and direct your future in B.C., and if ever your heart long to bring you back to Lakefield, and the little Baptist church, remember there will ever be a great welcome awaiting you.

Kindly accept these gifts from the members and adherents of the church, as something tangible whereby we might ever be remembered. They are but very small tokens of the great love and esteem in which you are held by us. "God be with you till me meet again. Keep love's banner floating over you" On behalf of the members and adherents of the Lakefield Baptist church.

Frederick Ashton, Pastor.
Bruce Kidd, Clerk.

BE SUSPICIOUS OF TENDER GUMS

Be suspicious of any tenderness or bleeding of the gums. This is usually the first stage of Pyorrhea—an insidious disease of the gums that destroys the teeth and undermines bodily health.

Gradually the gums become spongy. They inflame, then shrink, thus exposing the unenameled tooth-base to the ravages of decay. Tiny openings in the gums form gateways for disease germs to enter the system. Medical science has traced many ills to these infecting germs in the gums weakened by Pyorrhea.

They are now known to be a frequent cause of indigestion, anaemia, rheumatism and other serious conditions.

So watch carefully for that first tenderness or bleeding of the gums. Try Forhan's immediately. It positively prevents Pyorrhea (Riggs' Disease) if used in time and used consistently.

And in preventing Pyorrhea—it guards against other ills.

Forhan's (For the Gums) cleans teeth scientifically as well. Brush your teeth with it. It keeps the teeth white and clean.

If gum-shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

CONDITIONS DESCRIBED AS SERIOUS

(Canadian Press.)

BERLIN, March 22.—Conditions in Germany were described by the Defence Ministry this morning as "extremerly serious."

"You cannot paint the situation throughout Germany too black," an official of the Ministry declared to the Associated Press correspondent after surveying the reports which arrived during the night.

Southern and Eastern parts of Germany are reported quiet, although the unrest was said to be spreading among the agricultural population in Pomerania and Mecklenburg.

Berlin is quieter, while in the Halle district the position was reported worse, from a Government aspect.

The Ministry cited an instance where a company of volunteers had been overpowered by Spartacan forces, its officers killed, and their bodies mutilated. This took place at Johannestal.

The adjacent streets still present the aspect of an armed camp.

The little food still obtainable through illicit dealers is bringing high prices. Of rationed foodstuffs, neither potatoes nor bread could be obtained during the past week.

MAKE EVERYONE WORK

Crown Prosecutor for Winnipeg Would Revise War Measure.

WINNIPEG, March 22.—Revival of war-time compulsory labor order as a permanent regulation, providing that every person over 16 years of age must be engaged in some useful work, is adocated by R. B. Graham, Crown prosecutor for Winnipeg. The only objection to the Federal order when it was in force, he says, was that it hit some rich men.

THE SERVICE AT TRINITY CHURCH

ONE OF THE "SEVEN DEADLY SINS"

At Trinity church on Sunday night the pastor, the Rev. F. E. Malott, gave the closing sermon of the series on the "Seven Deadly Sins". His theme was "Avarice". The other sins dealt with were, Pride, Anger, Envy, Sloth, Lust and Intemperance.

Dealing with Avearice he said that some men regard it as peculiarly an Anglo Saxon Sin; that the English speaking peoples are more inclined to chase the Almighty dollar than any other race. Thomas Carlyle once said: "There is one hell that all Englishmen fear yet and that is the hell of not getting on" and a recent American writer has said that Bank Clearings are the only Bible that Wall street reads and that poverty is the only unpardonable sin.

The Mediaeval writers who wrote about the Seven Deadly Sins used to describe them as giving birth to many other sins and the daughters assigned to Avarice were numerous and ill-favoured.

"Among the Sins that are the offspring of Avarice", said Mr. Malott are covetousness, theft, gambling, embezzlement, murder, selfishness, hate, and miserliness. Men grow hard-hearted and selfish as the love of money grows upon them.

Speaking of the cure for Avarice, the speaker said that three convictions will save us from this sin.

First, there are better things than money. Money is a good thing, but good health, a cultivated intelligence, a sympathetic heart, a clear conscience are all better.

Secondly: Money is not an end but a means; and when men make money (and it is a man' duty to make all he can honestly) if they regard it as a means of doing good, it can be made a great blessing. No man who regards himself as a steward of wealth will ever be the slave of money.

Thirdly: Money cannot be kept forever. Some day if it does not leave us, we shall leave it and we shal' be poor indeed if all we have is locked up in stocks and bonds and and mortgages and bank accounts in this world.

The whole series have been followed with great interest by the congregation.

CHARGED WITH SERIOUS OFFENSE

"Will you plead guilty or not guilty?" asked the Magistrate.

"I don't want to plead anyting till I know vot I get", was the outstanding answer given by the accused that caused a peal of laughter in the court room.

Joseph Micolucci an Italian gave this answer in this morning's Police Court when he appeared charged with a serious offence under section 301 of the Criminal Code.

On the request of the Crown the case was remanded till Friday the 26th to secure necessary evidence as to the girl's age and for the case to be gone into carefully. After some indecision Micolucci decided he did not want a lawyer to defend him.

WOMAN'S ART ASSOCIATION

Lecture on Interior Decorating and House Furnishings.

The interest of women in the decorating and furnishing of a house was plainly evidenced by the large audience which a lecture on this subject, given by Miss Muriel Stark, of Toronto, attracted to the Woman's Art Association Studio last Saturday afternoon. Miss Stark who has made a successful study of this branch of Art, proved herself a bright and interesting speaker and her talk was thoroughly enjoyed by those present.

In introducing the subject, Miss Stark said that although women have always loved beautiful things, it is most necessary to remember that a collection of beautiful things do not necessarily mean a charming home. The speaker then gave some general rules, referring to the decorating of walls, ceilings and floors, which are the background of any room; the choice of hangings for windows and doors ,the placing of furniture, the hanging and the arrangement of pictures, and, finally, the selection of accessories, such as cushions and ornaments, rules of which must be adhered to in order to produce a pleasing and harmonious effect.

A short musical programme, consisting of an instrumental solo by Miss Weatherhead, and a vocal solo, "Absent," by Miss Helen MacLaren added to the enjoyment of the afternoon.

Mrs. Vincent Eastwood presided over the meeting and tendered to Miss Stark a very hearty vote of thanks of the audience which was moved by Mrs. Fessenden, and seconded by Mrs. F. J. A. Morris.

MISS MABEL S.DESCHANES a popular and attractive young woman of Lewiston, Maine, is now an ardent champion of Tanlac, since she began using it a few weeks ago.

Miss Mabel S. Deschanes, a popular and attractive young woman residing at No. 7 Bartlett Street, Lewiston, Me., is now an ardent champion of Tanlac, since she began using the medicine a few weeks ago.

"I prize Tanlac above every other medicine, even that which was prescribed for me," said Miss Deschanes, in relating her experience recently. "I dislike publicity but there are so many others who no doubt suffer as I did, I feel that I ought to tell them about it.

"I had been a great sufferer from indigestion and had been under the doctor's care for six months without relief. At the time I began taking Tanlac I was on a very rigid diet and at times I could not retain food of any kind. Even cold water would cause extreme nausea. I suffered from loss of appetite, severe cramping pains after eating and extreme nervousness.

"Finally my condition got so bad I simply had to give up and go to bed until I got relief. I was unable to go down town to do my shopping and although I had been under treatment for six months there seemed to be no relief for me. Honestly, I don't believe I would be alive now if I hadn't gotten Tanlac, for I was suffering terribly and getting worse all the time.

"Finally my sister persuaded me to try Tanlac. I improved from the very first and one bottle did me more good than the six months' treatment. Why I actually gained four pounds in weight while taking this one bottle. I have now taken four bottles and I feel just like a different person, and am eating just anything I want; in fact everything seems to agree with me perfectly. I am now able to do my shopping without becoming fatigued in the least and am no longer nervous like I was.

"Tanlac is simply wonderful, and I cannot praise it too highly."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd.; in Havelock by A. C. Denike; in Lakefield, by the Tanner Drug Co., Ltd., in Fowler's Corners, by W. A. Hunter, in Gelert by A. J. Scott; in Westwood, by G. Pringle and Son.

MR. DUMBLE ON C.G.E. BY-LAW

Fallacies—and the C.G.E.

When the C.G.E. years ago, sought privileges at Peterborough, we all worked hard to secure them for the Company. It was freely admitted that bonusing manufacturers was unsound in principles, but if we did not get the C.G.E. Some other place would, then some said, It will enlarge the town, it will broaden the shoulders that bear the city burdens and we won't feel it. So we gave them a fixed assessment $150,000 and other benefits. The C.G.E. was planted here. Results:—Influx of people, influx and growth of school population. Demand for more schools, more teachers etc. Enlarged civic expenditure in streets, sidewalks, sewers etc. More taxes to be levied off the broader shoulders of the larger population.

Now apply this to all the other manufactures. They all help to expand expenditures and to expand demands for more taxes. The shoulders are broader but the burden of taxes is increased, when burdens are increased for picturesque bridges, schools, sewerage disposal etc., that are in the foreground, what will the result be? The factories are loading us with children and poor people who get work in the factories, but who pay very little in taxes, what is the result? Enlarged taxes! Do the new people pay their way. The answer is—No. Every exemption is the placing of new burdens on the people. The new companies escape their just share of tax to the extent of the exemption, and they load that exemption on the people. It is fun for the company, it is dead for the people. When the Government by their statute law prevented the people from granting exemption for more than 10 years it recognized that exemption was unsound in principle. The Government declared that they would not permit the people of to-day to impose unsound legislation on the people for indifinite periods and the fixed the limit at 10 years.

The City papers are urging that the citizens are bound in good faith, to do what the Government 10 years ago prevented them from doing—and now the same law is in force and they are forbidden to extend the exemption over another 10 years. The C.G.E. has had in the way of exemption all the people of ten years ago were allowed to give, namely, ten years exemption. If the people abide by the law they will have kept faith with the C.G.E.

This great company has done well in Peterboro. They have paid big dividends, their stock is high in the market, why not let them bear their honest share of the City taxes? Why load on the people's shoulders any more than their own share of the taxes. As to the new expendtiure exempt them all above the fixed assessment to be agreed upon, but don't encourage the people to think they are under a moral obligation to do what the law in force ten years ago and today forbade and now forbids. That is, to make a 19 years exemption into a 20 years exemption to bind the next generation totally against sound principles and against the spirit of the law.

The C.G.E. stock is quoted in the Toronto papers at 105 that is, 5 per cent over par. It is a good investment. Why should the heavily taxed ratepayers of Peterborough be asked to pay any part of the taxes of this prosperous company Why should we put this burden on the next generation? They have been largely exempt for 30 years and now want more—I submit that there are very many more institutions in Peterboro as deserving of exemptions as the C.G.E., but don't get it. We acted rashly in putting a $300,000 millstone on our necks in the shape of a superflous bridge. We have a $250,000 school now building and a $200,000 sewerage disposal plant on our hands and already taxes that practically are expropriating our property so that it is fast becoming the property of the City and no longer owned by the citizens. Where is this business to stop

If the C.G.E. want to extend their shops deal liberally with them for the next 10 years but stop there and put and end to this unfair robbery of the people by exemptions that are continued by engineering that is in power of the people to put an end to.

I certainly will deem it my business to vote dead against further exemptions to the C.G.E. in their old plant and property which it is as just to tax as is the house I live in.

REJECTS SIR OLIVER LODGE DATA ON "THE AUTHORITY OF THE LORD" —A SERMON ON "LISTENING TO THE DEAD."

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, March 22.—"I reject, on the authority of the Lord, all the scientific data concerning communication with the dead so ably presented by Sir Oliver Lodge," said Rev. S. J. Farmer, B.A., during the course of a sermon on "Listening to the Dead" at the morning service in McPhail Baptist Church.

"The most pathetic sight that I know of is that of an eminent scientist and scholar, Sir Oliver Lodge, coming to the United States and Canada to preach the gospel of Spiritualism," continued Rev. Mr. Farmer, referring to "the spectacle of a man of his Sir Oliver's magnificent intellect, going before audiences for $1,500.00 a night, and professing to believe in rappings, trances, etc., as mediums of communication with the dead."

Mr. Farmer deprecated, without qualification, the whole theory of spiritualism.

"While I haven't the shadow of a doubt of the survival of those who have passed beyond, in the first place, it is impossible that they could return to this earth: and in the second place, we couldn't understand them if they did," he said.

PURCHASED SITE IN THE EAST WARD

LOCAL BRANCH OF OIL COMPANY MAKING ADDITIONS.

In order to extend the capacity of their present plant in the city, which is at present situated beside the Metal Products Company, the Canadian Oil Company, the Canadian branch of the National Refineries of the United States, has purchased the land and building on the corner of Hunter street and the G.T.R. crossing, East City, from Mr. Claude Rogers, and will in the near future transfer their entire plant from the present situation to the new property. The purchase of the new site was necessitated by the fact that no more land was available in the present quarters, while the company purposes extending the plant in order to establish a general wholesale plant for the purpose of making shipments to the different cities which come under the local district.

The Additions.

The building on the new property will be sheeted and used for general purposes such as the disposal of grease, etc., while the two tanks owned by the company will be moved from their present quarters to East City and installed with two new ones. The work of altering the building and installation will commence immediately, as the spring shipments will be taken to the new plant. The Canadian Oil Company manufactures the White Rose gasoline and all Enarco products.

BUTTER SUBSTIUUTE POOR MAN'S FRIEND

WHAT PETERBORO GROCERS HAVE TO SAY.

Regarding the recent agitation in the matter of asking the Government to allow the manufacture of oleomargarine to become permanent in the Dominion, several Peterborough grocers state that the product has been the poor man's friend during the winter and but for oleomargarine many would have gone without butter or a substitute. One grocer maintained that while the dairy interests are possibly against allowing the continued manufacture it does not in any way interfere with the price of butter, as the poor man could not and would not touch butter at anything like the price which is asked, and is perfectly satisfied to use the substitute. A small amount of margarine is sold to housekeepers for cooking purposes, many of them having found it more satisfactory than butter and lard, but is not used widely enough for this purpose to materially affect the price of butter.

BENSON NAMED AS INFORMANT

"WOULD AS SOON FIGHT BRITISH AS THE GERMANS."

(Canadian Press)

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Rear-Admiral William S. Benson, the then Chief of the United States naval operations, was the official who told Rear-Admiral Sims "not to let the British pull wool over your eyes; we would as soon fight them as the Germans." Admiral Sims testified to-day before the Senate Naval Committee.

Admiral Sims said the remark was made at the time that he received final instructions from Secretary Daniels preparatory to his departure for England, on the eve of the entry of the United States into the war.

He added that the remark was made during a conversation, and not in the course of formal instructions.

Witess declared that Admiral Benson repeated the admonition on two subsequent occasions but he had paid but little attention to the staement, as he believed Admiral Benson was intensely anti-British.

SCRAPPING THE NAVAL SERVICE

NAVAL LEAGUE OBJECTS TO THE PROPOSED POLICY.

Special to The Examiner.

OTTAWA, March 22. — A statement with regard to the demobilization of the Canadian Naval Service, will be made in the Commons within two or three days. Until it is made, Hon. Ballantyne, the Minister of the Naval Service will say nothing. It is stated however in authoritative circles that the news published so far is practically correct. Orders for the demobilization of the service were not however given Mr. Ballantyne until he had consulted with his colleagues of the Cabinet on the matter, and reached with them a decision.

Demobilization of the Canadian Naval Service follows the decision of the Unionist caucus held recently at which it is stated plans of Admiral Jellicoe looking to the establishment of a Canadian navy, were turned down in a decisive manner by those present.

The attitude of the caucus and decision of the government to demobilize the naval service men, will mean that Canada will lose a fleet of ships valued at pre-war figures at $16,500,000.

Admiral Jellicoe in his report stated that the Imperial government would be willing to present to the Dominion a number of specified vessels worth approximately that sum, on condition that Canada embark on a naval programme involving an annual expenditure of about five millions.

Special to The Examiner.

TORONTO, March 22. — Protesting against the action of the government in stripping Canada of all naval defences and abandoning its naval policy, the Navy League of Canada has issued a call to all branches of the organization in the Dominion to press upon the government the imperative need for the development of Canada's naval forces. All the members of the Dominion Cabinet have already been memorialized to the above effect.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I have been reading the letter signed J. J. Turner in Saturday's issue. He states that two considerations should be taken into account with regards to the C.G.E. fixed assessment, first the by-law passed in 1906 and second the amount of extensive buildings they now intend to build. By-law number 1228 passed on the 16th day of May, 1906, passed by the city council fixing the assessment for 20 years. When they looked up the Municipal Act they found that the citizens had the say whether it should pass or not, and when they found that the odds were against them, they applie to the Legislature for assistance to help them, which they did to the extent of changing the period from 20 years to 10 years, which may be renewed by the consent of the people. Now, sir, the company say that they have carried out their part and now wants the city to carry out their part. I say that the city's part, as drew up in the agreement, ceases at the end of 10 years and up to date the city has carried it out to the letter, and now the company comes and says that if you don't renew our assessment for another ten years they will consider the city acted in bad faith. Now sir, what grounds have the company to make such a statement as bad faith. I think that the bad faith lies with the C.G.E. Co.

In regards to the second consideration that is the amount of building they intend to build. If they go ahead with the plan that they are working upon it would bring more people to our city and what would be the outcome. With no housing accommodation it would mean more slums in our city. Senator Nicholls was asked if the C.G.E. would undertake to build some houses for these workmen, seeing that there was a scarcity of houses in the city and he said that they could not entertain such a scheme. The reason of that is because there is no money in it for them, so you can see who they want to bear the burden of our city. What do they care for the workers so long as they can pile up the big profits. They want our own peopel in the city to go ahead and build houses and pay the taxes that they are trying to get out of paying. Now, sir, I think that the C.G.E. are unreasonable to come and ask for a renewal of their assessment of $150,000 for a further term of 10 years. Why not given them a fixed assesment of $150,000 for 10 years upon the new building and increase the amount upon the remainder of the plant, which I think they are entiled to pay. Let us be fair with the company; we do not want to put anthing in the way that is unreasonable to them. I think Mr. Editor that I am voicing the opinion of many of our citizens and I hope that the people of our city will consider the small amount of assessment that the C.G.E. have at the present time and when the ballot is in their hands to stop and think of the taxes that they have to pay, and then cast their eyes toward the Hunter street bridge and consider who has to pay for it, and as a last resort take a trip down the river and think of that sewage disposal plant, and when you have done that weigh these questions very carefully and ask yourself the question, are the C.G.E. entitled to help pay for these undertakings. If you think they are, vote to that effect, and if you think they are we as citizens should pay all the expense, vote accordingly. Hoping Mr. Editor, that I have not taken up too much of your valuable space, I remain.

Yours sincerely,
F. TUGGEY.

KEEPING TRACK OF THE STRAWS

(By H. F. GADSBY)

(H. F. Gadsby.)

The first division in the new building will not soon be passed on to the limbo of forgotten things. It was full of significances. It showed how all the winds of opinion blew.

The division and the debate that led up to it showed first and foremost that Union Government intends to hang on, accidents barred, until it perishes by effluxion of time. It is going to eat, drink and be merry for the day after tomorrow it may get better. Wait and see—that is the case. Its tired heart may be beating funeral marches to the grave, but the expectations are that the funeral will not reach the cemetery for two years yet.

The Government still has a majority of thirty four between it and destruction. There is little danger that the thirty-four will melt away because they know that when Union Government goes they go. Consequently they stick until death does them part. It is Hobson's choice. Their friends expect them to be brave and to do certain necessary but disagreeable things which, only a Government dedicated to death can properly do. For instance they can frame a Franchise Act, neatly blended of rep-by-pop for the cities and proportional representatives for the country, which will take most of the fever out of the farmers' movement by making the city man's vote of equal value with his country brother's. To build such a Franchise Act and accomplish the redistribution of seats based upon it means waiting on the decennial census next year which gives the government an excellent excuse for lingering a year after that. The Government may well exclaim "The farmers' movement saves our life."

With two years of precarious existence ahead of it a deep gloom settles on the Government which is reflected in the faces of Messrs. Meighen, Rowell and Calder who begin to realize that, whoever comes out on top, what he leads is nothing but a case of suspended animation. Brother Calder is probably the most resigned of the three. Feeling that his future in the West is largely past he seems to have settled down to the idea that a big Government job in the East will be a fitting crown to his career. There is that in his face which advertises a heart for any fate which will draw a salary as big as Frank Carvell's. Jim is full of silence, serenely and sundry, because he knows that he will go the way all good Liberals go who leave Union Government for the higher life on some Royal Commission or other.

Great Hopes Blasted.

Not so Leader Rowell, who cherished at one time the ambition to be premier, if only for fifteen minutes. But what is that premiership now? Ashes in the mouth! Dead Sea apples! Nothing to it because the Unionist party is appointed to die. It lives only so long as Sir Robert Borden says so. It hangs on his breath, so to speak, and when his breath gives out or goes on strike, Union Government is at liberty to hang itself somewhere else. There is no great pleasure in acting as the central figure of a funeral procession and that is the most Leader Rowell can aspire to now.

There is no home for him in the Liberal party—the home having moved in the direction of the Farmers' party which leaves even such a militant crusader as Mr. Rowell a long way behind. Mr. Rowell is sad and disinrited and does not show a cheerful countenance to the world. He lacks Mr. Calder's adjustable philosophy. His zeal for public life is not surefired with six years in the limelight. He would fain have more of it. A Judgeship in the Supreme Court, is worse than burial for such a flaming patriot, and yet what else is there when the Liberal party waves "Good bye" and the Conservative party says "What's your hurry? Here's your hat."?

Beyond doubt Mr. Rowell is downhearted. So is Arthur Meighen—though not quite so downhearted as Comrade Rowell. For Mr. Meighen there is still shelter in the Conservative party, though not as leader. That proud eminence goes to an Eastern man of greater vision and more popular gifts than the member for Portage La Prairie. Mr. Meighen had nourished the project of continuing the Unionist party, not so much for the party's sake as for his own. He had his eye on the job of first fiddler and had the party showed stamina he might have carried his plan through and landed the job. Even yet he may be leader of the Unionist party, but what's the use when the word has already gone out to kill it. At the end of two years or sooner Mr. Meighen would be dragging a corpse around. He is a young man with a future and he can't afford to be balled up with a corpse delicti that way.

Mr. Meighen's project was well conceived. He was going to disinfect the Unionist party, pack it in mothballs and call it the Moderate Party, but all this went glimmering when the Big Fellows put up their man to say that the party they intended to revive was the Liberal -Conservative party and that the best the Unionist Party could expect was a two years reprieve. Thus and so were Mr. Meighen's great hopes crucified. He still has a career in the Conservative party, but it is as Able Lieutenant. The Captain will be somebody else.

Enter Sir Thomas.

The Captain has already declared himself. That declaration was the second significant thing in the debate on the address. It was done toward the need of the debate and was regarded by all the wise men in the House as Sir Thomas White's straight tip as to what party to bet on. The Liberal-Conservative party, with its girth let out to take in the tariff Liberals—that's the horse for your money gentlemen. The Liberal-Conservative party with Sir Thomas White up. Make your bets, gentlemen.

Not that Sir Thomas said it just that way. It is not in him to be brutal. He was gentle enough, but firm withal and though Mr. Meighen's face dropped with a dull sickening thud as he listened to the words which stopped all new parties or sprightly disguises for old parties so long as the Liberal-Conservative party was able to do business at the old stand, Sir Thomas went through with his task. He was cruel to be kind. I think Mr. Meighen flung away ambition right there—at any rate the ambition to break his head against the stone wall the interests have raised. Mr. Meighen must come when Sir Thomas rubs the lamp. As for Mr. Rowell he did not even try to hide his dismay. Other Unionists applauded wildly their impending doom, but Mr. Rowell never lifted a finger by way of praise. Mr. Rowell is in hard luck. One day he gets a facer from Sir Thomas White and next day the Hon. Charles Murphy strips him to the Nessus undershirt of Uplift which he finds was financed by Toronto philanthropists. It would perhaps be better for Mr. Rowell if he said less about the sacrifices he made to enter public life and stood by the good Old Testament doctrine that he woh serves the altar lives by the altar. If he did we should probably hear less of this Murphy-Rowell feud which, sooth to say, grows irksome.

A Triumph of Tactics.

The third matter of significance was the farmer's attitude toward the MacKenzie King amendment. The amendment was a triumph of tactics. It shows Leader King either a fine strategist or well advised—perhaps a little of both. The amendment was devised for that very purpose—to line the U.F.'s up where they belonged—with the Liberal party. An immediate election? That was a ruse. It was a pit that the farmers were bound to walk into because they are the only people that would benefit by an election at this moment. I have been watching the House of Commons from the Press Gallery for twenty years and never in all that time have I heard a speech that changed one vote, much less an amendment to the address in reply which jolted twelve reluctant politicians into their right place. Reluctant? Of course they were! Didn't Dr. Michael Clark wipe his boots on the amendment before he admitted that he would vote for it "on general principles."? His action was typical of all Mr. Crerar's little band. They hated to do it—but they did it. They were dragooned into recognizing their real friends.

This vote on the amendment is the first step—and a long one toward the rapproachement between Liberals and Farmers, a natural alliance in view of the fact that the Liberal tariff policy was good enough for the farmers before a little success at the polls turned their heads. The Liberal tariff policy is likely to be the tariff policy of the Liberal-Farmer coalition because it more nearly represents the common sense of the tariff issue, and the Farmers are gradually learning common sense. I say it advisedly—the farmers are learning humility. Five months ago they knew it all—today they are not so sure. Five months ago they were evangelical; today, from a Liberal point of view, they are almost orthodox. If you don't believe me read their speeches in Parliament—particularly Mr. Crerar's latest one. Few threats and less slaughter there.

TO FIGHT INFLUENZA IN AIR

Hungarian Professor Calls on Meteorologists to Aid in Battle.

BUDAPEST—Meteorologists are called upon to fight influenza in an appeal issued through the American Red Cross by Professor Detruss, head of the medical faculty of Budapest University. He asserts that the influenza germ is the smallest encountered by scientists and, because of its light weight, it is caught up by air currents and carried hundreds of miles to other districts. He thus accounts for the steady and rapid travel of the malady.

Professor Detruss declares the microbe has a strange property of remaining in air currents close to the earth, and never rising above 2,000 feet. He appeals particularly to meteorologists in America and Europe to organize a system of notifying the world, during influenza epidemics of the direction of air currents so that endangered districts in the supposed path of the microbes may take adequate precautions to prevent infection.

All Fat People Should Know This

The world owes a debt of gratitude to the author of the now famous Marmola Prescription, and is still more indebted for the reduction of this harmless, effective obesity remedy to tablet form. Marmola Prescription Tablets can now be obtained at all drug stores or by writing direct to Marmola Co., 864 Woodward Ave, Detroit, Mich., and their reasonable price ($1. for a large case) leaves no excuse for dieting or violent exercise for the reduction of the overfat body to normal proportions.

LABOR TRUCE TO END.

Conclusion of 'Peg Strike Trial Will Renew Union Feuds.

WINNIPEG, March 22.—A general shake-up in the management of Labor affairs in Winnipeg is to take place as soon as the trial of the strike leaders is concluded, it is currently reported around the Labor Temple. The truce between the 'international' faction and the One Big Union, declared for the duration of the trial, will be over then and there is every indication that warfare between the two factions will be renewed with more bitterness than there was when the white flag was raised. Squabbles in the Workers' Defense Committee over the manner in which funds raised for the strike leaders' defense have been spent have served to widen the breach between the radical O. B. U. element and the so-called conservative or "international" group.

GEO. WILLIAMSON, SIMCOE STREET HAS SOLD TO JOHN SMITH AND HAROLD FREEMAN.

The public in general will greatly appreciate the news of a very important barber business transaction, which was accomplished during the past week-end, when Mr. Geo. Williamson disposed of his interest at 144 Simcoe street, to two well known tonsorialists, under the personality of Mr. John Smith, who conducted a flourishing tonsorial business on George street, and on being called up during the war, necessitated the disposal of his previous business, but now is taking up business again along with Mr. Harold Freeman, the well-known 93rd Battalion barber, who was four years overseas. They hope to merit a share of the public patronage by giving strict attention to all tonsorial requiremens, cleanliness and skilful workmanship necessary for the benefit of the public. Many of their old customers will get the same confidential treatment by coming along to 144 Simcoe street.

DOCTOR URGED AN OPERATION

Instead I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Was Cured.

Baltimore, Md.—"Nearly four years I suffered from organic troubles, nervousness and headaches and every month would have to stay in bed most of the time. Treatments would relieve me for a time but my doctor was always urging me to have an operation. My sister asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before consenting to an operation. I took five bottles of it and it has completely cured me and my work is a pleasure. I tell all my friends who have any trouble of this kind what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."—Nellie B. Brittingham, 609 Calverton Rd., Baltimore, Md.

It is only natural for any woman to dread the thought of an operation. So many women have been restored to health by this famous remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, after an operation has been advised that it will pay any woman who suffers from such ailments to consider trying it before submitting to such a trying ordeal.

You Can See That Grape-Nuts

contains its own sugar

and the first taste verifies it

Hold some Grape-Nuts in the palm of the hand under a good light and you will see tiny shining particles on each granule. This is dextrin—partly converted sugar. But with your first spoonful comes the sweet taste you recognize, the fully converted sugar within the granules.

The famous Grape-Nuts method of making, converts the starches of wheat and malted barley. You get the result not only in flavor but easy digestibility and valuable nutrition.

Other cereals lack this sugar

Isn't this a good thought in connection with the high price and scarcity of sugar?

Flo-Flo and the Perfect 36 in John Cort's "Flo-Flo" at the Grand, Wednesday.

"NIGHTIE NIGHT"

"Nightie Night," billed by its producer, Adolph Klauber (associated with the Selwyns), as a naughty-nice farce, will be the attraction at the Grand Opera House for matinee and night performances on Saturday, 27th March.

Francis Byrne, who won elevation to a featured spot in the cast as a result of his individual triumph in the piece, comes with "Nightie Night" and all the original cast, including Dorothy Mortimer, Suzanne Willa, Malcolm Duncan, Marie Chambers, Grant Mills, Ruby Craven, George W. Pierpont, and Cyril Raymond.

This is the play which won almost as much renown over night as did "Twin Beds" in a season, and which has a season engagement at the famous Princess Theatre in New York, the house of spontaneous hits. The offering comes direct from the Princess, with the original production as complete and intact as the cast. In fact, Mr. Klauber has made contracts with the members of this company to form a permanent comedy and farce organisation from the members of this cast, and they all will appear in another production under his management next season, or at the termination of the "Nightie Night" tour.

"Nightie Night," although likened by the critics to many farces, is in a class by itself. It proves that a farce can be really funny and entertaining without offending the finer sensibilities. Although one of the women has to romp through two whole acts in night attire, it is done so jolly and happens so naturally that the sense of delicacy is never lost. It is the work of Martha M. Stanley and Adelaide Matthews, both of whom have had plenty of theatrical experience, but who had never won quite as much fame by anything else they did as with this farce. Mr. Klauber, the producer, although new to the public as an individual producer, had long been associated with The Selwyns in many of their greatest successes prior to this independent enterprise. Long runs in New York are not always indicative of merit, but in the case of "Nightie Night" nothing else influenced the play's run, for theatres were in too great demand to permit the forcing of runs. It has "pep," zest, and life, and is a roar of laughter from start to finish, as one of the Metropolitan critics said, and lived through its successful New York run for no other reason.

General motors made a new record high at 409 up 29 pts. About the time the new high was made the committee on securities of the stock exchange ruled that ten shares of temporary certificates shall be a delivery for one share of old common stock. This put heart into the bears who had been badly crippled in a quick run up Saturday and early to-day. They started selling old stock once more and broke it from 409 to 389 1-2 or nearly 20 points. Certificates made an early high at 40 within one point of the old high on the curb some months ago. Chandler made a new record high above 155 and Studebaker a new high for the year at 110 1-2.

Oil stock took a second place, although their advances in some cases were almost as rapid as motors. Mexican Petroleum jumped to 202 Followed by a five point re-action. Pan American made a new high for the year close to 105.

THE LOCAL GROCERS HAVE A GRIEVANCE

FIND THEMSELVES LOADED UP WITH A NEW GOVERNMENT FORM.

Contending that it will necessitate the engaging of an extra staff and unlimited extra labor the grocers of the city, resent the recent order from the Board of Commerce and Trade at Ottawa compelling them to send a detailed account of all sales and purchases in their stores to the Department monthly. They state that such a statement would be impossible to supply without the engaging of a cost accountant and a book-keeper, as in reckoning the profit of each article the cost of the upkeep of the store would have to be substracted from the actual purchase price and again that many of their payments for eggs and butter for which they must also account are made in groceries.

The list of commodities which must be supplied embraces practically every article sold in a grocery store. No reason for the order is given.

RECORD SCORE IN TEN PINS

GOOD GAME PLAYED BY MR. PERCY KING.

On Friday night at the Water street Alleys, Mr. Percy King showed the nicest ten pin string ever rolled in Peterboro, rolling 299, and only short of one pin to reach the possible which is 300; being in 11 strikes and leaving one pin standing in his 12th ball. The highest single score put up on this alley was 289, made by J. Green.

BRIDGE IS CLOSED TO HEAVY TRAFFIC

ICE NEARLY SWEPT THE TEMPORARY BRIDGE AWAY.

Traffic to East City will be resumed again this afternoon or to-morrow, said City Engineer Parsons this morning, speaking of the tie-up on the temporary bridge. The pedestrians out enjoying the balmy spring air yesterday afternoon who crossed the bridge found it in a somewhat unstable condition, and motorists trying out their new cars and some, forsooth, having to be content with their old 'bus, and those who still adhere to the one-horse shay, found the bridge stopped for traffic on account of the smash-up of three piles on the north side.

These piles have had a hard pummelling in the last week or two by the huge blocks of ice coming down at terrific speed, and have borne practically the brunt of the attack—and on Saturday night they gave way.

To-day finds the bridge quivering from end to end as each block of ice smashes against it, but several carpenters are putting in trusses under the weakened western part of the structure, and it is confidently expected that the bridge will be in use again this afternoon.

It is proposed that the sidewalk be extended out another couple of feet and form a roadway, and this will throw the weight on the strong side of the bridge.

The ice is still piled up at the eastern end of the bridge, but the western channel is running free and very fast, throwing the blocks of ice against the bridge with terrific impetus.

On Saturday night and yesterday, blasting was resorted to when the ice piled up too much against the piles.

SUDBURY AGAIN BY FOUR GOALS

TOO FRESH, FAST AND CLEVER FOR GRANITES FOR SECOND AND FINAL GAME.

TORONTO, March 22.—Sudbury will meet Varsity this week in the Allan Cup semi-finals, for they handed Granites, the O.H.A. champions, their second trimming on Saturday night by a 5 to 1 score, and thus won the round by 11 to 3.

Granites were clearly outplayed, and with the exception of the first few minutes were never in the hunt. The northern boys were individually and collectively too fresh, fast, and clever for the locals, and held them safe at all stages.

The game started as though the teams were going to resort to straight hockey and leave the body-checking out, and even at this style Granites were never dangerous.

Sudbury drew eight penalties to five for the Granites, but none of the penalties was for any very serious infractions.

Granites were the first to score when after five minutes of play Aird beat Duncan with a shot through the defence. R. Green evened up the count, and W. Green put the visitors one in front at the first rest.

ONE GREAT ESSENTIAL TO A WOMAN'S HEALTH IS HER NERVES

Nature intended women to be strong, healthy and happy as the day is long, instead of being sick and wretched. But how can any woman be healthy and happy when the whole nervous system is unstrung. The trouble is they pay more attention to their social and household duties than they do to their health. Is it any wonder then that they become irritable and nervous, have hot flushes, faint and dizzy spells, smothering and sinking spells, become weak and nervous, and everything in life becomes dark and gloomy.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are the very remedy that nervous, tired-out, weary women need to restore them to the blessings of good health.

Mrs. P. H. Ryan, Sand Point, N.S., writes:—"I have been a great sufferer from nerve troubles. I was so weak and nervous I could not sleep at night and my appetite was very poor. I could not walk across the floor without trembling. I had hot flushes and fainting spells. When I was on second box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I began to feel better and kept on until I had used six boxes when I felt like a different person. I am never without them in the house and recommend them to all who suffer with their nerves."

TO-DAY SEAT SALE NOTICE

To-day seats will be put on sale at the box office of the Grand Theatre for "Flo-Flo," John Cort's musical comedy success, which will be the attraction on Wednesday evening, and judging by the many inquiries and mail orders already received a record-breaking attendance would seem assured.

Since its opening night "Flo-FFlo" which has to its credit a full season's run at the Cort Theatre, New York, has been one of the greatest musical hits presented in many years. It is credited with sparking lines, catchy lyrics, a "perfect 36" chorus and the most striking array of fashions ever seen on the American stage.

The plot concerns Angelina Stokes, who loves a boy from Oshkosh, but is being forced into marriage with a fake count by her worldly mother. True love finds a troublesome course in this story as elsewhere and the happy ending is deferred until the wiles of "Flo-Flo beautiful model of the Bride Shop where Angelina orders her trousseau, have been overcome. The ideal denouement is hastened by the activities of Pinky and Aloysius, two youths of nimble feet, and by Mosher and Simpson, proprietors of the Bride Shop.

Important in the cast excellent of "Flo-Flo" are: Hazel Alger, W. J. McCarthy, Carl George, Eddie Lloyd, Augustus Buell, Rhea Norton, Elinore McCune, Marie Dantes, Robert Dale, Frank Masters, Frank Hodgins and other metropolitan favorites, and the "Perfect Thirty-six" chorus.

HEARSE DEMOLISHED BY A STREET CAR

SHOCKING ACCIDENT IN GUELPH THIS MORNING.

Special to The Examiner.

GUELPH, March 22. — A shocking accident occurred here at 9 o'clock this morning at the corner of Wyndham and Macdonnell streets, when car No. 20, of the local street railway smashed into the hearse which was conveying the body of Mrs. Wesley Simpson to the Church of Our Lady. The impact was so great that the heavy glass in all parts of the hearse was completel demolished.

The horses ran away and the casket was thrown out on the street, within a hundred yards of the church, and the body of Mrs. Simpson being partly out of the casket.

The horses were not stopped until the hearse toppled over shortly after the casket fell to the street.

The coffin, which was covered with flowers, was badly damaged and the floral tributes were scattered all over.

The pallbearers later carried the casket to the church and another hearse was secured to take the body to the cemetery.

The Plague of Pimples

Body Covered With Them

The primary cause of pimples arises from the blood not being in good condition. When the blood becomes impure you will find that pimples will break out all over the body, but more particularly on the forehead, nose and chin, and although they are not dangerous trouble they are very unsightly. What you need when pimples or boils break out is a real good blood purifying medicine such as Burdock Blood Bitters.

This preparatio has been on the market for over 40 years and is the most reliable remedy for all troubles arising from a bad condition of the blood. It removes all the impurities from the system and will leave a clear, healthy skin.

Mr. Emerson G. Goodwin, Cambridge, N.B., writes: "For nearly two years I suffered from boils and pimples on my face and neck, and nearly all of my body was covered with the pimples. I tried most everything, but got no relief. One day a friend advised me to try Burdock Blood Bitters, and after using three bottles the pimples and boils had all left me and there is no sign of them returning. I can strongly recommend B.B.B. to anyone who is troubled with skin disease.

CORE DRILL DISCLOSES SATISFACTORY BASE IN SOUTH HALF OF WESTERN EXCAVATION.

Three feet of rock at a depth of less than fifteen feet was turned up by the core drill with which soundings were taken last week in the south half of the west river pier foundation for the main arch of the Hunter street bridge. Samples of the rock were given to members of the Council this morning during their visit to the work incidental to the inspection of the damage to the temporary bridge. Mayor McIntyre and Aldermen Gainey and Jones were shown samples of the rock by Mr. Christie. The Mayor afterwards expressed himself as satisfied with this indication of a sound base for the western pier, providing the rock extended over the entire area of the foundation.

IF THIN AND NERVOUS TRY BITRO-PHOSPHATE

While excessive thinness might be attributed to various and subtle causes in different individuals, it is a well known fact that the lack of phosphorous in the human system is very largely responsible for this conditon.

It seems to be well established that this deficiency in phosphorus may now be met by the use of Bitro-Phosphate, which can be obtained from any good druggist in convenient tablet form.

In many instances the assimilation of this phosphate by the nerve tissue soon produces a welcome change—nerve tension disappears, vigor and strength replace weakness and lack of energy and the whole body loses its ugly hollows and abrupt angles, becoming enveloped in a glow of perfect health and beauty and the will and strength to be up and doing.

CAUTION:—White Bitro-Phosphate is unsurpassed for the relief of nervousness, general debility, etc., those taking it who do not desire to put on flesh should use extra care in avoiding fat-producing foods.

MINERAL OIL
FOR CHRONIC CONSTIPATION

By buying this produce from us you can get the highest in quality that can be procured at an ESPECIALLY LOW PRICE.

There are many thin oils on the market that are not suitable for internal use; other oils have irritating qualities which render them also unsuitable. The one we are selling is guaranteed thick and entirely pure.

It is recognized that a good grade of Mineral Oil is one of the best remedies for CHRONIC CONSTIPATION that is being used. It acts mechanically and does not irritate the intestinal tract, nor does the dose have to be constantly increased as is the case with ordinary purgatives.

It is much better and cheaper than Castor Oil as a laxative for children, since Castor Oil has two effects, the first of which is purgative and the second or after-effect, which is Constipating.

The Telephone Situation

The World At The Telephone

The demand for telephone nowadays are enormous. Everybody telephones. As a result the complexities and perplexities of the business were never so pressing.

Wherever you turn, especially in the larger cities of this continent, telephone men are wrestling with the greatest difficulties they have ever faced.

Very heavy demands for new connections have come right atop of world-wide shortage of vital material.

The heaviest traffic loads in the history of the business have come when facilities were lacking because of the scarcity of material, and when labor unrest and unsettlement were most acute.

Expanding business in all lines means insistent demand for extensions of telephone facilities. The cumulative requirements of a fast growing community like ours tax our resources to the limit!

We were never trying harder than we are to-day to make our facilities and service meet the demands of a difficult situation.

LITTLE CHANGE IN SITUATION IN GERMANY

ENTENTE WILL WITHDRAW SUPPORT IN CREDITS AND FOOD TO BREAK RADICALS

FOOD IS GETTING SCARCER IN GERMANY--THE SITUATION APPEARS TO BE CLEARING--PROFITEERS RETURN.

WARRANTS FOR ARREST

(United Press.)

BERLIN, March 23.—Allied representatives have warned the Independent Socialists that they cannot hope for Entente support in credits and foods if they persist in a strike tending to Germany's ruin. Food is becoming scarcer daily. The next meat supply, according to government officials is sufficient to last only until mid-April. It was understood the radicals also have been informed that no aid may be expected from America unless they offer assistance instead of obstruction to the Ebert government.

It was believed the Allied suggestions will have considerable weight in forcing the radicals to abandon their more extreme demands. The situation in Berlin seemed to be clearing last night.

A German leader saw in the return of the "fat war profiteers" to the lobbies of the big Berlin hotels a most hopeful sign. He pointed out that they disappeared during the fighting and would not be back if there were any danger now.

The general strike, which radicals persist in continuing, cannot last more than a few days longer, the government confidently predicted. The Radicals, however, declared the workers will remain out until all the objectionable members of the Ebert administration have resigned.

Arrest Ordered.

(United Press.)

LONDON, March 23.— A warrant has been issued in Berlin for the arrest of General Eric Ludendorff, an Exchange Telegraph despatch said to-day. Dudendorff, the despatch said, has disappeared.

Forty persons have been killed and 5 wounded in fighting between Spartaceans and Ebert troops and Henningsdorff an Exchange Telegraph from Berlin said to-day.

Resignation Demanded.

(United Press.)

BERLIN, March 23.—Karl Legien, head of the Berlin Labor unions, late last night demanded the resignation of the entire Cabinet of President Ebert. Radical workers have decided to continue the general strike until the government complies with their demands.

Held by Radicals.

(Canadian Press.)

COPENHAGEN, Mar. 23.—Whole western industrial district of Germany is being solidly held by radicals, and disaster is inevitable if government troops try to interiere there, according to information received from Berlin this morning by the "Berlinkske Tidend." Other advices state that a purely workers' government is on the point of formation without co-operation with Bourgeois parties.

Heavy Fighting.

(Canadian Press.)

BERLIN, March 23.—Heavy fighting betweeen regular troops and insurgents occurred yesterday north of Spandau. Strong bands equipped with machine guns which had plundered the village of Boetzow, encountered regulars near Henningdorf and the latter were obliged to retire temporarily. Reinforced, however, they returned to the attack with artillery preparation and violent house to house fighting ensued. Insurgents finally retreated, leaving fourteen dead and many wounded. Regulars pursued them. Admission was made that the Central German government lacks power to restore normal conditions in Westphalia, where fighting continues and a large number of miners have refused to return to work. Berlin was quiet yesterday, the appearance of Spartacan proclamations on the principal thoroughfares being the only noteworthy incident.

Strikes Ended.

(Canadian Press.)

COPENHAGEN, March 23.—Leipsic telegram received here says that fighting at Halle and vicinity continues with undiminished violence. Both troops and workers forces are using artillery. Halle has been completely cut off from the outside world. Strikes in Leipsic and Breslau have ended and postal and railway services are being resumed in both cities, which were quiet ,according to latest advices.

WEALTHY FIRE FIGHTING CHIEF

Executive Arranging For the Big Toronto Convention.

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, March 23 — A millionaire fire fighting chief, who fights fires for the glory of it and not for the money that is in it, will arrive in Toronto to-day.

He is Chief Percy Hoyt, of Cheyenne, Wyoming, who, with Fire Chief John Haley, of Denver, Colo., are members of the executive of the International Association of Fire Chiefs of America, who will meet in Toronto on Wednesday and Thursday to set a date for their convention in July, which will meet in Toronto, when three thousand fire chiefs from every town and city in Canada and the United States will gather together.

VICTORY BOND PRICES RAISED

AS RESULT OF CONFERENCE BETWEEN DRAYTON AND THE LOAN COMMITTEE.

MONTREAL, March 23. — Sir H. Drayton, the Minister of Finance, held a conference at Toronto on Saturday with the Victory Loan Special Committee, the Montreal members present being Edwin Hanson and J. M. Mackie, who were accompanied by P. Cowans, chairman of the 1919 campaign, and A. P. Frigon, chairman of the Bond Dealers' Association.

The conference resulted in telegrams being sent to all bond dealers, and stock brokerage houses, authorizing an advance in the prices of Victory Bonds of the various maturities. This action it is understood is due to the fact that there are now more buyers than sellers of the securities in the market at present and some of the issues are very scarce.

The following are the net prices, plus accrued interest, which the bonds will now cost the purchaser:

Maturity	Price	Previous Amended Prices
1922	99½	99
1923	99¼	99
1927	100	100
1933	100½	100
1937	102	101
1924	98½	97½
1934	97	97

It is understood that the new schedule will be put into effect immediately.

THE WEATHER

In the little note under this heading yesterday it was mentioned that while a few robins were around they were the pioneers or advance guard of the main body. This morning the merry "cheer-up" of the robin was to be heard on all sides. As the migrations of the birds usually take place at night, it is apparent that last night they returned in large numbers, probably the same little feathered friends that were with us last summer. For some years an effort has been made to discover the usual route of migrations of our more common birds. It is established that the robins at least come from the south by way of the Niagara Peninsula. After crossing the Niagara River they take from three to four days to reach this section. Last night witnessed one of the finest displays of Northern Lights that has ever been seen. Between 7.15 and 7.45 in the evening there was a gorgeous display of quivering, variegated light shafts that shot up from the north, east, south and west, the shafts meeting directly overhead. There was another brilliant display later in the evening, which was perhaps even more spectacular than the first one. These displays while beautiful to view are not believed to have any direct connection with the weather.—W.P.

VENUE OF CONVENTION MAY BE CHANGED TO OTTAWA—SCHEDULE OF BUSINESS.

PENSION QUESTION

(Special to The Examiner.)

MONTREAL, March 23.—The proceedings of the second day of the Dominion Convention of the G.W.V.A. here proved that the veterans are fairly unanimous on the subject of pensions. Equalisation of pensions were the feature, but no decision was arrived at. Increased pensions all round is the gist of all the suggestions approved this morning.

Vict-President R. B. Maxwell, of Winnipeg, made the happy announcement at the opening of the second day of the Dominion G.W.V.A. Convention that Col. W. P. Purney was feeling much better. So much better that he had expressed a desire to give his presidential address.

The news was greeted with cheers by the delegates, and when the Colonel stepped upon the platform, he said: "We are now in the fourth year of our history. I think that the last year was the year in our history which called for aggressiveness on our part. The Dominion Command fought tooth and nail."

Col. Purney pointed out, however, that next year would be filled with great interest for the welfare of the G. W. V. A.

"I have always told you that my opinion is that before we do anything, we must have the public confidence," he continued. "We have been accused from orators of having made undue demands. It is not for me to say whether they were or not. I left you to judge for yourselves. You must, in this convention, convince Canada of your sincerity."

He advises the delegates, who represented a quarter of a million members, that in all the efforts on their own behalf, they should consider the country's interest.

There was only one criticism for the Canadian Government. It should have appointed a commission on re-establishment when the first words of peace were at hand. There would have been a happier Canada now, he said.

"Clean your own house first," was the President's parting advice.

The Pension Scheme.

R. B. Maxwell kept the chair.

Pensions, which were given first place in the Convention aggenda as being the most important question for the G. W. V. A. to discuss, followed the President's address. The question of policy which was not finished yesterday, will not be taken up till Thursday or Friday.

With practically no discussion, the first two clauses of the lengthy pension resolution, were carried. The one asked an increase to $75 per month for a widow without children or a widow, dependent mother, without reward to any income from other sources.

The other that $100 per month be paid to a widow with a child or children, plus the recognized allowances for children.

The third clause was amended by W. E. Turley to read: That, in such instances, where dependent parents or step-parents, both living without adequate means of support, still have their incomes supplemented to $125 per month." This was carried.

At this point in the discussion of pension, the question of equalization of pensions was given prominence.

Among the first to support the equalization was Canon Scott. He put in a strong plea as a pensioner and an ex-officer "I have always considered the private as the hot end of

"FLO-FLO"

Fashions which dim the most gorgeous of Easter pageants combine with furious fun and frolic to make John Cort's great musical comedy success "Flo-Flo" which comes here to the Grand Theatre on Wednesday Evening only, one of the most sensational hits which ever caught the fancy of Broadway theatre patrons. "Flo-Flo" had a run of one solid year at the Cort Theatre, New York. Its "Perfect 36" chorus is arrayed in a display of costly evening wraps, frills, foibles and lingerie which dazzle the eye. The chorus supplements a well-chosen cast which takes the roles of the beautiful corset model the imitation count, the match making mother, the American heiress, the boy from Oshkosh, the proprietors of the Bride Shop, and the comedy's Watson and Sherlock Holmes. Included in the cast are: Hazel Alger W. J. McCarthy, Carl George, Eddie Lloyd, Augustus Buell, Rhea Norton, Elinore McCune Marie Dantes, Robert Dale, Frank Masters, Frank Hodkins and other musical comedy favorites and the Perfect Thirty-Six chorus. The delights of Silvio Hein's score are emphasized by an augmented orchestra.

New York Specialist Reveals Method of Treating Cancer Successfully By Means of X-Ray Treatment

(United Press.)

NEW YORK, March 23.—A method of determining the correct dosage in the administration of X-Ray treatment which apparently makes almost certain cures in cases of superficial cancer was announced to-day by Dr. William H. Meyer, director of the X-Ray Department of the New York Post Graduate Medical School and Hospital, Twentieth street and second avenue. In four years fifty consecutive cases of superficial cancer have been cured by Dr. Meyer's Method he says. Observation of these cases over periods of from two to four years shows no sign of recurrance of the disease.

Dr. Meyer told the Examiner that the importance of the discovery lay in thefact that it standardized X-Ray Treatment of Cancer and made it possible for the physician to know exactly what results would follow a given course of treatment in a given case. He emphasized the danger of too great optimism on the part of cancer sufferers and declared that while lengthy research might lead to helpful discoveries in regard to the treatment of deep seated cancer, the cases upon which his findings are based are cases of superficial cancer only.

Treatment is Neither Costly or a Lengthy One.

The treatment is neither a costly or a lengthy one, Dr. Meyer asserted, adding that the average superficial epithelioma could be cured in five minutes after the patient had been placed under the Ray. Neither does the length of duration of thedisease affect the result, providing only that the deeper tissues are not affected. Among the fifty successful cases recovered, Dr. Meyer said, there have been cases which have only just appeared and others which have ran a course of years, and have been treated without success by other doctors and at various institutions.

Dr. Meyer explained that cancer usually first exhibited itself in the form of an irritative eruption which might be mistaken for a pimple or a mole. If the irritation is constant, bleeds and refuses to heal, it probably will be established that the patient is suffering from cancer. I would advise persons affected with any such superficial growth to seek treatment immediately. In such cases the X-Ray treatment will be successful if the proper dosage is applied. The patient should be certain that the doctor he visits for X-Ray treatment knows his business. It is possible to inflict grave injury with the X-Ray.

The progess made with superficial cancer Dr. Meyer said, is being made the basis of further research work in regard to the use of the X-Ray in the treatment of deep cancer.

We are now working on penetration, the same principles of absorption and radio sensibility which play so large on the successful treatment of superficial cancer have a relative consequence in the treatment of the deep tissue.

Dr. Meyer has been engaged in X-Ray Research work for sixteen years.

QUEEN ALEXANDRIA JOINS ASSOCIATION

ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING HELD—OFFICERS APPOINTED.

A very enthusiastic and representative meeting of parents and teachers was held yesterday afternoon at Queen Alexandria school to consider the advisability of forming a home and school association.

Mrs. W. R. Morris was present and briefly outlined the work of these associations in a general way, emphasizing their need in connection with every school. She said that while at present this was a purely provincial organization, affiliated with the Ontario Educational Association, it was but a matter of a short time until the movement would be dominion wide.

Mrs. Medd, president of the Queen Mary association, touched briefly on the work that might be undertaken by any club. While this work was mostly of a social nature, there were a great many other things that could be undertaken, such as doing relief work in providing food and clothing for pupils in need, welcoming new teachers, supporting school trustees in progressive measures, beautifying and enlarging school grounds, providing instruction in swimming, domestic science, manual training, sewing, etc. Mrs. Medd made special mention of the work accomplished by a Jewish club in Toronto. She then read the constitution that had been adopted by the Queen Mary club, stating their aim, objects, who were eligible for membership and what officers constituted the executive.

Miss Jory, the school nurse praised the work of the Queen Mary club, emphasizing the assistance it had been to her in carrying on her work.

A resolution was then introduced by Mrs. A. G. Roberts and seconded by Mrs. Rathbone, that an association be formed in connection with the Queen Alexandria school. This was carried unanimously.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

President—Mrs. H. A. Yenney.
1st Vice-President — Mrs. R. V. Copping.
2nd Vice-President — Mrs. A. Mowat.
Secretary—Mrs. Wearing.
Treasurer—Mrs. R. W. Davidson.
Convenor Entertainment Committee—Mrs. Massey-Cooke.
Convenor Relief Committee—Mrs. B. T. Cluffe.

This association decided to meet the first Monday evening of each month.

May Extend Good Roads

SPECIAL SESSION OF COUNTY COUNCIL EXPECTED SOON—SMITH MAY JOIN THE GREAT MAJORITY.

A special session of the County Council will probably be called in the near future by Warden Nicholls to discuss the question of extending the provincial good roads system in Peterboro County. At present only four townships have accepted this medium of assistance: Otonabee, North Monaghan, Asphodel and Belmont were the local pioneers. They began their operations late last year, and are all set and waiting for favorable weather to undertake road improvement and building on a large scale this season.

It has been lately emphasized to the Councillors that the fullest advantage of the government's scheme cannot be obtained unless other townships throw in their lot with those that have taken the initiative. The road Lindsay proposes as a highway between the two towns will be held up by Smith's abstention from the provincial system. It is also believed that this township would benefit further by the inclusion in a county provincial link to the Kawartha lakes of the road between Peterboro and Lakefield. Both Smith and Dummer gave indications at the January sessions of joining the four southern townships, but for their own reasons deferred action which it is believed they are now considering as advisable and to their advantage.

STOCK MARKET OPENS IRREGULAR

SOME OF THE LEADING ISSUES SHADE OFF.

(United Press.)

NEW YORK, March 23. — The stock market opened irregular. U. S. Steel opened at 103 1-8, off 1-8; Crucible 240 up 2 1-2. Southern Pacific 101 1-4, unchanged; Marine preferred 100 1-2, up 1 1-4; Studebaker 107 1-2, off 1 1-2; Baldwin 138 1-2, up 1; Republic 100 3-4, off 3/4; General Motors 180, up 6 1-2. Shortly after ten-thirty substantial buying orders came into the market and General Motors shot back to the opening level. Studebaker and Chandler were sold freely. Around noon Stutz advanced to a new high record at 237 and then quickly shot up to 240, up 15. Tobacco shares gave a good account of themselves and both U. R. Stores and A. T. Securities advanced about 2 points.

LOCAL PROPERTY CHANGES HANDS

HOME OF LATE DR GOWAN DISPOSED OF.

Real estate deals are active in the country as well as in the city and a number of farms throughout the country have changed hands recently, all at splendid prices from the vendors' view point.

Mr. Sam McKibbon has disposed of his farm on the 9th concession of Smith to Mr. Charles McCaul, who will take possession next year.

In the city property is changing hands steadily, a good percentage of it going to persons coming to Peterboro to reside.

Due it is thought to the possibilities offered by the promised street car service over the new concrete bridge, and a hope for a better tax rate, property in Ashburnham is selling rapidly.

WOULD PROHIBIT CAMPAIGN FUNDS

MR. J. H. BURNHAM AIMS TO MAKE THEM SUBJECT TO CRIMINAL LAW.

(Canadian Press.)

OTTAWA, March 22.—A resolution aiming to prohibit campaign funds by making the collection of them a criminal offence is coming before the House to-day of Wednesday from J. H. Burnham, Peterborough. It reads:

"Resolved, that in the opinion of this House, in view of the reported statement by the Rev. Ben Spence, that another prohibition referendum in Ontario would cost the prohibitionists $5,000,000; and in view of the fact that such immense sums must tend to the corruption by patronage, and otherwise of press and people, and to the destruction of public liberty and public morals, and in view of the reported collection of party funds for the farmers' party and parties, and in view of the fact that a coming struggle will probably be between the owners of land and the employers of labor, and in view of the charges made against other parties in respect of party funds, it is desirable that all campaign funds be prohibited and made a criminal offence, and that an amendment to the criminal code be made to that effect."

Considerable importance attaches to the resolution in view of the campaign in Western Canada toward getting funds for the support of the candidates of the newly formed agrarian movement. It was announced Saturday that there are now no fewer than 150,000 subscribers to this camaign fund. Should Mr. Burnham's resolution, which is regarded as certain to cause a most interesting discussion in the House, be adopted, the question of what is to be done in regard to the funds already collected will have to be settled.

GENERAL IN CHARGE OF DUBLIN TROOPS CLAIMS HE WAS ACTING UNDER ORDERS.

LAST NIGHT'S RIOT

(Canadian Press)

DUBLIN, March 23.—The major-general in command at Cork, writing to the press regarding the action of the Military following the murder of Lord Mayor MacCurtain on Saturday, expressed regret that it was necessary for soldiers to search the home immediately after the assassination. The general was acting under orders, however, he declared.

One of two persons killed in last night's riot here was a domestic servant. The other was an unidentified man. Several persons were wounded, including one of the soldiers, who was shot through the head. The conflict according to observers, had its origin in the boisterous conduct of a party of soldiers attending a performance at the Theatre Royal. A large crowd followed the men to the barracks and soon after the soldiers reappeared, firing several volleys, as a result of which fatalities occurred. The official reports issued by the military and police do not say that IP entered the barracks and then returned to fight the crowds.

AURORA BOREALIS IN SURPASSING BEAUTY

MAGNETIC PHENOMENA WAS FAR SOUTH LAST NIGHT.

The magnificent display of the Aurora Borealis last night absorbed the interest of astronomers, won the admiration of ordinary observers and played mischief with the messages flashing over the telegraph wires, which caught the magnetic currents at loose in the air ,and gave the operators an exceedingly troublesome hour or two while the invisible forces were at the height of their frolic. Filmy lucent beams with their spectral sheen drifted and dissolved overhead far south of their usual course, and with a brilliancy that suggested a close proximity to the earth.

While the people wondered the Great Bear was in partial eclipse and seemed to growl at the intrusion of the restless Aurora flaunting her diaphanous draperies, and old Mars blinked his red eye in manifest disaproval. The new moon stood aloof far over in the west, and Orion departing with the winter caught the disturbance afar off.

The generally accepted theory is that the aurora is due to the ascent of positive electricity from the intertropical water surfaces, which flow towards the poles, wafted by the higher aerial currents. In the region of the poles it descends to cool the earth and comes in contact in a highly rarefied atmosphere with the terrestrial negative electricity, which results in luminous discharges of great brilliancy.

MOTHERS' PENSIONS ARE ON THE WAY

(Canadian Press.)

TORONTO March 23.—The way for the introduction of further Government legislation was cleared at a caucus of the Farmer and Labour members held at Queen's Park this morning.

A comprehensive outline of the highway policy of administration was given by the Hon. F. C. Biggs, while the Hon. W. E. Rollo explained the principles of the Mothers' Pensions and the Minimum Wage Bill which will now be brought down in the House at an early date.

LIVED YEARS IN SAME HOME; EACH THOUGHT DEAD

BALTIMORE, Md., March 21—A husband and wife, separated for 50 years, living under the same roof for five years, each believing the other dead, were reunited a few days ago at a festival for the inmates of the Home of the Little Sisters of the Poor here.

The couple are Mr. and Mrs. Barney McCalpin, 78 and 86 respectively McGahan joined the navy 50 years ago and lost trace of his wife. For five years they have both been in the home.

FROM A CHILD WAS CONSTIPATED

According to the best medical authorities, fully three fourths of the people of the civilized world suffer in some form from costiveness or irregular action of the bowels. There is no doubt that many distressing diseases are caused by constipation. It gives rise to sick and bilious headaches, jaundice, heartburn, floating specks before the eyes, catarrh of the stomach, biliousness and the painful, troublesome piles. Therefore it is of supreme importance to health that the bowels be kept regular. Simple food, fruit, etc., should be used and rich food and stimulants of all kinds avoided. This with the use of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills to regulate and establish healthy action of the bowels cannot fail to give permanent relief in the most obstinate cases.

Mrs. Letitia Wainman, Orillia, Ont., writes: "From a child I was always very badly constipated and I can well remember when quite young my mother giving me senna tea nearly every morning and I got to dread it. After taking Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills for a while I am not troubled with constipation any more."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c a vial at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

EDUCATION BOARD LIFTS THE VACCINATION BAN

Despite Refusal of Board of Health to Take Such Action.

ST CATHARINES, March 22.—Children of parents opposed to vaccination, prevented from attending school by order of the Board of Health since the Christmas holidays, will again be permitted to attend the schools of the city tomorrow, although the Board of Health at its last meeting declined to accede to the request of the Board of Education to life the ban. The Board of Education has decided to take the matter into its own hands, and yesterday announced that the ban was off. Nearly 20 per cent. of the pupils of the public schools are affected.

CHARES DANA GIBSON NOW CONTROLS "LIFE"

NEW YORK, March 22.—Dana Gibson, the artist, has bought a controlling interest in Life, the weekly humorous paper, and will take charge on April 1. On Tuesday last Mr. Gibson purchased the majority stock from the widow of John A. Mitchell, the former editor.

Thirty-four years ago Mr. Gibson sold his first drawing to Life for $4. It was called "The Moon and I."

That night he went home and drew twelve more sketches, all of which the magazine rejected the following day. Later he became a frequent contributor.

GRAY HAIR BECOMES DARK AND BEAUTIFUL

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, at very little cost. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.

GOOD HEALTH IS MAGNETIC

All Admire Strong, Robust, Healthy, Vigorous Men and Women

If You Are Weak, Run-Down and Ailing, Let Vinol Enrich Your Blood and Create Strength and Vitality for You

For the weak, run-down, anaemic, over-worked, ailing men and women there is little joy in life. It is easy to drift into this condition, overwork, a neglected cold, or a severe sickness may have left in its wake, poor, thin, devitalized blood, a sluggish circulation, no vitality and you are simply dragging around from day to day, getting up each morning just as tired as you went to bed.

Now, why not change all this by taking advantage of your druggist's guarantee that VINOL will enrich your blood, quicken your circulation and carry strength and vigor to every part of your body, or return your money if it fails. Mrs. W. J. Nixon, of Vankleek Hill, Ont., says: "I was sick for months. I had no appetite and could not seem to get my strength back. I told my doctor I was going to try VINOL, and he said it was fine. I found it gave me a good appetite and I rapidly gained in strength."

For all run-down, nervous, anaemic conditions, weak women, overworked men, feeble old people and delicate children there is nothing like VINOL.

FIRE DESTROYS FRAME HOUSE

LINDSAY, March 22.— A double frame dwelling belonging to Gen. Sir Sam Hughes was totally destroyed by fire at his ranch in Haliburton on Friday night. The house was occupied by Mr. Wm. Roberts and Mr. W. Austin, who run the ranch for the General. They were awakened by the cries of Mr. Austin's baby and with great difficulty made their way out of the house. If the baby had not awakened them they would have been burned to death. They lost everything and they had to remain in the stable until the neighbors, who lived over a mile away, brought them clothes. Gen. Hughes' new barn, which is one of the finest in the two counties, narrowly escaped destruction also. This is the third mysterious fire in Haliburton in the last two months.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

AT THE GRAND.

A fair house greeted last evening's performance of "The Grain of Dust," the feature picture at the Grand. Lillian Walker made a most acceptable star, playing the part of "The Grain of Dust" to perfection. The story is of a lawyer, Fred Norman, who, by his compelling personality and dominating will, has swept all competitors aside and risen to the height of the legal profession when "The Grain of Dust," his pretty stenographer, works her insidious way into the machinery of his philosophy, upsetting not only his life's work, but his love affair with the daughter of a rich and influential friend. Having promoted a company which sets the stenographer's father on his feet, Norman compromises her to such an extent, in the eyes of the world, that she is forced to leave the city and seek work in a small town where her pretty face leads her innocently into further trouble, resulting in having to leave the town. Thoroughly disgusted with the world she is on the point of committing suicide when Norman finds her, and having re-established her faith in him, persuades her to marry him.

The Paramount Magazine picture, which is also shown, is an interesting revelation of the industrial life of London, Ontario, the Sunbeam comedy made a big hit.

CAST OF UNUSUAL MERIT IN "THE STREET CALLED STRAIGHT"

Charles Cleary does excellent work as Harry Guion, the oldest living representative of a New England family, who misuses funds entrusted to him in order to keep up appearances.

Naomi Childers is seen as Olivia Guion, his stately, proud daughter, whose assured position in society makes her see life in terms of cynicism and boredom. From this she is aroused by the generosity of Peter Davenant and she learns his absolute indifference to her. In realizing her own limitations she learns to appreciate his possibilities.

Milton Sills has the role of Peter Davenant, a chivalrous, good-looking young man who gladly advances his all to aid a friend in trouble. In direct contrast to Davenant is Col. Rupert Ashley, played superbly by Lawson Butt. He seems to be consecrated to the idea of being worthy of his ancestors.

The story differs from that of the average film production in that its theme involves mental rather than physical complications. "The Street Called Straight" has a deep thought underlying it, and appeals to the intelligence of the spectator as well as his emotions.

SALVATION ARMY WINNING WAY IN NEW COUNTRIES

Czecho-Slovakia Offers Free Quarters to Religious Organization.

LONDON—The people of the new countries like Czecho-Slovakia are turning to the Salvation Army in a remarkable manner, says General Bramwell Booth, head of the Army. The army never had had an organization in Czecho-Slovakia, and so anxious is the government of that country to get the Army installed that all the necessary buildings for the work have been offered free.

Bulgaria and Poland probably will be "invaded" shortly by this friendly army. Both of these countries are new territory for the Salvationists.

The Vienna government has requested the Salvation Army to assist in the relief work in Austria, and General Booth has sent a commission to Vienna to investigate the feasibility of embarking on this labor. The German government has asked him to co-operate with it in supplying milk in Germany, and he expressed the hope that the army might be able to do this.

General Booth disclosed the fact that the Salvation Army never has ceased work in Bolshevik Russia, despite conditions there. The army has six or seven establishments in Petrograd and twice as many in other sections of the country. Apparently the "Reds" have not been troubling the Army workers, all of whom, it was pointed out, are Russians, of Finland, the British workers having been withdrawn. The Army among other things is looking after war orphans and doing such rescue work as it can.

The evening coat has a puffy, draped collar.

TUESDAY MARCH 23RD, 1920.

THE PENSION QUESTION.

Although the cost of living in Australia has not climbed nearly as high as in Canada it is interesting to note that the Australian Government has recognized the necessity of providing adequate pensions for disabled soldiers, by increasing the scale. A cable yesterday announced that a bill has been introduced which provides for a pension of four pounds weekly for life for permanently disabled unmarried soldiers, of four pounds, eighteen shillings per week for a married soldier without children and six pounds a week for a soldier with a wife and three children. The new scale, in view of the fact that many of the necessities of life are much cheaper than in Canada, is much more generous than the Canadian rate and is another argument in fvour of the $1,200 a year minimum pension for completely disabled soldiers decided upon by last week's convention of the Ontario Great War Veterans. The amount asked for by the Veterans is a reasonable one and even without the example set by Australia the majority of Canadians will undoubtedly endorse the appeal. The badly disabled soldiers of Canada must not be allowed to want. The Government is in honour bound to see that their allowances are adequate and will not be carrying out the will of the people unless the pension provisions are so revised and amended as to ensure that the men who gave their health and strength and the wives and dependants of the men who gave their lives shall not suffer because of the sacrifices that have been made.

THE CANADIAN NAVY..

The amazement with which the announcement of the disbandment of the Canadian navy was received is increased by the declaration that Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, Minister of Marine and Naval Affairs, ordered the demobilization on his own initiative and apparently without consultation with the Cabinet. Official Ottawa seems to share the surprise of Canada generally and the explanation of the order is being awaited with keen interest. It is said that Hon. Mr. Ballantyne has taken this extraordinary step for the purpose of bringing about a "show down" on the naval question, but be that as it may there is no doubt of the fact that the demobilization of the Canadian naval forces has caused a mild sensation both among the members of Parliament and throughout the country. Naturally the Navy League of Canada is aghast at the order, which means that Canada is being stripped of all her naval defences, and the members of the League, who comprise some 60,000, will undoubtedly try to force a reversal of the policy announced. The campaign of the Navy League was commenced immediately the announcement of the surprising demobilization order was made, and the Cabinet members received the following wire:

"Navy League of Canada learns with deep regret intention of Government to abandon active naval policy. Navy League covenant calls for action whereby Canada's naval defences may be safeguarded in a manner to a degree worthy of British traditions of record of the past five years as loyal participating nation in the responsibilities and priviliges of Imperial unity. Navy League from Halifax to Vancouver stands firm to that covenant and appeals confidently to the Government for support."

MR. BURNHAM'S LATEST.

Mr. Burnham, M.P., having succeeded in passing the eight hour day problem on to the Provincial governments, has not been slow to find a new line of verbal activity, and yesterday he burst upon an astonished House with a resolution that called for making the collection of a campaign fund a criminal offence. In his resolution Mr. Burnham instanced the statement of Rev. Ben. Spence that another referendum in Ontario would cost the prohibitionists $5,000,000 and the reported collection of party funds for the Farmers' party as evidence that such funds should be prohibited. It is a characteristic Burnham resolution with the only apparent motive a desire to hurt the cause of the prohibitionists and farmers There is no record of Mr. Burnham's voice being raised against campaign funds in the days before the advent of the Farmers' party. The political organization of which he is a member was never known to be without such funds, and Mr. Burnham if he found anything wrong in those days or discovered, as his resolution puts it, "that such immense sums must tend to the corruption by patronage and otherwise of the press and people and to the destruction of public liberty and public morals," he failed to make his discovery public. Coming as it does now, following the commencement of the campaign in Western Canada to secure funds in support of the farmer candidates, Mr. Burnham's resolution loses much of its force. How effective it might have been if the member for West Peterborough had introduced it a few years ago.

It will, however, precipitate a most interesting discussion in the House and give Mr. Burnham a few more pages in Hansard, which is already well besprinkled with the name of Peterborough's Federal member.

IMPORTING EXPERTS.

As might have been expected the action of the Civil Service Commission in going to the United States to secure experts to take charge of the work of re-classifying the employees of the Civil Service has resulted in a storm of criticism and members on both sides of the House have not hesitated to condemn the policy adopted especially in view of the "no truck nor trade with the Yankees" slogan that many of the present Government used as a battle cry in 1911. The sum of $150,000 has already been paid to the firm of Arthur Young and Company of Chicago for the re-classification that is being carried on and the net result of this expenditure so far has been a thoroughly dissatisfied collection of Civil Service employees who resent the status that has been assigned them by this American firm. Complaints are general that the recommendations of the heads of departments who might be expected to know most about the men under them have been ignored and that the "experts" from across the line have ruthlessly swept aside the advice of those best qualified to judge and classified all employees according to their own hastly formed views. The power placed in the hands of this firm is surprisingly wide in its scope. For instance it is claimed that in the Printing Bureau they have drawn up a list of the employees whose service are to be dispensed with. Among the names on this list are men who are pronounced by those at the head of the Bureau as among the most efficient members of the staff but despite this estimate by the officials who know the capabilities of the employees of their department the efficiency genius from Chicago has declared that these men must go.

Several members of the House have asked the question "Are there no brains in Canada capable of carrying out this work of re-classification" and their query will be echoed throughout the country.

LAC PELLETIER, Sask., March 22.—(Special.)—Stating that he has been relieved of rheumatism and backache by Dodd's Kidney Pills, Mr. Alphonse Blais, a well known and highly respected resident here, is singing the praises of the old reliable Canadian kidney remedy.

"Yes, I suffered from backache and rheumatism," Mr. Blais states in and interview; "and I spent much money on medicines before trying Dodd's Kidney Pills. After taking several boxes of them I was able to resume my work. Now I am quite well again.

"I owe my health to Dodd's Kidney Pills, and I want everybody to know that I am very thankful to Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Mr. Blais' troubles come from his kidneys. That is why Dodd's Kidney Pills gave him such prompt relief. Ask your neighbours if Dodd's Kidney Pills do not help any and all forms of kidney disease.

"NIGHTIE NIGHT"

For five months, beginning last September, "Nightie Night" filled the Princess Theatre in New York with mirthful audiences. It was rated as a sensational success partly because it set a new fashion in farce being thoroughly innocuous as well as continuously amusing, and partly because it marked the debut of Adolph Klauber as a producing manager in association with the Selwyns and of Martha M. Stanley and Adelaide Matthews as comedy playwrights of the first order. Now stamped all over with success "Nightie Night" is coming to the Grand Opera House for two performances, matinee and night on Saturday March 27th, with the original Princess Theatre cast, headed by Francis Byrne. Mr. Byrne was formerly known "heavy man", but in this hilarious conglomeration of jealousy misadventure and pink pyjamas he has loomed forth as a comedian of genuine distinction. With him will be seen other gifted members of the successful Klauber-Selwyn company including Dorothy Mortimer, Malcolm Duncan, Suzanne Willa, Marie Chambers, Grant Mills, Ruby Craven Cyril Raymond, George, W. Pierpont and Oscar Knapp. The production is under Mr. Klauber's personal direction.

the poker," he declared. "Certainly in a democratic country like Canada we ought to have equalized pensions. I certainly am willing that my pension be cut down to help make up for those who receive lower pensions."

Comrade J. M. Rawlinson, the totally blind member of Central Branch, Toronto, who made such an impression during the Ontario convention, followed Canon Scott.

He said his pension was $600. The brigadier-general in his position would receive $2,700.

"What I want to ask is this," he continued, "tell me any brigadier-general in Canada whose eyes are worth $2,700 and mine $600. Am I getting a fair show?"

A chorus of "No's" followed.

The discussion of equalization of pensions was dropped for the time being. Then Martinson, of Manitoba, moved that the other clause in the resolution be adopted without discussion. Equalization of pensions was again introduced. A motion was put with a clause in it leaving it "according to country's ability to pay."

Comrade Whittaker, of Vancouver, took strong exception to the phrase and moved an amendment that "all pensions be equalized." He wanted no loop holes for the government. Canon Scott again spoke on the subject. He urged that this was a matter of principle. It was endorsed by all ex-officers who appreciated their men. The convention decided to refer the whole question back to the resolution committee. The other pension clauses were all passed unanimously.

(Canadian Press)

MONTREAL, March 23—The procedure committee appointed by the Great War Veterans in annual convention yesterday, this morning recommended the following schedule of matters to be discussed and the order in which they will be taken up: Pensions, re-establishment, land settlement, association constitution, labor, natural resources, policy and fraternal ideas. This report was adopted and pensions question was dealt with in a long resolution which supplied many suggestions for improving pensioners' conditions. A motion to change the venue of convention to Ottawa in order that the entire body could present to the government, resolutions to be passed at convention required a roll call, a show of hands failing to definitely establish the issue. At this juncture the session was adjourned with the understanding that the matter should form the first business of the afternoon.

The Ease of the Chalmers Engine Has a Story

WHEN you sit behind the wheel of a present day Chalmers you will long remember the rare ease of its engine.

It responds to the slightest call witnout effort. At high speed you are conscious of no great activity under the bonnet. When you lag along at slow speed you note no "breaking," no "missing," no jerky action—but a quickness, a silence that is smooth and expressive of high efficiency.

There's a story back of this. Most troubles in a car come from vibration. In a Chalmers there is so little vibration as to be negligible.

Its crank shaft and reciprocating parts are balanced to a fraction of an ounce, both static and in motion.

More than this, Hot Spot vaporizes the raw gasoline into a "fog" and Ram's-horn supplies each cylinder with an even "charge."

This provides double insurance against vibration, and generates an ease of action not often found in a motor car.

SANDRA THE JEALOUS

BY JANE PHELPS

EVERETT TAKES SANDRA HOME FOR A VISIT

CHAPTER LXXVIII

I was asleep when Everett came in. Tired with my shopping, I had taken Mrs. Gray's advice and gone to bed almost immediately when I found he had gone out.

"You will look fresher and better to go home if you retire early", she had said when I told her I had finished my packing.

I wanted to look nice. I was a bit afraid, even after so long a time had elapsed, of the effect of what Rose had told everyone would have upon my friends. If I looked well, rested, stylish, it would go far to dissipate any comments. I was quite sure I would look stylish, and if I slept well I would also pass muster in other ways. I was unfortunate in that loss of sleep, weeping, or worry left tell-tale marks for a full day afterward. So I was the more ready to take advice and go to bed.

It was so busy, so excited the next morning that I forgot all about feeling badly the night before. Youth certainly has many things for which to be grateful not least of which is the power to forget what has passed and to live in the present.

Everett was very nice all during our journey; very kind and thoughtful. Only once did he say anything that could be construed as even advice. Then he said:

"It would be wise to watch yourself a little, Sandra, not to be too confidential with your young friends. You have grown a little away from them in the last two years, and they might not understand you—as you mean them to. I also would not invite any of them to visit you. I do not care for outsiders in my home. I don't think many men do like house guests. Of course I am not speaking of your immediate family; they are always welcome—now," his slight hesitation before the last word emboldened me to ask:

"Why did you ever object, Everett? You remember when I was first married I asked if I might have Mother visit me if I could not go home, and you refused to allow me to invite her."

"I remember very well. You would scarcely understand my feeling should I try to explain. It was the same with your own people as with others. I wanted you to become accustomed to your position as my wife, accustomed also to me, before they visited you. In view of all that has passed, the trouble you have had in accommodating yourself to new and different conditions has proved I was right in not giving permission to ask them to visit you. I have a great deal of pride, Sandra —perhaps too much. I did not propose to have myself criticized, or anything I had done. That is all. Have a good time, but remember you are my wife."

I stole my hand into his.

"I won't forget, Everett," and I did not mean to. While I did not quite understand all he had tried to tell me, yet I knew that much of it was because of the difference in our ages. He knew the boys and girls would probably ask me all sorts of questions, and wanted to warn me. I also thought that his objection to Mother's visiting me was to enable me to become accustomed to the idea of being a second wife. He didn't want her to come while the strangeness, the resentment was upon me.

What a welcome I received! Mother, Father and the boys all were so delighted to have me home, and so nice to Everett that I was as gayly happy as a child. Then after Everett had gone, the boys and girls—Rose in the lead—flocked around me. They DID ask questions, some of them embarrassing ones—questions I should have perhaps answered foolishly, had Everett not warned me. But I knew I acquitted myself fairly well when Rose Grandon said one day:

"You certainly have changed, Sandra. You are so quick at replying, say such clever things. You talk a good deal, but you haven't told us much. Do tell us something about Mr. Graham's Number One. You know you wanted to know about her so badly when I was there," which speech proved how foolish I had been to take Rose into my confidence.

"I know that she was very beautiful, very accomplished, and a great favorite in society. I only hope I can be as great a one," I replied quietly, but how hard it was to speak of Leola as I had no one could imagine.

"Well, I wouldn't play second fiddle for the sake of any man or any social position. I'd rather marry one of the home boys, and I'm not keen on them either."

I made no answer, but as I looked at the crude, ordinary looking and acting boys and then thought of my handsome distinguished husband, a man of the world, a new feeling of respect for Everett came to me. It would take years of experience and polish before any of them could hope to compete with him.

Buy More Service for Every Belting Dollar

The purchasing power of a dollar is so small that most buyers compare price and select the lowest—and in the end the article bought proves more expensive than the highest priced.

In buying belts there are few who know value, and fewer still who consider service—a belt is usually just a belt if it is the right size and price.

Knowledge and experience have taught a different lesson to many manufacturers. That is why

Dominion Friction Surface Belting

They have taken advantage of our fifty years belt-building experience, and by making our engineers responsible for all their transmission equipment have eliminated practically all power waste—have done away with shut-downs for repairs and replacements—have eliminated idle machines and employees—have maintained maximum production—have cut transmission upkeep to a minimum.

STRIKES DECREASE, FEWER OUT OF WORK

During Last Month 49,939 Working Days Were Lost in 24 Tie-Ups.

OTTAWA, ONT., March 22.—The loss of time due to industrial disputes during February 1920 was less than in the preceeding month, but greater than during February, 1919. During the month 24 strikes involving 3,145 people were reported and resulted in a loss of time of about 49,939 working days, an increase of a hundred per cent. over February of last year. It was a marked decrease from January 1920, however, and at the end of February only nine strikes involving 1,238 people remained unsettled.

Employment shows an increase over practically the whole Dominion in February, and the increase is spread over practically all seasonable industries. The month ended with an upward tendency recorded in the new employment returns. There was a decrease in the percentage of unemployment among members of trade unions.

Cocoanut Oil Makes A Splendid Shampoo

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else, that contains too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless) is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff, and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy, and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

GUELPH COMPANY PLANS TO ERECT NEW BUILDINGS

GUELPH, March 21.—In the list of joint stock companies incorporated during the week, is the Simpson Company, Limited of C[illegible], at $450 000. Mr. A. H. Simpson, manager of the company, said to-day it was the intention to form a joint stock company with a view to expansion. No details are ready yet, as to what form this will take, but it is likely the company will erect new buildings on the property next to the present ware house, if switching facilities can be arranged for when the Ontaro Hydro Power Commission takes over control of the local railway; failing this an effort will be made to secure a suitable site with railway trackage. In the new company the Simpson employes will have the privilege of securing stock.

NEW YORK AUDIENCE "KIDDED" THEDA BARA

FILM VAMPIRE MADE UNFORTUNATE CHOICE IN STAGE PLAY.

NEW YORK—Theda Bara stepped from the screen to the speaking stage this week and, in the words of the poet, got the "rawsberry." "The Blue Flame," in which she made her debut as a legitimate "actress," established one fact—no worse play could possibly be written by anybody anywhere. Attracted by the prospect of seeing a film "vamp" in the flesh, the audience jammed the Shubert Theatre to suffocation. And it shrieked with merriment. Miss Bara starts out as a sweet young thing, filled with every virtue, and in love with a scientist who scoffs at the Diety and challenges its power. Then comes the bolt from the blue. She is killed by lightning. Ha! The scientist can now put his new invention to the test. Amidst the weirdest electrical display ever staged; he restores her to life. But her soul has fled! Horrors! he has created a woman without a soul. Then the fun begins. Theda becomes a despoiler of men, a wrecker of homes, a thief, a cocaine fiend and a murderess. She gets into Chinatown, and oh, what a time is had by all. And the langwidge! Thank Heaven for the silent drama. And after all, it is but a scientist's dream, and the play ends in prayer as a church organ peals "off."

* * *

To give Miss Bara her due, she never batted an eye while the audience howled.

We cannot recall any individual who has received such a panning at the hands of the critics. Miss Bara says she had not read the comments Anyway, she declares, "I do not play to Broadway, I play to the ordinary people who go to the theatres or the movies to be entertained, not to compare."

In the play she declares: I don't want to be good. Good people are forgotten. I want to be so bad that I will be remembered always." If this is applied to "The Blue Flame," it should be remembered when the earth is a crystallized pulp.

A. H. Woods staged the production. His second scene would wreck a 5,000 h.p. kaleidescope. The book was written by John Hobart and John Willard. Nobody knows why.

Offstage, Miss Bara, is a talented woman. Whatever opinion one may hold of her screen ability, she commands a certain following. This latter may keep "The Blue Flame" running. As for others—it is to larf.

CANADIAN GENERAL ELECTRIC REPORT

NET PROFITS LOWER, BUT BUSINESS AGAIN GROWING—SURPLUS EQUALS 54-35 P.C. OF COM. AND PREF.

At the annual meeting of Canadian General Electric yesterday afternoon it was shown that provision for post-war possibilities during the war period had resulted in the creation of a reserve for depreciation of $4,700,446, or 81 per cent. of the book value of machinery, tools, patterns and drawings. Real estate and buildings are considered separately as they have increased to such an extent as to more than offset any depreciation.

The net profit for the year of $1,093,320, while less than that of 1918 ($1,436,481), is considered satisfactory. After the armistice business was conducted with out profit for a time, but later improvement is substantial. After dividend payments, $313,320 is carried to profit and loss credit, bringing that item to $836,097. From this $400,000 has been transferred to reserve, which now amounts to five millions. Add to this the remaining $436,097 in profit and loss, and a total surplus of $5,436,097 or 54.36 per cent. of common and preferred shares is shown. The company's inventory has been made on a conservative basis, active materials averaging below cost and obsolete goods placed under a scrap valuation. Much business is looked for as a result of the Provincial Government's Hydro and Hydro radial policies.

WATER SURROUNDS BELLEVILLE HOMES

Moira River Overflows as Result of the Blocking at C.P.R. and C.N.R. Bridges.

BELLEVILLE, March 22.—Shortly before two o'clock this afternoon a large body of ice came down the Moira river in this city and blocked at the C.P.R. and C.N.R. bridges at the mouth of the river. Water rose to a height of several feet and overflowed the embankment of the river. The lower portion of Front street is inundated as are also portions of King, Colborne, James, Coleman and Brock Streets. A number of residences are completely surounded by water, causing much inconvenience. The ice caused some damage to the buildings on the river bank.

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED

HORDE OF OFFICIALS DEFEATED SCHEME OF BOLSHEVIKI IN PETROGRAD HOUSING

MANY OWNERS FLED THE CITY RATHER THAN RESUME POSSESSION OF THEIR HOUSES THAT HAD BECOME VERITABLE PIG-STYES—SUFFERINGS SOFTEN HEARTS OF PEOPLE.

PLANE OF LIVING LOWERED

LONDON—The Stockholm correspondent of "The Morning Post" writes:

"I have had a conversation with a Russian gentleman who left Petrograd at the time of General Judenitch's second advance on the Russian capital and succeeded in reaching the White lines in safety. Many accounts of conditions in Petrograd have been published in the English newspapers during the last few months, and the narrative which this gentleman gave me naturally contained items—for example, food conditions, fuel shortage, etc. On the other hand, he emphasized certain features of life in Petrograd under Bolshevik rule which have not figured very prominently in other published accounts. My informant was anxious to make it clear that his experience was confined to Petrograd and its suburbs and that it did not follow in the least that the conditions there were similar to those prevailing in other parts of Russia. To avoid the irritating oratio obliqua I give the salient points of his story in the present tense.

Government Decentralized.

"It is impossible to paint a clear and comprehensive picture of Bolshevik administration in Petrograd, as the government of the city is highly decentralized and each district under a seperate soviet, which has practically unlimited power, so that local arrangements vary according to the taste and fancy of the district authorities. Since the murder of Commissionary Uritzky these local soviets have even had the power of life and death.

"Certain features of administration, however, are common to the whole city, such as the division of the population into three categories for rationing purposes, namely: (1) persons engaged in physical labor, (2) persons engaged in non-physical labor, (3) persons not regarded as working at all, such as merchants and priests. As a matter of fact the third category is not so numerously represented as might be thought, for the soviet administration is not an economical one, and 'practically every one is an official.'

House Owners Flee City.

"An example of the colossal personnel required by the Bolshevik administration is afforded by the housing problem. The Bolshevik municipalized all the houses in Petrograd, flung out the proprietors and herded the 'proletariat' into eligible dwellings which, needless to say, were stripped of their effects and turned into veritable pig-styes. The government then found that the administration of the houses in a huge city like Petrograd required a personnel which it was beyond even their power to mobolize. They accordingly scrapped the whole scheme and invited the owners to resume their rights as proprietors—and get the rents out of the undesired tenants as best they could. When they objected they were threatened with martial law, and the curious spectacle was seen of people flying from Petrograd rather than resume the ownership of the houses from which they had been ejected much against their will a few months ago.

Change in Spirit of People.

"A remarkable feature of life in Petrograd under the 'Reds' has been the change in the spirit of the people and in their outward manners since the early days of the Revolution. The sufferings endured in common seem to have softened men's hearts toward one another, to have made them more gentle, courteous and considerate. The aggressive independence and individualism which many of the population thought fit to don as a sign of newly won 'liberty,' like a scarlet tie or other sartorial symbol, have given place to more truly Russian qualities.

"People now think more of the neighbors whom they see suffering like themselves, maybes worse. It is a daily experience now to see a rough workman or soldier give up his seat in a tramcar to a woman, or help her to descend from or enter the vehicle. 'Even Bolsheviki?' I asked at this point. 'But hardly any one is a Bolshevik,' the Russian replied. 'The number of real Bolshevik in Petrograd is very, very small. I don't think I know a single Bolshevik, and, though I have met in public offices, and so on, people supposed to be Bolsheviks, I doubt their being so by conviction.'

People Become Patient.

"The hardships endured have also given moral elevation to and formed new virtues in those who have suffered them. People who formerly lived an easy, lay life, with everything done for them, now find themselves dependent on their own exertions for even a minimum of comfort; they live, in short, the life of the poorest workman or peasant.

"For sometime after his arrival amid the luxuries of Stockholm my informant made his bed quite mechanically every morning directly he got up. Although lack of nourishment has injured people physically, their privations have hardened them morally and given courage, patience and endurance to many who had been rendered soft and self-indulgent by the amenities of old-time city life."

F. T. MAHOOD'S TENDER FOR MARKET TOLLS HIGHEST

Advertisement for the sale of the market tolls brought only two tenders to the Property Committee last night. Walter Fisher, the present market clerk offered $650 and F. T. Mahood $750. On Ald. Crowe's motion, seconded by Ald. Copping the acceptance of Mr. Mahood's tender was recommended to the Council. Mr. Fisher's term expires on April 1st. Last year he paid $700 for the market revenue.

Referring to the difference between the tenders Ald. Whitehouse remarked that the $100 might prove expensive to the citizens from the standpoint of service. Mr. Mahood was not known to the committee, and on the other hand Mr. Fisher had given every satisfaction. Ald. Morrison, who was present though not a member of the committee said he knew Mr. Mahood "to be a good honest fellow."

The above represents the number of years spent in fruitless efforts to cure a bad case of eczema with ordinary ointments, compared with the time it took Zam-Buk to effect a complete and permanent cure.

This was the experience of Mr. H. C. Buckley of 461 East Broadway, Portland, Ore. Writing to the Zam-Buk Co., he says: "For fifteen years I suffered with a bad case of eczema, and used all kinds of so-called "cures" and treatments, but nothing was capable of curing me until I tried Zam-Buk. It was wonderful balm, however, completely cured me in less than a year, and not only so, but I have had no return of the disease. I strongly recommend Zam-Buk to anyone afflicted as I was."

This is but one of the hundreds of cases where Zam-Buk has effected a cure when everything else failed. The reason is easily explained. Zam-Buk being unusually refined—containing absolutely no animal fats or mineral drugs such as are contained in ordinary ointments—is capable of penetrating to the underlying tissues where skin diseases have their roots. Ordinary ointments, on the contrary, never get beyond the surface skin and so are incapable of effecting permanent cures.

Zam-Buk is just as good for salt rheum, ringworm, boils, ulcers, abscesses, blood-poisoning, piles, cuts, burns, scalds and all skin injuries. All druggists or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. 50c. box, 3 for $1.25.

50,000 RUSSIAN REFUGEES CAMP IN STREETS OF CITY

Most of Them Are Families of Officers and Men of Army of Denikine.

NOVOROSSISK, Russia—Fifty thousand refugees from all parts of Southern Russia have been camping in the streets of Novorossisk for several weeks waiting for transportation to take them across the Black Sea to a place of safety. Most of them are families of officers and leaders of the army of Denikine. All the resources of the American Red Cross mission to South Russia have been employed in extending relief to the refugees.

Every shelter of any description has been crowded with humanity. Idle factory buildings, grain elevators and rooms used as offices during the day have been filled with refugees at night.

Thousands have spent their days walking the streets and at nightfall have spread their blankets and scant coverings upon the pavement to sleep.

Hospitals have been filled to overflowing, and medical supplies have run low while hundreds of cases of typhus developed every day. Each morning found hundreds dead in the streets.

MR. W. F. COCKSHUTT ON "AFTER-THE-WAR" PROBLEMS

MEMBER FOR BRANTFORD DELIVERS SPLENDID ADDRESS BEFORE MEMBERS OF THE CANADIAN CLUB—DISCUSSES SOCIAL UNREST, THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS AND NEED OF BETTER PENSIONS.

MAKES PLEA FOR UNITY

The new status that Canada has gained because of the war and the peace conference, the serious responsibilities that are ours as a result of that new status, the necessity of adequately looking after the disabled Canadian soldiers and the dependents of those who made the supreme sacrifice, were features of the splendid address on "After the War Problems," by Mr. W. F. Cockshutt, M.P. of Brantford, before the Canadian Club at the Empress Hotel last evening. Mr. G. O. Cameron, the President of the Club, presided, and there was a representative and fairly large attendance. The speaker of the evening discussed the problems that are confronting Canada to-day in a manner that unwaveringly held the interest and attention of his auditors and the hearty vote of thanks that was accorded him at the conclusion of his address was a sincere tribute and not a mere perfunctory act of courtesy.

In commencing, Mr. Corkshutt, after referring to his pleasure at meeting old friends like Mr. R. R. Hall, with whom he had sat in the House, and of making the acquaintance of some new ones; announced that he would deal with his subject, "After the War Problems," under three heads, political, social and material.

Dealing with the political side first Mr. Cockshutt remarked that it was obvious that Canada was in this connection at the parting of the ways. He was one of those who believed that it was better to stick to something that had been fairly tried and proven reasonably successful than to experiment on new and untried lines. Ever since before confederation the party system had decided in Canada who should run the government.

"The party system has often been abused and carried to extremes," declared the speaker, "but bad as it has been, dangerous as it has been, it has more to commend it than the system that would break us up into classes, factions, religions and races."

There were other systems that would draw lines far more better than party lines and he hoped that it would be possible for Canada to settle her difficulties without breaking into cliques or classes. Whatever appeal was made, it should be made to all citizens, not to one particular class or religious order or race.

Canada was facing the danger of a class struggle. It was a lamentable affair to divide on such lines for the brotherhood of man should be exemplified in the citizenship of the country and no one was the better for drawing into his own particular class shell. Mr. Cockshutt declared that he had always stood by the workingmen. They had too long had a too heavy part of the load to bear and he hailed with delight the chance of their getting shorter hours and better pay, hoping that the pre-war conditions in these respects would never return.

The League of Nations.

Mr. Cockshut passed on to deal with the peace treaty and the League of Nations. It was being stated, he said, and he believed it to be so, that Canada has arrived at a different status in the world as a result of the peace conference. He had always been of the opinion that the first duty of the peace plenipotentiaries was to make a sound, just peace with the enemy; afterwards if a League of Nations to prevent further warfare could be prepared, so much the better. He had always looked upon the millenium as a long way off and didn't expect to see the day when all danger of wars would be entirely dissipated. There was a long way to go before the peace of the world was forever assured.

Mr. Cockshut declared his conviction that the Canadian peace envoys should have gone into the conference as the representatives of the British Empire. The Empire should have entered the negotiations as a unit and emerged as a unit.

The British Empire has always been good enough for me," remarked the speaker amid applause, "and I hope it will always be a unit as long as I am living in Canada of any other part of the Empire."

The result of the conference and the formation of the League of Nations was not easy to see. It was unfortunate that the United States, the author of the League of Nations, after succeeding through President Wilson in getting the other nations, most of whom were sceptical, to adopt the plan, has failed to do so on its own account. The result was that sixteen months after the armistice was signed America is still technically at war with all the nations with whom she fought.

Mr. Cockshutt was frankly dubious about the success of the League. He could not see that it was going to be much better than the balance of power method in so far as preventing wars was concerned. It was bound to lessen our nationality and instead of being Canadians or Britons we would become more or less citizens of the world. The obligations that Canada had undertaken as a member of the League of Nations were not generally understood or realized. There was too much talk of Canada's becoming a nation and too little consideration of what Canada had undertaken in joining the League.

The Social Unrest.

Mr. Cockshutt next dealt with the social side of the after-the-war problems. No country had emerged from the struggle in better shape than had Canada, but nevertheless there were serious signs of unrest and last year had been a critical one in this country as in the rest of the world. In fact Canada had passed through a more dangerous time than was generally realized. The Winnipeg strike had been a very critical affair and there might have been not exactly civil war but something very much akin to it.

One government had been pulled down in Ontario and another substituted, but he did not think the signs of unrest had not disappeared. No government, in his opinion, could remove the cause of this unrest, which was deep seated. The cause, he believed, was that men had moved away from their old moorings and gone after the material things. They were drifting away from the old church, from the practice of the truth of God's word and the keeping of the Sabbath. The remedy lay in the return to the simple truths of the Bible, and the workmen and their employers could find in God's book the code that would bring them together.

Mr. Cockshutt admonished his hearers to magnify the things that made for unity rather than to dwell upon things that would separate and destroy. The press could be of great assistance in this respect.

INCOME TAX FOR FARMERS

Perhaps no person is worried more over the income tax than the farmers. Mr. Herbert Osborn Tells How Cuticura Healed His Wife

"My wife began to be troubled with itching and burning of the palms of her hands and the soles of her feet. Later the skin cracked and became inflamed, making walking or even standing very painful and preventing sleep at night. Later it became necessary to bandage both hands and feet.

"She was treated but obtained no relief. She saw an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. She bought more and after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment she was healed." (Signed) Herbert Osborn, 165 Sherbrooke Ave., Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 2, 1919.

Cuticura is ideal for every-day toilet uses. Soap to cleanse and purify, Ointment to soothe and heal.

Soap 25c. Ointment 25 and 50c. Sold throughout the Dominion. Canadian Depot: Lymans, Limited, St. Paul St., Montreal. Cuticura Soap shaves without mug.

For Freckled, Rough or Muddy Complexions

The freckling, discoloring or roughening to which delicate skins are subject after exposure to wind or sun, often appearing in early spring, may readily be gotten rid of. Mercolized wax, spread lightly over the face before retiring and removed in the morning with soap and water, completely peels off the disfigured skin. Get an ounce of the wax at any druggist's. There's no more effective way of banishing freckles or other cutaneous defects. Little skin particles come off each day, so the process doesn't even temporarily mar the complexion, and one soon acquires a brand new, spotless, girlishly beautiful face.

JUDGE HUYCKE GAVE ADDRESS

"CITIZENSHIP NIGHT" AT TRINITY SCHOOL HALL LAST NIGHT.

At Trinity School Hall last evening His Honor Judge Huycke gave a most interesting and instructive address to the members of the Epworth League. It was citizenship night and the address was most timely. Judge Huycke treated the subject of Citizenship in its broadest sense, making it include, as it rightly does, our whole public life. He called the attention of the young people to the fact that all privileges carry with them responsibilities. As members of churches and of communities we have duties to perform. We are citizens of Canada and of the Empire, and as such we should try to fit ourselves by study to take our part intelligently in the affairs of the city in which we live and in national affairs. He urged the young people to be industrious citizens, for nothing can be had without work; to be intelligent citizens, for the great questions of the day must be studied and understood; to be unselfish citizens, for it requires unselfishness to turn from our own ease and take part in public affairs. The Judge cautioned his hearers against that foolish criticism that so many indulge in who are selfishly keeping out of public life, but have no good word for those who do not shoulder responsibility.

"Be a Booster and not a Knocker" was the Judge's timely advice. "Boost your church and work for it. Boost your city and work for it. Boost your country and work for it."

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Judge Huycke for his timely, interesting and inspiring address.

During the evening two choice musical numbers were given. Miss Eva Waugh sang "Be Good Sweet Maid," by Charles Kingsley, and Mr. Baden Greene gave a violin solo.

EXCHANGE MAINTAINS PRICE OF POTATOES

The demand for Canadian potatoes in the New York market is a strong factor in maintaining the prices that have prevailed all winter. Because of the rate of exchange American buyers can compete on an even basis in the Canadian markets. If the price is $3 a bag here they can offer $3.50, and actually pay only as much as the local market is quoting. New Bermudas are selling in New York at $15, and for old stocks the Canadian potatoes are competing with the Danish imports around $5 to $8.50.

Give Stomach What It Needs

The Alkaline Effect of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Usually Corrects the Stomach Faults that Provoke Attacks of Indigestion or Dyspepsia.

To sit back after a good meal and know there is not going to be sour risings, gas, drowsiness and discomfort is the logical result of using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets immediately after eating. Most people believe they can trace each attack of indigestion to the something they ate and can still "taste." And it surprises them, invariably, to note how quickly relief comes after using one or two of these tablets. Whether it is highly seasoned food, rich pastry, the heavy hearty foods or some one particular offender the relief comes just the same. Those who are susceptible to attacks of indigestion or dyspepsia should try Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets as they supply the stomach with an alkaline effect just as it does naturally when it is working in a perfectly healthy condition.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are so widely known and used that you can get them in any drug store in the United States and Canada at 50 cents a box.

MR. W. F. COCKSHUTT ON "AFTER-WAR PROBLEMS"

The Material Side.

In conclusion the speaker spoke for a few minutes on the material side. Canada had come through the war more prosperous than the wildest dream of the most ardent optimist could have foreseen. The average Canadian had more of this world's goods than he had before the war. Labour had never been so well rewarded and the majority of business concerns and industries had flourished. The men on salary were the class that had been hardest hit.

Canada had played a man's part in the war. Not only had she sent nearly 500,000 men overseas, but her production in war materials had been one of the most marvellous developments of war. As an example Canada had furnished 55 per cent. of the shrapnel used by Great Britain.

The Soldier Problem.

A stirring idea that his audience should interest themselves in helping to see that justice was done to Canadas soldiers, concluded Mr. Cockshutt's address. The soldier problem, he remarked, would be with us for a good many years to come. It could not be expected that after four and a half years of warfare this problem could be disposed of in a few months. A great deal of patience and discernment must be used in seeing that justice was done. There were cases in his own constituency and doubtless in Peterborough as well, where inadequate pensions were being given. Although Canada had on the whole paid her soldiers better than any other country, yet she was falling down in the matter of pensions.

"I will never be satisfied," declared the speaker, "until every soldier's widow and dependent, and every crippled soldier has a reasonable allowance that will keep body and soul together."

Canada was able to see that the widows and orphans and the badly disabled soldiers were given adequate allowances and the speaker urged his hearers to use their influence in this connection.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Cockshutt on motion of Mr. R. R. Hall and Rev. F. E. Mallott.

LONDON, Mar. 22. — The Irish Football Association suspended Belfast Celtic until March 31, on account of the conduct of the crowd at the Irish Semi-final match on Wednesday against Glentoran when a riot ensued, revolvers being used. DR. H. WIGHTMAN ELECTED PRESIDENT AT THE PETERBORO CURLING CLUB

ANNUAL MEETING WAS HELD LAST EVENING—PRIZES AWARDED—IMPROVEMENTS SUGGESTED.

Great enthusiasm marked the annual meeting of the Peterborough Curling Club, held in the club rooms last evening, when besides much routine business, the new officers were elected and the prizes for the past season presented.

Some 50 members were present, with the president, Mr. George H. Giroux, in the chair. The minutes of the annual meeting, 1919, were read by the secretary, Mr. F. Brownscombe, and carried as read.

A circular letter sent out by the Peterborough Club, after being endorsed by the committee of management, to all the clubs in Ontario, requesting that the Ontario Tankard finals be played down to four groups instead of sixteen as at present, before going to Toronto, and that the finals be played off where the best ice is obtainable, not necessarily in Toronto, was read.

The matter has been taken up by several of the clubs, and the question will be taken up before the Ontario Curling Association.

Information Wanted.

Mr. R. Hicks wanted to know why Mr. R. M. Waddell, the Peterborough representative on the O. C. A., did not take the matter up at the recent meeting of the Association. This little matter was smoothed over, and the question now rests with the O. C. A.

A telegram was read by the President from Dr. H. Wightman, in Toronto, whose name had been widely mooted as a candidate for president: "Sorry impossible to be there. Am still doubtful if I could attend to the required duties of position."

The Finances.

The financial statement presented by the secretary-treasurer showed that the finances of the club were in a very satisfactory condition, and that the past year had been very successful. A balance of $330.38 was shown.

It was moved by A. H. Webb, seconded by G. B. Boucher, that the statement be adopted as read.

Mr. H. F. Foote, secretary-treasurer of the Open Bonspiel Committee, read the financial report of his committee, showing a balance of $153.34, and it was adopted as read.

The annual distribution of the prizes caused many a joke and reminiscence over the games, and the crowings of the winners, answered with the comebacks of the losers.

The President was surrounded by a veritable barricade of boxes of jewellery, cut glass and silver cups. The first prizes given were for the schedule games, and President Giroux called on Mr. C. C. Abbott to present them.

The Kendry Cup was presented to Alex. Kay's rink, composed of the following: C. H. Thurber, G. W. Hall, and T. O. Donaldson, and to each of the players besides, beautiful cut glass berry bowls.

The second rink, made up of A. G. Roberts, J. W. Richmond, A. H. Webb and J. H. Connal's and the Third rink, E. P. Kennedy, R. V. Dawson, E. Kelly, and A. R. Moore—each received cut glass berry bowls.

The prizes for the local bonspiel were presented by Robert Hicks. The winners—R. B. Hamilton, F. Brownscombe, R. M. Hamilton, and J. H. Metherel, were the recipients of silver marmalade jars, and the runners-up—F. J. Overend, J. E. Smith, A. H. Webb, and H. F. Foote, were presented with gold cuff links.

Gold cuff links were presented to the winners and runners-up in the consolation. The winning rink was J. A. Madill, F. Bartlett, J. E. A. Fitzgerald, and W. R. Widdess. The runners-up were J. Penrose, J. W. Richmond, R. F. Downey, and W. H. Taylor.

Thomas Brightman did the honours in presenting the Neill Trophy and a pair of curling straps engraved Neill Trophy, to each of the players—G. Green, J. A. Dodds, H. Hair, and A. W. Archibald.

The seconds secured the same prize a-piece—G. B. Stevenson's rink was E. Kelly, R. V. Dawson, and A. R. Moore.

Points Competition.

A. R. Moore captured the points competition trophy, a new trophy, donated this year by R. M. Waddell. This handsome silver cup, representing a curling stone, is a beautiful trophy.

Mr. R. M. Waddell, in donating the cup to Mr. Moore, stated his belief in points competitions to develop a good curler, and he complimented Mr. Moore highly on winning it.

Mr. Moore emphasized the advantages of points curling, and advised them all to adhere to points curling if they wanted to be good curlers.

The last presentation was one that received the endorsation of all. Mr. G. H. Giroux presented Mr. H. F. Foote, secretary of the Open Bonspiel Committee, with an amber pipe. He spoke briefly on the zealous work of Mr. Foote for the association, and expressed great pleasure in making the presentation.

Mr. Foote replied that the work had been nothing but a pleasure, and the officers and members had given him the greatest support and assistance in every way, and he complimented the association on its fine body of officers.

Several of the skips and vice-skips spoke briefly on the enjoyable and excellent curling season just completed. A. H. Webb touched a true note of curling—one of democracy—when he said: "You meet all classes of men in a curling club, and rich or poor on the ice, you are all one. It is Andy or George or Bill. The curling game is meant not only as a sport, but to learn something deeper — to learn to respect everyone on an equal footing." He expressed the hope that next year they would have as successful a year as the past.

Mr. R. F. Downey reiterated Mr. Webb's words, and also at the urgent request of all assembled, rendered a solo, that was thoroughly enjoyed.

Mr. A. W. Archibald, Mr. W. R. Widdess, and Mr. W. H. Taylor dwelt on the successful year concluded and the year that was looked forward to, of a resolution that the Constitution be amended to have a chaplain appointed for the club. The point caus-

A Chaplain.

Mr. R. M. Waddell was the sponsor ed much discussion and some little merriment at the expense of some of the members.

It was explained that such an office would be undenominational, that some of the clubs had them, and that his status would rank with that of an alternative, auditor, or an umpire, and that he would not be on the executive.

A. H. Webb moved, seconded by R. M. Hamilton, that the management committee be empowered to appoint a chaplain if they deemed it necessary, such an officer to be a member of the club. After much difference of opinion, this amendment to the resolution carried.

A resolution was brought in by Mr. G. B. Boucher that the membership of the club be changed to have 140 active members and 60 associate members. The membership is now limited to 140.

Mr. Thomas Brightman commended the associate plan for men who like an occasional game and come in and enjoy the privileges, but he allowed that the executive should define their privileges and lessen the fee somewhat.

Mr. Boucher held that their status should be the same as that of the unattached members now, and this matter could be left to teh executive.

"The trouble," Mr. Hicks explained, "was that there were too many inactive members. What they want is 140 active members and the rest unattached.

Mr. J. E. A. Fitzgerald said that the unattached members didn't get much curling for their money, and if they had sixty unattached members standing around waiting to get an odd chance to curl, they wouldn't want to pay much.

Mr. Fitzgerald's suggestion seemed to impress the members favourably, so Mr. W. G. Morrow moved that the resolution be changed to have 140 active members and 25 unattached members instead of associate members. The fee will remain the same, and the privileges will be the same to both.

It was pointed out by Mr. Brownscombe that 32 rinks were about all that could be accommodated on the ice, and this left twelve extra players. He claimed that it was best to keep the membership fixed as it had been done in the last few years, with the result that they had more applications now than they ever got before the membership had been fixed. Mr. Morrow's resolution carried.

Officers Elected.

The election of officers resulted in the following being elected:

Hon. President—G. H. Giroux (acclamation).

Vice-President—J. Cameron.

The Management Committee—A. C. Kay, W. J. Oke, G. B. Boucher, J. H. Metherel—was elected out of nine nominees and after a second ballot between J. Skinner and J. H. Metherel.

The new vice-president, in the absence of Dr. Wightman, took the chair from the retiring president.

Mr. Giroux expressed his appreciation of the hearty co-operation given him in his year of office, and thanked them for the honour conferred on him by his new position. He paid tribute to the work of the officers of the club and the way everything had run smoothly. He said that no other club in Ontario could equal the record of Peterborough in raising 72 prizes for competition, and in conclusion said his work had been always a pleasure to him.

Mr. Cameron spoke briefly, thanking the members for his election, and pledging his faithful services to the club.

Mr. R. M. Waddell and Mr. W. G. Morrow are again representatives at the O. C. A. The other nominees for the position gave way to these popular officers.

Mr. Campbell, manager of the Union Bank, was appointed auditor for the coming year, having filled the position since Mr. Pennefather left last year.

Mr. Angus McIntosh will again be umpire next year.

In a speech touched with pathos, Mr. W. G. Morrow moved a vote of condolence to the family of Mr. Adam Hall and Mr. Percy Fitzgerald, and on the suggestion of Mr. W. M. Cruthers the name of the late Mr. C. R. Munro was coupled with it.

The local bonspiel was such a popular fixture this year that it will become an annual affair.

The following committee was appointed to look after it: W. G. Morrow, H. F. Foote, R. Hicks, J. W. McDermid, and W. D. Campbell.

Votes of thanks were rendered to the president, vice-president, secretary and Board of Management, the Bonspiel Committee, and last, but by no means least, Angus McIntosh, for his inestimable services as umpire and ice-maker.

BLACKBURN ROVERS BEAT ASHTON VILLA

RIGHT IN BIRMINGHAM, BEING OUT STANDING FEATURE IN BRITISH SOCCER.

London, March 22.—The outstanding feature of the British soccer games Saturday was the defeat of Aston Villa before their own supporters by Blackburn Rovers, 2 to 1. Fifty thousand people packed into Stamford Bridge to see Chelsea draw with Sheffield Wednesday, but the other London Club in this division, the Arsenal, just lost to Middlesborough by the only goal scored. The leaders, West Bromwich Albion, won again, beating Preston North End, and increased their lead to the top of the table in the second division. Tottenham Hotspur accounted for Rotherham County by 2 to 0, and have practically assured themselves of the championship for this season. Birmingham lost to Bury by 1 to 0, and are losing their grip on the second position, as Huddersfield Town, by beating Stockport County by 2 to 1, have increased their lead to three points.

With the exception of Merthyr Town, who lost to Plymouth Argyle, 2 to 0, all the other home teams in the Southern League picked up points. No changes are made in the leading positions, but the tail-enders are having a desperate tussle to escape relegation to the second division next season.

All the Scottish League games resulted much as expected, with the exception of the Hearts-Clyde game, which ended in a surprising away win for the latter by three clear goals.

LIQUOR CASE IN THE POLICE COURT

BELMONT TOWNSHIP MAN WAS THE DEFENDANT IN THE CASE.

The case of George Albert Parcells, of Belmont township, who is charged under the Inland Revenue Act with having in his possession last September a mash for making liquor, came up before Magistrate Langley in the County Court again to-day, following the remand of a week ago. Mr. J. O'Brien appeared for the accused and Crown Attorney G. W. Hatton conducted the prosecution.

The case was on the docket for 10.15, but several delays occurred, and the first evidence was not taken till 11 o'clock. Much amusement was caused when the Magistrate called for a Bible to swear in the witness, and High County Constable Moore tried to substitute a pocket dictionary, as the one generally used could not be found. The officials all seemed to have misplaced their pocket testaments, but finally one was produced from downstairs.

The first witness, Mr. A. C. McFee, Collector of Customs for Belleville Division, said he was out to the residence of the accused in Belmont township with Mr. E. Floody, Dominion Preventive Officer, on September 17 last. The mash was found on lot 9, concession 2, Belmont township, but McFee did not know the exact lot and concession of the house. On the east side of the road were the house, a stable and outhouses. The house was a two-story frame structure, he stated. Across the road on the east side the mash was found in the woods.

Mr. McFee explained the road was very poor ,hardly recognizable as a road, and it ended at his house and some of his property, including a saw mill and lumber was on the road. The mash was found some 150 yards v st of the house.

What did you find? asked Mr. Hatton.

A 40 gallon barrel containing about 10 gallons of mash in a state of fermentation. Evidences of a fire was seen near the mash and in searching the thicket further a half of a tub was found about fifty yeard away, also containing mash.

Some difficulty arose over the directions of the house and mash and the witness admitted that he wasn't just sure of the directions, although he knew the house was on the right side of the road driving north and the mash on the left.

The Mixture.

The first mash consisted of corn, raisins, potatoes and molasses. The second tub showed corn, molasses and raisins. Water was in both mixtures.

Mr. McFee explained that a bottle from each was filled and tasted by both men. They were corked and numbered and were taken to Toronto by Mr. Floody for an analysis. The remaining mash was poured on the ground and the tubs burned. Witness said that the wash or mash was suitable for the manufacture of spirits and was in an active state of fermentation at the time. He had been connected with the distilling business for 18 years and spoke from long experience.

The report from the government laboratory showing the alcoholic percentage in the mash was produced in court and identified by Mr. McFee as the original report. The matter of using this report as evidence was reserved by the Magistrate.

Mr. Floody and Mr. McFee, after thoroughly searching the woods and finding nothing more, returned to the house where Mr. Parcells lived. When he tried to point out that potatoes of a pink shade were found similar to those in the mash the counsel for the accused ridiculed the evidence.

A boiler tap with a spout in the top was found in the pantry and this also was produced in court. He suggested that it might have been used to cover the "cooker." The idea that corn found in the house seemed to be the same as that in the mash met with a similar fate as his "pink-skinned potatoes."

Mr. McFee stated that on the same lot as the wash was found on was a barn containing hay, which Parcells claimed he owned. There might have been a fence on one side of the road but he wasn't sure. He said that the boiler tap could be used with other apparatus for distilling liquor. The top had been rather roughly cut off he pointed out.

In the cross-examination by Mr. J. O'Brien he said the country was thickly wooded and swampy in parts. Mr. O'Brien asked him if it had entered his mind that the apparatus found might be used for making maple sugar. Mr. McFee said he didn't know whether it could or not.

Then you have quite made up your mind it could be used for no other purpose than making liquor? Yes.

Mr. O'Brien asked the witness to point out where the boiler top had been soldered on to the receptacle, "the cooker," but Mr. McFee could not.

Question of Memory.

The counsel for the accused tried to show that Mr. McFee's memory was not very clear as to some of the points. Mr. McFee claimed it was. Mr. McFee claimed the pieces of potato were intact in the mash but he could see the skins.

Do you mean to tell me that these would be intact if in a process of fermentation

The witness asked him to ask some sensible questions, but Mr. O'Brien kept on: "You can't tell whether they would be intact or not with all your experience?"

"It might not be noticeable," said the witness.

In reply to several questions Mr. McFee admitted he had never seen pink potatoes in a wash.

"I understood you said the buildings were frame. You will be surprised to know that they are log," said Mr. O'Brien.

"I can't say that my memory is very clear on anything but the wash. That was all I was interested in."

Keeps the Straightest, Unruliest Hair in Curl

You've never seen anything work such wonders for straight, lank, unruly hair as plain liquid silmerine. Nothing else will keep the hair in curl for so long a time—nor produce such beautifully lustrous, natural-looking curls and waves. Damp or windy weather has no terrors for the woman who uses it. And no one need hesitate to use it, for it is so easily applied with a brush and is so perfectly harmless. It leaves no greasy, sticky or streatky trace. The curliness can be acquired in three hours, though many prefer to apply the liquid at bedtime. When the hair is combed out it is delightful soft and fluffy.

liquid silmerine from the druggist and follow the accompanying directions will have a most agreeable surprise. The liquid is also valued as a splendid dressing for the hair.

VARSITY PLAYED SUDBURY TO TIE

TORONTO, March 23. —The old dope pot got the dint that kicked it all out of shape last night. Sudbury Wolves, after licking their chops from the dainty Granite morsels, went into the Allan Cup semi-final last night lop-sided favorites, some of the foolish even laying two to one that the northern Wolves would walk away with Varsity to the tune of three goals Sadder and wiser this morning.

Varsity turned in their best effort of the season, were always better than the Wolves, and the only place they fell down was in scoring. Each club got two goals, but Varsity had dozens of chances, and they slipped past by the narrowest of margins.

Fans Enjoyed It.

The big rink was filled, and it was the greatest night of the year. The game was the toughest battle of the long winter and the most thrilling. Varsity carried the fight right to the Wolves, backed them up in their lair time after time, and it seemed impossible for a team to be in on top of the goal with such regularity and fail to get the counters. On the play, Varsity should have had at least a three-goal margin to carry into the second game on Wednesday night.

It was another case of too much hockey. Sudbury didn't have the dash of their former games, and they never stepped into checking like the students handed out last night. Varsity smothered their team play with the closest kind of checking, and carried a determined attack that worried the northerners sick.

GOVERNMENT REDUCES TRENT CANAL ESTIMATE

In the Federal estimates of this year's expenditures, the appropriation for work on the Trent Canal is reduced from $1,000,000 to $400,000, and the Welland Ship Canal is provided with $5,500,000 instead of $3,500,000.

GOV'T ESTIMATES ARE DECREASED

OTTAWA, March 22.—While Canada's expenditure this fiscal year ending 31st March will total $900,852,231.79, in the coming fiscal year the total set by the main estimates tabled to-day at $537,149,428.09, or a decrease of $363,702,803.64. As this year the total has been greatly raised by an expenditure of $350,000,000 for demobilisation—$40,000,000 voted as an emergency unemployment fund to carry returned soldiers out of work through the winter, $40,000,000 for the Government shipbuilding programme, $25,000,000 for the housing scheme, and $35,000,000 for miscellaneous railway equipment, or $490,000,000 in all—it was anticipated by those not in the secrets of the Union Government that the reduction would be very much greater than that which has been shown, and to which will have to be added later such supplementary estimates as are brought down.

But demobilisation is not over. The estimates ask $38,463,400 for this purpose, $9,745,000 being for demobilisation overseas, $28,505,900 for services in Canada, $57,500 for services of the Department of Justice, $105,000 for the Department of Trade and Commerce, and $50,000 for the Department of the Secretary of State.

No provision is made in the estimates for spending any emergency fund for the soldiers, but a committee has yet to meet, where additional expenditure is not beyond the bounds of probability.

HIGH CHIMNEYS FOR TWO LOCAL FACTORIES

Peterborough's skyline shows two more tall chimneys that bespeak its industrial progress. The Canadian Kellogg Company recently erected a brick chimney, 150 feet high, at the Bonner-Worth factory of the Canadian Woollens, Limited, and yesterday completed a 90 foot chimney at the Peterborough Milk Products Co. on Aylmer Street. The McDonnel Street shaft is one of the highest of its kind in the city.

NEW INDUSTRY DECIDES TO LOCATE FACTORY AND OFFICE IN PETERBORO

AFTER A SURVEY OF EASTERN CANADA, PETERBORO IS SELECTED AS LOGICAL LOCATION FOR PLANT OF RAYBESTOS COMPANY.

After a survey of all Eastern Canada for the best distributing point for their products, the Canadian Raybestos Company, Limited have decided to locate their Canadian branch in the Lundy Tool and Shovel Factory and have purchased the plant from the Lundy estate. The personnel of the company at the parent plant in Bridgeport where a floor space of 200,000 square feet is occupied, is Mr. Summer Simpson, president, Mr. H. C. Simpson, vice-president, and Mr. F. Judd, sales manager; and of the Canadian Company. Mr. Summer Simpson, president, Mr. Robert Abbott, vice-president, in charge of the Canadian branch, and Mr. H. C. Simpson and N. F. Judd directors.

The Products.

The plant will manufacture automobile brake linings, clutch facings, high pressure sheet packing and all automobile accessories pertaining to asbestos, and claims the distinction of being the only company in Canada which manufactures asbestos brake lining and high pressure sheet packing. The new plant, which will occupy some 20,000 square feet at the start will supply all automobile manufacturers in Canada from Peterborough and all replacement business. There will be some 400,000 automobiles in Canada by the end of the year and at the same ratio as the United States, Raybestos products will be carried in better than fifty per cent. of the automobiles in use.

Nationally Known.

Raybestos products are nationally known in Canada as well as the United States. Most of the garages in Peterborough now carry Raybestos brake linings and clutch facings. The products are at present distributed throughout the Dominion by practically all the automobile accessory jobbers, having been shipped into Canada straight from Bridegport, Conn. The company now feels Canada has reached a position which warrants the establishment of a plant in the Dominion.

Favorable Report.

Knowledge of the possibilities of Peterborough were originally obtained from the Board of Trade and City Clerk Armstrong indirectly through the C.P.R., and Mr. Abbott was sent to investigate the field. The first report brought back to Bridgeport by Mr. Abbott in reference to Peterborough as a manufacturing centre, and the general outlay of the town was so favourable that the President and Vice-President decided to come to the city and look it over. They found that Mr. Abbott's report was borne out in every particular. They were so favorably impressed by the city that they decided at once to establish their Canadian plant and head office here.

Progressive Concern.

The officers of the Raybestos Company have always taken a large amount of interest and civic pride in their own town of Bridgeport, and are known as a progressive manufacturing concern. They are connected with the Manufacturing Association, the Chamber of Commerce, the Building and Loan Association, which is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, the Housing Association, which is composed of the manufacturers of Bridgeport, and recently purchased all government houses erected in Bridgeport during the war and have now 11,000 tenants to stabilize the rent situation and keep it out of the hands of speculators.

Prominent Citizens.

All officers of the Company are prominent citizens. Mr. Summer Simpson, besides being President of the Raybestos Company, is chairman of the Board of Directors in the National Bank, Vice-President of the Chamber of Commerce, a member of the executive of the Manufacturers' Association, chairman of the Trustees of the Salvation Army building, Vice-President of the Building and Loan Association, and President of the Bridgeport Hospital.

Mr H. C. Simpson is a director of the Westside Bank, a member of the Chamber of Commerce, and Chairman of several of the committees and also a worker in the Manufacturers' Association.

Mr. Abbot is connected with the Sales Department and has received recently his well earned promotion after two years' service with the American Expeditionary Force, and will reside in the city.

Nationally Advertised.

The Raybestos brake lining is nationaly advertised under the trade name of Raybestos, with a distinguishing mark of "The Silver Eadge." The advertisements appear in such national magazines as the Saturday Evening Post, Colliers, Literary Digest, Harpers and the Century.

The company, which are the originators of asbestos brake lining for automobiles, and the largest producers in the world of asbestos brake lining, will bring several skilled employees to Peterborough to start the plant, but will not bring many employees. It is their intention to employ Peterborough men exclusively. The remodelling of the Lundy property will commence immediately, and machinery to commence work with will be shipped in from the American plant in Bridgeport.

ATTEMPT TO SETTLE STRIKE.

(Canadian Press.)

MADRID, March 23.—Negotiations in an attempt to settle differences between railroad administration and workers had been in progress for some time. Up till last night, however, it was thought the conferences were likely to be continued this week, having indicated that they contemplated calling a strike by Thursday if they obtained no imprtant concessions by that time.

NIGHT COUGHS PREVENT SLEEP WEAR OUT THE SYSTEM

The dry, hacking cough, cough, day and night is very wearing on the system. The constant coughing disturbs the rest and keeps the lungs and bronchial tubes in such an irritated and inflamed condition they get no chance to heal.

You will find in Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup a remedy without an equal for curing coughs and colds, soothing the lungs, loosening the phlegm, strengthening and healing the breathing organs, and fortifying them against serious pulmonary disease.

Mrs. Fred. Fairburn, Copper Cliff, Ont., writes:—"I caught a heavy cold, got a sore throat and had a terrible hacking cough that I could not get rid of. I could not sleep at night. I had tried quite a few remedies, but they did not seem to do me much good until I took Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. By the time I had taken two bottles my cough was all gone.

"It seemed to loosen the cough right away so that I could spit up the phlegm that gathered in my throat, and also took that hot, raw, burning fever out of my bronchial tubes. I feel that Dr. Wood's has no equal."

Price 25c and 50c at all dealers. Put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto Ont.

DEPENDS ON ZINC IN YOUR SYSTEM.

Whether Your Digestion is Good or You Are a Hopeless Dyspeptic.

PARIS, March. 23.—If your body contains much zinc your digestion is good: otherwise you are a hopeless dyspeptic.

Prof. de Lezanne reports this to be the conclusion of years of study of snake poisonings. He says food is digested more or less quickly and thoroughly according to the quantity of zinc in the human body.

THE KING SAW ENGLAND BEAT SCOTS AT RUGBY

LONDON, Ma (22.—King George and forty thousands of his subjects saw England's defeat of Scotland in the international rugby game on Saturday, by two goals to one try, to a dropped goal. The game was played at a tremendous pace and the decision was in the badance until a quarter of an hour of the close of the match. W. J. Davies, again was largely, responsible for the English victory, clearing time and time again when the heavy Scottish forwards were on him. Nine out of ten matches constituting the international championships have now been played. The remaining game will be between Ireland and France, and will take place i Dublin, April 3.

WEDDING BELLS

FLEMING—COMSTOCK

Maple Grove Farm, Asphodel, the home of Mrs. J. B. Comstock, was the scene of a beautiful wedding on Wednesday 17th March, when the youngest daughter, Mary Rebecca, was united in marriage to Alexander Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Fleming, of Hastings. At 3.30 p.m. the bride entered the drawing room on the arm of her brother, Louis Comstock, to the strains of Lohengrin's "Wedding March," played by Miss A. M. Price, of Peterborough. The ceremony was performed by Rev. (Major) Harry A. Frost, B.A., B.D., of Trenton, under an arch of evergreens, in the presence of the immediate relatives. After the ceremony and the signing of the register, adjournment was made to the dining-room, which was beautifully decorated for the occasion, and partook of a sumptuous wedding dinner.

The toasts having been proposed and drank and speeches made, a programme of music and song by the Comstock Orchestra filled in the time until the bride and groom left amid showers of confetti and rice for the evening train for their new home in Trenton.

The bride looked lovely in a gown of ivory crepe meteor, with draped bodice of point lace and pearl trimmings. She wore the customary bridal veil and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. Her only ornament was a sweetheart pin of Fleming tartan, the gift of the groom. The bridesmaid, Miss [illegible] Anderson, Peterborough, looked charming in a shell pink georgette crepe, trimmed with a corsage of pink carnations. The groom was attended by the youngest brother of the bride, Albert E. Comstock, of Lovering, Alta.

The bride was the recipient of handsome and many beautiful and valuable presents. The groom presented the bridesmaid and groomsman with appropriate presents.

Re-Establishment Question Discussed at The G. W. V. A. Convention

Defense Minister Arrested

LATE DESPATCHES

(By Carl D. Groat, United Press.)

BERLIN, March 24.—Gen. Baron von Luettwitz, Minister of Defence in the Von Kapp insurrectionary, has been arrested, a Government official report says.

Admiral von Trotha, Chief of the Admiralty, also has been apprehended.

Government forces continued the search for Dr. Von Kapp.

The general opinion prevailed that the Government gradually is getting the situation under control, with the exception of West Germany, where it was admitted that Communism is spreading rapidly.

Advices indicated where Communism had gained its strongest supporters and Government troops had withdrawn, the situation was quiet. Whether these districts will come over to President Ebert was not clear.

Advices to the British Mission here, received last night, indicated the situation in West Germany is quieting somewhat.

Rumours of serious trouble continue to filter in here, but it was learned that many of these reports were merely duplications of earlier stories.

Late despatches said there had been no fighting in Leipzic since last week.

The city was reported quiet and under the control of Ebert forces.

It was learned that the Radicals have released many Russian prisoners still held in various parts of Germany, and the Russians have aided in the Communist movement. They were said to have taken part in the fighting at Merseburg, urging the Communists to unite against France, and offering their military aid. The Russians also advocated a strong propaganda movement to win the French people over to Communism.

WILL INTERVIEW THE HYDRO CHIEF

EXTENSION OF PETERBORO STREET RAILWAY WILL BE URGED.

Sir Adam Beck's return from Europe has reminded the Railway committee of the City Council that Peterborough's plans for street railway extensions should again be urged upon the Hydro-Electric Commission. Mayor McIntyre and the chairman, Ald. Gainey, were authorized last night to arrange for an interview with Sir Adam Beck. The Hydro Commission has a complete map of the local street railway and of the extensions that have been under consideration for several years.

In the meantime the Board of Works intends to pave George street from the C.P.R. south to Romaine street, which will entail the relaying of the street railway in that stretch of the street. The Railway committee on Ald. Gordon's motion, seconded by Ald. Whitehouse, last night decided to ask the Boar dof Works to carry the paving of George street further south from Romaine to Lansdowne street.

The City Development Commission will be notified that the city cannot afford the map of the city which it was proposed to secure by photographs from an airplane at a cost of $1,500.

THIRTEEN MILLION VOTED BY THE DOMINION HOUSE FOR HOUSE CONSTRUCTION

PETERBORO HOUSING COMMISSION WILL HAVE A CHANCE TO GET A SLICE OF THIS FOR HOUSING PURPOSES.

LOCAL CONDITIONS

(By F. H. Dobbin.)

Daily papers of Tuesday, noting the proposed budget sheet to be submitted to Parliament at Ottawa, mention that among the suggested appropriations, likely to be approved, is an amount of $13,000,000.00 for housing purposes. This could be taken to intimate that the Dominion House will support the loans already made to the province for the above purposes. It is known that the Ontario Government had applied to Ottawa for a further sum, needed to complete work under progress, if indeed not new work. While the grant has to receive action of Parliament, the need is so universal that it is almost assured that the item will be passed. In any event, hope which was freely expressed, now blossoms. What the rate of interest, a most critical thing, will be, is not stated. It may be assumed that it will be as before, for if the rate varied, especially as to work arranged for and not completed, difficulties will certainly ensue. Operations undertaken on the assumption and implied assent that if more money were forthcoming would be arranged.

Local Situation.

So far as the local situation is concerned, while it has been halted until ascertained as to the possibility of the funds being in sight, such things as can be done without immediate expense are being looked after. This in anticipation of concurrence in the scheme. And further that if the best happen we shall at least have broken the ice in the way of preliminary preparation.

In order to get a view of the possibilities as to probable costs in building of houses for workmen, three local builders have agreed to give their service to take the plans and specifications now in the hands of the commission, and going very carefully into the requirements, lay down the figures as indication what such houses, as built to the plans, may cost. Based on material expenses and wages as they stand to-day. It is not known what the wages scales as set by the several handicrafts will be, but it is assumed that there will be advances asked. If such come in then the additional cost can be added to the estimates. In addition, three houses already built within the last six or seven years will be selected, and based on present costs what it would cost to replace them. Then an applicant can be directed to go and look at the house and see what he would get for his money.

It is seen that a point of view that is prevalent contains the thought that if a house be built at present costs that it may have to be sold at a reduction in case prices for materials and work should fall in coming years. Even if there should be some reduction, there will not be any distinct thud if such takes place. It is human nature to have and hold. There has been no evidence that the manufacturer is looking for a reduction in wages. In fact, he does not want it. Besides being disagreeable, there is the larger profit to him because, as at present, his profits are framed on his working costs, and the larger these are the more his profits on the turnover. His materials he can serenely charge up and pass on to the consumer. He may say he doesn't, but the evidence is there. Then mechanics will fight just as strenuously against any reduction in wages, as they have done to get wages increased, mainly to meet the increased cost of living. Will wish to retain the wage and have someone else bring down for them the cost of living. Consultation with dealers in building supplies, inquiry from along the North Shore as to lumber cutting operations, tell that 1921 costs will be higher than at present. It is the universal opinion that no reductions may be looked for and if so, will be very gradual. We may be living in tents by that time

Selling Value.

The dread of having to sell less than cost at some time in the future has some foundation, but not much. If built under the Housing Commission, the man must live in it and not sell, except for very good reasons. Once in it he will likely stay. His wife will want to stay, at any rate, and that settles it. But the curious thing is that men will serenely face a loss in some transaction and yet kick furiously at the possibility of a loss on a house built at the present time. Take the case of an inquirer. Lives in a rented house. Last year bought a car for $1,500.00. Expects to sell it in a couple of years. The mechanical depreciation on that car will be at least $200.00 per year. Lucky if he gets $000.00 for it in 1921. Expends for tires, gasoline, upkeep. All he gets is some satisfaction for self and family. Has no compunction

LABOUR WILL ISSUE STATEMENT

Labour Leader Claims There is No Law Covering Sedition.

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, March 24.—An important announcement was made at a meeting of the Trades and Labor Council here by Mr. P. M. Draper, Secretary of the Dominion Trades Congress, in regard to sedition. Mr. Draper stated that there was no law on the statute books of the Dominion in regard to cases of sedition, and he stated that after Easter the executive of the Trades and Labor Congress would issue a full statement in regard to the Winnipeg strike leaders' trial, which would be a credit not only to Canadian workmen but to Canadian labor as a whole.

PARCELLS PLACED IN WITNESS BOX

JUDGMENT WAS RESERVED UNTIL TO-MORROW.

When the liquor case of George Albert Parcells was resumed yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock before Magistrate Langley, the defendant was placed in the box and gave evidence disclaiming all knowledge of a mash or still. "I don't know what a still is", he said. Parcells is 75 years of age and he said that ten years ago he had a stroke and had not been able to do much heavy work in the last 8 years. About 15 per cent. of an ordinary man's work was all he could do, but the found it very hard to explain to the Crown Attorney, how he did so much walking and roaming around the woods alone in spite of his doctor's orders" to not go out alone as he might get a bad spell any minute." The boiler top he said was in the house when he moved in 4 or 5 years ago and he did not know what it was used for.

He said that he had only been on the property where the still was found once or twice all last summer. The prosperity belonged to his son at Mimico. In the winter they cut logs there and were on the land often.

In reviewing the case Magistrate Langley pointed out that it was very strange that the accused should leave home the same night as Moore arrived on the scene and that they were not on the property in the summer but cut logs there in the winter. As the evidence was very complicated and Magistrate Langley wished to look into the case thoroughly, judgment was reserved till Thursday morning at 10.15.

INCREASE IN THE SAVINGS DEPOSITS

Germany Is Short Of Food

CHANGE IN GOVERNMENT MAY HELP TO RESTORE DEMORALIZED CONDITIONS.

PEASANT UPRISING

(United Press.)

LONDON, March 24 (by Ed. L. Keen).—Germany is threatened with a serious food shortage, especially in Berlin and the larger cities, unless immediate measures are taken to restore the country's demoralised traffic, according to semi-official advices here to-day.

There was hope in official quarters that the Ebert Government's final concession for reorganisation of the Cabinet with a purely workers' government will result in the early resumption of a railway service, enabling the nation to send food into the famine-threatened area.

A majority of the railway workers were expected back at their posts before the end of this week.

Observers here believed that Ebert group gave in to the Radicals' sweeping demands only when they had exhausted all possibility of opposition, and was confronted with open revolution in many quarters.

Late despatches said a peasants' uprising has occurred in Pomerania, the peasants seizing the great estates and dividing the land.

Militia Sent to Ireland

MACHINE GUNS

(Canadian Press.)

CORK, Ireland, March 24.—More troops and Royal Irish Constabulary have been sent here, and empty houses at strategic points have been occupied by military and police forces.

The Sinn Fein organisation is maintaining secret watches and guards to protect its leaders, some of whom are reported to have received threatening letters similar to that delivered to Mayor MacCurtain before he was murdered last week.

Last night troops, supported by the police, were stationed at various points in the city with armoured cars and machine guns. This protection was maintained while the streets were thronged, but later the extra guards were withdrawn.

Soldiers and police officers, however, remained in barracks all night, ready for any emergency.

PRISONERS TAKEN FROM IRELAND

(Canadian Press.)

QUEENSTOWN, Ireland, March 24.—Sixty five Sinn Fein prisoners, under heavy military escort, were brought by motor lory from Cork jail to this city this morning, where they were put aboard a British sloop which set sail ,presumably for England. The sloop was accompanied by two destroyers. The prisoners sang republican songs and returned the farewells of the watching crowd as the vessel left the harbor.

ANOTHER COMMISSION TO VISIT RUSSIA.

LORD EMMETT HAS BEEN INVITED TO REPRESENT BRITAIN.

(United Press.)

LONDON, March 24—The Morning Post said to-day it is understood that Lord Emmett has been invited to represent Great Britain in the League of Nations Commission which will investigate conditions in Soviet Russia.

THE WORKERS WILL BE CONSULTED BY GOVERNMENT IN IMPORTANT MATTERS

RADICALS THREATEN IMMEDIATE RESUMPTION OF GENERAL STRIKE SHOULD THE GOVERNMENT FAIL TO HOP THROUGH THE HOOP—ANOTHER CHAPTER IN THE OPERA BOUFFE.

(United Press.)

LONDON, March 24. — Gustav Bauer, Premier in President Ebert's Cabinet, will leave Berlin, probably to-day, for West German,y where he will endeavour to reach an agreement with the Communists in control there, a Berlin despatch by way of Copenhagen, said to-day.

Herr Giesberts, the Socialist leader, will accompany Bauer, the despatch said.

The decision to enter into negotiations with the Communists followed a long conference between Bauer and the coalition of radical elements in Berlin yesterday. Bauer finally agreed to all the radicals' demands, the despatch said.

Withdraw Troops.

(United Press.)

BERLIN, March 24.—The government has agreed to withdraw all the regular troops from Berlin.

No armies will be sent against the Communists in control of the Ruhr industrial district.

The workers will be consulted in the re-organization of every phase of the government.

The radicals have threatened immediate resumption of the general strike if any of the demands are not complied with.

Strike Settlement.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, March 24.— In strike settlement reached by German government with labour unions, majority Socialists are pledged to place in their parliamentary programme claims of labor organizations, says a Berlin despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company. The government has expressed willingness to withdraw its troops from Berlin and across the Spree river, near government headquarters and raise the state of siege immediately, it is said. In addition it undertakes not to attack workers, particularly those in the Ruhr valley, and to negotiate with unions concerning entryof labor representatives into defence corps. Unions pledged themselves to call another meeting to decide upon the question of new general strike, in case their claims are not met and government's policies are broken.

New Cabinet.

(Canadian Press.)

COPENHAGEN, March 24.— Formation of a new German cabinet is a matter of only a few hours, and the Independent Socialists are sure of getting several important portfolios, according to telegrams from Berlin this morning.

Gas, water and electric service had not been resumed in Berlin and tramways are still idle, as Independent Socialists have assumed a waiting attitude. They are said to be disappointed with the government's soft methods towards traitors, while armed Spartacans are simply stood against the wall.

One Thousand Killed.

(United Press.)

MAYENCE, March 24.—More than one thousand Communists were killed in violent fighting between the Ebert troops and the Reds in the regions of Wehl, Gotha and Hennersdörff, according to despatches here to-day.

Fighting between the Belgian troops and the German Reds was reported in the Duisburg district.

Troops Reinforced.

(Canadian Press.)

WESEL, Mrach 24.—Six thousand government troops reinforced by armed country men had a skirmish with the Communist guards, numbering about fifteen thousand ,near here last night. Reports states 62 were killed and about one hundred wounded

DELUGE OF LETTERS COME FROM CRANKS

Queer Missives Received By Government Departments.

OTTAWA, March 24. — Several departments of the government have been deluged during the past few days with letters from people obviously insane.

What puzzles some of the staffs of the Deputy Ministers is that the letters—mostly meaningless and incoherent—come from one section of Montreal, but from many different persons, as the handwriting is varied in style.

One letter to the Department of the Interior asks for a pair of silk stockings, and is addressed to "De Farmer Bums." Another is addressed to Hon. H. B. Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta, Ottawa." A third letter is addressed to the "Hon. Excellency of Gazzooza"

One official of the Registration Branch of the Department of the Interior has seen over two hundred such letters ,an dis making a collection of them.

THE FARMERS ARE KEEPING IN SHAPE

A LITTLE TILT IN THE HOUSE YESTERDAY.

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, Mar. 24.—In the House of Commons yesterday it was Edmund Bristol, member for Centre Toronto, who roused the ire of the farmer members of Parliament by the remark that farming had become such a sinecure with Hydro power to do all the chores that the soil tillers had to install gymnasiums in their barns in order to get a little exercise.

Maharg, M.P. for Maple Creek, landed on him like a ton of bricks. But when the farmers come to Ottawa they miss the exercise they get in the hay fields back home. Maharg saw at once that it would not do to let their muscles get flabby if they were to win the coming fight on the tariff, so every day he marches his merry men down to a bowling academy where they work great execution with the pine-pin. The United Farmer chieftain of Saskatchewan is the champion. Halbert of Ontario is a tyro, but shows promise. Crerar keeps in trim at the Y.M.C.A., and when the zero hour arrives, the farmers will be reany for the fray.

"FLO-FLO"

A sense of humour distributed generously among the "Perfect 36" chorus girls, is one of the reasons why John Cort's "Flo-Flo" which comes to the Grand to-night, following long runs in Boston and Chicago, packed the Cort Theatre in New York with enthusiastic throngs nightly for an entire season.

The eccentric dancing of the comedy chorus which is a novelty, has been the tobacco in the delightful offering of lovely lyrics, clever lines and lacey lingerie, which captivated the fancy of the Broadway theatregoers.

John Cort has given his chorus an attractive setting in the bride shop. His cast comprises only artists of established reputation and popularity. The story concerns the matrimonial intrigues of a bogus count, an American heiress and a rising young man from Oshkos, Wis., also the beautiful mannequin "Flo-Flo," who exhibits corsets in the establishment of Mosher and Simpson, proprietors of the Bride Shop and purveyors of lingerie to the social elect. The principal roles are taken by Hazel Alger, W. J. McCarthy, Carl George, Eddie Lloyd, Augustus Buell, Rhea Norton, Elinore McCune, Mari Dantes, Robt. Dale, Frank Masters, Frank Hodgins, and others of prominence, and the Perfect Thirty-Six" chorus. An augmented orchestra assures an artistic rendition of the delightfully tuneful score. Silvio Hein has given to "Flo-Flo."

DIFFICULT TO FORECAST THE RESULT OF TO-DAY'S DISCUSSION ON RE-ESTABLISHMENT.

QUESTION OF BONUS

(Special to The Examiner.)

MONTREAL, March 24. — From this morning's session of the Dominion G. W. V. A. Convention here, it is is impossible to forecast what scheme of re-establishment will be endorsed.

A buzz of conversation among the delegates followed the distribution of resolution number six on Re-establishment in the Convention Hall this morning. The first section dealt with the ticklish question of a cash bonus.

"Be it resolved, that we respectfully request the Dominion Government to implement such a bonus, according to the terms of the Vancouver resolution, if and when the financial condition of the country permits:

"And be it further resolved, That all reservists of Allied nations in Canada on 4th August, 1914, who served with their respective forces in the war, and who are now returned to Canada, be placed on an equality basis with members of the C. E. F., in all matters of pension, gratuities, and re-establishment."

Calgary Bonus. Scheme.

C. E. Jeakins, of Ontario, as a member of the Re-establishment Committee, presented the new Calgary bonus scheme as drawn up by W. S. Woods, president of the Calgary Branch. He explained that the resolution was merely a basis for discussion. He reserved the right to support any amendment.

The resolution is: "That we, the Great War Veterans of Canada, in Dominion Convention assembled, this day of March, 1920, advocated as the fairest and most feasible plan for re-establishment yet submitted, and go on record as now requesting:

"The payment of an additional dollar per diem to men who have seen service on a belligerent front other than Siberia;

"The payment of an additional eighty cents per diem to men who have seen service in Siberia or Great Britain only;

"The payment of an additional fifty cents per diem to men who have seen service in Canada only;

"The foregoing payments to be made on actual length of service from date of attestation to discharge, irrespective of the length of service in either country, and be in addition to whatever may have already been received in the way of gratuity, clothing allowance, working pay, pay for rank, etc.:

For Dependents.

"With the only reservation that this re-establishment bonus, together with the war service gratuity already received, shall not in the case of any soldier, total more than three thousand dollars.

"And further, That the sum of fifteen hundred dollars shall be paid in a lump sum as a bonus to the fallen soldiers' widows, orphan child or children, or dependents, parent or parents, as indicated by their separation allowance;

"And further, That in the absence of the indication of any dependent being existent by virtue of their drawing separation allowance and pension on behalf of a soldier who has fallen, that the next-of-kin of such a soldier shall receive the same bonus he would have received had he returned at the date of the Armistice.

Time for Treatment.

"And further, That the time spent for treatment by a soldier be treated as actual service when computing the bonus, that this bonus shall also apply to men who were ordinarily resident in Canada before the war and served in the Imperial forces.

"The term soldier to apply to any member of Canada's nursing, military, naval, or air forces."

W. S. Woods followed ex-President Jeakins to suport his own resolution.

"Returned soldiers in need at present," he said, "his war service gratuity was absolutely useless to him. It is spent, and he is not re-established. Why Mr. Flynn enjoys his success to-day comes from the fact that he supports a definite plan."

C. E. Wilson: "I object to the word 'success'."

W. S. Woods: "Well, the principle drawback of the G. W. V. A. scheme of re-establishment is that it is not easily understood, but this plan that we are now advocating will be understood by everybody."

NEW SUMMER SCHOOL

Northern Ontario teachers are given an opportunity by the decision of Hon. R. H. Grant, Minister of Education, to get agricultural training without coming down to old Ontario. A summer course, similar to those conducted at Guelph and Whitby will be conducted at Monteith, where suitable quarters are available. It will run concurrently with the courses at the two centres in old Ontario, and will lead to the same certificates. This year part one only of the course leading to the elementary certificate will be given. It is expected to accomodate all the teachers in the district from Muskoka north and west.

The buildings at Monteith, including dormitory and dining hall, will accomodate about 80 teachers and the fullest use will be made of the demonstration farm there. It is proposed to make eligible for admission any one holding a certificate qualifying him to teach in the public and separate schools. Travelling expenses and those incurred in attendance will be refunded the following year, provided agriculture has been taught by those taking the course.

TUESDAY MARCH 23RD, 1920.

THE NEW FRANCHISE ACT.

The new Franchise Bill introduced in the Ontario House on Monday by Hon. F. C. Biggs involves some most important changes in connection with municipal elections and will largely increase the number of persons qualified to vote. The municipal lists will be as a result much more complete and the preparing of a new list for a Provincial election will be a much easier and simple matter for it will require the addition of a only comparatively small number of names to the municipal list to complete the roll of voters for a Provincial contest. The cumbersome ,expensive and inaccurate enumeration system will be scrapped and with the municipal lists as a basis for the Provincial lists there will be an elimination of the trouble that has attended the preparation for recent elections.

The new bill extends the principle inaugurated some years ago by which the sons of farmers living at home were given the franchise. Now it is proposed that the same privilege shall be given to all adults who are living at home. If the head of the family whether father or mother is a property holder or is a tenant of property, all other members of the family, whether sons or daughters, if they are twenty-one years of age will be given equal franchise rights. All marride women, provided their husbands are qualified to vote will also be placed on the municipal list so that practically every adult citizen with the exception of a few transients will be given the franchise in municipal elections.

The measure is a progressive one and will undoubtedly be well received. It is a recognition of the fact that the son or daughter, living [illegible] has the same interest in the affairs of the community as the head of the house and therefore should be given an opportunity to exercise the franchise.

THE PENSION QUESTION.

Additional weight is given to the Ontario War Veterans' request for an increase in the rates of pension by the declaration of Mr. W. F. Cockshutt, M.P., of Brantford before the Canadian Club on Monday night that Canada has fallen down in the matter of pensions. Mr. Cockshutt, as the representative of a constituency which sent many soldiers to the front has taken a keen interest in the subject of pensions and naturally cases of hardship in which the widows and dependents of the soldiers who were killed are suffering because of inadequate allowances, and similiar cases in which badly disabled soldiers are having a hard struggle for existence, have come to his attention and have been carefully investigated by him.

As a result he is strongly of the opinion that there is the greatest need of a revision of the pension regulations and rates. He said as much during his address here the other night and a few days ago in the House of Commons even more emphatically urged the necessity of the conditions being remedied.

"I am confident" said the member for Brantford, "that the pensions that are being paid to the disabled soldiers, to the widow and orphans, or whoever it may be that has suffered, will none of them be found to be overgenerous and a great many of them will be found to be entirely inadequate. At the risk of raising our pension bill five or ten millions per annum I say this country owes it to itself and to its citizens to see that a grave injustice is not done to the widow and orphan."

Mr. Cockshutt is right and the Examiner believes he is expressing the opinion of the vast majority of Canadians. The matter of pensions is one of the questions that has been delegated to the Special Parliamentary Committee and there will be a general hope that as a result of the inquiry to be carried out by the committee there will be a speedy and an effective re-adjustment of pensions.

A GOOD DAY FOR PETERBORO.

Yesterday was a splendid day for Peterboro in asmuch as it was marked not only by the announcement of the securing of a fine new industry in the Canadian branch of the Raybestos Company, but also by the assuring of an addition to the plant of the Canadian General Electric Company that will cost in building and machinery a million dollars and that will add hundreds of employees to the working staff of the company. The manner in which the Canadian General bylaw was endorsed by the property owners yesterday must be gratifying to the heads of the company as a testimony of confidence in the concern as it is gratifying to the many citizens who see in the result the desire of the people that Peterboro shall develop and flourish. The measure had popular majority in its favour of 800 and had a safe margin over the two-thirds vote necessary to carry the bylaw while it is significant that every polling sub-division in the city showed a majority for the bylaw.

The result means much for Peterboro. The buildings to be erected by the Canadian General Electric Company will during their construction provide employment for Peterboro's carpenters, brick layers, painters and other workmen and upon completion will open a new field of employment to hundreds of workers, practically doubling the present payroll of the company. The majority of the voters undoubtedly had these things in mind yesterday and while assuredly there were many who voted in favour of the bylaw who are opposed to the principle of exempting industries, they realized that so long as the practice is generally permitted and generally used it would have been rank folly on the part of Peterboro to turn down an old and staunch industry. Bonusing and exempting industries from taxation may be wrong and unwise but if it is to be prohibited it must be done by the enactment of Dominion legislation. Peterboro cannot afford to sacrifice industries that mean new life and energy by attempting to condemn a practice that is being used by rival towns and cities to secure these industrial prizes. This was undoubtedly the view of the 1265 voters who marked a cross in the "yes" column yesterday.

BEAUTY SECRETS!

Whereshe gets her good looks, her healthy skin, her pink cheeks, is known to every one, because it is apparent that it is not due to cosmetics, paint and powder. But the true womanly beauty comes from good health, and this good health is a woman's secret.

Health comes with good physical machinery and good spirits, an active digestion. A body free from pains and aches comes with a tonic known for over fifty years as the best "temperance" tonic and nervine for women—namely, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It can be obtained in any drug store in liquid or tablet form, or send 10c to Dr. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N.Y.

Cleansing of the intestinal tract is important. Take Dr. Pierce's Pellets or select a vegetable pill. Such a one is composed of May-apple, leaves of aloe, root of jalap, and made into tiny sugar-coated pellets, to be had at every drug store as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

PROBLEM CASES.

As sonn as the late G.W.V.A. Advisory Committee "took over" it was discovered that there was a certain type of man who should never have been allowed in the army—the man who is now recognized as the "problem case." By "problem case" is not meant the man of normal mentality for whom it is difficult to find employment by reason of unfortuitous circumstances, but the man of a certain mental instability who, when he obtains employment, is loath to persist in it and in time becomes the "flotsam and jetsam" of the labour market.

This condition, which makes him a poor employee, was not caused by his service in the army, although in some cases it may have been aggravated by service. In any case, the country is responsible for the present situation because by reason of a lax medical examination little or no attempt was made to estimate the mentality of the recruit.

Realizing that the reputation of the ex-soldier as an employee would be harmed by such cases, the matter was brought to the attention of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-Establishment, but with the usual result that nothing was done. This inactivity was explained on the basis that everything was being done. True it is, something was being done, and here are some of the samples. Mental defectives were incarcerated in asylums along with the insane; men who were quite evidently below par mentally, but not insane, were being sent up for training in such lines as lens-grinding which requires at least ordinary intelligence; the mentality of men who drifted from one job to another was never investigated in any scientific manner. The Advisory Committee realizing this situation proposed that something along the following lines should be carried out.

1. That this work be connected in some way with the activities of the Canadian National Committee on Mental Hygiene. The Deputy Minister literally pooh-poohed the idea and expressed himself in no uncertain fashion that this committee was a fad. He took upon himself in refusing such co-operation to pass judgment on such men as Russell, Clarke, Mundie, Doherty, Hincks, etc., as also upon the sanity of many influential citizens who are associated with this important movement.

2. That well known and reliable psychological tests be used to detect these cases before they became discouraged and mere driftwood in the world; and that the staffs of the hospitals co-operate with the Labour Bureau in carrying out such a programme.

3. That these men be trained as much as their endowment permits and be employed in Government shops under supervision. (A certain number can be employed outside but such individuals will need be carefully sifted.

4. Soldiers mentally defective should not be confined in the same institutions as the insane where no good can come to them, and where they are an expense to the State instead of earning their way as outlined above.

5. That previous to assigning a man to Vocational Training adequate tests should be used to supplement any other information concerning his endowments and aptitude.

The attitude of the Great War Veterans' Association on this matter is only another bit of evidence of their progressive policy for the good of the country. The manner in which it was received is also evidence of the superficiality and reactionism rampant in the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-Establishment. The Canadian National Committee on Mental Hygiene deserves the energetic support of all public-minded citizens.—The Veteran.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The old advice is still good—"don't take them off yet."

Mothers' pensions are on their way at last in Ontario. They have been long enough coming.

The members of Parliament have no patronage to distribute and there are to be no campaign funds if Mr. Burnham's motion goes through. Old politicians will wonder why any one bothers with politics nowadays.

THE BAND PROBLEM.

The Parks Committee of the City Council in trying to secure an additional $500 for band purposes, making a total of $1500, which it is proposed to divide equally between the bands of the 57th Regiment, G.W.V.A., and the Salvation Army, may have arrived at a solution that would be satisfactory to the three organizations involved, but they have failed to decide upon a policy that will be of much benefit in so far as developing a first class band is considered. $1500 divided between three organizations is money thrown away; it may provide a multiplicity of band concerts, but it can scarcely produce quality of music to supplement the the quantity, and it is merely following the lines of least resistance on the part of the majority of the members of the committee to treat the band appropriation as so much patronage and spread it over three different bands.

The Examiner agrees with the views of Ald. Crowe and Ald. Copping who stood out for the utilization of the appropriation for the development of one good band. Their position is sound logically and economically and it would have been a good thing for the welfare of music in Peterboro if their colleagues had swung over to their opinion. The band appropriation should be viewed as all other expenditures of the city are regarded, and an effort made to get value for the amount to be spent. The majority of the committee however seemed to lose sight of this fact, and favored the weak-kneed policy of giving all applicants, regardless of the calibre of the music they are capable of playing ,an equal share of the civic grant. That is a solution that will probably be more effective at the municipal elections than it will be during the band concert season.

An amalgamation of the bands of the Great War Veterans and the 57th Regiment, with the whole civic grant given to the organization, would be the nearest approach to securing value for the ratepayers' money that suggests itself at the present time. Negotiations along that line have been carried on for some time, and while there are difficulties in the way they are not such as absolutely block the chances of an amalgamation. If the members of the council would withhold their decision on the band question, and use their best endeavours to bring about the absorption of the two bands into one, a real and important step towards better things in music will have been taken. The system that has been adopted during recent years, and is apparently to be followed again this year, of ladling out the civic grant to any organization that wants to apply for it, may produce votes but not notes—of the right kind at least.

IS THIS THE END?

A space ago we knew a noble rage
As o'er the world men died that dreams might live—
The dreams of brotherhood, of lasting peace
And sheltered youth—the while Death laughed at Love
And every mother prayed her secret prayer,
And every father cursed his clogging years,
And everywhere you moved you met a friend!

But that was yesterday! It seems, today
Unnumbered years ago, since now we live
Like hungry maggots in a teeming world
Grown rotten with base caution, apish greed!

A group of egoists called "Statesmen" droll
Their senile jealousies, men old in guile,
Whom years and tragedy and grim world-pain
Have not ennobled—these hold progress back
While we, a Nation, merely chafe and shrug
And analyze their motives. Jealousy
Of one in power, or sullen mulishness,
Or narrow prejudice, they proudly call
"America," and foul a gallant name!

How long shall this endure? While wounded boys
Stare drearily with tired eyes, and dream
Of careless days when they too laughed and ran
When they were young, and whole . . all life a song!

Dear God, must we surrender that white hope
Of "one last war to end all war?" Shall we Allow these men to bicker, hesitate
While tortured Europe waits? Is this the end
Of all our chivalry and sacrifice,
Our gallant, poignant, beautiful response
To that great cry for help across the sea?

At the meeting of the Epworth League on Monday night, the Bible lesson was read by Mrs. Burke, and the topic, "The Student in Arms," by Miss Mabel Little. The second part of the programme was given over to moving pictures, which were presented by Mr. David Webster. The first was the story of the cocoa bean from the time it is taken from the trees in the tropics until it is canned and labelled in Canada, or made into chocolate bars. It was intensely interesting.

The second reel showed Canadian farming, past and present and showed the tremendous advance in labor saving and time saving devices that has been made in the last few years. Mr. Webster was heartily applauded.

Between the reels Miss Lolor Waldon rendered a piano solo in her usual brilliant style.

Rev. S. F. Dixon was in charge of the meeting and extended a hearty welcome to all.

The magnificent Northern Lights on Monday night attracted the notice of a great many people in the vicinity. They were unusually brilliant and seemed like a shower of light.

SANDRA THE JEALOUS

BY JANE PHELPS

SANDRA TELLS ROSE SHE IS HAPPY.

CHAPTER LXXIX.

As I had expected, my wardrobe made quite a furore. While I had lost my sapphires I still possessed enough jewelry to cause comment and envy among the girls I had known before I married. They copied my dresses with tissue paper, to have a pattern they might use when they added to their own wardrobes. When I told them it would soon be out of style they paid no attention, save to say they would risk it.

I was most childish in my desire to show them how much I had. Perhaps had it not been for Rose's visit, and her gossip after she returned home, I should not have been quite so silly. Rose, frank as ever, told me one day that the girls thought I was 'awfully stuck up' and that the boys were 'afraid of me.' I laughed, but in reality I was pleased.

"I told them they needn't envy you even if you did have lovely clothes and a wonderful home, with servants and everything —that you weren't allowed to do a single thing you wanted to."

"You told them what wasn't so!" I retorted angrily. "I wanted to come home and here I am."

Then I recalled Everett's actions when Rose was with me, and said more quietly: "Everett has changed Rose. He is lovely to me— most of the time now. We go to the theatres a lot, and now he dances with me when we go to supper. He thought I was too young to do the things I wanted to do when I was first married— that I hadn't poise enough to know how to meet so many new people. But I wouldn't change him now for anyone in the world When I see other men—and the boys here at home—I am so proud of him I don't know what to do. He is so clever, so handsome, and people all look up to him." To save my life I couldn't help bragging a little

"I'm sorry for you just the same."

"You needn't be. I don't need sympathy I tell you. Goodness Rose, I almost shiver when I think I might have married one of the town boys. Why, all they think of is taking a girl to the movies, or the corner drug store! What kind of a home would I have had with them?"

"Perhaps as good as the one you have now by the time they were as old as Mr. Graham."

'Yes, and I would be a tired or worn out old woman by that time" This was a new thought to me so I expatiated upon it. "You see I would have to work hard to help, like all the girls who marry poor boys their own age. They by the time they got where they could give me things I wouldn't care a hang whether I had them or not. My good looks would be mostly gone, and I would be so old I wouldn't care for lovely clothes and motor cars and things."

"Don't fool yourself, Sandra. You'd care just as much, and more too, because you had helped earn them. That's what Mother says anyway. Father was poor when she married him and they worked hard together. Now she has it easy, and she just loves it." I knew Rose's father was considered one of the few very rich men in town, and that her mother had luxuries that my mother never had dreamed of having.

"You talk like a minister," I said, with a laugh. I hated to keep telling Rose how much I cared for Everett. but when she talked as if I had done the most foolish thing possible in marrying him, I just had to. Very unwisely I had confided to her that I was studying, that Everett had engaged Mrs. Barr to tutor me in the things in which I was deficient. Now she spoke of that:

"I would be insulted to have a man I married hire some one to teach me as if I were a school girl I don't see how you endure it."

"I was annoyed at first, Rose, but when I saw how clever all the women in Everett's set were, even those who were very young, I made up my mind I would be clever too, and since then I haven't felt about having Mrs. Barr teach me. If I was just taking French or some language, no one would think anything of it. Why shouldn't one study other things as well—that is, if they need to? You see, Rose, lots of girls nowadays go to college, and they learn things that help them appear well — because they are associated with the teachers and older girls — which girls who live at home and only go to high school do not learn." My argument sounded foolish and weak, but it seemed to impress Rose.

"Perhaps it's all right,' she conceded grudgingly, "but I wouldn't do it." Then she changed the subject and began talking of Barrett Edmonds, as she invariably did. He had made a great impression upon her, and she constantly hinted for another invitation to visit me—which I did not extend owing to Everett's caution.

Anyway Barrett was in Europe on a business trip. I missed him, too, but I didn't tell Rose so

BITRO-PHOSPHATE IS GOOD FOR THIN NERVOUS PEOPLE

A PHYSICIAN'S ADVICE.

Frederick S. Kolle. M.D., Editor of New York Physicians' "Who's Who," says that weak, nervous people who want increased weight, strength and nerve-force, should take a 5-grain tablet of Bitro-Phosphate just before or during each meal.

This particular phosphate is the discovery of a famous French scientist, and reports of remarkable results from its use have recently appeared in many medical journals.

If you do not feel well; if you tire easily; do not sleep well, or are too thin; go to any good druggist and get enough Bitro-Phosphate for a two weeks' supply — it costs only fifty cents a week.

Eat less; chew your food thoroughly, and if at the end of a few weeks you do not feel stronger and better than you have for months; if your nerves are not steadier; if you do not sleep better and have more vim, endurance and vitality, your money will be returned, and the Bitro-Phosphate will cost you nothing.

BARONS AS COWBOYS

STRANGE STORIES OF THE PEERAGE

The news that the heir to one of our oldest peerages is doing cowboy's work in Arizona reminds one of many a similar romantic and adventurous chapter in the lives of men who have worn, or to-day are wearing, British coronets.

Few men have reached the House of Lords through stranger by-ways than the present Lord Hardwicke.

Some years ago this peer-to-be was plying his pick in a silver-lead mine in Tasmania. Later, he was busy pegging-out claims in the West Australian gold-fields. From Australia he wandered to the United States, and drilled rocks in Montana for ten hours a day, "at union wages," before faring to Alaska on his roundabout way to the gold mines of South Africa.

For ten years he worked like a nigger, on wages which once sank as low as five shillings a day. Then one day came the news that he had succeeded to a title.

Lord Lyveden can look back on a career even more adventurous. The son of a country parson, he was a private in the Royal Artillery before most youths of his class have left Eton. Throwing off his uniform he had a spell as strolling actor before launching on the singular and varied career which led him by devious ways to his coronet.

Earl as a Fireman.

Among the many roles he played during these wandering years were those of ship-steward, ship-caterer and market-gardener. In one menial post or another he roamed all over the earth, on one memorable day narrowly escaping drowning, only to have still a narrower escape, an hour later, from falling masonary shattered by an eathquake.

Five-and-twenty years before he came into his unexpected title, the Earl of Egmont was working as a common seaman before the mast.

Wearying of the high seas he came to London and put on a fireman's helmet for a time before finding a snug berth as keeper of Chelsea Town Hall A spell of work in Chesire salt-mine was followed by a trip to South Africa from which he was summoned to his titles and his thousands of acres in Sussex and Ireland.

Lord George Drummond, heir to the Perth earldom, some fifty years ago turned his back on England and shipped as a stevedore to America, where he played in succession the unaristocratic parts of porter, packer and night-gateman on the Elevated Railway in New York, before ill-health put an end to his activities.

Lord Leitrim's brother and heir stoked his way across the Atlantic to herd cows in Texas, as the late Earl of Caithness did before him on his Berriedale ranch.

TOO MANY SPECTATORS; NOT ENOUGH PLAYERS

England Finds the Reason is Not Enough Playing Fields.

LONDON, March 23.—Ambitious plans for the practical encouragement of sports among the people of England are projected by the British Olympic Association, which has announced its program in connection with an appeal to the public for funds required to send a team to the international meet at Antwerp.

"There are too many spectators of sport in England and too few players," asserts the association in its statement. "The reason is obvious. The country is pitifully lacking in playing fields. In providing and improving grounds, clubhouses, etc., a very large sum might fruitfully be spent.

"During the year 1920 it will at least be possible to lay the foundation of an organization for this pupose. This the British Olympic Council proposes to do, and to develop the work itself in the intervals between the Olympic Games."

Nashua, N. H.—"I am nineteen years old and every month for two years I had such pains that I would often faint and have to leave school. I had such pain I did not know what to do with myself and tried so many remedies that were of no use. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspapers and decided to try it, and that is how I found relief from pain and feel so much better than I use to. When I hear of any girl suffering as I did I tell them how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me."—DELINA MARTIN, 29 Bowers St., Nashua, N.H.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, therefore is a perfectly safe remedy to give your daughter, who suffers from such painful periods as did Miss Martin.

The reason so many girls write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for advice, is because from their 40 years experience they have a store of knowledge which is invariably helpful.

DISCORDANT QUESTION OF BAND GRANTS RE-APPEARS

57TH REGIMENT, G.W.V.A. AND SALVATION ARMY HAVE APPROACHED COUNCIL WITH ANNUAL REQUESTS—ALD. CROWE PLEADS FOR QUALITY AND STANDARD MUSIC.

DECISION DEFERRED

After an hour's pondering the problem of how to apportion the $1,000 appropriation for music in the parks this summer among three bands whose combined requests amount to $1,700, the Parks Committee last night evaded decision until they ascertain whether or not an unattached $500 is available from any source wherewith to satisfy the applicants by dividing $1,500 equally between them.

Ald. Gainey presided with Mayor McIntyre and Aldermen Whitehouse, Copping, Gordan and Crowe present.

The 57th Regimental band want $600 for thirteen concerts, and guarantee from twenty-five to thirty musicians.

The Great War Veterans' band also offer to play for $600 and the Salvation Army ask for only $500.

Last year the Council set aside $600, and offered the three bands $200 each. The 57th declined this largess and their share proved a windfall that was promptly spent in painting the grand stand in Victoria Park.

This annual contention in which successive Council's betray a solicitous regard for the effect of their opinions and votes is of comparatively recent development, and the besetting difficulties present no easy and uncompromising solution this year unless the requests are granted in full or a stray $500 turns up.

Ald. Crowe and Ald. Copping opposed the idea of dividing the appropriation. Ald. Crowe argued strenuously that Peterboro cannot hope to acquire one capable band by doling out inadequate grants. The citizens, he contended, desired good music, quality rather than quantity, and at length he proposed a resolution that Mr. Rupert Gliddon be given $1,000 to expend in providing bandsmen during June, July and August, and to engage the necessary bandsmen according to the scale of the Musicians' Union. This effort was fruitless, and when the preliminary argument offered no easy way out of the dilemma, the Committee decided to defer action more or less indefinately.

Col E. B. Clegg and Major A. W. McPherson representing the 57th Regiment supported the petition of the regimental band, and Adjutant Buntin of the Salvation Army appeared alone to urge the claims of that organization.

The City Band.

Col. Mills speaking for the 57th Regimental band, said it had been the city band for practically fifty years. For 20 years I have been intimately connected with it myself. You are aware of the thousands of people who have enjoyed its music in the parks.

Since 1914 there has been no regimental band except what the leader and some of the members were able to hold together.

We have now thirty members and can get more for special occasions. We want to make the band as efficient as it was before the war. To do that we require money. The expenses are large. We require assistance to put the band on a good footing and keep it going.

Government assistance will be forthcoming as in the past, but we don't know what will be given by the city. We are here to ask you for assistance to make the 57th band what it should be, one of the best in Ontario. We won't be satisfied except with an efficient organization.

Some of the manufacturers promised to engage good bandsmen to help us keep them and with that connection I think we would be in a better position to keep the band going than would other organizations.'

Major A. W. McPherson.

Major McPherson assured the committee that the spirit shown in the reorganization of the regiment assured its success. It was an asset to Peterboro and the greater its success the greater the asset it became.

"Coupled with the regiment is the band, which is one of the most important adjuncts of the regiment from the standpoint of recruiting and enthusiasm. We expect your support in every way. If you are not back of the regiment and the band you cannot expect those who are organizing it to be enthusiastic. We ask your support, too, because it is an integral part of the city."

Ald. Whitehouse—The 57th band refused its grant last year and it was understood that it was the Union that refused it. What we should know is the minimum the Union would accept.

Was Unorganized.

Major McPherson—The 57th was not organized last year, and was therefore practically non-existent. Now there is an active organization and Col. Clegg speaks for the band.

Mr. Gliddon—I don't think the Union had anything to do with it. If the city had said there was no money available the 57th would probably have played for nothing, but they didn't like being put on the same basis as other organizations that were not of the same standard.

Continuing Mr. Gliddon said he did not know whether he would be retained as handmaster. He was deeply interested in the 57th regimental band and in any event his interests would remain with it. After 60 year's existence and service to Peterboro it deserved cordial support.

"We have the nucleus of a good band. I have been willing to work without salary. We tried to keep the band going until the time came for its organization. I am not authorized to make this statement but I can't see why the bands cannot get together for the civic concerts so as to provide the best concerts. If I am retained I shall be glad to work to put the 57th band on its former basis.

"The 57th band is one of three bands that have been engaged for the last 17 years to play at the Toronto Exhibition" Mr. Gliddon reminded the committee. "It played for a week at Scarboro Beach and was offered a second week's engagement, but was unable to accept it."

Adjutant Buntin.

Adjt. Buntin representing the Salvation Army band said that he didn't consider it necessary to bring a deputation when he had sent a written request to the Council. He questioned the objection that has been heard that the Salvation Army was sectarian, offering the fact that it is established in 60 different countries and under 42 languages.

He submitted a letter written by Mr. Benson of the 57th band to Commissioner Richards complaining that the Salvation Army band had given its services too cheaply for public concerts.

"I don't think this letter was fair and square. It tried to condemn me for accepting $200, and to get the Commissioner to come after me. He said that our band got most of the engagements because it played for less than the Union bands.

Ald. Gainey—That is a matter between you and the 57th band.

Adjt. Buntin—It shows that the 57th was not getting the engagements. We never put a price on our playing. We depend on the people in general to help us no matter what their religion may be. We are working for the good of the city as a whole.

In regard to the grant we asked for I leave that to your intelligence and common sense. There is no class of men who make greater sacrifices than the Salvation Army bandsmen. Rain or shine they go out and play and do their bit. If our men play with outside bands they cannot remain with us. It must be one or the other.

Ald. Gordon—What do you think of their playing in concert and not in any engagement that might be questionable?

Adjt. Buntin—That's the thin edge of the wedge. It would be one engagement and then something else. Then it would come that they would drift. Our idea is to try to persuade those boys and girls who attend no place of worship to go somewhere, to get a hold of them.

Ald. Crowe's Argument.

"Mr. Gliddon was brought here by the 57th as a bandmaster," Ald. Crowe recalled. "He was selected because he had the degrees and papers. I was one of those who selected him. There were only thirteen in the band at the time. He took hold of it against the opposition of Mr. Finch Miller and brought the reed section to seventeen clarinets and the band to fifty-two members. It travelled all over this part of the province and made a reputation. Mr. Gliddon is a musician of the highest standing. Ask Herbert Clark of Huntsville or Slatter of the 48th Highlanders, or Peel of St. Catharines.

Mr. Gliddon an Englishman.

There are some people trying to say that Mr. Gliddon is a German. He was born in England of English parents and he was educated at Leipsic, which was the music centre of the world. His profession is music and he doesn't dabble in anything else. When the 93rd battalion went away they said "you stay on the job and when we come back we will be better men, and will be loyal to the 57th." Instead they come back and start up another organization. Only little jealousies keep them apart. I take deep interest in the city bands. There is no use putting money in an organization that is here today and gone tomorrow."

Ald. Gordon—I am told that neither bands get a profit, that monies all go into the band funds.

Ald. Crowe—That's the way it used to be, and we went good for Mr. Gliddon's salary. Today you won't get men to go up there and play for nothing.

Ald. Gordon—There are some of us giving our services for nothing. We may not be giving good music."

Ald. Whitehouse—My idea was to have one city band, but I don't see any way now only to divide the money equally.

Ald. Crowe—You won't get a good band.

Ald. Gordon—There is no pending litigation. We have come through the winter without any accidents for which the city is liable. We might get $500 from the legal committee. That would give us $1,500 for concerts. By midsummer we would know how much was available from the legal committee.

Mayor McIntyre—How would you divide it?

Ald. Gordon—I'd give the 57th and the Veterans $550 each, and the Salvation Army $400.

Not Standard Music.

Ald. Crowe—You'd be giving the people a class of music that is not up to the standard. None of them have enough reeds now.

Ald. Gordon—I wouldn't appreciate a first class band.

Ald. Crowe—I want to spend the money to the best advantage for the citizens.

Ald. Gainey—I want to see the $1,000 divided. I don't want an overdraft for this committee.

Ald. Crowe—We should recognize the principle of giving the people the best value for their money, one band and a thorough one under a good man. The Salvation Army band is all right. I have nothing to say against them as long as they keep in their proper place. Years ago they wouldn't think of playing for money.

Ald. Gordon—But they have been getting money from the city for years.

Ald. Crowe—It was a bad precedent. The Veterans and the Salvation Army have their organizations behind them. The 57th officers have to help keep their band.

Ald. Gainey suggested that $400 be granted to each of the 57th and G. W.V.A. bands and $200 to the Salvation Army.

Ald. Gordon—Let's wait until May and see what money we have.

Ald. Gainey—If Ald. Crowe uses his money we can't get it.

Ald. Crowe—I don't want a deficit. I would rather show a surplus.

Ald. Copping—I won't support three bands.

Ald. Crowe's Motion.

Ald Crowe—I move that Mr. Gliddon be engaged as bandmaster and that he put thirty men in Victoria Park thirteen nights during June, July and August, each man to get the Union rate of two dollars and double that for the conductor. That would amount to $832. Mr. Gliddon could pick whatever men he wants.

Ald. Whitehouse—That would be hardly fair to the men who have fought overseas.

Ald. Copping—When the 57th band is reorganized I think you will see a lot of the Veterans play with them.

Ald. Crowe—The Veterans belong to the musicians Union and their best men could be engaged.

Mayor McIntyre—That might break up the G.W.V.A.

Ald. Crowe—Not at all.

Ald. Copping seconded Ald. Crowe's motion but it was lost. None of the other members voted with them.

Ald. Gordon moved, seconded by Ald. Whitehouse that this question of the band grants be postponed, the committee to meet at the call of the chairman with a view of getting $500 from some other appropriation to supplement the band appropriation so as to equalize the grants to the bands of the city. Mayor McIntrye voted for the motion which carried, Aldermen Copping and Crowe opposing.

Ald. Gainey—In the meantime you will leave the impression that we are going to give them the money they ask for?

Ald. Gordon—We may have to cut them down to $550 each.

IS GLAD SHE TOOK FRIEND'S ADVICE

TORONTO WOMAN RESTORED TO HEALTH BY TAKING TANLAC. DELIGHTED TO RECOMMEND IT.

Although it is more than a year now since Mrs. Elsie Mavor, of 11 Mallon avenue, Toronto, Ont., Canada, realized the wonderful powers of Tanlac, she still finds pleasure in praising it, for she says it was the means of restoring her to health when she was in an extremely weak and run down condition. In the course of conversation with the Tanlac representative at Tamblyn's Drug Store, Mrs. Mavor said:

"When I look back on those two years of suffering and ill health, I realize that a boon Tanlac has been to me. I was in an extremely run down condition. My appetite was feeble, and although not troubled with indigestion I had to eat sparingly or my liver would get out of order. I was continually having such frightful headaches that I simply had to give up and lie down. I had severe pains in my back, especially whenever I went to stoop over. I hardly knew how to get through the day and my sleep was so broken that I would rise in the mornings feeling tired and heavy.

"It was a friend of mine who advised me to try Tanlac, and as she herself had tried it with excellent results, I decided to take her advice and I am very thankful I did. In a very short time I knew the medicine was doing me good for my appetite picked up wonderfully and I felt so much better and stronger. By the time I had got through the second bottle all my aches and pains had disappeared and I have been well ever since. I can sleep fine, eat well and am so much stronger that I can do all my housework with perfect ease. It is over a year now since I stopped taking Tanlac but I am delighted with what it did for me that I take pleasure in recommending it."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd., in Havelock by A. C. Denike, in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd., in Fowlers Corners by W. A. Hunter, in Gelert by A. J. Scott, in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

INVENTS A NEW METHOD OF SUICIDE.

Throws Grounded Wire Over High Tension Cable, Holds on to the Other End.

BERLIN, March 23.—A new method of shuffling off this mortal coil was revealed when an overland high tension electric line on the Russian island, Ruigen, in the Baltic Sea, was put out of business recently.

An innkeeper, weary of life, tied a stone to one end of a long wire, and tossed it over the high tension cable while he held the other end of the wire. Auto-electrocution was instant.

MEAFORD FARMER KILLED AT BARN-WRECKING BEE.

MEAFORD, March 23. — Robert Young, a well-known farmer residing about three and a half miles from Meofard, was instantly killed this morning while helping to tear down a barn belonging to Mr. Milton Taylor, on the adjoining farm. The work was being done by means of a bee, and as Mr. Young was lowering some of the frame work, a large beam fell on his head, smashing his skull.

The late Mr. Young was married, but had no children. He was about forty years of age.

HIGHER PRICE FOR GASOLINE

ANOTHER INCREASE IS IN PROSPECT FOR PETERBORO MOTORISTS.

The cost of motoring is climbing skywards each day, and the motorist this year will have to dig deeper into his pocket than he did last year if he would drive as often and as far. Last Friday gas went up from 40c. to 42c. a gallon and is in line for another boost, possibly to 50c. The fact that in England and on the continent gasoline, or petrol, its foreign equivalent is selling from $1.39 to $2.00 a gallon, proves of little solace to local motorists who like to look back to the breezy days of six or seven years ago when one could get 6 or 8 gallons for a dollar. Not only was the gas cheaper, but it was a better quality ,and coal oil, water and other substitutes were not part of its content as now. And in those days one had the whole road to himself and didn't need to honk his horn so often or get stalled in the traffic at every street corner or take the other fellow's dust, for the other fellow was few and far between. Cars were a novelty.

Last year gas retailed at 37 and 37 1-2 cents and it was thought that this was the high level mark by motorists, but they were sadly mistaken.

Tires recently went up 20 p.c. and oil also took a boost, but in spite of the ascendency of prices the warm sunshine has brought out the cars from their winter retreat like moths from cocoons and the garages are rushed with work. The sale of new cars has been very steady and it seems that the demand exceeds the output of the fatcories in the United States and Canada.

The increases will affect the pleasure drivers more than the class to whom a car has been a boon and a necessity in their business and it will keep its place in spite of the increased upkeep, but to the joy riders it will be a hard blow and a falling off in pleasure driving is inevitable.

LOCAL BUSINESS CHANGES HANDS

MR. CHARLES B. ADAIR HAS PURCHASED THE FITZGERALD CARRIAGE WORKS.

Mr. Chas. B. Adair, who for the past eight years has held the office of Vice President and Secretary of The Peterboro Hardware Co., Limited, and employed in the wholesale department has severed his connection with that firm and gone into business on his own account having purchased the Carriage Works of Fitz-Gerald & Co., corner of Brock and Water street. This business is well and favourably known in this city and surrounding counties. It was established in 1850 and has been in operation at the present site since the erection of the building in 1873 by the late George FitzGerald.

Mr. Adair has decided to operate under the old name and will continue to carry on the business as heretofor with some slight changes. Particular attention will be given to all kinds of carriage and waggon repair work for which the plant and equipment is especially well fitted. The whole of the third floor is devoted to Carriage and Auto painting and the large and modern electric elevator lately installed makes this easily accessible to all sizes of cars.

The machinery for equipping wheels with solid rubber and cushion tires is the most modern and all work is fully guaranteed.

At the present time besides buggies the firm has sufficient orders for their make of milk and bread waggons to keep them running to capacity for several months.

Mr. Adair the new owner while not a practical carriage builder is thoroughly familiar with all lines entering into their manufacture and this should be a distinct advantage especially in this day of keen trade competition and with practical competent workmen. There is no reason why the favourable reputation of this well established business should not be maintained and enhanced under the new management and we bespeak for Mr. Adair in his new venture, continued support of the friends of the old business as well as of his own well wishers.

HOOVER SWEEPER

KING GEORGE WAS RECENT PURCHASER OF HAMILTON PRODUCT.

Malcolm C. Dizer, the managing director of the Hoover Suction Sweeper company, limited of London, England, was in Hamilton on Thursday and Friday, March 4 and 5. Mr. Dizer was visiting the plant of the Hoover Suction Sweeper company here, where Hoover machines will be manufactured for sale in Great Britain.

Mr. Dizer made the very interesting announcement while here that since he has arrived on this side of the water he has been informed by cable that King George, while visiting the ideal home exhibit that was held at the Olympia in London from February 4 to 25, stopped at the Hoover booth and personally inspected and ordered a Hoover "Special" machine. He was advised that Hoover auction sweepers for distribution in England would soon be manufactured at Hamilton, Canada, and therefore personally requested one of the first machines to arrive in England from Canada. Mr. Dizer has therefore made arrangements that one of the first machines manufactured at Hamilton and which they receive in England will be delivered to King George.

Mrs. Flora Hall, Dominion, N.S., writes:—"I have been troubled with sick headaches for the last ten years. I had lost faith in all remedies until recently a friend of mine advised me to try Burdock Blood Bitters. This I did, and found relief in a very short time. I would now recommend B.B.B. to anyone who is suffering as I did. I only took 3 bottles, and am never troubled with sick headaches anymore."

CONTRACT FOR CARE OF PARKS LET TO JOSEPH GRIERSON

BANDSTAND IN CENTRAL PARK TO BE TORN DOWN—PLAYGROUND FOR EAST CITY CHILDREN.

The Parks committee recommended to the Council last night the acceptance of Joseph Grierson's tender of $88 for the planting and care of the Victoria and Central parks this year. As caretaker last year he was paid $860.

The tenders received last night were as follows:—

Joseph Grierson, $885; W. H. Merrill, $1425; Wm. Pearson, $1350; Frank Wise, $1025.

Members of the committee were reluctant to give Mr. Grierson the contract for the care of the parks, believing that his tender was too low to pay for this time, for assistance he will require and also for the plants and bulbs needed. They considered that he had erred on the side of economy.

"Grierson gave good satisfaction last year", Ald. Gordon said. "I intend to support the lowest tenders, for all city work. I did it for ten years and I am going to continue it for a little while longer anyway. If he wants to lose money we shouldn't stop him."

Ald. Crowe seconded Ald. Gordon's motion that the contract be let to Mr. Grierson.

Playground in Ashburnham

Ald. Gainey called for the committee's attention to the absence of playground accommodation for the children of Ashburnham and suggested that the lot at the rear of the old village hall be levelled, and that the Playgrounds Association be requested to assist in equipping it with some of the apparatus used by children at play.

Ald. Whitehouse moved seconded by Ald. Copping that this plot of ground be levelled, if necessary, under the supervision of City Engineer Parsons. It was formerly occupied by the old drill shed.

Demolish Bandstand.

It was decided to recommend to the bandstand in Central Park be scrapped. Ald. Gainey reported that it was dilapidated and would require extensive repairs if it was to be of any use.

Ald. Gordon—"Let them take up soap boxes when they want to talk."

Ald. Crowe—"It has served its purpose. You wouldn't get a handful up there for a band concert. The people prefer Victoria Park.

C.G.E. EMPLOYEES FORM BALL CLUB

GOOD MATERIAL IN PROSPECT—THE OFFICERS.

An enthusiastic meeting of the C. G. E. employees interested in the formation of a ball club was held over the Bank of Commerce last evening when the club known as the Canadian General Ball Club, was organized and preparations made for a big year in baseball at the C.G.E. The officers elected last night were E. G. Patterson, honoraary president; R. J. Dohie, honorary first vice-president; R. Anson, honorary second vice-president; Frank Pier, president.

The other officers were nominated and at the next meeting, Monday next, they will be elected. Committee consisting of W. Jackson and two other members were appointed to see about uniforms for the team which will be entered in the City League.

It is understood that the club is the forerunner of an athletic club for the C. G. E. and the C.G.E. have encouraged and fostered the plan in a material way by giving $300 to start the ball rolling. The diamond at the rear of the works is being fixed up and the team which has already got some fine material, is being rounded up.

OPEN MEETING OF THE LOCAL COUNCIL OF WOMEN

An exceptionally well attended meeting of the Local Council of Women was held on Thursday, March 18th at the Y.W.C.A.

The Baby Clinic committee reported that the babies in all but two sub-divisions of the city have been registered, a total of 546 so far.

A very able paper on "Citizenship" was read by Mrs. H. R. H. Kenner, a member of the Citizenship committee. This committee plans to follow up this subject at future meetings of the L.C.W. Some interesting discussion followed, resulting in a resolution to the effect that Mrs. Kenner's paper be accepted and that the sub-executive of the L.C.W. consider plans for interesting the federated associations in the study of Citizenship.

The meeting was then addressed by Mr. J. W. Fraser on the subject of "British and Foreign Exchange." Mr. Fraser gave a lucid statement of what is meant by Exchange, in the money markets of the world, also explaining clearly the reasons for the present rates of exchange between Canada and the U. S. and between Canada and Great Britain. Once more it was made clear that the debtor nation must sell more to, and buy less from the creditor nation, till exchange is stabilized.

A standing vote of thanks was given to Mr. Fraser for his very instructive address.

The President's report of the recent Executive meeting of the National Council of Women was held over for another meeting.

THE LACROSSE MEETING FRIDAY

Lacrosse supporters are reminded of the meeting in the Empress Hotel on Friday evening, 26th March, at 8 o'clock, when an effort will be made to revive the game in Peterborough. Old lacross players, old lacrosse followers, and others who take an interest in the game, are greatly pleased to see that an effort is made again to have lacrosse started in Peterborough.

There are a number of expert players in the city, and it is believed that a good team can be got together with what new men are here and old Peterborough players who will still take an active interest in the game.

Then, an effort will be made also to have lacrosse introduced into the schools, as it is one of the best summer sports for the development of the body of the young man participating; and an invitation is extended to all those who care to help the meeting along, to be present at the Empress Hotel on Friday evening.

EXPEL THE TURK FROM EUROPE

(Canadian Press.)

WASHINGTON, March 24.— The original position of the American Government that the Turks should be expelled from Europe is re-stated in a note to the Allied Supreme Council, which has been prepared at the State Department, and which will be transmitted soon.

The communication is in reply to an inquiry from the French and the British Governments as to the views of the United States on the Turkish settlement. Position of the United States Government is understood to be that there is no sound reason for retaining the Turkish capital in Europe.

RUB RHEUMATIC PAIN, SORENESS, STIFFNESS

What's Rheumatism? Pain only.

Stop drugging! Not one case in fifty requires internal treatment. Rub soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil" directly upon the "tender spot" and relief comes instanly. 'St. Jacobs Oil' is a harmless rheumatism and sciatica liniment, which never disappoints and cannot burn the skin.

Limber up! Quit complaining! Get a small trial bottle from your druggist, and in just a moment you'll be free from rheumatic and sciatic pain, soreness, stiffness and swelling. Don't suffer! Relief awaits you. Old honest "St. Jacobs Oil" has cured millions of rehumatism sufferers in the last half century, and is just as good for sciatica, neuralgia, lumbago, back ache, sprains and swellings.

Dandruffy Heads Become Hairless

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

LIBERALS LOOK FOR A WALKOVER

THREE BYE-ELECTIONS SLATED EOR APRIL 7TH NEXT.

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, March 24. — Liberals here are predicting a win for their candidates in all three of the bye-elections which take place on 7th April next.

In Kamouraska a walk-over is predicted for Adolph Stein, who will most likely get an acclamation.

In the St. James' Division of Montreal, there will be a stiff fight between R. Rinfret, the official Liberal candidate, and A. Mathieu, who is running as a "Liberal Labour" candidate, and who claims to be as much a follower of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King a his opponent.

Liberal members who have been speaking in Temiskaming predict that A. G. Stack, the Liberal candidate, will head the poll, and that Major Pullen, straight Conservative, will be at the foot, with Mr. McDonald, the Labour candidate, second.

It is stated that at the meeting addressed by Hon. Arthur Meighen at Iroquois Falls, Major Pullen disclaimed any connection whatever with the Union Government.

CHIEF BROWN GOING HOME

It is unofficially reported that Chief of Police John Brown of Sudbury, formerly Sergt. Brown of Peterboro, has resigned from his position to return to Scotland. Sergt. Brown was on the Police Force here for some years, leaving here about three years ago to accept the more responsible and remunerative office at Sudbury.

PETERBORO ON EVE OF EXPANSION SAYS EX-MAYOR DUNCAN

CITIZENS OPPOSED TO BONUSING PRINCIPLE BUT DESIRE TO BUILD UP CITY.

Ex-Mayor Duncan this morning exopposed to the principle," he said, "but cess of the C.G.E. fixed assessment by-law. "The people were generally opposed to the rinciple," he said, "but I believe most of us realized that Peterborough was at the parting of the ways and even at the sacrifice of the taxes they could have obtained from the company, preferred not to hamper the continued development of the Canadian General Electric Company. I believe we are going to have a splendid year and with the new industries locating here that Peterborough is now in full stride forward."

Mr. Duncan referred to the scarcity of houses and the necessity of some scheme that will help meet the increasing deficiency. He is contemplating the erection of a building on Charlotte street next to Mr. Robert Hicks' house which will provide for two stores on the street floor and living quarters above.

Mr. Duncan remarked that a number of our citizens had promised each to build several houses on the condition that the others agreed to the idea which was broached by City Clerk Armstrong. W. G. Morrow and W. H. Bradburn signified their approval of the suggestion, but no definite plans had been reported. Mr. Duncan may proceed with his building independent of a group understanding.

A SORE MOUTH

Or Pyorrhea Quickly Relieved By "ABSORBINE JR."

Are your gums sore and tender? Do they smart or bleed when you brush them? Are they slipping away from the teeth? When your gums get in this condition, they need something to kill all germs in the mouth—something to change the spongy, bleeding flesh into firm, healthy tissue.

As one Dentist writes:—"ABSORBINE JR." has a future for dentists in the treatment of Pyorrhea."

Used in diluted form, "ABSORBINE JR." makes a mouth wash that destroys germs, heals the gums, prevents decay. Clean and refreshing in taste and odor—and being a vegetable germicide, is absolutely safe.

Heart Disease and Nerve Troubles Sweep the Country

Probably at no period in the world's history have heart and nerve troubles been so prevalent as they are to-day.

The heart can't stand the stress and strain of this busy, bustling age, and the care and worry, the anxiety and activity of business life constitute a serious drain on the nervous system.

The business of this work-a-day world goes with such a rush that the stoutest hearts and strongest nerves break down under the strain.

On the first approach of any breakdown of the system Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills should be taken. The reconstructive power of these pills on the heart and nerve system is simply marvellous.

Mr. W. A. Wright, Hopewell Ave., Ottawa, Ont., writes:—"After suffering for some time with my heart, I consulted a number of doctors, but got no relief. However, I read what Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills had done for others, who had the same symptoms and thought I would give them a trial. Believe me, six boxes cured me completely. I am feeling fine now, and can attend to my work every day. I can recommend your pills to any one suffering as I did."

MANY CHANGES IN BASEBALL RULES

BALL THAT HITS BAT IS DAED SOMETIMES NOW—DIAMOND GOSSIP.

Fans, in order to be up-to-date, should know the baseball rules as they have been amended. The following changes now in effect are the most important:

Freak pitching deliveries forbidden, except the spitball, which will be barred next fall.

Catchers forbidden to step from behind the batsman to aid intentional pass.

Schedules must be completed even if games have to be transferred.

No sales of players in the American League after July 1 and in the National League after Aug. 1, except on waivers.

All home runs to be recorded as such.

With two out in the last half of the ninth inning an the score tied, batsman to be credited with number of bases he advances on his hit.

A ball that hits the bat which the batsman is trying to avoid it is dead.

Catcher to be charged with an error if he drops a third strike and the batsman reaches first.

Players to be credited with batting and fielding records made in game thrown out on protests.

First baseman to receive an error if he fails to touch the bag when possible after taking a thrown ball.

Plans are under way for the formation of a six-team baseball league to represent Richmond, Armada, Utica, Romeo, Warren and Mt. Clemens. The teams will all be composed of amateur players. W. A. James has been elected the president of the organization.

At Pasadena, Cal., Grover Alexander pitched four innings for the Cubs against Vernon and showed up like a million dollars.

THE CURLERS HAD FIVE EXTRA DAYS

PETERBORO CURLING RECORDS FOR LAST TWELVE YEARS.

Saturday night marked the end of the curling this winter, the curlers getting five more days out of the weather than last year. The ice has held out bravely, but there is no escape from the sun's golden rays, which have covered the ice with a couple of inches of water, giving it the appearance of a vast sheet of glass. The ice, which is only a couple of inches thick, will be gone in a few days, and the 1919-20 curling season will be left behind and one more milestone passed in the history of the local curling club.

1909—March 27.
1910—March 19.
1911—March 25.

"NIGHTIE NIGHT"

Adolph Klauber, associated with the Selwyns, are the producers of "Nightie-Night," the big New York farce comedy success coming to the Grand Opera House, matinee and night, Saturday, March 27th.

The authors of this tidal wave of hilarity are Martha M. Stanley and Adelaide Matthews, with whose work Mr. Klauber first became acquainted when he was dramatic critic on one of the New York papers. They came to him with their maiden dramatic effort. It was not a play that he would undertake to produce, and he told them so flatly; but he discovered the budding talent and advised them to forget their first masterpiece and start all over again. They took his advice, and when at last they wrote a comedy that he knew the American public would welcome with glee, but without blushes, he found himself in the lucky position of being able to produce it himself.

The happy outcome of his patient interest and the authors' equally earnest effort to write a successful play is "Nightie-Night," which began its phenomenal career at the Princess Theatre in New York. It was hailed at the outset as the first popular bedroomless farce in more than a decade—as a knockout blow for the old French style of farce that amused the more sophisticated playgoers but drive the family parties to see revivals of "Robin Hood" and "Pinafore." Yet it is not without its proverbial pinch of spice, like all good farces, for the story hinges on the almost tragic adventures of a likeable young man with a jealous little wife, the particular object of her jealousy being a young matron whom the jolly husband had known in his green-salad days. Naturally when youth with the green-eyed better half comes home one night and finds the Junoesque young matron taking her ease there in pink pyjamas there is trouble—big wet showers of it—and the situation isn't improved in the least by the sudden apearance of the young matron's hotspur of a husband. The mystery of the pink pyjamas is solved just before the desparate quartette go to smash completely.

"Nightie-Night" will be played here by the original cast, headed by Francis Byrne and including Dorothy Mortimer, Suzane Wills, Malcolm Duncan, Cyril Raymond, Marie Chambers, Grant Mills, Ruby Craven and others.

VIVIAN TAKES A CHANCE.

Dainty Star In Novel Position In "His Official Fiancee."

Would you give an agreement to become the fiancee of your cold-blooded millionaire employer for a few weeks "for business purposes only?" That's the peculiar proposition that is put up to Vivian Martin in her new Paramount-Artcraft picture, "His Official Fiancee," which will be on view at the Grand Theatre Thursday and Friday. Being hard pressed for funds, she agrees to the arrangement, and complications and fun start that moment. She finds, to her surprise, that, given the proper surroundings, her stern "fiancee" is not the great bear the office force has always considered him. A former lover, an enfant terrible of an uncle, and the sudden appearance of a pretty French girl, in whom her employer takes an unwonted interest, pique the audience's curiosity, it is said, and carry the comedy to its startling and thoroughly satisfying denouement. Prominent in the cast is Forrest Stanley, a well known leading man. Robert G. Vignola was the director.

Never let a thermos bottle lie in the dish water—wash it is quickly as possible.

HOT SHOT FOR LINDSAY FROM PORT HOPE GUIDE

Two representatives from the Port Hope Club will attend the annual Central Ontario Baseball League meeting at Peterborough to-day to vote against any proposal for a double schedule. Peterboro may be large enough to suport this scheme but we doubt it, and we are certain that it would prove a financial loss to every other team in the league. Last year every team with the exception of Lindsay finished with a surplus and had Lindsay been a little more amatuer they, too, could have shown a healthy bank account. Coburg, with not a single win, has a nice surplus to start out with this season. But had a double schedule been in force practcally every team would be showing a deficit to-day. Even when the home team hadn't a chance for the championship, fans attended to see the opposing team perform. But just try repeating the performance and see how many will pay to see it. The Central League was one of the most successful in the Province and we sincerely hope that its progress will not be hampered by the introduction of the double schedule.—Port Hope Guide.

at dropping from $60.00 to $700.00 on the car, but shies away from a possible loss of $600.00 on the house he lives in. So long as a man lives in his own house a few hundred dollars one way or the other does not make much difference, for he has that desirable thing called home.

Careful inquiry about the city, bearing on the probability of house building, brings out this point of view, that new houses will not be built in the city in any large number until rents increase. This is not written to support house owners in making increases of rent, but it is a part of the game, the relative cost of occupying a house—rental or ownership. Rents in Peterborough are from 15 per cent. to 30 per cent. lower than in many other places of about equal population. The figures prove it. Despite the impression, the landlord, as we have him, is not a rapacious individual. Many people have lived in rented house for 10 to 15 and even 40 years. There has grown up a sort of friendly convenience in all that time, and the owner of the house hates to do something that will disturb that feeling, doing it from his end. So he lets it go. A substantial advance in rentals would do more to provoke house building than anything else. Consider a neat domicile in a terrace of five. Plumbing (no bath), closet, proper sewage, six commodious rooms, brick, on a well travelled street, for $10.00 per month. People in Brantford guffawed when told so. And were boisterous in unbelief.

Look Up Lots.

In the meantime those who are thinking of, or feel like, building might make investigations as to lots, come and see plans, talk the thing over, and reach, if possible, some decisions tentatively. Look into the matter thoroughly. As an example, the question was put "would a house, built at present costs, have to stand a larger assessment, and consequently increased taxes, than one adjoining which might have been put up eight years ago? A perfectly natural inquiry.

It may be replied that the cost of a house is not the determining factor relative to the taxable assessment. Such is rather framed on its residential value as compared with its situation, adjacent property and desirability all as making its commercial value, and taxable rate. It is highly probable, for it is a matter wholly in the hands of the assessor, that houses built just now will not be assessed out of proportion to those adjacent. Rather it might be that those already erected might have to stand a rise for if a given amount of money has to be raised for municipal purposes it must come from a stated rate on a given amount of property. The lower the rate, the higher the assessment. With a high rate there may be a lower or stationary assessment. Anyway, the first year's taxes, while under construction, and previous to settled occupancy, will not be serious.

It is hoped that in a short time we shall see what we shall see. If the housing scheme finds favour at Ottawa, and Toronto approves, the money may be forthcoming and operations can commence. We may as well face the proposition and say it is all a matter of expediency. We need houses, badly. If not built under the operation of the Commission, who will build? And if not, what then? What do you suggest to fill the gap?

SPRING IS IN THE AIR

WITH IT COMES THE SMALL BOY AND HIS MARBLES, THE PEDDLER AND HIS ANCIENT LINE OF JUNK—WIFEY'S NEW BONNET

"Quit yer hinchin'! Taw! Nothin'! Everythin! Bull in the ring! Ah gis a set up. Jummy, ye stripped me I haven't got a marley left."

These gladsome sounds of spring echo through the streets and school yards. The boys have put away skates, pucks and hockey sticks. Marbles and tops hol dtheir attention now. The dry places on the sidewalks resound with the swish of the skipping rope while frail little Adeline exerts every effort to put the necessary pep in "pper," demanded by the breathless, energetic Emmeline. Not far away Rebecca and Rosaline are playing hop-scotch on the pavement. Beside the fire-hall Bill and Fred, speculators in embryo, have just finished a session of "eggs in the bush" Fred having driven Bill to cover when he went "short" on his last guess as to the number of eggs which Fred held in his tightly closed fist.

The resonant notes of the ragman's lyric song echo through the narrow lane and alley, while the quasi sweet song of the bath room tenor trilling "s-p-r-i-n-g i-s c-o-m-i-n-g" in the apartment of a morning, is a poignant reminder that the season, which prompts poets to write sonnets or lambs to frisk in the bosky glades and gambol on the hillside, is near at hand. In fact, the calendar says it started Sunday, March 21.

Then there are those inevitable forerunners of spring, the pink pill almanac and the soothing syrup cook book, which a philanthropic, altruistic (?) corporation, through an agency, gives you free, gratis and for nothing. And these are some of the few things one does get free nowadays. Time was when one could get generous samples of breakfast food and jellies 'n everythin'. One knew they were free beeause the boarding house mistress gave buckshee helpings on those occasions.

This almanac or cook book comes to your door some bright Saturday afternoon when the pools of water on the sidewalks are sparkling in the sunshine, and the birds are chirping in the trees. It is a glorious day to he outdoors, but you had made a resolute decision to stay at home and remove the mountain of ashes, which has been accumulating for several months, while you chose to wait and see if a more favorable time didn't present itself for the disagreeable job. Comes the day for the great demonstration of homely virtue and iron determination.

The Old Friend.

Then, when you are about to ask if you have to sign for it, you discover that it is nothing more than the same old almanac with the recipes for making soupe a l'oignon sandwiched in between the antediluvian jokes about the triumvirate, the Englishman, the Irishman, and the Scotsman, and the hoary old conundrum about the precedence of the hen or the egg. You are on the point of firing it away when you are enticed to give a glance at the picture on the cover of the book of a poor chap, who, like yourself, has a pain in his back.

The very thought of that big pile of ashes in the cellar gives you a pain all over, not to mention the back. Your sympathies are enlisted right away. You read on, and discover that the unfortunate, old boy suffered with 57 different varieties of pains, aches and diseases, the very recital of which and the enumeration of their symptons predispose you to believe that you have some of the them yourself. The panacea for all these ills, of course, is a box of Bunkum's pills. Yes, when the almanacs are distributed at your door it is a sure sign of spring.

The professional canvasser engages in a business against which there is much prejudice. The old-time gabby book agent and the importunate insurance solicitor, whose long suit was putting his foot in the door and obdurately refusing to take it out, created a hostile frame of mind in the average householder to the genus canvasser. The picture frame shark has also queered the game. This is the bird who perpetrated that atrocious crayon enlargement of Granfather Anastasius, with the pink side-burns, and refused to give back the original picture, which was the only one left of the dozen which grandfather won in the raffle at the kermesse, unless you took the florid garish caricature which the bland agent really assured you was that of dear old grandpapa, and the gilt frame, about which no mention was made wheni the order was taken for the picture. The picture sometimes gazes at you fro its lofty perch above the piano, but more often grandpa's so-called likeness is relegated to the limbo of things in the attic, along with the broken plush chairs, and the horsehair sofa with the wobbly legs.

He's a Fresh Bird.

The genuine sure enough canvasser has an atmosphere of buoyancy and pep about him that is as refreshing as a spring breeze. See him approach the house of a prospect with a light step and confident mein. He walks as if he were going to get a big order. If he gets a turn down, he leaves whistling, so as to deceive the neighbors next door, who have been watching behind the curtains on the stairway xtlHno htv pbatfus? pLETAOSHSH to see if the agent "stung Mrs. Gadabout, whose husband never lets her buy anythin' from anybody comin' round, y' know."

His sunny smile melts the frigid indifference and lofty hauteur of liveried flunkies and uniformed maids, who in all matters of household management assure the canvasser that theirs is the last word.

Adaptable he is, too, to a remarkable degree. The baby is teething and mother hasn't time to see any pesky agent. Very well, he doesn't mind. He has several kids at home himself. The youngest is teething, too. Keeps him up at night something fierce. Have you tried—but his sentence in unfinished. Slam goes the door of the irritated parent of the teething baby aforementioned! But that doesn't feaze the professional canvasser.

Helps the Old Man.

You are up to your neck in the annual housecleaning. The stove pipes won't fit and paterfamilias forgets himself and uses army "langwidge" when the soot goes down his neck, just as if he were giving a descriptive, critical, frank opinion of a mule that had stepped on him one dreary, damp cold morning at the "stables." The obliging canvasser will give the old man any assistance. Fixing stove-pipes as a side line with him, if it will give him a favorable opening for a subsequent sale.

Consideration? That's the canvasser's middle name. He appreciates the fact that being a good housekeeper, you likely have used some of his matchless, unsurpassed, labor-saving necessity. But then you may not. At any rate Mrs. Newlywed, Mrs. Spondulicks, and Mrs. New Rich, who gave him large orders, thought that you would like to see it.

"Oh, very well, if all those ladies are getting some I might look at it. Of course I won't promise you I'll buy any." This from Mrs. O. U. Climber.

"Oh no," agrees the canvasser with his tongue in his cheek. He knows the very mention of names has a subtle, unconcious influence of the housekeeper in inducing her to buy.

She Weakened.

When Mrs. Climber is comfortably seated, the pleasant, versatile agent will demonstrate how to make old furniture look like new, or pine floors resemble quarter-cut oak, with his matchless polish. With his extension brush and intershangeable mop, he will show you how to scatter the dust from the inaccessible spot high up on the wall on to the bric-a-brac on the book case. He will put his prospect in a state of almost nervous prostration as he brandishes the long, dangerous-looking pole among the treasured grimcracks on the piano. His true mision in life, he will tell you, is to take the irk out of work. When may he send the order?

No, you didn't intend to order but you weakened. One's power of resistance is at low ebb at the end of a long winter. Perhaps that's why the agent begnis his campaign then on the innocent, unsuspcting public.

Pastry should be rolled lightly that the air may not be pressed out of it.

The family food bundget in some sixty cities averaged $15.70 at the middle of February, as compared with ary a year ago and $7.75 in February, 1914.

Wholesale prices are also on the increase.

BIG BOOST FOR LOCAL SERVICE

INTERESTING LETTER TO STAR "VOICE OF PEOPLE."

The following letter appeared in yesterday's "Agony" column of the Toronto Star.

Our Telephone Service.

To the Editor of The Star.

Sir—A Peterboro subscriber to telephone service does not appreciate the excellence of their service until they have occasion to use a telephone in Toronto.

Whereas in Peterboro the only requisite is to ask for the right number, in Toronto the most important thing is to "raise" central.

The recent epidemic has, I am told, at times caused the absence of half the operators in Peterboro and with what staff was left we had better service than Toronto offers under even normal circumstances. As one who knows and appreciates good telephone service let me say that in Toronto during good times and bad you do not get good service in this respect.

As it is the case in many other important respects Peterboro leads in its excellence in telephone matters.

No. 881, Peterboro.

KERENSKY SEES HISTORY REPEAT

GERMANY FOLLOWING IN STEPS OF RUSSIAN REVOLUTION.

PARIS.—A strikingly clore parallel between the situation in Germany to-day and that of Russia at the beginning of November, 1917, was emphasized by Kerensky himself in conversation at dinner yesterday with a friend.

Lonely and discredited, Kerensky lives ever in thought over the dramatic period of his amazing rise and tragic fall. To him Kornilov's militarist revolt against his authoirty, their struggle and the complete startling victory of Lenin are the most notable and thrilling events in history. He cannot understand that by the rest of the world it is already half forgotten.

Now like a ghost from his own past the same drama is being played again in Germany.

"I realize at last," he said, "why in those tragic days I failed to receive help from outside that might have turned the scale. What happened then in Russia is hapening now in Germany, almost detail for detail identical, and yet the statesmen and newspapers of Paris and London discuss the relative merits and chances of Kapp and Luttwitz or Ebert and Noske, and are blind to the real danger of Communism that threatens both.

"Like Ebert, I represented the bourgoisie and moderate elements of the Left. Like him, I had the approval without the active support of France and England. Like Kapp and Luttwitz, Kornilov had a force of troops, but no real backers.

"As in their case, the party of the Right was waiting in the background, prepared to join him if he beat me. As with Kornilov, the reactionary troops in Berlin are evidently not to be fully depended on against action of the proletariat.

"In both cases the Communists had soldiers of their own armed, disciplined and uniformed to execute orders given by an organized executive body constituted beforehand to direct the proletariat operations. Nor is that all. There is a parallel closer still.

"When it began to be seen that Kornilov could not succeed, and that a Communist victory threatened to engulf him and me alike, a great national war chief, until then aloof from the struggle, but perhaps with slight bias in favor of a reactionary atempt—I refer to General Alexiev—sent an urgent message to Kornilov bidding him submit to me, or at least abandon a struggle whose prolongation meant victory not for either of us, but for the Bolsheviki.

"Then it was too late. Kornilov's first successes had weakened me too much. I was powerless against the Bolsheviki, who were his real conquerors.

"Like Alexiev, Germany's military hero, Hindenburg, realized the true danger and sounded the same note of warning. I fear it is again too late. In Germany, as in Russia, Right and Left, militarists and bourgeoisie, are at each other's throats, and the power is falling like a ripe plum into the hands of the proletariat."

BRAIN WORKERS OF PARIS ORGANIZE

UNITE TO PROTECT THEMSELVES AGAINST THE EXACTIONS OF CAPITAL AND LABOUR.

PARIS.— A new union which has been mooted for some time in Paris was launched last night at a great meeting. It calls itself La Confederation des Travailleurs Intellectuels, or, for short, C. T. I. It's aim is to group into one organization the great body of mental workers, who at present are crushed between capital and manual labor, or, as one French journalist expresses it, between Croesus and Caliban.

Delegates from two hundred associations of brainworkers attended the meeting to draft a constitution for the new confederation. In a manifesto they declare their intention "to represent, co-ordinate and defend the interests of all those men and women who derive their principal livelihood from the work of their brain and not from manual labor or invested capital.

Clerks, inventors, managers, directors, writers, artists, teachers, lawyers and scientists are all eligible for membership. By a union of interests it is hoped not only to secure better conditions of work, better remuneration and wider prospects, but also to secure a larger measure of recognition by the world at large of the immense services done to the world by the brainworkers of all denominations.

The drafters of the manifesto complain that intellect has lost its pride of place in the world and that it is used by capital without respect and despised by labor. They contend that in the world's work it is the most important of all contributing factors, and as such deserves clear and uncompromised recognition.

"In developing in this way in national life the role and part of intelligence," the manifesto says "it is certain that it will fulfill its aim and secure for the workers organization and betterment, and for mankind organization, production and a guarantee of justice."

At the present, when the brainworking middle classes in France are severely hit by the high cost of living caused by profiteers on the one hand and the workers' demand on the other, the project has received enthusiastic support from all sides, and it success seems assured.

A Stubborn Cough Loosens Right Up

Here is a home-made syrup which millions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing becomes easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, croup, throat tickle, bronchial asthma or winter coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth), into a 16-oz. bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you get 16 ounces—a family supply—of much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for $2.50. Keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its prompt healing effect upon the membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT OF THE CANADIAN GENERAL

THE COMPANY WILL PROCEED AT ONCE WITH THE NEW EXTENSIONS.

When asked for an expression of opinion regarding the result of the voting yesterday on the C. G. E. By-law, Mr. E. G. Patterson, the local superintendent, gave to The Examiner a copy of the following letter, which is addressed to His Worship the Mayor and Aldermen:

His Worship the Mayor and Aldermen, Peterborough.

Dear Sirs,

Upon communicating the result of the voting on the By-law to our President, Honourable Frederic Nicholls, he was greatly pleased, and asked me to express to yourself, the Aldermen, the Board of Trade, and to the citizens of Peterborough his and the company's thanks for the handsome expression of confidence and esteem in which our company is held by the citizens of this city. The President wished me to say that the company would proceed at once with the calling for tenders for contracts and erection of buildings as outlined to you and your Council.

E. G. Patterson.

Mr. Patterson added that he felt sure that when the buildings are up, the citizens will be more than proud and amazed at the size of the plant.

LIVE CARTRIDGES IN THE GARBAGE

INCINERATOR STAFF WAS RATHER ALARMED AT DISCOVERY TO-DAY.

Workman at the incinerator this morning sifted 20 cartridges in four clips of five each out of a load of refuse that was being dumped on to the fires.

The possibility of other explosives having gone through unnoticed caused a mild alarm, and Sanitary Inspector Stapleton was notified of the incident, and the cartridges that were recovered were transfered to him as an evidence of the carelessness of citizens.

It was presumed, whether correctly or not, that these military munitions would explode in the heat, and the attendants of the city's furnaces object to thoughtless stuffing that might catch them in the barrage.

It is believed that the cartridges came from Gilmour street and a little investigation will be made to clear up any lingering doubts.

J. J. ASHWORTH, ASSISTANT GENERAL MANAGER OF C.G.E. CO., PLEASED WITH YESTERDAY'S VOTE.

"We intend to go ahead with the extensions to our local plant as soon as we can get things ready," said J. J. Ashworth, of Toronto, assistant general manager of the Canadian General Electric Company, to the Examiner to-day. He expressed the deep satisfaction he felt as a result of the fine majority for the fixed assessment by-law, and said that the plans would be carried out as stated by Senator Nicholls. The transformer building will be extended south to Albert street and will afford increased accommodation for the transformer department. Another building will form a link between the south end of the machine shop and the transformer extension, and will extend along Albert street. This building will be occupied by the punch press department, Mr. Ashworth said.

EXHIBITION AT THE "Y" WAS BIG SUCCESS

Miss Muriel Payne, the newly-appointed swimming instructress at the Y.W.C.A., last evening gave a most remarkable exhibition before a crowded house of interested spectators of the latest methods of swimming and life saving. In introducing Miss Payne Mr. G. H. Roper, the chairman of the evening, stated that one feature of the Y.W.C.A. of which the Y.M.C.A. has reason to be envious, is the swimming pool, but that he hoped that even that cause would be eliminated presently at the Y.M.C.A.

The Demonstration.

The demonstration included the long stroke, the breast stroke, back and side stroke, each of which were accomplished with the utmost ease and confidence by Miss Payne. Her under-water swimming, when she made the entire pool beneath the surface, and walking on the water, in which she also went the pool's distance, were remarkable features. Her fancy swimming and diving included the difficult and unusual imitation of a revolving wheel, the rolling log and the pendulum, which last was never before witnessed in the city, and is rarely accomplished by the most accomplished swimmer. Her imitation of a porpoise, for which the test is three minutes, was kept up for seven minutes, and was a severe test of long endurance.

Life Saving.

With Miss Dorothy Fenwick as a victim, Miss Payne did some remarkable life-saving work convincing her audience that any water accident would be impossible with her or one of her finished pupils in the vicinity. Her methods while much more strenuous than those demonstrated at former exhibitions, were undoubtedly more effective than any previously witnessed in the city. Her swimming with hands and feet tied was an eye-opened to the audience.

Some Races.

The programme included some demonstrations in speed and training by some of the pupils who have already joined up at the pool. A relay race was an interesting item, also a cork race which was won by Miss Kathleen Cuffe.

Some Distinctions.

Previous to coming to the city Miss Payne had won some distinction in the water world. She hold the Royal Life Saving Society bronze medal and the silver medal of the Toronto Ladies' Swimming Club. On several occasions she has made sensational rescues, numbering amongst these the rescue of two of the local Y.W.C.A. girls from a watery grave near the camp at Burleigh last summer. She has made several long distance records at Toronto Bay and at Stoney Lake. At the latter point she swam from Juniper Island to Mount Julian and about a quarter of a mile along the shore without pausing.

$7,000,000 WORTH OF FURS AT AUCTION

FIRST CANADIAN SALE A BIG SUCCESS—RATES RANGE FROM $5 TO $6.

Mr. Cyril Lech returned from Montreal this morning where he attended the first Canadian fur auction. It opened on Monday and will continue until Saturday. Mr. Keith Lech remained for the concluding days. This fur auction was a splendid success from the outset. Seven million dollars' worth of furs were offered to the 400 buyers from Canada, England and the United States.

The American buyers were particularly interested and were also taking the majority of the furs. The rate of exchange gives them advantage over Canadian furriers. In short $85 is equivalent to the Canadian $100. An idea of the extent of the auction is shown in the following sale on Monday: 166,700 mole skins, 331 polar and black bear, 22,050 mink, 30 buffalo, 30 musk ox, 795 rolinsky, 6,626 Persian lamb, 21,000 goat and 48,000 ermine, representing a total turnover of $614,712.

The bulk of the furs were Canadian, but a considerable quantity was imported from other markets and sold by the holders.

Mr. Leck stated that Canadian muskrats would probably bring about $5 to $ here this year. That was the prevailing range of prices in Montreal this week.

He has been with the Monotype Company, Toronto, in the capacity of Monotype instructor up until the time that he took ill several months ago.

The deceased was a very capable young man in handling of type-setting machines, and had under way several inventions that, had he lived, might have been in much demand on this class of machine.

He was a friendly and good-hearted citizen and had many good qualities, and while in Peterborough, and since his removal to Toronto, made many friends who will regret to hear of his death.

Consider Sailors

IMPORTANT QUESTIONAIRE SENT TO SAILORS ON GREAT LAKES AS WELL AS OCEAN SEAMEN.

NATIONAL CODE

(Special to the Examiner)

OTTAWA, March 25.—In accordance with provisions of the peace treaty, the International Labour Bureau has forwarded to the various Governments comprising the League of Nations a questionaire. The Central Powers not included in the league have also been sent the same questionaire. The questions relate to the International Seamen's Conference which will be held in Italy in June this year. Canada's inland lake sailors having been placed in the same category as ocean seamen at the International Labour Congress held in Washington some time ago, is vitally interested in the conference and has received the questionaire which is now being carefully considered. With its numerous inland waterways, the Dominion is regarded as one of the foremost maritime countries in the world.

The agenda of the questionaire which is of formidable lengths deals principally with hours of labor and their effect on manning and accommodation for seamen, articles of agreement, facilities for finding employment for seamen. Washington convention and recommendations on unemployment and unemployment insurance prohibition of the employment of children on board ship under fourteen years of age and the possibility of establishing an international code for seamen.

PROPERTY WILL NOT BE EFFECTED

PRECEDENTS EOR CHANGING STREET NAMES IN EAST CITY.

The impression prevails in East City that the proposal to change the name of Concession street to Armour Road will effect the titles of the property owners on the street and put them to some expense. Such is not the case. No cost to the property holder is involved in the change and the titles will be unimpaired. This is not the first street that has had its name changed in East City. Brown street was changed to Mark street, Lake street to Burnham street, and Stewart street to Rogers street. The late Mr. Armour was the first clergyman in Peterborough and the name has long been associated with Peterborough history. It would make a fitting change and to many would be a desirable one.

STILL LOOKING FOR A MATRON

Several applications have been received for the position of Matron at the Children's Shelter but in order to secure a wider application list the meeting, to decide to whom the position will be given, was postponed from this afternoon until the beginning of the week.

TOM MIX MAKES HIT IN "THE FEUD" PHOTOPLAY

Tom Mix appeared yesterday at the Allen Theatre in his new Fox photoplay, "The Feud." In this subject Mix gets away frim his "stunt stuff" and goes in for real acting. As Jere Lynch, son of a feudist family in the Bluegrass region in the early sixties, Mix establishes himself as an interpreter of dramatic roles.

Right from the start, "The Feud" attains a tension seldom reached on local screens. The spectator realizes the bitter intensity of the feud with its terrible heritage of hate. However, Jere Lynch and Betty Summers —played by pretty Eva Novak—are poor haters. The love affair between them forms the theme of the feature.

A love romance between children of enemy families is bound to carry shooting in its wake if discovered, and this case is no exception. Jere wants to discontinue the feud but is stung into action when his father is shot down before his eyes. Jere kills his father's slayer and has to ride for his life to escape the posse. This leads to a series of thrilling incidents, which include an Indian attack upo a wagon caravan on the old Santa Fee trail.

THOROUGHBRED RACE HORSES FROM THE ROYAL STABLES IN ENGLAND TO RACE IN THE WEST

(Special to The Examiner.)

REGINA, Sask., March 25.—The Prince of Wales' thoroughbred race horses from Windsor Stables, England, will probably be seen on the Western Canadian race tracks during the big summer fairs this year. G. Carlyle, manager of the Alberta ranch which His Royal Highness purchased on his Canadian tour last summer, has gone east to superintend the unloading of the horses which are expected to arrive from the old country in May or June. The string now numbers seven thoroughbred animals, most of them two years old. They are of purest English stock, and while they are being sent to Canada primarily for breeding purposes, it is anticipated some of them will be raced around the Western Canada fair circuits this year.

IMMIGRATION DISCUSSED BY THE WAR VETERANS AT CONVENTION IN MONTREAL

SUBJECTS OF COUNTRIES WITH WHICH CANADA WAS AT WAR SHOULD NOT BE ALLOWED TO IMMIGRATE TO CANADA FOR PERIOD OF 15 YEARS.

TO-DAY'S SESSION

(Special to The Examiner.)

MONTREAL, Que., March 25. — The Dominion convention of the G.W.V.A. here decided this morning that as far as the Association was concerned that the subjects of those countries with which Canada was at war should not be allowed to immigrate to Canada for a period of fifteen years, and will ask the Dominion government to so amend the Act.

Immediately upon the opening of the session, Col. De Salisberry of Ottawa, rose on a point of privilege to correct a statement appearing in a Montreal morning paper that he was against the G.W.V.A. scheme of gratuities. He was absolutely in favour of it he said.

Hearty applause and many cheers followed the reading of a telegram from the headquarters of the Army Veterans of Canada, which expresed the hope that the deliberations of the convention would prove of inestimable value to all.

It was then decided that the election of officers should not take place until the attitude of the convention towards re-establishment was definitely decided.

All committees were called into the session when the resolutions of immigration, naturalization and deportation was presented for discussion.

The Clauses.

I. McKenzie of British Columbia, moved that the resolution be received and read clause by clause. That "outside of the portions of the British Empire populated by the white race, the only immigrants allowed should be from the United States and from northern and western countries (exclusive for the present at least of ex-alien enemy) countries was agreed upon." Following this, the clauses asking for stricter supervision over immigration literature and stringent medical examination were adopted.

The veterans also agreed that the Minister of Immigration should not have the power to permit immigrants to enter Caada without being subject to the provisions of the Act, and that encouragement be given to get the best class of farmer immigrants.

The last immigrant clause caused much comment.

It reads: "That the Immigration Act should be amended so as to debar from entry into Canada for five years any subject of these countries with which we were at war during 1914-1919 and that a physical and mental educational test be instituted at the close of thi s period."

Legal Languages.

Canon F. Scott wished a clause added providing that English and French should be the two legal languages of Canada

Comrade Haight, of Toronto wished "five years" to be changed to "15 years" and moved an amendment to change it to fifteen years.

But an opposite view was taken by Bathsford of Winnipeg. England and France were once at war. These two countries were now the best of friends. He thought that five years was long enough to keep the subjects of countries with which Canada was at war out of the country. "I never intend to shake hands with a German again. I have been deceived in the past." This was the startling remark of Canon F. Scott, in continuing the discussion:

"Make all realize that it is a privilege to come to Canada," said Codnan of Maisonneuve. Codnan was interrupted by Murray of Nova Scotia.

"Mr. Chairman, is the G.W.V.A. going to dissolve after this convention?"

Chairman, "I don't think so."

REPRIMAND FOR THE CONSTABLES

COUNTY CONSTABLE MOORE SAYS MEN ARE TO BE FEARED.

At the conclusion of the liquor case this morning Mr. Joseph O'Brien, counsel for Albert Parcells complained to Magistrate Langley in the presence of two of the County Constables of the practice of these officers of taking guns and other property from prisoners to which they have "no moral or legal right."

He alleged that some $200 worth of guns were taken from Parcells and left in a place where they had deteriorated.

His Worship was somewhat astounded at this proceeding and High County Constable Moore explained that they were afraid of their men in that country and took the guns to play safe.

Mr. O'Brien said it had come to the notice of his firm frequently that these things were seized.

Magistrate Langley reprimanded the officers and on the suggestion of Mr. O'Brien ordered them to return the weapons to their owner at his home.

VETERANS' BAND SHOULD BE CITY'S

MUSIC LOVING GITIZENS WANT BEST CONCERTS OBTAINABLE—NOT INTERESTED IN SQUABBLES.

A number of citizens who are interested in the summer concerts in Victoria Park are asking why the G. W. V. A. band should not become a civic band for the purposes of the regular Friday night engagements in Victoria Park. This band has received from the Council the 93rd battalion instruments which were bought with the fund raised by publis subscription. It is generally considered the strongest of the city's bands, and if for one reason or another the Veterans do not throw in their lot with the regiment citizens point out that this does not prevent them from becoming a civic band, and receiving the entire grant of $1,000 in order that the Council's appropriation shall be spent or the single purpose of giving the people who crowd Victoria Park the best music Peterboro can afford.

It is maintained that this should be the only thought in the minds of the City Council in disposing of this question, and there has been some regret expressed to-day that the majority of the Parks Committee failed to take the direct and immediate step instead of deferring decision until summer is here. The problems and needs of organizations other than the band engaged for the weekly concerts are not seriously concerning the public at large, and ratepayers who want music of a standard at least slightly above the ordinary fail to understand why the Aldermen cannot realize that the wishes of the general public should not be involved with the aldermanic aspirations and personal interests that were not reserved in the oath of office taken only three months ago.

OTTAWA, March 25.— Delegates are being elected by the local branches of the Independent Labor Party in all parts of Ontario to attend the annual convention of the Independent Labor Party of Ontario which meets in the Labor Temple, London, on April second and third this year.

The convention promises to be the largest in the history of the party, and many important questions will be discussed. The tariff of the Independent Labor Party will be decided upon and preparations will, no doubt, be made for the forthcoming Dominion elections.

LIEUT.-COL. G. GILLESPIE INSPECTED THE NORMAL SCHOOL TRAINING CLASS TO-DAY

WILL REMAIN IN PETERBORO UNTIL TO-MORROW--CADET MOVEMENT IS PROGRESSING.

Lieut.-Col. G. H. Gillespie, Inspector of Cadet Corps in Military District No. 3, is in the city inspecting the physical training class at the Normal School.

The inspection began yesterday, and will run till to-morrow. These classes are held at each Normal School in Canada, and inspectors appointed by the Government who oversee the training and issue certificates to the proficient pupils. Their entire programme was conceived by the late Lord Strathcona, and $500,000, known as the Strathcona Trust, donated to encourage military training, physical training, and rifle shooting amongst the pupils in the Public, Separate, and High Schools and Collegiate Institutes in Canada. Therefore, the teachers in these schools must be proficient in instructing them; so certificates are given to the successful teachers.

In the local Normal School there are about 150 pupils entered, and Lieut.-Col. Gillespie reports that a very good showing is being made by them. Although the training is not compulsory, it is recommended to all the would-be teachers, and nearly all are trying the examination.

Annual Income.

The trust fund gives an annual income of $20,000, which the Dominion Government distributes in prizes among the schools for proficiency in physical or military training and rifle shooting. These prizes are given at the annual inspection of the Cadet Corps.

When interviewed on the cadet movement, Col. Gillespie said that it was more active than it had been for many years. Everywhere more interest is being taken in it than before the war, and the Government is giving larger grants and more money to the instructors.

"What about the G.W.V.A. opposition to military training?" he was asked.

"Oh, that is only a few of them," he replied.

Lieut.-Col. Giflespie stated that the inspection at the Collegiate would take place on or about the 12th of May.

A Field Day is anticipated, with sports and all the trimmings, and General William- General Officer Commanding Military District No. 3, in all probability will accompany Lieut.-Colonel Gillespie

FIGHTING CONTINUES IN RUHR DISTRICT, GERMANY

RED ARMY HAS A STRENGTH OF 120,000 MEN—RECONSTRUCTION OF THE EBERT MINISTRY.

TEMPORARY CHANGE

(Canadian Press.)

THE HAGUE, March 25.—Fighting in the Ruhr district of Germany, where it was understood a truce had been agreed to, has been resumed, according to the Telegraaf. Spartacist forces are nearing Wesel, the newspaper says and a Muenster despatch to Rotterdam says the Red army's strength is now one hundred and twenty thousand.

Reconstruction.

(Canadian Press.)

BERLIN, March 25.—Conferences over reconstruction of the Cabinet took place yesterday and it was decided the Ebert ministry will not retire in a body, but merely be subjected to "freshening up." A leading Democratic deputy declared that was really all required in view of the proximity of new elections. Definite announcement was made that the Majority Socialists would surrender the present Minister of Defence to the Democrats. At the Scheidemann party is only too glad to dodge the uncomfortable assignment of overhauling the army Noske's successor, it is believed, will be a Democrat and civilian, whose immediate task will be to weed out reactionary elements in the army. Gustav Bauer will retain the Premiership, it is said, and the proposition for a labour cabinet has been definitely jettisoned, the Majority Socialists having succeeded in inducing other parties to oppose the scheme. Assembly leaders to-day declare the coalition ministry was the only feasible basis for government.

WINNIPEG, Man., March 25. — Leaning over the table between him and the jury box, looking into the eyes of twelve jurors, holding his right hand aloft dramatically, and declaring in ringing tones, "I have done nohting of which I am ashamed, nothing for which I feel I need to to apologize," W. A. Pritchard, one of the strike leaders, brought his two-day address to a close, at ten o'clock last night. R. A. Bonnar, K.C., announced that the defence would close its case to-night. Friday and Saturday will be taken up by the Crown counsel's address and summing up by Justice Metcalf.

ALBERT PARCELLS WAS FINED $100

WILL HAVE TO PAY COSTS OF CASE, AMOUNTING TO $50.

The judgment in the liquor case of George Albert Parcells was given by Magistrate O. A. Langley this morning. In reviewing the case Magistrate Langley pointed out that the case was exceptional in every way and the evidence for the prosecution not very strong.

The government analysis of the wash was not taken as evidence as Mr. McFee was thoroughly competent to give evidence, and his evidence showing the alcoholic stimulants in the wash was sufficient.

"The main question is whether or not there is sufficient evidence to show that the wash was in the possession of Parcells." He pointed out that the lot where the wash was found was only separated by a road and a fence on one side from Parcell's property. The evidence shows it is a sparsely inhabited country. There was no other house in sight and their nearest neighbor was a half a mile away. Here was a man with only himself and his son occupying the house. Within 150 or 200 yards of the house a wash was found suitable for the manufacture of liquor.

The Magistrate took the evidence of the potatoes being the same and the corn the same, since there was no evidence to prove they were not, and the boiler top looked suspicious. The path

After exercising his best judgment seemed strange since the property was only visited in the winter time.

After exercisin ghis best judgment on all the facts the Magistrate said he felt bound to find the wash was in Parcell's possession under the Act. His Worship said that although there was nothing to show that Parcell's evidence was not true it shook his confidence in it, that the accused went fishing the very day Moore came and that night walked 14 miles through the woods to a friend's although he stated he was only capable of doing 15 p.c. of an ordinary day's work was not consistent. At this rate what would an ordinary man be able to do. It was also strange that the man stayed away a couple of weeks and was away a great deal after this.

"I find him guilty of the offence," said the Magistrate, but in view of the weak nature of the evidence for a conviction gave him the minimum fine of $100 and costs. In default of payment he must serve six months' imprisonment.

Mr. J. O'Brien, counsel for the accused, was complimented for his able defence.

The costs in this case are very high on account of the transportation and number of trips made and the high cost of living is largely responsible for them, so they will be upward of $50.

$1,000 BONUS FOR REV. ROBERT POGUE

An enthusiastic and largely attended meeting of the Congregation of St. Paul's church was held last evening. The meeting endorsed the ministry of the Rev. Robert Pogue, pastor of the church and showed material appreciation of his services by granting a bonus of one thousand dollars.

SALTS IF KIDNEYS OR BLADDER BOTHER

Harmless to Flush Kidneys and Neutralize Irritating Acids.

Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is a difficulty in avoiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and cause no bad effects whatever.

ACTIVITIES AT THE Y.W.C.A.

At the concert in the Young Women's Christian Association next Tuesday evening, Miss Pryce will interpret in dancing MacDowell's beautiful music "To a Water Lily". Edward MacDowell, an American composer who died in 1908, wrote many beautiful compositions both for piano, voice, and orchestra. Perhaps the most well-known of these is his "Woodland Sketches", and in this collection one of the outstanding pieces is his "To a Water Lily". Dreamy, exquisite, dainty, one can fairly see the swaying flower out on the quiet lake .Those who saw Miss Pryce dance in the Rose Ring Dance and the Rainbow Waltz will be anxious to see her interpret this music.

EMPLOYEES OF DE LAVAL COMPANY HELD A GOOD FELLOWSHIP MEETING

DE LAVAL BOWLING SHIELD WAS PRESENTED TO THE WINNING TEAM—CRUMBS FROM THE BANQUET TABLE.

The spirit of unity, brotherhood, good fellowship and cooperation that exists in the De Laval organization throughout the Executive, Sales, Engineering, Manufacturing and Production Departments, was vividly illustrated on Saturday evening, Mar. 20th, when 35 members of the De Laval organization assembled in the Empress Hotel dining room at a banquet held by the De Laval Bowling League when the De Laval Bowling Shield was presented to the winning team.

With its usual thoroughness the Empress cuisine was responsible for the excellence of the bill of fare and service.

To add to the liveliness of the occasion, songs were sung between the courses.

When the cigars were lit, Mr. Wm. Sangster, as toastmaster, proposed the toast, "Ou King and Country," which was heartily drank in "aqua Otonabeensis." Mr. Sangster's introductory remarks to each item of the programme evidenced the keen interest with which he followed the contest for the shield, and his familiarity and deep concern in the work of the factory organization as a whole.

A selection by a portion of the De Laval orchestra, consisting of five pieces, was then most thoroughly enjoyed and several encores were played in response to insistent applause. The orchestra, which when all assembled, consists of 14 pieces, has now reached a very high degree of excellence.

Mr. Douglas Carlisle sang a solo that met with the usual enthusiastic reception which his songs receive.

Mr. Wren in responding to the toast, spoke of his conception of the company,, in view of its connection with the most wide spread single industry in the country—namely, the dairying industry—as an organization that could do more for the progress of Canada than any other. He made the point that perhaps those in the organization "could not see the woods for trees" and that they were so close to it that they did not appreciate the immensity of the business. Visitors, when going through the De Laval factory, invariably remarked the high order of intelligence and workmanship of the factory organization. The conscientious interest of the artisans was evident in every piece of the machinery that left the factory.

In replying to the toast, "The De Laval Company," Mr. J. G. Campazzie recalled to his hearers that as members of the De Laval organization they were carrying on a work that had been conscientiously carried on for 40 years since the organization of the company, by their predecessors and co-workers, and that every individual member of the organization by his loyal adherence t the principles upon which the company manufactured and marketed its goods, would carry on the work in a manner in keeping with the enviable reputation and record that this 40 years' conscientious work and square dealing had earned for the De Laval Company. Also that the spirit of fraternity that was exhibited by them was characteristic of the way all the members of the De Laval organization, no matter in what department, regarded each other.

Mr. William McKinley, "Canada's Harry Lauder"—fulfilled in every way the expectation aroused by his soubriquet. His rendering of Scotch songs, both comic and sentimental, was quite the hit of the musical programme and he was compelled to respond to repeated encores.

Mr W. R. Breyfogle, in presenting the shield to Captain E. J. Ruiter, of the winning team, expressed his sincere pleasure in performing the duty, particularly as the contest had been so keenly and so keenly fought, and because of the fact that as it had been almost any one of the team's win until the deciding game, that the interest had been sustained throughout.

The bowling contests, as in all other contests in life, whether business or pleasure, bring forth characteristics in men that broaden them, and develop them mentally, morally and physically and Mr. Breyfogle said, prepare and enable all of us to carry out our daily tasks with greater efficiency and a spirit of good fellowship. These bowling contests represent only one department of the activities of the De Laval organization in Peterboro in the matter of sports, and Mr. Breyfogle said he could not help but observe that when all departments of the organization took part in these sports that the differens members acquired a better understanding and regard for each other and that the resulting cooperation made possible the more marked individual success of each in his work.

Mr. Breyfogle pointed out that the shield was still open to competition by the different teams of the league, as it would be necessary for the final holders to win it three times, and expressed the hope that the competition in the future would be as keen, sportsmanlike and enthusiastic as it had been heretofore.

Captain Ruiter, in accepting the shield on behalf of the winning team, expressed his apreciation of the interest of the whole De Laval organization in the sports in which the different members took part, and particularly in bowling. He attributed the victory of the "Giants" to their persisency and faithfulness in practice, which resulted in a steady progress of the ability of the players from year to year until this year they had been successful through the team work and general high average of every member, and he promised all the other teams "a run for their money" in the effort they would make to take the shield from the "Giants." The interest aroused through this year's contest will result in the organization of several other teams in the factories an offices, and the next bowling season promises to be a most active one, when six or seven teams will enter for the shield contest.

Mr. W. J. Stacey in a few well chosen remarks, spoke of clean sports and the effects of the same on our daily work and problems.

Mr. J. A. Robinson promised the "Giants" a very interesting contest in their efforts to make good their title to the shield ,and Mr. Joseph French in his inimitable way, convulsed the audience with first hand anecdotes of their bowling sessions.

Mr. W. Garrow on behalf of the "runner-up" cautioned the winners that they would need every bit of practice that they could crowd into the intervening time before the next bowling season to get themselves into shape to withstand the contest that they would find themselves in, and his remarks were supplemented by Messrs. Carter and Murray who promised a very rough road for and all teams aspiring to the championship.

Messrs. Downing, Marchen, Hagerman and McDonald made clear that if their team did not win that they would make the winners go at such a pace that they would certainly realize that they had been in a race.

A most pleasant evening was then brought to a close by further selections by the De Laval orchestra under the direction of Mr. Nicholls, and the singing of the National Anthem.

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unsurpassed."

THURSDAY, MARCH 25TH, 1920.

THE NEW ELECTION ACT.

The legislation proposed by the Drury government by which the date of the Provincial elections shall be in October of every fourth year has obviously much to commend it, inasmuch as it eliminates the jockeying and endeavoring to obtain a party advantage over concealing the election date as long as possible, which has been a source of complaint in the past. The plan prevents the party in power from springing an election at a time when they think conditions are best for themselves, and it gives the Opposition a fair chance to prepare. Under the old system the advantage was all to the Government.

The only criticism of the measure comes from those who fear that concealed in it might be a desire to protect the Government by leaving a loophole for it to carry on after it had met defeat in the Legislature. Any danger of such a condition as this arising would have to be eliminated unless constitutional practice is to be ignored.

A WELCOME SIGN.

The increasing enthusiasm over all forms of manly sport in Peterborough as exemplified in the movement to revive lacrosse, the formation of a most promising Association football league, and the keen interest in baseball, is a most welcome sign. Outside altogether of the health and strength that are developed by participation in these splendid games, there is the undoubted advantage that a community which interests itself in such games is a happier, more contented community in which to live. There will be less talk of social unrest and disturbance in proportion to the increase in interest in athletic contests. Civic pride is developed as well by such competitions and the whole city is benefitted by the revival in sport. May the different organizations that are being formed have a most successful and prosperous season. Peterborough cannot have too much lacrosse, baseball and football this summer. The games will have a tonic effect upon the whole community.

ANOTHER SOLUTION.

In discussing the band question in these columns last night the Examiner suggested that the amalgamation of the bands of the 57th Regiment and G.W.V.A. might solve the problem. Unfortunately, according to information since received, the chances of the absorption of the band of the G.W.V.A. into the band of the 57th Regiment are very remote. Efforts to effect this development have practically failed and that plan, which offered a way out of the difficulty will have to be dropped.

Another suggestion has been brought forward that the Veterans' band should be merged into a Citizens' organization, adding to their numbers any other bandsmen that might care to join. Numerically the G.W.V.A. band is the strongest in the city, and those who heard the band in their programme at the Veterans' convention last week were very much impressed by the manner in which they played on that occasion. They have two excellent leaders in Bandmaster Hughes, former bandmaster of the 93rd Battalion, and Assistant Bandmaster W. Perver ,late bandmaster of the 59th Battalion, C.E.F., and if they decided to disband as a G.W.V.A. organization and become a Citizens' band they would undoubtedly form the nucleus for a band which would be capable of splendid service.

There is much to be said in favour of such a plan from a general viewpoint.

THE GRATUITY QUESTION.

Although the question of gratuities is one of the biggest issues before the Dominion convention of the Great War Veterans' Association at Montreal, there is a conviction among those who have been keeping an ear open to the utterances of members of Parliament, that the discussion of any further bonuses to the soldiers who have returned home without suffering disability by reason of their service is so much waste time. Parliament rejected the war bonus plan by a very large majority last year and there is [illegible] members have changed their minds on the subject since that time. Even the returned men themselves are not unanimous on the subject, and delegates at Montreal have frankly stated that they did not believe that any further gratuities should be asked for. Comrade McKinistry voiced the opinion of a section at least of the veterans when he declared: "I can't support any cash bonus. The principle is immoral. Let us get rid of all selfishness and remember widows and orphans. I am not sure that $2,000 would prove a re-establishment in a year's time." While such statements are not likely to be popular, especially among such returned men as have fallen under the sway of J. Harry O'Flynn, there is undoubtedly much common sense in what the courageous delegate set forth.

The widows and orphans and the soldiers who were badly injured have the first call upon the generosity of the country. Until they are all adequately provided for—and no one will say that they are at present—the chief effort of all those who are interested in the welfare of Canada's soldiers should be devoted to seeing that justice is done to those who have suffered the most.

CHILDREN AND TAXES.

In France, as elsewhere, the chief burden of the war has fallen upon the moderately well-to-do, and especially upon those who have children, but France stands alone in having met the cris with intelligent legislation. The new inheritance tax is shrewdly designed to encourage an increase of the birth rate in precisely those strata where it has been lowest, and where a lack of births is most harmful to the nation.

No tenet of laissez faire individualism has been more obdurate that this it is nobody's business but that of the parents how many children are born. The war taught a different lesson, but it remained for the return of peace to drive home its full significance. Necessary as mere numbers are, they are of no avail unless adequately led, and this is as true in the pursuits of peace as in warfare. Yet the education for leadership has been paid for mainly, not by the State, but by the individual—who has already done it one great service in giving it a new life. It is not only that the living of the child has to be provided to the ages of 18, 22, 25; every item for food and clothing and rent includes a tax, indirectly levied. The State, in its blindness, has acted as profiteer upon those who aspire to do it the supreme service. Meantime in those strata where children receive only the legal minimum of education the State provides free hospitals, free schools, welfare organizations of all kinds, and is now beginning to provide maternity grants and mothers' pensions. And these also are paid for by taxes levied largely upon the moderately well-to-do. It is small wonder that the birth rate among the educated is tending to become stationary, even to recede, and that the future citizens of the nations are recruited in an ever-increasing proportion from the less well-to-do.

In the matter of inheritance France has arrived at the principle that the more children a man has the less his estate should suffer. Where there are no children the tax will take half the estate. Where there is a single child it will take a third of it. With two children the tax is 25 per cent.; with three it is 18¾ per cent. Where the are four or more children there will be no inheritance tax. Such a law is peculiarly adapted to French conditions. Feeling for the family is stronger than in any other nation, and especially the sense of the importance of money to the maintenance of its traditions. Few objects are more pitiful than the dowerless daughter, for it is only by a social miracle that she can marry in her class. Under the new law it can hardly be said that a premium is placed upon large families, but something has been accomplished in tempering the penalty.

In Anglo-Saxon countries such an inheritance tax would probably be less powerful for good. Centuries of primo-geniture in England have established a tradition of self-help for children. A boy makes his own way and marries the girl of his heart. The prime consideration, accordingly, is not a patrimony, but an education that will fit him to carry on the traditions to which he is born. Most unfortunately, this is a matter much more difficult to affect by legislation. How can the State assist the father who is struggling to send his children through university and professional school? The income tax offers a possible remedy, but of very limited scope. The basic difficulty lies in the fact that, as a class, brain workers are not sufficiently well paid to make the education of large families possible.

It is something, however, to have the problem clearly stated, and this is one of the many services for which we have of late been indebted to France.—New York Times.

TIPS AND TIPPING.

Organized British waiters have pronounced against the practice of tipping. It is a good sign. It is a sign of the growth of the real spirit of democracy. The tip is undemocratic. It is a mark of superiority on the part of the tipper and of inferiority on the part of the person tipped. There are no tips between social equals. Indeed one of the reasons why tipping is so common is the desire of persons of a certain type, ostentatiously to show their superiority by the distribution of tips. Therefore the decision of the British waiters' union indicates the development of a true democratic spirit, with its natural accompaniment of self-respect.

There is nothing very wrong in a tip when its bestowal is the outcome of a good natured impulse to reward special service. But that impulse might often be held in check if the tipper knew where his tip went. It does not always go into the pocket of the person who does the service. Very often it is claimed by the employer of that person. For tipping has been reduced to a system by many large employers, especially the hotel men and restaurateurs—a system under which the revenue from tips is accurately estimated and that revenue must be paid over by the employees to their employer. This system has recently been brought into public notice by an action instituted by Miss Mildred Hildebrand against the management of the Hotel LaSalle in Chicago. Miss Hildebrand had charge of the cloak room of the hotel and was the recipient of tips from the patrons. These she was required to pay over to the management of the hotel. After six months she came to the conclusion that those tips were really hers by right, so she brought a suit against the management, demanding a refund of $3000, the amount of the tips she had received and paid over in the six months. It is to be hoped that Miss Mildred wins her suit. Certainly she has a moral right to the money in dispute whether it is legally hers or not; for undoubtedly the persons from whom she got the money thought that they were giving it to her for her own use, and if they had known that she was obliged to pay it over to the hotel management many of them would not have given her anything.

A concession to the growing unpopularity of tipping has been made by the proprietor of a New York restaurant. Tipping in his restaurant has been forbidden and the patrons are warned that any waiter who is detected in accepting a tip will be promptly dismissed. But they are also notified that to the amount of the bill ten per cent. is added at the cashier's desk "for service," and that the ten per cent. is paid to the waiters. It is said that this arrangement is satisfactory to the waiters for they get quite as much as they used to get from tips, and without any loss of self-respect. It is satisfactory to the patrons too and the custom of the restaurant has increased immensely. But after all it is a form of tipping. Why not cut out that ten per cen. "for service" and charge it in the bill without special mention?—Hamilton Herald.

SANDRA THE JEALOUS

BY JANE PHELPS

CONFIDENTIAL TALKS WITH MOTHER.

CHAPTER LXXX

Mother and I had long confidential talks. I told her how dreadfully put out I was at first when everyone said Everett had married me because of my coloring, that it was the same as his first wife's. And how terribly it made me feel to be called 'Number Two,' etc. She didn't laugh at me, nor even look amused. She just sympathized with me and told me she was sure she would have felt just exactly as I did under the same circumstances.

"But everything in life has compensations, as I see you have discovered," she said gently. "Then, too, dear, one always has to adapt one's self to conditions. The first year of married life is always a trying one in many ways—with you perhaps more than usually so, because of the difference in your ages and the entire change in your way of living. I consider you have done very well, Dear, and if I am any judge, Everett thinks so also. I believe he cares a great deal for you."

"Do you really think so, Mother? I have thought so at times, and then something would happen to knock everything into a 'cocked hat' as Father says. But I do try—most of the time—to please him."

I had told Mother nothing of my intense jealousy of Leola, or my efforts to find out all about her so I could imitate her and win the same sort of affection from Everett that he gave to her. Someway I knew she wouldn't approve; that she would tell me to forget the first Mrs. Graham, and be happy in spite of her.

Neither did I mention the finding of Leola's wardrobe in the attic, and my determination to explore further. That, too, would meet with her disapproval, I was positive But I did tell her about taking Leola's pictures down and sending them to the attic, and that Everett had insisted they be brought back immediately.

She laughed a little then. Not enough to hurt me, and said:

"I guess most girls your age would have done nothing to harm you, or admit the picture was lovely. Then why, just because she had preceded you, care that it ornamented the walls—especially if Everett wished it there?"

"I don't mind it quite so much—now. But at first it hurt me dreadfully. I used to wonder if I had been married before if Everett would staring at him all the time."

Mother now laughed heartily. But when she spoke it was very seriously:

"Sandra, dear you married Everett of your own free will. I believe you are very fond of him, and that he really loves you. Do not let anything come between you. He is a fair-minded man. Give him your complete trust and faith. He is so much older, that at times— as you have confessed—his judgment seems harsh to you. But try and see both sides of every question that comes up. I want you to be happy, Dear—as happy as I have been."

The night before we went back home Mother gave a small dance for us. In all the time since I had married Everett, I never had been so proud of him as I was that night. He danced with all the girls, Rose included ,and was so gay and entertaining that she whispered to me later:

"It's a shame that anyone who can be so charming should be such a brute in some ways."

"I will pardon your calling him a brute because you first said he was charming," I retorted quickly, at which she laughingly told me I was getting on when I could make such a reply.

"You will be a regular society dame by the time you are 30," she said. "I can see it coming."

"I have always—that is ever since I have been married—envied the women of Everett's set. Rose, because of their poise, their quickness of repartee, the way they fitted into any place they found themselves. That is why I am now reconciled to studying with Mrs. Barr, altho I was furious about it at first," I rather enjoyed telling Rose of my change of ideas; she had seen so much, heard so much when visiting me, that was childish and unwise.

"It beats all how you have changed. I should never know you for the same girl."

"Sandra is changed for the better in many ways, Rose." Mother had come up quietly and had heard that last speech. "We are all very proud of her for the way she had adapted herself to the change in her life—a very great change for a girl of her age. Our simple way of living did not fit her to take charge of a menage like hers."

"Her home is really wonderful!" Rose enthused.

"As I have just promised Everett to visit them next month, I soon shall see my girl in her own home."

When the guests had gone I spoke of the promised visit.

"Everett was so insistent I had to set a time," Mother said as she kissed me good night.

To-morrow—Optimistic Youth.

Party Line Consideration

A two-party line is a single circuit, shared in common by two subscribers. It is not reserved for a single user and should be used on the share-and-share alike basis.

On a two-party line, it is possible for both users to try to talk out on the same circuit at the same time. There is also the liability of both being wanted at the same time to receive incoming calls.

Therefore, there are certain considerations which we urge a party-line user to keep in mind.

1. Long conversations prevent the use of the line by the other subscriber; therefore party-line talks should be as brief as possible.
2. Whenever another party-line subscriber requests the use of the line for an emergency, courtesy should prompt the first user temporarily to give up the use of the line.
3. Whenever a party-line subscriber takes the receiver from the hook and finds the line in use, the receiver should be replaced at once in a careful manner.
4. At the end of a conversation the receiver should be replaced upon the hook immediately, otherwise the other subscriber cannot signal the central office.
5. Be sure always to give the operator the letters W or J in calling a party-line subscriber.

Stomach and Liver Trouble

Once the liver fails to filter the poisonous bile from the blood, there is a clogging up and poisoning of the whole system which causes many troubles to arise. Therefore, upon the liver, more than any other organ of the body, depends the general health.

Carelessness and neglect, and oftentimes wilful disregard of nature's laws will put the system out of sorts. The bowels become constipated, the liver inactive and the stomach upset. To bring the system back to its normal, you should take Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills. They liven up the liver, get the bowels back to their proper condition and tone up the stomach.

Mrs. G. L. Cackett, Enchant, Alta., writes:—"I have used Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills and have found them good for both stomach and liver troubles. I have told others about your valuable medicine and they have used them with good results.

IF YOUR EARS RING WITH HEAD NOISES

If you have roaring, buzzing noises in your ears, are getting hard of hearing and fear Catarrhal Deafness, go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength), and add to it ¼ pint of hot water, and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs but little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal trouble of the ears, is hard of hearing or has head noises should give this prescription a trial.

INDIAN RIVER FARMERS' CLUB

SEVENTY-FIVE MEMBERS ATTENDED THE MEETING.

INDIAN RIVER, March 24. — A meeting of the Farmers' Club was held here on Friday with 75 members in attendance.

The chief business was the selection of a salesman to ship the cattle and hogs of the five Farmers' Clubs. The names of the five clubs are Indian River, Douro, Warsaw, South Dummer and Westwood.

Mr. John Devlin of Indian River was temporarily appointed for the next two weeks as salesman.

Addressed Club.

Mr. John O'Grady of Indian River, has been the salesman for the last two and a half years. Mr. O'Grady has sold his farm and is moving away.

Mr. William Griffith, reeve of Belmont, addressed the Club, and said he was glad to see such a very large attendance. It looked to him as if the people of Indian River were taking a deep interest in the farmers' movement, and they also proved the interest they had been taking when they polled their votes for E. McDonald at the last Provincial Election. He asked them to continue the good work. They were on the right track.

Mr. M. Walsh, President, thanked Mr. Griffith for his address and said he could endorse every word Mr. Griffith had said, and a whole lot more that was left unsaid. He said the lawyers made good vocations for themselves when they were in parliament, as did also the doctors, and now we expect something better by the farmers than we have been getting. We are tired of getting as before "very serious consideration."

Mr. William Patterson and Mr. T. Brackenridge, the auditors for Mr John O'Grady's books as salesman, brought in their report. Owing to some of the accounts not being available, the auditors' report could not be be finished.

Mr. William Patterson and Mr. Thomas Brackenridge moved a vote of thanks to Mr. O'Grady on his retiring.

The club then adjourned to meet on Friday, April 2, when a joint meeting is called of the five clubs to elect a salesman.

Each club is to send five delegates for the selection of a salesman. The meeting then adjourned.

LEACOCK WARNS AGAINST DRY BRITAIN

LONDON, March 24.— Professor Stephen Leacock of McGill University has a long letter to-day in The Times, in which he criticises "the appalling disaster" which has overtaken the United States and Canada in Prohibition.

He speaks of the Prohibitionist as now having entered into his kingdom, and claims that his enjoyment is merely the joy of prosecuting his fellow-men. He further warns England that a similar crusade is coming to England, and says:

"The most serious warning is needed for the decent British people of any class who may be thinking of migrating to the United States and to the dry Provinces of Canada. They will reap nothing but bitter regrets. Let them come instead to the spacious and hospitable Province of Quebec."

THREATEN TO RESIGN.

It is likely that a special meeting of the Port Hope council will be held to consider the request, or rather demand, from the local Fire Brigade for an increase in salary. We feel sure that the Council is anxious to do everything possible for the fire-fighters, but at the same time they must not allow the firemen or any other municipal employees to hold the big stick over their heads. The firemen made a serious error by threatening to resign if their salary was not increased.—Port Hope Gude.

DICKENS CHARACTER DEAD.

ROCHESTER, Eng.,—John Hoodley, assistant verger of Rochester Cathedral, who was the original of the character "Stony Durdles" in Dickens' "The Mystery of Edwin Drood," is dead, aged eighty-three.

John Hoodley had a fund of good stories about Dickens and his visits to Gads Hill. It was to him that Dickens confided his wish to be buried beneath the well dividing the old graveyard from Rochester Castle grounds.

MANIWAKI MAN VICTIM SERIOUS FIRE ACCIDENT

GIDEON BOUTIN TERRIBLY BURNED WHEN CAN OF HIGHWINES IGNITED.

OTTAWA, March 24. — Suffering terrible burns, the result of the explosion of a can of high wines he was handling while he was returning home on the Gatineau train, Gideon Boutin, a middle aged citizen of Maniwaki, lies in a precarious condition in the Maniwaki Hospital where he was taken following the accident

While Boutin is suffering excruciating pain from the burns which made the flesh peel from his face, arms and legs, there is some slight hope for his recovery. He is under the care of Dr. E. A. Mulligan, of Maniwaki, who stated to-day that the condition of the patient is very poor, but he has some chance of pulling through.

An Immediate Explosion.

The accident of which Boutin is the victim occurred on Friday evening on the Gatineau train a short while before reaching Maniwaki.

Boutin, it is claimed, had a can of high wines in his possession Wishing to fill a ginger ale bottle with spirits he entered the lavatory and bolted the door securely Dusk had set in and the lavatory being dimly lit, Boutin it appears struck a match to see if the bottle was full.

The effect was instantaneous as well as disastrous. The alcohol which saturated the bottle as well as Boutin's hands, immediately ignited; an explosion followed and Boutin found himself developed in a sheet of flame.

Writhing in pain he tried to extinguish the flames. His predicament was discovered when flaming highwines were seen percolating under the lavatory door and into the aisle. Th door was knocked in and Boutin found lying on the floor in a state of semi-consciousness with the flames burning his clothing and his flesh.

Face and Arms Suffer.

The flames were quickly extinguished and Boutin's terrible injuries attended to as well as the circumstances would permit until he reached Maniwaki, where he was taken to the hospital. Strange to say, while Boutin's face, arms and legs are badly burned his body is practically untouched.

Boutin is under the care of Dr. Mulligan who is applying a skin treatment used extensively at the front during the latter years of the war in the case of soldiers suffering from the effects of poisonous gas or liquid fire.

HOUSING PROBLEM IN PETERBORO

COULD THE ORIENTAL NOT BE PUT IN SHAPE AS AN APARTMENT HOUSE.

If any one in the city can be found who does not believe we are on the verge of the biggest industrial and commercial expansion Peterboro has witnessed in many years, he has evidently not studied the situation.

The passing of the Canadian General Electric Company's bylaw, and the securing of the Raybestos Company in the old Lundy Shovel and Tool plant, has given an impetus to the industrial field in this city that should carry us along at a very rapid rate.

Oshawa has been boasting, so has Kitchener, Brantford, Windsor and other places, but when the smoke of battle has been cleared away we believe that Peterboro will show as great a percentage of real, substantial growth as any of the places above mentioned.

After all the great test will be the the housing of those who wish to make homes at any of the points they may desire to locate. It will avail nothing to have extensive plants locate in Peterborough unless we can house our workmen in a comfortable manner. It may be an advertisement but a bad one if families have to live in tents, in old buildings, basements and cellars. Such is the case in some other towns which have had very rapid growth.

Peterboro's big question right now to solve so that we can avoid disappointments, is the housing question, and the question has been thrown out that the problem of turning the old Oriental Hotel into an apartment house, be thoroughly gone into. It is said that very very little cost, as compared with the building of new houses, many families could be satisfactorily accommodated.

It is worth while at the present time for the matter to be seriously considered at any rate, and an architect might be able to turn it into one of the very best housing propositions in the city.

ARRANGEMENTS WILL BE COMPLETE FOR THIS YEAR'S SHOW— SPECIAL ATTRACTIONS.

The committee in charge of the entertainment to be given at the three days of the Motor Show are rapidly getting the programme into shape and there promises to be a bill of attractions that will give the patrons a fine line of amusement all the time.

It is intended to open the show with a monster decorated motor parade with a $15.00 prize being offered for the best decorated automobile and a $10.00 prize for the second winner.

The entries will fill the Armouries, and the Health Association, under whose auspices the show is being conducted should be assured of a comfortable sum as a result to aid them in the splendid work they are doing.

Dentist's Recipe for Pyorrhoea, Bleeding Gums or Loose Teeth

If your teeth are loose or if your gums are receding and are sore, tender or inflamed, if they bleed easily, are spongy, flabby or colorless and discharge pus, go to your druggist and get a one ounce jar of Epithol and gently rub a little over the gums with your finger tips each night and morning.

This is a famous dentist's prescription for such serious gum diseases as Pyorrhoea or Riggs Disease which makes the teeth loosen and fall out and usually brings prompt relief from all the dangerous symptoms. Loose teeth should tighten and gums grow sound and healthy in a short time. Epithol is easy and pleasant to use, and not expensive as one ounce will last for many weeks. Anyone suffering from Pyorrhoea or Riggs Disease or Sore, Tender Gums should give this remedy a trial.

TENDER GUMS — A WARNING

Beware of gum tenderness that warns of Pyorrhea. Four out of five people over forty have Pyorrhea—many under forty also. Loosening teeth indicate Pyorrhea. Bleeding gums, too. Remember—these inflamed, bleeding gums act as so many doorways for disease germs to enter the system—infecting the joints or tonsils—or causing other ailments.

Forhan's positively prevents Pyorrhea, if used in time and used consistently. As it hardens the gums the teeth become firmer.

Brush your teeth with Forhan's. It cleans the teeth scientifically—keeps them white and clean.

If gum-shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

35c and 60c tubes in Canada and U. S. If your druggist cannot supply you, send to us direct and we will mail tube postpaid.

Cocoa and Chocolate Merger

Canadian Interests of Fry's and Lowney's, Associated.

Arrangements have been made for the association of the business, in Canada, of The Walter M. Lowney Company of Canada, Limited, and J. S. Fry & Sons, Limited, of Bristol, England.

The Walter M. Lowney Company of Canada Limited, has a large plant in operation in Montreal, established many years ago, and has been carrying on business in all parts of the Dominion, its sales of eating chocolate and confectionery having been particularly extensive.

The firm of J. S. Fry & Sons, Bristol, was established in England in the year 1782, and, for generations, its chocolate and cocoa products have been well and extensively known in Canada and the Empire. During the past ten years these have been handled by its own branches throughout Canada. The Bristol firm has recently caused J. S. Fry & Sons (Canada), Limited, to be incorporated by Dominion Charter, with head office in Montreal, to which it has transferred its Canadian assets. J. S. Fry & Sons (Canada, Limited, will continue to maintain its own branches throughout Canada, and has acquired, and will promptly equip, an extensive modern manufacturing plant in Montreal, for the purpose of manufacturing, within Canada, Fry's well-known brands, which hitherto have been imported from Bristol.

While the identity and good will of each Firm will be maintained and extended, it is expected that, through the association, substantial economies will be effected, both in the purchase of raw materials, and in the marketing of finished product. The two lines supplement each other, inasmuch as the Lowney Company is largely engaged in manufacturing and selling eating chocolate and confectionery, and the Fry Company specialises very strongly in cocoa and related foods.

Voice Of The People

THE PARKS CARETAKER.

March 24th, 1920.

Mr. Editor,—I see by your paper to-night that the Parks committee have recomuended my offer for acceptance to the Council, but I was somewhat surprised at the remarks made by some of the committee regarding the difference between my offer and that of some of the other tenders, that because of this difference I was the object of pity for a seeming want of foresight or business acumen. Let me state for the benefit of such, Mr. Editor, I keep books and know to an hour what it costs for labour spent on the park in a season, as well as the cost for bulbs, plants and other necessaries for the work, and it was with no thought of charity for the city exchequer that forced me to name the sum I did, but with a knowledge that it would yield me, as it has done hitherto, good remuneration for my labours and allow me to pay not less than 40c. an hour for what help I may require.

I do not blame others for naming the price they did. Perhaps had I known their figures I might have sought a little more (such is human nature) ,but that those who felt they were doing me a wrong in taking advantage of my offer, that they may be relieved from any such burden of guilt, I thought it best to let them know. I was a Scotchman and canny enough at that.

Yours for Economy,
JOSEPH GRIERSON.

MAY BUILD FIFTY HOUSES FOR SALE WHEN FINISHED BECAUSE OF DEMAND

MORE THAN 40 APPLICATIONS FOR 10 BUILDINGS HOUSING COMMISSION NOW ERECTING FOR PROSPECTIVE PURCHASERS.

OTTAWA, March 24.—More than 40 applications have been received by the Ottawa Housing Commission for the 10 houses which it proposes to offer for sale at Lindenlea when completed. These applications have been fyled since Friday of last week and in addition, dozen of enquiries have been made with respect to the commission's future building policy. Although no promises have been made, it has been hinted that another 40 or 50 houses may be started very shortly and offered for sale when completed.

In addition to the applications for these houses, practically a dozen of the lot owners at Lindenlea have picked out their designs and signed the necessary agreements for the erection of their houses This means that at least 20 excavations will be dug by the end of this week and work commenced on that number of new houses.

Individual lot owners in different parts of the city are also showing considerable activity. Plans and specifications have been fyled with the commission by ten people and applications made for loans ranging from $3,000 to $4,500. It has not been possible to grant loans in these cases, as the commission's money for individual lot purposes has been exhausted. It is thought, however, that the Ontario Government's housing policy will be announced in a few days, and that the commission will be able to find money for these applicants.

CHAOS EXISTED IN AMERICAN NAVY

EVIDENCE AT THE SENATE ENQUIRY TO-DAY.

(Canadian Press.)

WASHINGTON, March 24.—Virtual chaos existed in the Navy Department at the time the United States entered the war, Captain Harris Laning, Assistant Chief of the Bureau of Navigation, during the war, testified to-day before the Senate Investigating Committee.

Captain Laning said no one knew what to do after the plan of action submitted by the Bureau of Operations had been disapproved, and that the "personal characteristics of the Secretary of the Navy often made it impossible to get the approval of really important policies."

"When important policies and plans were submitted to Secretary Daniels," Captain Laning said, "directions would be given to leave the papers for 'consideration,' and usually these instructions meant that the matter would not be heard from again until the officer interested looked the papers up, and then frequently the papers could not be found.

"As for material conditions in the fleet when we entered the war," the Captain said, "it was found that it would take over one hundred days to get all the battleships of even the active fleet materially ready for war."

"DON'T WORRY," SAYS JOSEPH MANTELL, IN HIS 109TH YEAR

HAS LIVED TO SEE BRITISH AND FRENCH CHANGE FROM ENEMIES TO ALLIES.

TORONTO, March 25.—Spring's balmy suggestion is in the air and Joseph Mantell, centenarian, 49 Rainsford rd., is busily employed braiding twine to train his string beans.

The old man is hale and hearty, enjoys abundant sleep and takes a lively interest in current affairs. At the ripe old age of 109 years, he can still read his newspaper without the aid of spectacles. His hearing is defective, but when he becomes familiar to the voice of his interrogater he answers questions with fluency and lucidity.

No Worry Makes Long Life.

When asked what he attributed his longevity to, he stated: "It is not what a man eats or drinks, but—'do not worry'" is his maxim. "I did not drink much whiskey because I did not like it, but drank beer and porter."

"Tobacco?—I have not smoked a pipe for twenty years, but chew occasionally,' and he showed a tin box containing little cubes of his favorite brand.

Low Cost of Living.

"Live simple and take plenty of exercise," he advises. "When I came to Toronto from England in 1837 I worked as a shoemaker. Wages were then $7 to $8 a week. Houses could be rented for a dollar a month. After a short time I farmed in London, Ont. Meat then was sold for 75 per cwt. or 3-4 of a cent per pound. Butter was 5 cents a lb. Nothing was wasted. Fat of meat that was not eaten was sold to the soap factory.

"Very little coal was used. Plenty of wood was always available. Candles were burned. A big wick placed in course tallow was the popular light. People do not economize today. They think nothing of spending a dime or a nickel," he said.

Remembers Waterloo.

"I was in old London when they were shouting Victory! Victory! for the British victory at Waterloo. I dislike war and bloodshed, and the awful things the Germans did in the war. If capital and labor cannot agree we will have more bloodshed," he said with emphasis.

"This has been the worst winter I remember for 80 years, and then I was in Berlin, Ont. I feel the cold now. If a person walks quickly past me the draught makes me sneeze. Only six days this winter have I not been able to go into my garden and look after the chickens."

Agin' the Government.

"Look!" and he pointed to six flower pots on the window sill, planted with cotton seeds sent him from a lady in Georgia who had seen his name in a Toronto paper.

"Politics?—I am a Conservative and voted at the last election. The Farmer Government are in it just for what they can get out of it, like the rest of them."

GREAT ENTHUSIASM AT ANNUAL MEETING OF THE CENTRAL LEAGUE

BASEBALL WILL FLOURISH IN MIDLAND DISTRICT AGAIN THIS YEAR, JUDGING BY INTEREST SHOWN—PRESIDENT LOCKINGTON, OF PORT HOPE, IS RE-ELECTED.

RESIDENCE RULE MAY 15

Great enthusiasm marked the annual meeting of the Central Ontario Baseball League held yesterday afternoon in the Empress Hotel with President Lockington of Port Hope presiding and the prospects are bright for a repletion of last season's great success. Every delegate was bum full of "pep" over the out look for the coming season and the fans can look forward to a big year if keenness of interest at the annual meeting can be accepted as a criterion, the League's champions the Belleville team went through and captured the Ontario title last year and it will be hard work taking it away from the east in 1920.

President Lockington, Secretary M. J. Dedman of Lindsay, 1st Vice-President A. Kemmell of Cobourg, 2nd Vice-President J. Nott of Oshawa, were last year's officers present. Mr. Ward Patterson of Peterboro, representing the O.B.A.A. was also in attendance while Port Hope, Cobourg, Belleville, Oshawa, Lindsay and Peterboro were all represented by delegates, Messrs. Hilliard Bradbury, for Port Hope, T. Mulhall, for Cobourg, Messrs. Pringle, Graham and Flager for Belleville, E. Parsons for Oshawa, J. W. Anderson for Lindsay and Messrs. McLean and Solomon for Peterboro.

President Sandy Lockingston presented the following report:—

I consider it a great honor to be privileged today to submit the President's first annual report of the Central Ontario League. On April 2nd, 1919 a few optimistic baseball enthusiastics, led by Mr. M. J. Dedman of Lindsay and Mr. Jake Solomon of Peterboro, met at the Queen's Hotel, Port Hope, to organize the Central Ontario League. These two leaders were of the opinion that there was just as good baseball material in this section as in any other part of the Province, and that the good old game of baseball should be revived. Officers were elected, a schedule arranged and all will agree that 1919 was the most successful ball season ever experienced in this Midland District, also that a real champion ball players are raised in this section. After a neck and neck race in the Central League, Belleville emerged with the championship, and then continued the good work in the play off with the O.B.A.A. teams bringing the Provincial championship home. I am sure that I voice the sentiments of every official of the league when I extend the heartiest congratulations to the boys from the Bay of Quinte town. They threw every ounce of their energy into the game, and with the invincible Goyer and his backstop Mills they brought honor to the town they represented and also to the league of which they were members. We are indeed proud of our Belleville team, and without detracting one iota from their splendid achievement I might add just here that had Belleville been unable to accomplish that undertaking we had other teams in the league which could have done so. There was little to choose between the Belleville and Peterboro teams, and I am satisfied that had Peterboro won the championship of the Central League they would also have carried off the Provincial honors. This indeed speaks well for our league—two teams in a league just in its infancy strong enough to win the championship of Ontario.

It has been said that "Opposition is the life of trade," but some person revised this lately "Co-operation is the life of trade." And Co-operation in a great degree was responsible for the success of our league. Every officer, manager and player had the interest of the league at heart and never lost a single opportunity to boost. Executive meetings were held in Port Hope, Lindsay and Peterboro and every member was present. Not a single delegate raised the question of expenses; the meetings were necessary for the success of the league and the delegates cheerfully made the sacrifice. As you all recall, Belleville and Peterboro finished a tie and home and home games were ordered to decide the winner. Naturally quite a rivalry sprang up but who was Belleville's most enthusiastic supporter when they entered the race for the Provincial championship? I remember quite well when I visited Belleville to witness the Belleville-Toronto game and long before I could see him I recognized the voice of my good friend Jake Solomon. He was occupying a conspicuous place on the Belleville bench and giving the team every assistance. That is the spirit which spells success and I trust the same spirit will be more and more instilled in the Central League teams of 1920.

Of course it is always customary at the annual meeting to congratulate the victors. I, however, wish to deviate slightly from the old time-honored rule and offer a little congratulatory message to the team which held the cellar position—Cobourg. Better to have played and lost than never to have played at all. That was Cobourg's motto, and notwithstanding the fact that they did not win a single game they completed their schedule and fought just as hard for the final game as they did for the opening one on May 24th. You will all be pleased to learn that they finished with a nice surplus in the bank.

The thanks of the league are due to the umpires who so faithfully and impartially performed their arduous duties. It may seem unfair to particularize but I, as the President of the league, would feel that I was remiss in my duty if I did not refer to the splendid work of Mr. Alex. Kay of Peterboro. Mr. Kay's rulings were given with such precision that there was never a chance to doubt and the result was that wrangling and scrapping which in the past spoiled many a contest were entirely eliminated. Mr. Kay's ability was recognized when he was called to Toronto to officiate at the final games in the city league. To Mr. Kay and all others who so kindly assisted, the league extends its deep appreciation. To the Press of the district we are much indebted. The Lindsay Warder and Post, the Peterboro Examiner and Review, the Oshawa Reformer, the Belleville Ontario and Intelligeneer, the Cobourg Star, World and Post, and the Port Hope Guide gave freely of their space and much of the success we have attained is due to the excellent advertising and boosting of these journals. The league appreciated this kindness and I trust that the teams of the league will always extend every courtesy to the newspaper men.

In conclusion let me suggest that in the selection of your officers today the greatest care be exercised. Forget all personal feelings and select the men whom you know will discharge the duties fairly and fear? lessly. I am not a candidate for office but if at any time I can be of assistance I assure you it always be a pleasure. With my very best wishes to the new officers and also for a bright and successful season for the league.

Secretary's Report.

Secretary-Treasurer Dedman gave the following repart, Gentlemen:—

In making this, the first annual report of the Secretary-Treasurer of the Central Ontario Baseball League, I wish to express the feelings of pride that glow within the enthusiastic hearts of the officers of the league, because of the unqualified success of the league itself.

The hearty co-operation accorded the officers by the various clubs in the league was a source of pleasure, and the manner in which the various clubs fulfilled their guarantee was also pleasure to note.

That the league made a decided "hit" with baseball fans throughout Ontario was manifested by the greater interest taken in all the games, and the fact that the champions of the Central League went right through and won the amateur championship for the Province of Ontario. This was an honor to the league, and greater honor to the Belleville Club.

It is also gratifying to note that not a single schedule game was postponed during the season.

Although a great amount of work fell upon your Secretary, yet it was only necessary to hold a special meeting during the year. The best of harmony prevailed which augured well for the success of the league.

Financially the season was a remarkable one, considering that it was the first year in existence. According to our rules the "Secretary has the right to call on all teams by July 1st if necessary up to the sum of Ten Dollars to defray expenses of the Executive," but it was not even necessary to do this.

I would respectfully call the attention of the different clubs to another clause in the rules, which reads as follows, but which was not strictly observed;

"Notice of all games played to be sent by the home team to the Secretary of the League within 48 hours after each game has been played."

I wish to pay tribute to the splendid services of the various umpires of the league, who were always found willing to sacrifice their personal time and interests to further the game along, and I attribute much of the success of the league to their impartial games, by being "boss of the job" and eliminating all rowdyism.

Also, I deem that it would be in the interests of the league to send a special resolution of thanks to the various newspapers in the league towns, who gave so generously the en husiastically columns of valuable space to boost the game along.

The financial statement presented by Mr. Dedman showed receipts of $174.55 and expenditures of $159.27.

The Officers.

President—S. Lackington, Port Hope.

1st Vice-President—A. Kimmell, Cobourg.

2nd Vice-President—F. Parsons, Oshawa.

Sec'y.-Theasurer—J. Nott, Oshawa.

Councillors — Ford W. Moynes, Lindsay; Arthur Mark, Port Hope; J. Solomon, Peterborough; Col. E. D. O'Flynn, Belleville; T. Mulhall, Cobourg; Dr. Finnegan, Oshawa.

All the offices were filled by acclamation except that of secretary-treasurer. When the office was reached there was considerable discussion, there was considerable discussion. Mr. John Nott, of Oshawa, was first nominated, and Mr. Dedman's name was also placed before the meeting. Several of the delegates remarked that they had read in the press some time ago that Mr. Dedman intended to resign this year.

Mr. Dedman remarked that the press reports were inaccurate, but said that if Mr. Nott wished to take over the office he would resign.

Finally, however, it was decided to ballot on the two names, and Mr. Nott was elected by a vote of 7 to 5.

The Constitution.

The constitution adopted last year was gone over clause by clause, and with comparatively few changes was again decided upon.

The most radical change proposed was by the Peterborough club, Mr. Solomon suggesting that the residence rule of the League be changed to conform to the Ontario Baseball Association rule, which is 1st January. The Central League residence qualification is 15th May. In proposing the change, Mr. Solomon argued that if the 15th May rule was adhered to in the Central League, it might happen that a team that was entirely eligible under the O. B. A. A. rule might be eliminated by some other team which had a number of players qualified under the Central League rule, but not under the Ontario Constitution. The result would be that when it came to the O. B. A. A. semi-finals the winning team of the Central League would have to drop those players who were not eligible, and would be weakened on that account.

Apparently none of the other five clubs were in favour of the proposal, and President Lockington also argued against it, remarking that the interests of the Central League should come first.

The residence rule therefore stands as last year, namely, 15th May. It was decided to allow bona-fide students attending colleges to play with their home towns if they wished to do so, and the Constitution was changed accordingly.

The rule regarding umpires was changed so that in the event of teams not being able to agree upon an official three days before a game, they are to notify the president, who will appoint the umpire.

The Spalding and Reach balls were adopted as the official balls for the season.

It was decided to hold the annual meeting of the League in Belleville next year, the date set being the third Wednesday in March. Executive meetings that are to be held this year will be in the towns in which the executive did not meet last year.

Complimentary tickets for all officers and ex-officers of the League, admitting them to all Central League games, will be issued by the League.

The secretary-treasurer will draw up the schedule and submit it to the League teams for approval.

The opening games were decided upon as follows—24th May being the opening date:

Lindsay at Cobourg.
Port Hope at Oshawa.
Peterborough at Belleville.

Both Oshawa and Belleville wanted Peterborough as the opening attraction, and the latter as the champions were given their wish.

LACROSSE MEETING FRIDAY NIGHT

OFFICERS TO BE ELECTED—NOMINATION TO BE MADE FOR THE EXECUTIVE.

The lacrosse meeting at the Empress Hotel on Friday night promises to be a very enthusiastic one. Former players of the game, Messrs. F. D. Kerr, George Giroux, M. H. Halpin, J. J. Howden, Geo. Lipsett, R. M. Glover, Lewis Lebarr, George Mein, Joseph Begley and others are much interested in the revival of the game, which should be taken hold of and receive all the backing necessary to make it the attraction it has been in days gone by, when thousands of citizens would witness some of the best exhibitions of the national game to be seen in the province in the old P. A. A. A. grounds in East City or on Riverside Park.

There should be a very large attendance at the meeting in order to get it organized and under way at once.

OVERTIME TO PUT VARSITY IN FINAL

DESPERATE BATTLE TO ELIMINATE SUDBURY FROM ALLAN CUP COMPENSATION.

TORONTO, March 25. — Varsity go into the Allan Cup final, and the northern wolves have decided to return to Sudbury instead of traveling to Belgium. The semi-final dash at the Arena last night supplied the most thrilling hockey of a rip-roaring season. Varsity won, 4 to 3, in ten minutes of overtime, but it was the narrowest squeak that any club would want.

Varsity were leading, 3 to 0, with only seventeen minutes of time left and the wolves took to the trail, staged the gamest come-back of the year and tied it up. It took six minutes of overtime for Frank Sullivan to race up the left boards, shoot, and sweep in to bat in the rebound of his own shot.

Varsity and Sudbury tied on Monday, 2-all, and the students won the round, 6 to 5. Varsity had the better of the first two periods, and then looked like a lot of dazed athletes when Sudbury staged their thrilling punch in the third session. It was desperate hockey, and the kind that kills men with weak hearts. Sudbury were the first into the Varsity dressing-room after the game to congratulate them, and the northern wolves will be long remembered. They are a team of game boys, and were anything but disgraced last night.

Overtime Punch.

While the flowers are being handed around, remember that Varsity looked like a beaten team when the regulation time ended; they came back brave as lions, and got the goal to win the dash. The students have had two tough games, and the Falcons arrive fresh to-day and ready for the final games on Saturday and Monday.

It was a great struggle, every way you look at it. Both teams gave every ounce; the officials handled the contest in perfect fashion, and the fans got overtime for the semi-final. Nothing more could be asked.

On the night's play, Varsity deserved to win. They had the better of the first two periods, a short session of the third and held their own and got the only goal of the overtime. Award Carroll's boys the edge.

SENATORS WIN AGAIN

OTTAWA, March 24.— Ottawa secured a commanding lead over Seattle to-night by defeating them 3 to 0 under Western rules. Ottawa were apparently unhampered by the seven-man game. They outplayed the Mets, who, however, excelled in combination play. The ice was again in very bad condition, but the crowds went away happy in the knowledge of an Ottawa victory.

This makes two wins for the Senators in the Stanley Cup series, in which three victories are necessary to decide the winner.

It is probable that owing to the warm weather and consequent soft ice, that the next game will be played on the artificial ice in the Arena at Toronto next Tuesday, which is the first open date there.

"NIGHTIE NIGHT"

There is an abundance of humor mixed in with the gags of laughter in "Nightie-Night," the new and highly successful farce hit which Adolph Klauber (in association with the Selwyns) lands to the Grand Opera House for two performances, matinee and night, Saturday, March 27th which is appreciated by college fraternity men. Also, there is a genuine reason why fraternity men tak a keen interest in the piece.

During the triumphant all-season run of "Nightie Night," with Francis Byrne, who also comes here with the original cast, at the Prince's Theatre in New York City, this particular offering was selected for certain reasons to be honored with the official theatre party of the Delta Kappa Epsion 'frat' uring the convention of the national organization in New York. Not only did Mr. Byrne and the others of the cast enter into the spirit of the occasion, introducing lines, etc., for the furtherance of the evening's fun, but the management permitted songs between the acts and 'Nightie-Night" was made the official "D.K.E." show in the metropolis. In fact there was an exchange of degrees—the "Nightie-Night" crowd christening the frat men, "Drink, Kiss'n Everything" cohorts.

This was only one of the many things that helped establish Mr. Klauber's farce offering as one of the reigning successes, and with a desire to establish his credit with the public Mr. Klauber has kept the cast and the production absolutely complete and intact for the present tour. The cast includes, besides Mr. Byrne Dorothy Mortimer, Suzanne Willa, Malcolm Duncan, Marie Chambers, Grant Mills, Ruby Cravey, Cyril Raymond, Oscar Knapp and George W. Pierpoint.

CITY FOOTBALL LEAGUE BEGINS WITH MEMBERSHIP OF 7 CLUBS

J. PARKINS, OF THE C.G.E., WAS ELECTED PRESIDENT LAST NIGHT —TEAMS MUST BE REGISTERED BY MAY 1ST—REVIVAL OF SOCCER ASSURED BY RENEWED ENTHUSIASM.

Representatives of seven clubs attended the organization meeting of the City Football League at Coleman's last night. From the enthusiasm displayed by those who have been actively promoting the League and from the reports of the various clubs football promises to regain the strong position it held in local sporting circles before the war stripped the old teams of nearly all their players. The only apparent difficulty at present is the securing of suitable grounds for practice, it is not anticipated that this will prove a serious handicap.

The clubs that have signified their intentions of entering teams in the league are—the Canadian Woolens, the C.G.E., Caledonians, Oddfellows, G.W.V.A., Machine Gunners and the De Laval. As an evidence of the revival of interest in soccer it is reported that the Veterans have a list of twenty-five prospective players already, all of them eager to get back into the game.

The officers elected last night were as follows:

Honorary Presidents—Mayor McIntyre, Edgar Worth, Chas. Coleman and W. R. Breyfogle.

Honorary Vice-Presidents—Ald. G. N. Gordon, Major Miller, Robert Muir and Col. T. J. Johnston.

President—J. Parkins, C.G.E.

Vice-President—W. Baldwin, Canadian Woolens.

Sec.-Treas.—F. M. McKinley, G. W.V.A.

Assistant sec.-treas.—Fred Sutcliffe.

Executive—Alex, McArthur, Caledonians; O. E. Curtis, Machine Gunners; Wm. Cook, De Laval; J. W. Worth, Canadian Woolens; and E. Ray of C.G.E.

The club fee to the League will be $10 payable April 15th. Clubs are limited to eighteen players each, who shall be registered on or before May 1st.

It is expected that the clubs will be in a position to register their grounds at the next meeting on Wednesday, March 31st.

Want Daylight Saving.

The meeting was unanimous for daylight saving in order that the players may have sufficient time for practice and also for evening games. In this connection it was decided to send a request to the City Council, through City Clerk Armstrong, that a Daylight Saving be put into force in Peterboro this summer.

The clubs submitted a tentative choice of colours, but this detail will be settled later.

A vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Coleman for the use of his north store for the preparatory meetings. Several delegates proposed that later in the season some of the crack clubs in Toronto might be brought to Peterboro for exhibition games against the strongest aggregation the City League could furnish. It was also suggested that local district games in the U.F.O. league such as Warsaw, Indian River and others might provide interesting games as the season advances. The admittance of township teams to the City League was mentioned, but it was considered that the city schedule will be well filled by the seven teams.

Mothers! NEVER NEGLECT WHOOPING COUGH

Many mothers make the mistake of thinking that whooping cough is not of serious importance, but unfortunately this mistake often leads to the neglect of this dangerous child's disease.

Never neglect whooping cough, for it may be followed by some serious lung trouble.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is highly recommended by mothers everywhere for the relief of this trouble. It will clear the clogged-up air passage of the mucous and phlegm that has collected in in this way bring on the "whoop" which bring the so-much-sought-for relief.

Mrs. Francis Burlingham, New Gate, B.C., writes: "This spring three of my children took the whooping cough, and they had it so bad I thought they would choke. I was getting pretty worried when my sister wrote me, telling me to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I sent for some right away, and, believe me, I will never forget how it worked. I will always have it in my house."

There are many imitations of Dr. Wood's on the market. Get the genuine when you ask for it. It will pay in the end. Put up in a yellow wrapper; 3 pine trees the trade mark; price 25c and 50c. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

TO-DAY, MARCH 25TH, THE ANNUNCIATION OF THE BLESSED VIRGIN MARY

"LADY DAY," A GREAT ECCLESIASTICAL FESTIVAL.

(Written for The Examiner by Frank Russell:)

This day is held in the whole Catholic Church throughout the world as a feast or festival in commemoration of the message of the Angel Gabriel to the Virgin Mary, informing her that the Word of God was become flesh. In England this day is commonly known as Lady Day; in France as Notre Dame de Mars (Our Lady of March).

Why Fixed for 25th March.

As it was necessary to place the Annunciation nine months before the Nativity, it follows that it was not until the 25th day of December had been fixed on for Christmas that 25th March was decided on as the day of the festival under consideration. But the feast itself dates from earlier times, since St. Athanasius makes mention of it in one of his writings.

It is obvious that 25th March may fall in Lent. In this case an ordinance allowed the Lenten fast to be broken if the Annunciation happened to fall therein. Nevertheless, if it should fall within the Easter fortnight, its celebration is to be postponed until the second Monday following the festival.

A popular tradition still predicts public misfortune if by chance Lady Day (more properly Our Lady's Day) falls on Easter Sunday. A mediaeval couplet runs:

"When our Lady falls in our Lord's lap,
Then, England, beware of great mishap."

The festival nearly always falls in Lent, and the Collect was evidently intended to be connected with Good Friday and Easter Day.

Other Days Connected with the Virgin.

Five days are connected in the church calendar with the Blessed Virgin, viz., the Annunciation, the Purification, the Visitation, her own Nativity, and her Conception. The first two only are red letter days in the Anglican Church.

The Anglican liturgy provides a special service for this day, which should always be observed.

Antiquity of the Festival.

The feast of the Annunciation is of high antiquity. A homily written on it in the fifth century by Proclus, patriarch of Constantinople, is still extant. The Council of Trullo, A.D. 692, revising a decree of the Council of Laodicea, forbade all festivals to be observed in Lent ,except the Sabbath, the Lord's Day ,and the Annunciation.

The Fact of the Annunciation is related by St. Luke, chap. 1, v. 26-38. The evangelist tells us that in the sixth month after the Conception of St. John the Baptist by Elisabeth, cousin to Mary, the Angel Gabriel was sent from God to the Virgin Mary at Nazareth, a small town situate among the mountains of Galilee. Mary was a descendant of the royal house of David, and was married to Joseph, who although only a working carpenter, was of the same royal descent. She had, however, not yet entered her husband's household, but was still living in her mother's home, working, probably, over her dowry. The angel having taken the figure and the form of a man, came into the house, saying to her: "Hail, full of grace, the Lord is with thee." Mary hearing these words of greeting, did not reply. She was troubled in spirit, since she knew not the angel, nor the cause of his coming, nor the significance of his salutation. But the angel continued, saying: "Fear not, Mary, for thou hast found grace," and so on as recorded by the evangelist. Then the virgin understood that there was a question of the coming Redeemer, who had been long and anxiously looked for.

Mary's Humility.

But why should she be elected from amongst all other) women for this great dignity of being the mother of the coming Messiah? Yet she did not doubt. And to remove Mary's anxiety the angel messenger told her, "The Holy Ghost shall come upon thee . . . . and that which shall be born of thee shall be the Son of God." When she realised the honour to be laid upon her, she meekly replied, "Behold the handmaiden of the Lord: be it done to me according to thy word."

The Magnificat.

Then it was that Mary composed that magnificent canticle known and loved throughout Christendom. I doubt if there be any Christian community that does not admire, love, and use this exquisite composition: "My soul doth magnify the Lord," &c.

And was Mary, after this wonderful announcement, altered in her humble, lowly, quiet disposition? Not in the least. The whole breathing of that magnificent hymn is one of praise, wonderment, and humility. Most probably she chanted it in an ecstacy of praise for the inestimable favour bestowed upon her, for the mercies shown unto Israel, and for the fulfillment of the promises made to Abraham and the patriarchs. It is steeped in scriptural thought and phraseology, indicating the fulfillment of the olden prophecy and prophesying anew until the end of time.

The single world-known publishing house of Novello & Co., London, England, has issued over a thousand different musical settings for this glorious canticle, and Kreibiel's estimate that this canticle "has probably been set to music oftener than any hymn in the liturgy" seems to be well within the truth.

After Calvary.

Good Friday, whether it falls early—as is the case this year—or late, is never far away from the Feast of the Annunciation. It is a coincidence that at the latter we first hear of the Blessed Virgin, while at the Crucifixion we hear the last of her. Her name occurs nowhere in holy writ subsequent to the tragedy of Calvary. St. John, it is related, "took her to his own home," and that is the last word of the Mother. Of the remainder of her life and of her death there is no historic account. In the Roman Catholic calendar is a red letter day, viz., the Assumption, which occurs in August. On the day in question, tradition has it that the Virgin, who did not die, was translated, like Enoch of old, and similarly like her Son, into heaven; but on this question historians are strangely silent. Be this as it may, we may be assured that she occupies a very prominent position in the celestial home.

Old Customs in England.

In mediaeval England many festivals, at which ale was the chief item of refreshment, were celebrated in many parishes. The church wardens and other chief parish officers rightly conceived the idea that by establishing such institutions within the church limits they might draw together a large concourse of people and annually collect from them such sums of money as would be a great easement in the cost of upkeep of the Church. The meeting was held in the churchyard or in some barn near the church, and partook somewhat of the nature of a picnic, since everyone brought their own eatables. The ale, which had been brewed good and strong for the occasion, was sold by the church wardens, who retained the profits as a fund to keep the church in repair, or to be distributed in alms to the poor. Our Lady's Day was one of the days on which these ale feasts—known as "Gyst-Ales"—were held.

To modern temperance and "prohibition" ideas, it is somewhat surprising to come upon an inscription like the following on a church gallery, as actually occurs at Lygate, in Norfolk, England—at least it was there as recently as 1911:

With good ale was this work made."
"God speed the plough
And give us good ale enow.
Be merry and glade.

The distich is very crude, but there it is.

At St. Albans, a Cathedral City, in Hertfordshire, it is still the custom to sell buns, known as "Pope Ladies," on this day.

A Legend.

accounts for the origin of this custom, which dates from a remote antiquity. A noble lady and her attendants were benighted while travelling on the road to St. Albans. Lights in the church tower guided their weary steps to a monastery, and the grateful travellers gave a sum of money to provide an annual distribution to the poor, on Our Lady's Day, of cakes baked in the shape of ladies. They probably acquired the name of "Pope Ladies" from the fact that the monks distributed the buns. The dole has now come to an end, but the local bakers continue to bake and sell buns made on the same pattern.

The Cult of the Blessed Virgin.

We find statements affording strong proof of the high veneration in which the Virgin has been held in England . For nearly two thousand two hundred churches have been named in her sole honour, besides close upon two hundred in which her name has been associated with that of some other saint.

In Art.

According to the Calendar of the Anglican Church, published in 1851 by J. H. Parker, of Oxford and London, in representations of the Annunciation, the Virgin Mary is shown kneeling, or seated at a table reading. The lily (her emblem) is usually placed between her and the Angel Gabriel, who holds in one hand a sceptre surmounted by a fleur-de-lis on a lily stalk. Generally a scroll is proceeding from his mouth with the words, "Ave Maria! Gratia plena," and sometimes the Holy Spirit, represented as a dove, is seen descending towards the Virgin.

LARGE EARNINGS STEEL COMPANY

(United Press.)

NEW YORK, March 25. — Gross earnings of the United States' Steel Corporation made public here to-day, totalled $1,448,557,835, the lowest since 1916 ,and some $300,000,000 less than 1918. The 1919 net earnings, before deducting Federal tax allowances, were $195,589,063, compared to $473,628,514 in 1918.

The consolidated income account shows that the corporation set aside reserves of $52,000,000 to cover Federal taxes. This is a reduction of more than $222,0000.00 from the provision in the previous report.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"FLO—FLO"

With many of the same splendid company seen here last year and a number of newcomers who fitted nicely into the caste John Cort's production of laughter and lingerie "Flo-Flo" provided an evening's thorough enjoyment for a large audience at the Grand last night. There is every ingredient in the musical comedy for a successful entertainment, good music, plenty of comedy, clever dancing, and an array of pretty girls in dazzling gowns "n'everything". W. J. McCarthy and Carl George are as funny as ever as Simpson and Mosher the proprietors of the Bride Shop. Hazie Alger has the physical charms necessary for the title role and with them a good voice and ability as a comedienne. Eddie Lloyd got a lot out of the part of Billy Cop e from Oshkosh and Frank Masters and Frank Hodgins as Pink and Mudd, the dancing crooks were as lively a pair of eccentric dancers as the Grand patrons have seen in a long time. Rhea Norton is again seen as the Spanish girl and wins fresh laurels in the part while Augustus Bulle as the bogus count is well remembered for his work last year. He is as effective as ever.

Silvo Hein has given "Flo-Flo" a score of unusual charm and the musical numbers were greatly enjoyed: "Good bye, Happy Days", was the song hit but "There's only one Little Girl", "On the River Nile", "When a Small Town Girl meets a Small Town Boy" and "I Don't Know What you see in me", were all well received. The display of gowns and lingerie was dazzling and the costumes must have cost a fortune.

WARNING TO COASTERS.

Those boys who are running up and down or coasting by here will please to remember they are a public nuisance and disturbers of the peace and as such will be dealt with.

When the parents are fined a few times, perhaps they will not find it such a pleasure to annoy their neighbors. Each will be served with an injunction if they continue to do so after this notice.

Don't Be a Slave To Your Nerves

Good Advice to Nervous People

People who are excessively nervous, tired out and all run down, who get the jumps and fidgets, who can't concentrate their minds on work, have fits of blues, trembling, nervous headaches and dyspepsia and that "don't give a hang" feeling so common to nervous folks, may take it as a certain fact that their trouble is due to impoverished or devitalized nerve force. Their nerve cells are starving and when they give out entirely, complete nervous prostration or breakdown is the result.

A splendid treatment for weak nerves is found in the famous Ferro-Peptine, composed of six of the best nerve vitalizing elements known to modern chemistry. These tablets go straight to the nerve cells and begin immediate action. Take a Ferro-Peptine tablet, wait ten minutes and watch yourself perk up. They feed your famished nerve cells, start healthy blood circulation and normal digestion. Then you brighten up, put on a smile, get some of the old-time "pep" back in your system and feel as happy as a clam at high tide. Ferro-Peptine is absolutely harmless, contains no dangerous habit-forming drugs, is easy to take, inexpensive and all leading druggists sell it on a positive guarantee of successful results or money back.

THE QUESTION IS OFTEN ASKED "WHO IS THIS DR. CHASE?"

The Interesting Life Story of a Practising Physician of Remarkable Skill Whose Well-Known Medicines and Receipt Book Have Made Him Famous Throughout the Civilized World

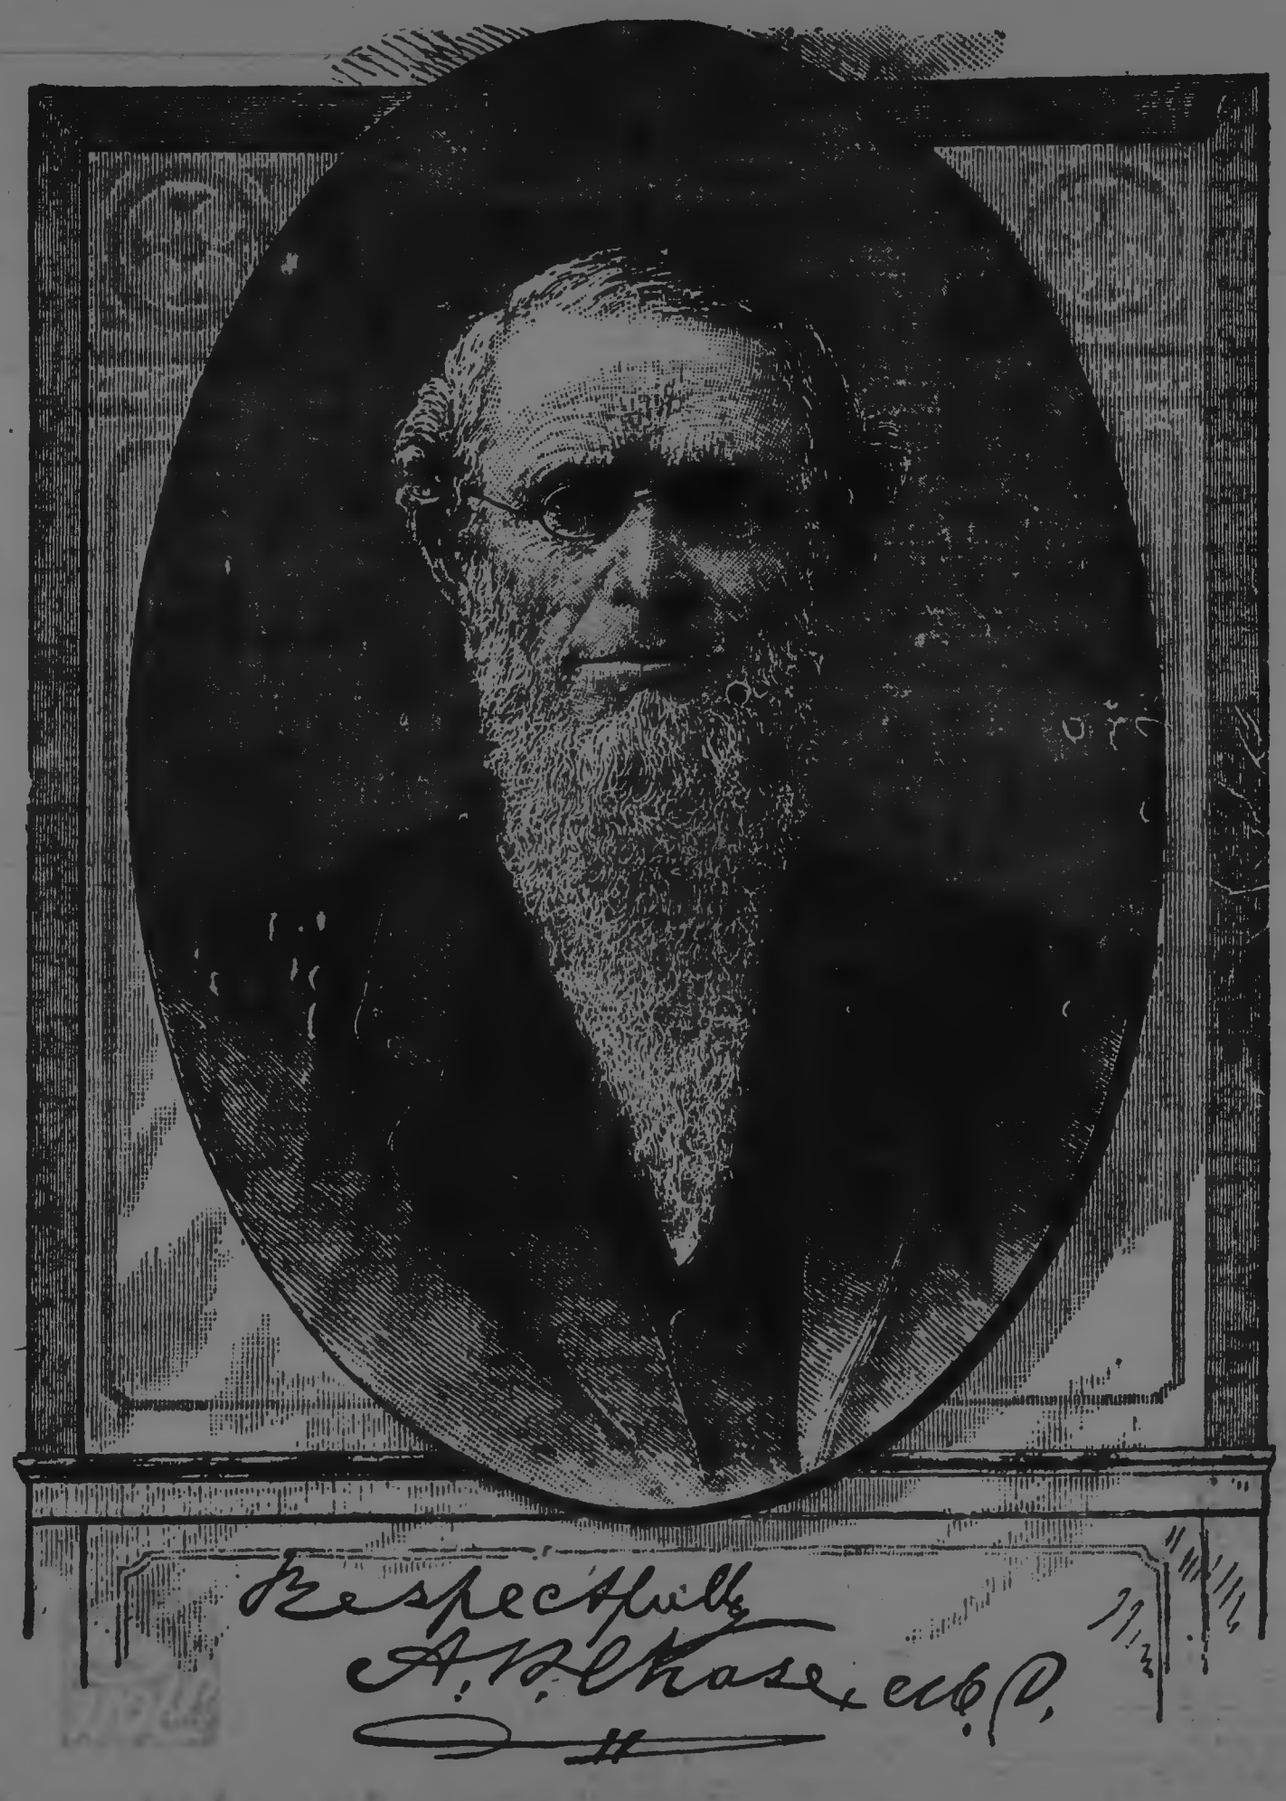
Nature undoubtedly intended Dr. A. W. Chase to be a healer of the sick, for from childhood his efforts were bent in this direction. Any crumb of knowledge regarding the human body and its diseases was eagerly grasped and carefully preserved for future use so that by the time he graduated from the Eclectic College of Medicine, Cincinnati, Ohio, and from the State University at Ann Arbor, Mich., he was qualified as few physicians are when beginning the practice of medicine.

Dr. Alvin Wood Chase was born in the County of Cayuga, N.Y., and spent his boyhood in the vicinity of Buffalo, where he received his early education in a log school house. Even then, it is said, he outstripped his fellow students and entertained the wish to study medicine.

After completing his medical education, Dr. Chase travelled throughout the greater part of Canada and the United States, gaining wonderful experience and invaluable information before he settled down to make his home at Ann Arbor, Mich.

His success in private practice, his scientific investigations in search of better treatments, his work of collecting all the most successful prescriptions known to the profession, the publication of his now world - famous Receipt Book, the discovery of the great family medicines and the perfecting of them by tests made in his own practice, all these are incidents in a busy life of work for the benefit of humanity.

Dr. Chase became one of the most prosperous and well-to-do citiezns of Ann Arbor, and was noted for his large gifts to educational and benevolent enterprises. News of his remarkable success in treating kidney and liver disorders, nerveus troubles and other forms of serious diseases soon spread abroad and brought appeals for help from all over Canada and the United States.



He began sending medicines to persons at a distance, but soon found it impossible to keep up with the demand on his time, and so resolved to put up his greatest prescriptions in convenient form for home treatment and to place these in the hands of local dealers.

This effort to simplify medical treatment and save the too often unreasonable doctor's bills met with a storm of opposition from members of the medical profession, who feared the effect on their practice and looked with envy on the wonderful success of Dr. Chase.

The many large gifts of Dr. Chase to all worthy objects prove that it was no mere desire for money-making that led him to so place on the market his great discoveries. Like a true physician, as he was, he thought most of relieving the suffering of his fellowmen.

As the details of manufacturing and distributing the remedies increased, it was found advisable to form the Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., of which Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd., are proprietors, with offices and laboratories in Toronto, Can., and Buffalo, N.Y.

The success which has crowned the efforts of Dr. Chase to alleviate the sufferings of humanity has been most extraordinary. His name is now spoken with reverence in hundreds and thousands of homes. His Receipt Book remains to-day the most useful household work that was ever published and has a circulation second only to that of the Bible. His great Family Medicines have won the confidence of the people the world over, and have established a record of cures that is unparalleled in the history of medicine. It would be difficult to imagine a more useful life than that of Dr. Chase.

"The Greatest Good to The Greatest Number"

"The Greatest Good to the Greatest Number" is a motto which the doctor kept before him throughout life, and in spite of strenuous opposition from fellow practitioners who desired, for the sake of greater financial gain, to keep the practice of medicine shrouded in mystery, he introduced his favourite prescriptions to the general public and published his now world-famous Receipt Book in order that all might read and learn the nature and cause of their ailments and apply the most effective treatment.

MINERAL OIL
FOR CHRONIC CONSTIPATION

By buying this produce from us you can get the highest in quality that can be procured at an ESPECIALLY LOW PRICE.

There are many thin oils on the market that are not suitable for internal use: other oils have irritating qualities which render them also unsuitable. The one we are selling is guaranteed thick and entirely pure.

It is recognized that a good grade of Mineral Oil is one of the best remedies for CHRONIC CONSTIPATION that is being used. It acts mechanically and does not irritate the intestinal tract, nor does the dose have to be constantly increased as is the case with ordinary purgatives.

It is much better and cheaper than Castor Oil as a laxative for children, since Castor Oil has two effects, the first of which is purgative and the second or after effect, quite the Constipating.

VOL. XLVI NO. 73 PETERBOROUGH FRIDAY, MARCH 26, 1920 PRICE TWO CENTS

GOVERNMENT HAS COME TO AN AGREEMENT WITH REVOLUTIONARY GROUPS

EFFORTS TO RESTORE ORDER THROUGHOUT GERMANY MEET WITH CONTINUED SUCCESS.

LATE DESPATCHES.

(United Press.)

BERLIN, March, 26.—Government advices here to-day indicated continued success for efforts to restore order throughout Germany. The situation in the Rhine Provinces is quieting, Officials said. They affirmed earlier reports that the Government has come to an agreement with at least a majority of the insurrectionary workmen's groups.

Reports of an impending new coup in Berlin were denied. The Socialist Correspondent Bureau published an "Alarm Call" demanding that the Government proceed to fulfill its plans for disarming the Baltic troops, who assisted in the Hon. Kapp insurrection. Otherwise, the statement said a new coup may be expected.

Reliable estimates to-day placed the total dead in disorders since March 13, the day Von Kapp seized power in Berlin; at from two to three thousand, with a similar number wounded.

A despatch from Plauen said the Bolshevist leader Max Heez had fled from the city to escape arrest. His band was reported to have held up the Burgomaster of a nearby town and obtained 200,000 marks from the City Hall, after shooting up the city.

SMALL BLAZE AT FANNING'S LAUNDRY

Local damage at 8.30 fire broke out in boiler room on the north side of the laundry room of Fanning's Laundry. The fire spread into the laundry room, but was confined by the firemen to these two rooms.

No one was in the building at the time the fire started, and the cause cannot be determined.

The fire at first had all the appearances of a big conflagration, and a large crowd filled the car barn yards to watch the blaze. The fire was checked by the firemen in about twenty minutes. the roof suffering the most damage by fire.

Considerable damage was caused to the interior, the machinery, and the fittings by smoke and water.

The building is insured.

TURKISH CABINET RESIGN COMMISSION

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 26.—The Turkish Cabinet headed by Said Pasha, formed on March 9, has resigned and the Sultan has asked Damad Ferid Pasha, the former Grand Visier, and Foreign Minister, to form a new government.

CHILD POISONED, SALMON SUSPECTED

WAS SERVED AT PARTY AND MOST DINERS BECAME ILL.

Special to The Examiner.

COBALT, Ont., March 26. — Margt. Butcher, the two year old daughter of the Rev. E. Butcher, Milberta, is dead, and several others are ill from poisoning.

There was a dinner party at which canned salmon was served and later practically all the diners were taken ill. The little girl was the most serious and was removed to the New Liskeard Hospital where she died after two days.

KEEP JUDGES OFF ELECTION BOARDS

HON. HUGH GUTHRIE OFFERS ADVICE TO ONTARIO GOVERNMENT.

(Special to the Examiner)

OTTAWA, March 26.—Judicial robes will be trailed through the political mire in Ontario in the opinion of the Hon. Hugh Guthrie if the Drury Government goes ahead with its new Election Act. Mr. Guthrie is in charge of the new Dominion Franchise Law now before the Commons.

He says: "I agree that a judge is the proper man under an election act to settle legal rights if disputes take place, but I would emphasize the desirability of keeping the Judiciary of this country away from the ordinary machinery of elections. What would happen is this—it will happen in Ontario if the present proposal of the Ontario government is carried out, as I understand it from the newspaper reports—if you give to a Judge Power to appoint returning officer, be he ever so fair and judicial in is appointments a mistake will happen at some place. There will be wrong doing sometime or other, and the first man to be blamed will be the judge, with the result that you will have the judicial robes trailed through the political mire. So far as I view it—and it is no business of mine to criticise a measure introduced by the Ontario Government—the weakest point in their proposed system is that they make the county judge the President of the Election Board and that board appoints the returning officers."

NEW STREET CARS FOR PETERBORO

WILL BE ALL ONE-MAN TYPE AND MADE OF STEEL

Peterborough's street railway will be equipped solely with the new cars of the one-man type, according to Sir Adam Beck's statement to Ald. Gordon in Toronto yesterday. The entire fleet of wooden cars will be withdrawn, and modern steel cars similar to those now used on Charlotte Street will be put into service.

Ald. Gordon called at the Hydro offices to inquire what progress had been made in connection with the proposed radial line from Peterborough to Kinmount. He was informed that owing to pressure of other business the staff had not yet been able to deal with this project.

Ald. Gordon also hinted that the Commission has a programme of local extensions that will be announced shortly, but he stated that he could not make any definite announcement of plans that were apparently outlined to him by Sir Adam Beck.

NEW FRENCH GUN SAID TO HAVE FIRING RANGE OF 150 MILES

LONDON, March 25.—The British Government is in close touch with French Government with regard to the recent French invention of a gun said to have a firing range of 150 miles. Premier Lloyd George stated in answer to a question in the House of Commons to-day.

Trouble Avoided

METAL WORKERS ARE DEALING DIRECT WITH THE EMPLOYERS —NEGOTIATIONS ARE PROGRESSING.

ALLIED TRADES

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, Man., March 26.—Workers in metal trades in Winnipeg, numbering 1,400 are not to have any disputes with iron masters this spring, it was learned authoritatively to-day, direct negot iations regarding wage schedules being satisfactorily progressing. Approximate figure of 1,400 does not include metal trade workers and those in allied trades employed by railways, which would bring the total to more than 5,000 men. There is no hint of approaching trouble among railway metal trades. It was the metal trade strike of the spring of 1919 which precipitated the big general strike which tied up city and paralyzed business for weeks. Three large iron companies in Winnipeg are dealing harmoniously with their men by means of plant councils or shop committees and increases of wages are being granted.

POWER LINE FROM HEALEY FALLS IS NEARLY COMPLETED

The Hydro-Electric Commission's power transmission line from Healey Falls to Peterboro by way of Norwood and Havelock is nearing completion and from the present prospects should be ready to receive the "juice" by April 1st. The poles in this thirty-mile stretch across the townships of Douro and Asphodel were erected last summer and fall, the wires have been strung to the canal and there remains the connecting link between that point and the Auburn terminal.

The poles are of British Columbia fir, and exceptionally tall, and have been entirely treated in creosote as a safeguard against the ravages of weather. Aluminum wire has been used instead of copper as the conducting medium, and have a capacity of 44,000 volts supplying 7,000 horse power. Aluminum was used partly for the advantage that it is supposed to be proof against sleet, and also because of its comparative lightness. The poles are thus spaced at 400 feet, nearly four times the customary distance between poles. On either side of the canal and railways twin poles have been set up as an additional support and a precaution against collapse at this crossings of rail and water traffic.

Much is expected in the eastern villages of this link in the Hydro system. It makes a complete circuit of the entire Eastern Ontario system, offering routes both easterly and westerly. In other words the east and west ends of this service which are supplied mostly from the power plants at Healey Falls, Campbellford, Trenton and Frankford have not only the former main transmission line along the Lake shore but also the alternative new route through Norwood and Peterboro.

The line parallels the highway known as the Norwood road.

ST. LUKE'S Y. P. A. HAD GOOD PROGRAM

At the opening meeting of the Young Peoples' Association of St. Luke's church held last evening in the Parish Hall, and which was attended by a large number of the young people, a most acceptable programme was presented, which was opened by an address of welcome by Miss Clara Adams who occupied the chair.

A Feature.

A feature of the evening's entertainment was an interesting debate, "Resolved that Winter Pastimes are Better than Summer Pastimes." The participants in this were four members of the society, Mr. G. Maniece and Miss M. Turner, who took the negative, and Mr. S. Curtis and Miss H. Carter the affirmative. The decision given by the judges, Rev. W. H. White, Miss A. Nichol and Mr. G. O. Cameron, sustained the affirmative.

The Programme.

The rest of the programme consisted of an interesting and instructive address, with illustrated slides, given by Mr. G. O. Cameron, on "Telephony," vocal duet by Miss M. Green and Mr. H. Hope, a recitation by Miss K. Vincent, a violin solo by Mr. A. E. Dawson and a vocal solo by Mrs. A. A. Perrin, and was concluded by the singing of the National Anthem.

FREE LIBRARY BYLAW CARRIED IN KINGSTON

KINGSTON, March 25. — The vote of the ratepayers to-day on the by-law for the establishment of a free library resulted as follows: For 833; against 220. Only one quarter of the electors cast their ballots. G. Y. Chown has presented a building for the library and the city is to equip and maintain it.

COMMUNISTS HAVE TAKEN PRISONERS

Invest Wesel and Threaten to Destroy Mines and Factories.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, March 26.—Workers forces entrenched along the Lippe river, south and south-east of the city of Wesel, threaten if they fail to capture Wesel, to destroy all factories and mines in Western Germany, says a despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Co. from Berlin this morning. The Reds are now issuing official statements and last night claimed to have captured several villages and to have taken more than two hundred prisoners during the day. Telegrams from Muenster, filed last night, report severe engagements between Government and Communist troops on the line from Harm to Hagen. Further south there has been serious fighting and conflicts have occurred at Wesel, Rucklinghausen and near Muenster, as well as along the Lippe river.

Increase Is Asked

KING'S MEN ON ROYAL ESTATES IN SCOTLAND WANT BETTER WORKING CONDITIONS.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, March 26.—Employees on the King's estate in Scotland, including Balmoral Castle, are demanding an eight hour day and wage increase to three pounds weekly. J. D. Ramsay, King's Commission on Balmoral estates, has given the men the option of working ten hours a day or quitting their jobs. As it is known he has said nothing about wages. The question is to be discussed in Aberdeen Saturday at a meeting of the Scottish Federation of Discharged Soldiers, many of the men being former soldiers. It is recalled that King George in writing to Balmoral some time ago said he wished all his employees to be comfortable and satisfied.

SPRING HOUSECLEANING AT THE G.T.R. STATION

PAINTERS HAVE BRIGHTENED THE WAITING ROOMS—SUPERINTENDENT HERE.

The interior of the G.T.R. station has been entirely renovated and its bright, clean walls and woodwork present a decided contrast to the previous drabiness. The ceilings and a border at the top are spotlessly white with the lower part a pale pink and the wainscoting has been revarnished. The whole colour scheme is bright and attractive and has improved the station a great deal and has been an agreeable surprise to the travellers and passengers who frequent the station considerably.

The work has been carried on by the G.T.R. painters, who have their own car and their own outfit and the work is a credit to them.

On Tuesday last General Superintendent R. H. Fisk made his initial inspection of the Peterborough station, but as his time was limited from 12 to 2 o'clock he had little time to go out side of the station, but on his next trip here it is expected he will see more of our city. Mr. Fish was formerly local superintendent at Stratford, and recently replaced Mr. W. R. Davidson, who, with other officers, was in the city a short time ago and was tendered a banquet by the Board of Trade and civic officials. Mr. Davidson has been made general superintendent at Chicago. His many friends in Peterborough will extend their congratulations on his promotion to the higher office and welcome his successor, Mr. Fish, to Peterborough.

TYRONE POWER IN CANADIAN FILM

Peterborough audiences will, for the first time, witness a film made in its entirety in Canada when "The Great Shadow," starring Tyrone Power, will be shown on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of next week at the Grand. Any pla labelled with the magic name of Trone Power is in itself a guarantee of the superiority of the production, and on the screen the great actor loses nothing of his forcefulness. In the play, which is founded upon one of the most remarkable plots ever picturised, he has more than sustained hih reputation of a marvellous portrayer of character.

Have New Capital

ANTI-BOLSHEVIKI GROUPS IN THE BLACK SEA DISTRICT HARASSED BY FATIGUE AND DISEASE—MAY ACCEPT BOLSHEVIKI.

TYPHUS RAGING

Canadian Press.

Constantinople, March 26. — Anti-Bolsheviki army operating in the vicinity of Novorossisk and moving southward in the Black Sea Province, towards Batum, has established its capital at Sochi (Lakhovski) on the Black Sea about midway between Novorossisk and Batum, where a general committee is directing a so-called government.

General Keith of the British forces, is reported to have visited Sochi recently where he discussed the situation with M. Filipposki, chairman of the committee for the liberation of the Black Sea provinces.

Despatches from Novorossisk indicate that war worn refugees in this region, confused by the multiplicity of the factions and somewhat reassured by the Bolsheviki promises to abandon terrorism, are becoming reconciled to remaining in Russia even if the Bolsheviki should occupy Novorossisk.

The allies however are removing those who it is considered would unquestionably be in danger of the Bolsheviki reprisals, transporting them to Theodosis in the Crimea.

TYPHUS AMONG THE TROOPS.

Canadian Press.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 26. — The prevalence of typhus among the refugees is making their removal difficult and an operation dangerous to other countries. Eight thousand refugees who are at Verne, Bulgaria, are experiencing a terrible death rate because it is impossible to apply the proper precautions.

Besides the British emissary, who went to Novorossisk, the French also sent an officer to confer with the committee, which denounced both the Soviet and the Denikine forces, saying that the Black Sea people were fighting for the purpose of freeing their territory from all outside plunderers.

WANT UNDERSIABLE ENEMY ALIENS SENT OUT OF COUNTRY

Special to The Examiner.

MONTREAL, March 26. — The deportation of the people of German, Austrian, Turkish and Bulgarian origin whom it is impossible to assimilate as Canadian citizens is demanded in a clause contained in the resolution relating to immigration, deportation and naturalization passed by the Great War Veterans Association on the resumption of its annual convention here this morning.

The resolution, which will be submitted to the Dominion Government, suggests that all disfranchised aliens be given one year to dispose of their property and also contends that all unnaturalized citizens should be examined before properly constituted courts which will determine whether or not they are desirable citizens, so that undesirable can be deported.

HOME AFTER FIVE YEARS OVERSEAS

One of the last of Peterborough's soldiers to return home from overseas service is Albert Todd, who returned this week after five years' service with his Imperial regiment.

He will be remembered by many as the brother-in-law of Sergt. Kidd, formerly of the Peterborough Police Force, now Chief of Police at Parry Sound.

THE WEATHER

Yesterday afternoon the thermometer rose to 66 degrees. This is the highest point since the last day of October, 4½ months ago. The time will soon be here when the reader will be bewailing the heat, perhaps to a greater degree than the cold weather of the past few months. Did you ever notice that the weather is the universal topic of discussion with the majority of people when first meeting others, and is almost invariably the thin edge of the wedge to a better acquaintanceship after a formal introduction to a stranger?—W. GERMAN FARMERS AID GOVERNMENT

SIXTY OF COMMUNISTS' ARMY KILLED—ALLIES' TROOPS NEAR BORDER.

Canadian Press.

AMSTERDAM, March 26. — The Government forces at Wesel have been reinforced, according to the reports from the Dutch frontier.

Coal trains to Holland from the Ruhr district were operating normally to-day, although the crews were some times threatened by the Spartacists.

In the event of trouble with the Soviet adherents the Dutch Government will combat the movement with local detachments. The administration will not call on conscripts.

According to the Telegraph's frontier's correspondent the government forces at Wesel are strongly entrenched and are being constantly reinforced by armed farmers and bourgeousie from the near by towns.

Red army's trenches are occupied by about six thousand men.

The casualties in the ranks of the Communists up to last night numbered about 60 dead and 100 wounded. The Communist soldiers receive 30 marks per day with rations.

Southeast of Wesel are Belgian troops and on the left bank of the Rhine. The French troops equipped with artillery also are arriving.

BISHOP O'BRIEN LEAVING FOR ROME

SAILS FROM NEW YORK NEXT MONTH TO PRESENT REPORT TO THE POPE.

In accordance with the rules of the Catholic Church which require every Bishop in the Church to make a report in person to the Pope upon the state of Catholicity in their respective dioceses every ten years, His Lordship Bishop O'Brien leaves for Rome next month sailing from New York on La Touraine on Saturday, April 24th. During his trip Bishop O'Brien will visit France, Italy and the British Isles making a special trip to Paray-La-Monial the tomb of the blessed Margaret Mary, whose canonization he will attend on May 13th in Rome.

Third Trip.

This will be His Lordships third trip to Rome but first as Bishop. In 1914, a y ear after his consecration as Bishop of Peterboro he had prepared to visit the Holy Father but was prevented from so doing by the outbreak of the war. He is at present compiling a report of the state of Catholicity in the diocese of Peterboro to present to the Pope, one which it is understood is very satisfactory. The report is written in its entirety in Latin.

Upon reaching Rome he will make his headquarters at the Canadian College at Rome and will be absent from the diocese for about three months. An administrator to govern the affairs of the diocese will be appointed presently to act during His Lordship's absence.

For Seven Years.

Bishop O'Brien was named to succeed the late Bishop O'Connor on June the 20th., 1913, and was consecrated the 24th of the following September.

MAGISTRATE MURDERED.

Shot By Four Armed Men in Dublin To-day.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, March 26.— Alan Bell, resident magistrate, who presided over the inquiry into dealings of Sian Fein with Irish banks, was shot dead this morning outside the Masonic Club in Dublin according to a despatch from that city to the Central News.

In the House to-day Bonar Law announced that four armed men took Magistrate Bell from an automobile and shot him to death.

RESTRICT ORIENTALS

(Special to The Examiner.)

MONTREAL, Que., March 26. — The Dominion convention of the G. W.V.A. decided this morning that it will send one delegate from each province with the incoming executive to interview the Federal Cabinet at an early date to obtain a definite answer to the requsts of the G.W.V.A. in regard to re-establishment.

Much time was devoted to this question. It was suggested primarily that one representative from each province accompany the incoming executive to Ottawa to ask for immediate attention, but the whole question was left in the hands of the special re-establishment committee.

Rev. Canon Scott Explains.

Canon F. Scott then explained more fully his statement made yesterday that he would never shake hands with a German.

"In the Bible we were to love our enemies. Anger was the divine right of man, but it must never be used for his own personal interests.

"I have no animosity towards the German because he killed my son, but until a German says he is sorry and proves conclusively that he is no longer deceitful, I again say, I will never shake hands with him."

World Depart Aliens.

The Procedure committee brought up the question of deportation. The veterans voted unanimously that the government should deport enemy aliens as given one year to dispose of their property.

The convention passed also with no discussion, that those of foreign birth who served with the C.E.F. should be granted a franchise.

Restrict Orientals.

Comrade Berry, of Victoria, B.C., urged that the government should take over the fisheries now controlled by Orientals. A resolution was passed calling for legislation to make it impossible for Orientals to own or lease lands and to impose severe restrictions on Orientals in our coast fisheries.

Amend Immigration Act.

After a little discussion the following resolution was passed:

"Therefore be it resolved that the Great War Veterans' Association of Canada, composed of men who fought and suffered to maintain the right and liberties of the people, protest most strongly against the amendent to the Immigration Act which discriminates against the British born who have acquired a domicile in Canada, by denying him the right of trial by jury which under the same charges is given to naturalized aliens, and urge that Section 41 of the Immigration Act be amended by deleting the words 'subject, either by reason of birth in Canada, or by reason of naturalization in Canada,' and substituting therefor the word 'born'."

Want Housing.

It took but a short time for the convention to pass the housing resolution. It was that the government should control the price of building materials in the first place and then that the Federal Housing Act should be administered directly by the Federal authorities. Further that a Dominion Housing Commission should be established to permit of loans being made in the city, town and village properties to returned soldiers for the purpose of buying for building homes.

To Ask For Insurance.

Life insurance along the lines of State assistance for disabled men not eligible in ordinary insurance companies, was also passed. Medical service for a period of five years after discharge to all returned soldiers to be given by the government, was another resolution passed unanimously.

Labor resolution was carried which demanded the appointment of two returned soldiers on the Civil Service Commission, that future appointments to government positions be from the ranks of soldiers, and that all married women be released from government employment.

Canon Scott of Quebec and C. E. Jeakins, Ontario, withdrew from presidential election.

DARKEN GRAY HAIR, LOOK YOUNG, PRETTY

Sage Tea and Sulphur Darkens So Naturally That Nobody Can Tell.

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

WEATHER TOO WARM FOR SYRUP SEASON

J. J. O'GRADY, OF INDIAN RIVER, HAS SOLD FARM.

Indian River, March 26.—Next week Indian River will lose one of its oldest families when Mr. and Mrs. J. J. O'Grady and family, who have sold their farm to Mr. Dean of Warsaw, will remove to their new home near Cobourg. Mr. O'Grady has resided on the farm that he vacates for over half a century.

Condition Serious.

The condition of Mr. Thomas LeClair is serious and due to his advanced age, he being 83 years old, but little hope is held out for his recovery.

Short Sap Season.

On Monday of this week Messrs. Albert and William Elmhurst, John Shearer and Gaven Shearer, and other owners of sugar bushes, commenced the annual sugaring off, but due to the warm weather setting in it is anticipated that the season will be short and the prices remain high. If, however, the weather remains mild, the farmers will benefit as plowing will commence in the vicinity of Indian River on Monday.

SMOKING HARMFUL.

"Many of the women here smoke as many as a hundred cigarettes a day," writes James Gall of Glasgow, to the London Daily Express.

"The effect of smoking on university students has been a bad one," he added.

"At the last big examination the results were poorer than ever before—a fact which may be safely attributed to the detrimental effects of smoking on the students' mentality."

A Harley Street physician, discussing the subject with a London Express representative, said that it was difficult to say whether the smoking tendency among the women was due to the nervous strain of the war or was an outcome of the community life which had been developed.

"A few cigarettes a day cannot hurt the normal healthy woman, but when the thing becmes a habit and one cigarette is lighted from the other, it is most injurious to the heart, eyes, nerves, lungs and the entire system.

"I can quite believe that the families of hard smoking women would be less healthy than those of non-smokers.

"As a woman's nervous system is far more delicately attuned and of finer fabric than the average man's, excessive smoking has a worse effect on her than on her men folk.

"I find that a large percentage of my nervous system patients started smoking when under some severe grief or strain. While the cigarette soothes them for the moment, it aggravates their nervous condition."

WHY, LADIES, WHY?

Woman, lovely woman, you're a puzzle, dear to me,
The notions that possess you change like winds that whip the sea.
One moment you would own the sun, with all its light and heat,
The next, you wouldn't have it if we laid it at your feet.

THE NAVY THEN AND NOW

(By H. F. GADSBY)

The caucus cocked its eye at the proposed navy and said, "not to-day." Admiral Jellicoe had presented a most accomodating program, all sorts of combinations from twenty-five millions down to five, a sort of club breakfast-bill of fare, but Canada had no appetite. No matter how cheap or nourishing, the meal did not tempt because her belly is full of the national debt and she cannot relish any more hors d'oeuvres until the lump is digested.

The opposition hold no caucus on it but there is every reason to believe that they heartily agree that a navy is something that can be put off until the day after to-morrow. They are on record for a plebiscite when the navy problem comes up again and no doubt almost any Government would welcome that solution of the contentious subject. Passing the buck to the people at large has a nobler air than passing the buck to the various provincial governments which is Union Government's way of getting over a stile. We may take it for granted, I think there will be a referendum on the Canadian navy, however modest the proposals. But now, just now, brothers—not just now—plenty of time when we get our debts settle.

Rumor has it that Premier Borden is the only person in favor of an immediate navy. He favors it largely because the others don't and he would like to have a navy as a monument to his career. Cynics say that Premier Borden has caught the navy habit from jogging around with Admiral Jellicoe and that he would dearly love a warship of our own to go yachting in.

It is admitted on all sides that Admiral Jellicoe made an excellent report and stressed if anything, the idea of a homemade, home-controlled Canadian navy—the navy in short, which Sir Wilfred Laurier advocated and which Premier Borden did also until victory at the polls put him on top and he went in for three dreadnaughts just to do something different. The chances are that when we get a navy it wil be a Canadian navy of the Laurier type, but that will not be for some years yet. Just now, having taken over a couple of railways we are more interested in box cars than ever.

The prairie West is strong on box cars too and as we do everything now for the prairie West, where those fierce free trade farmers come from, the navy will have to wait over. Common sense suggests that we pay for the railways before we start paying for a navy.

Incidentally the wait-a-bit policy of the Government caucus rather hints that the British Empire has cost us a lot of money lately and that we don't want to buy any more war goods until we pay the bill for the last spasm. Perhaps it is another indication of that nationhood which Mr. Rowell says we possess, that we know when we've had enough of fighting Europe's battles.

Several reasons have been put forward why we should postpone our navy—to see what the United States does, to see how Japan behaves, to see how the League of Nations operates—but the best reason of all is that we need the money for more useful purposes. Even the Toriest newspapers are agreed that a navy is something we can do without until times are a good deal better. What we want in the way of a navy, is not a war navy, but a merchant navy that will carry our export trade at rates which display more bowels of mercy that we can expect from the British Shipping trust. These rats are strangling our ocean-born trade right now and Mr. Ballantyne does a good work when he encourages the building of Canadian ships that will make us independent of these extortioners. It is not likely that Mr. Ballantyne's shipbuilding statement will be seriously criticised in view of our recent experience with ocean freights.

What About Sea Lords.

Admiral Jellicoe's report is more Canadian than the Canadians. He suggests a Canadian minister of the navy with a naval board of Canadian experts to advise him—the admiralty and the Sea Lords all over again. There are only two objections to this scheme—we can't get the right Minister of the Navy and we can't get the experts. For people who have been obliged to drink so much water lately we know very little about the unstable element as a medium for floating battleships. Even Mr. Rowell, whose past has largely been on the water, and whose future is likely to continue so, might well hesitate to become First Lord of the Admiralty. It is a department which is hedged in with seasickness and rough weather.

It is true that Mr. Gilbert has pointed out the quickest way to become "ruler of the Kings" nav-ee—which is to stick close to yout desk and never go to sea—but that applies only to England. In Canada we have a prejudice in favor of admirals who are good sailors and we can't lay hands on one of that sort in the whole darned country. What we would like as Minister of the Navy is a bluff old sea-dog like Sir John Fisher, a knocker-off of official hats, but there isn't anybody in sight who resembles him except Sir Sam Hughes, who still has the spirit but whose fighting days are over. When all is said and done Sir Sam was a great success as a pusher and there is no reason to doubt that he would be as good an Admiral as he ever was a General. As for the present Cabinet I don't know one member of it who would take the job of sea lord unless Britannia who rules the waves would agree to rule them straight so as to cut out the hiccups.

The Fire is Quenched.

The decision to let the navy drift, shortens the session, which will have a hard job putting in its three months. Navy talk would have taken up two, possibly three weeks, what with recriminations, tergiversations, and equivocations from politicians on both sides of the question, not to mention imprecations and allegations from the patriots of Quebec. The last debate on the navy—the "emergency navy"—dwells in my mind as the hottest piece of life on the raging main that I have ever witnessed. The main raged that night all right. Members shook their fists at each other, shouted, cursed. Newspaper men forgot their judicial pose, leaned over the gallery railing and swore. Mr. Speaker could not stem the tide of wrath, so he ran round and round like a chicken that had just lost its head. It was the only time the closure was applied on a vital question and it certainly raised hell. Nobody dreamed that there was such fire in blue water. The sea fairly boiled with the hot language. I do not believe that the navy will ever again raise such a furricane of passion in the House of Commons, but I am wiling to stave off the chance of it as long as possible.

And what did it all amount to? Premier Borden got his three battle ships through the House of Commons, but the Senate promptly scuttled them. It was the Senate put the nought in Dreadnought.

BEWARE OF DECEPTION

Statistics show that when egg albumen is used as a constituent of baking powder, the amount so used is too small (usually 15/100 of 1%) to affect the quality or effectiveness of the baking powder containing it, and when so used, is plainly for the purpose of fraud. Intelligent buyers will not permit themselves to be deceived by the water glass test.

MAGIC BAKING POWDER

contains no alum or egg albumen and is guaranteed to be composed of the ingredients printed on the label—and none other.

STOMACH TROUBLES ARE DUE TO ACIDITY

Tells Safe, Certain, Speedy, Relief For Acid Indigestion.

So-called stomach troubles, such as indigestion, gas, sourness, stomach-ache, and inability to retain food are in probably nine cases out of ten, simply evidence that excessive secretion of acid is taking place in the stomach causing the formation of gas and acid indigestion.

Gas distends the stomach and causes that full oppressive burning feeling sometimes known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the excessive development or secretion of acid.

To stop or prevent this souring of the food contents of the stomach and to neutralise the acid and, make it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of bisurated magnesia, a good and effective corrector of acid stomach, should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water after eating or whenever gas, sourness or acidity is felt. This sweetens the stomach and neutralises the acidity in a few moments and is a perfectly harmless and inexpensive remedy to use.

An antacid, such as bisurated magnesia which can be obtained from any druggist in either powder or tablet form enables the stomach to do its work properly without the aid of artificial digestents. Magnesia comes in several forms so be certain to ask for and take only Bisurated Magnesia which is especially prepared for the above purpose.

BATTLESHIPS AND EGGCUPS ON SALE BY GREAT BRITAIN

LONDON—The complete battleships, half a dozen submarines, Handley-Page and De Haviland aeroplanes, 50,000,000 rounds of ball cartridges, guns, aerial bombs, pistols, a paddle steamer a train ferry capable of carrying thirty-nine 10-ton wagons, a road bridge complete and locomotives are but a few of the many varried articles offered by the British Minister of Munitions in what is without doubt the biggest sale in history.

The catalogue of goods is a romance in itself. Brought out a bimonthly magazine, it is issued officially by the Minister under the title of Surplus, at six cents a copy, each number taking us something over 190 pages of closely printed matter.

Only a cursory glance is necessary to realize, apart from the usual supply of equipment, ammunition and foodstuffs, what a tremendous commercial undertaking modern war has developed.

During the war the Ministry of Munitions acted as a sort of general stores to supply millions of fighting troops on all fronts, from France to India, the North Sea to the Suez Canal. No item, however small, was too inconsequent, no item on too tremendous a scale to be included in these wonderful stores.

One Whole Camp for Sale.

The Ministry was solely responsible for the supply of army huts, building material and factories, machinery, machine tools and engineering stores; army boots, water craft, textiles, chemicals and metals, foodstuffs and motor vehicles, and so on and infinitum.

In the fifteenth issue of Surplus published on the first day of the new year and announced as "the official organ of the surplus Government Property Disposal Board," there are no fewer than nineteen sections of different classes of material to be disposed of.

The Admiralty are offering floating docks, yachts, trawlers, drifters, steam whalers, salvage steamers, motor launches coastal motor boats and old naval steam, sailing and pulling boats.

One "item" offered for sale is the entire Milford military camp. This lot includes regimental institutes and dining rooms, medical inspection and hospital huts, a timber motor garage: altogether about 400 huts, buildings

At the other end of the scale there are all kinds of furniture from a galvanized washbowl to an oak wardrobe, and a portable cast iron copper with removable pan to an egg cup, chairs, couches and butter dishes. Even so humble an article as brown paper is included in this wonderful catalogue.

Humble household commodities are equaly plentiful. About 4,355 tins of chicken broth are for sale, together with pork and beans, maplemeat and half pound packets of fruitarian cake.

Still Useful as Fighters.

The obsolete warships for sale are battleships Jupiter and Exmouth both of which craft played their part in the anti-submarine patrol in the great war. As the Ministry of Munitions tactfully suggests, failing purchase for some private little war or other they might prove very useful for scrapping or conversion.

With the battleships are offered the British submarines A-4—one of the earlier class—A-6, A-12 and C-2, five tronedo boats, the destroyer Dove and the old war vessels Pembroke and Firebrand, now lying at Chatham.

Purchasing a battleship or two is not so complicated a matter as most people would imagine. After filling up a form and supplying the necessary check, the ship is the buyer's to do what he likes with.

Again, if the purchaser requires a purchase can be made either by private offer or public tender. Another item is the Biggin Hill aerodrome, complete with builders' plant and materials, including 50 carbis flares, 60 hurricane lamps, 12 stone forks, diaphrayn pumps, etc.

At the other end of the scale there are all kinds of furniture from a galvanized washbowl to an oak wardrobe, and a portable cast iron copper with removable pan to an egg cup, chairs, couches and butter dishes. Even so humble an article as brown paper is included in this wonderful catalogue.

Again, if the purchaser requires a factory complete with railway sidings it can be supplied, for there are no fewer than nineteen for sale in various parts of the country. The Ministry have a round dozen of aerodromes on their hands.

A coast guard station in Dorset, overlooking Weymouth Bay, is on offer. Then there are huts and buildings in forty-seven districts.

There are bridges, hydraulic presses all kinds of plants and machinery, steam engines, petrol tractors, about 120 different kinds of tradesmen's tools, textile goods, civilian overcoats and suits, leather goods, medical goods, furniture, etc., for sale.

FRIDAY MARCH 26TH, 1920.

THE FRANCHISE BILL.

The members for West Peterborough in the Federal House is being given credit for clause ten of the proposed Federal Franchise Act, which prohibits any organization not organized solely for political purposes from contributing to election campaign funds. One member of the Ontario Legislature indeed declares that the clause reflects Mr. Burnham's fear of the growth of the Labour and Farmer movements in his own constituency. However that may be there is no doubt that the legislation in question is a frontal attack upon the labour and agrarian parties, and it is not surprising that they are aroused to a state that closely approaches indignation. The political activities of the Labour party in particular would be handicapped if the roposed bill were to pass, inasmuch as in previous campaigns the different trade unions have contributed towards the expenses of candidates running uner the standard of the Independent Labour party. The Trades Unions of course are organized for industrial and not political purposes and under the clause to which objection is being taken it would be illegal for the unions therefore to make any contributions to a campaign fund. What the government hopes to gain by such a move is hard to understand. Any temporary advantage they might secure would be offset by the fact that tactics of this kind would be certain to more closely unite organized labour and hte farmers.

DAYLIGHT SAVING.

The situation in regard to daylight saving has been considerably cleared up by the definite announcement from the Canadian Railway Association that the Canadian railways will this year operate on standard time. The only concession that will be made to daylight saving is that in cases where municipalities and districts adopt the new time as a local measure the railways will alter their suburban service in accordance with local needs. Just what changes will be made have not yet been announced, but it may be taken for granted that the majority of trains will be operated on standard time.

The City Council now has all the evidence before it and will soon have to make a decision on the question. There has been a desire to wait until it was definitely known what policy the railways would follow. That information is now available, and there is no longer any necessity of postponing the verdict. At least two athletic associations have petitioned the council to adopt daylight saving. The case as ascertained by the manufacturers has shown a very strong sentiment in favour of the new time among the workers of the city and among those who are not employed in factories there is the same opinion on the part of the majority. The local enactment of daylight saving from May 1st until September 1st would be popular with the citizens generally, who are prepared to overlook whatever little inconvenience might be caused by the railways operating on standard time, in favour of the many benefits that would be provided by the new time. The Council should deal with the matter as soon as possible.

ABOUT BANDS.

The suggestion brought forward in the Examiner last evening that the band of the G.W.V.A. should be contested into a Citizens' Band and would receive the whole $1,000 civic appropriation has been favourably commented upon by many citizens. The feeling that the band grant should not be divided among the three present applicants for assistance is sound ground. It is realised that a three-cornered division of the grant cannot possibly produce the results from the viewpoint of good music that the citizens have the right to expect from the expenditure of $1,000 and that it is time to call a halt in this illogical system of dealing with the band question. The city owes nothing to any of the musical organizations and should deal with them on the basis that they must produce value for the money expended.

What is required is a band that can visit the parks during the summer and play a programme of standard music in a manner that will not be painful to music-lovers in the crowd. Which one of the three applicants for a band grant is the most likely to meet this requirement is the question that the Council should decide, and having come to a conclusion on that point let the whole grant go to the organization that is selected. Only in that way can any real progress be made.

HIGH COST OF GOVERNMENT.

To translate the 1920-21 estimates (tabled in Parliament Monday) into terms more easily understood by the average citizen, it is but necessary to point out that they contemplate an expenditure of approximately $75 for every man, woman and child in the country. To emphasize what this means it need only be added that this expenditure (the total is $536,000,000) is, roughly speaking, about $166,000,000 greater than our probable income. In other words, for every day of the coming fiscal year the Government will pay out approximately $475,000 more than will be received into the treasury.

Of course not all of this expenditure will be for current or running expenses. Nearly $100,000,000 is for capital account, that is to say, for expenditure upon projects, such as railways, canals, harbors and soldiers' land settlement, which are assets to be placed against liabilities. Never theless, the money, no matter what its destination, has to be found this coming year, and, unquestionably, a great deal of it will have to be borrowed. The figures, taken from the official estimates, make this plain:

Consolidated (ordinary running expenses) account	$440,000,000
Estimated Revenue	370,000,000
Deficit for the year	$ 70,000,000
Expenditure to clean up demobilization	$ 38,000,000
Capital Account Expenditure	58,000,000
Making a total to be made up by taxation and borrowing of	$116,000,000

The most noteworthy feature of these figures is that despite an acute consciousness on the Government's part of the need for ruthless economy, there has been a failure to bring the ordinary running expenses of the country within the compass of revenue. Certainly a deficit of $70,000,000 (and this pre-supposes that next year's revenue will be as good as this year's and does not take into account the supplementary estimates) is a formidable fact; and will place a powerful weapon in the hands of those who advocate heavier taxation. Nor is it a safe argument to say that another loan can be floated this coming fall. With the national debt already standing at $2,000,000,000, involving an annual fixed charge that in itself is a tremendous burden, and proposition that will add to this debt cannot be lightly accepted.

To appreciate the size of the estimates before the House, it is but necessary to compare them with the estimates of the pre-war year of 1914. The comparison is as follows:

Consolidated Expenditure	$127,000,000	$440,000,000
Capital Expenditure	37,000,000	58,000,000
Grand Total Expenditure..	$164,000,000	$498,000,000

The increase for the coming fiscal year is therefore $334,000,000 over the figures for 1914; which, no matter how considered, is a fairly salient fact.

Not that we are charging or insinuating that all has not been done that ought to have been done to cut the estimates down, for the advance is largely capable of explanation from easily ascertainable facts. Take, as an example, the public debt. Interest charges on the national debt and sinking funds in 1913-14 amounted to $14,000,000; for the coming year they are estimated at $130,000,000. Pensions in the last pre-war year totalled only $312,000; next year they will reach $27,000,000. In addition there has to be found this year $50,000,000 for soldiers land settlement and $34,000,000 for re-establishment—items unknown in the old days. So that, considering these excesses, (they account for $240,000,000 of the increase) and also the further fact that the purchasing power of the dollar has dwindled for Governments as well as for individuals, it would be unfair to charge the Ministry with extravagance.

Nevertheless, facts are facts, and the feature of the country going behind in its ordinary expenses by the gigantic amount of $70,000,000 in a single year is a formidable thing challenging prompt attention. For even admitting that everything has been done that can be done safely in the way of economy, it still becomes a question whether it would not be wiser for the country to submit itself to further taxation rather than to submit itself to increased debt.—Ottawa Journal.

J. W. FRASER
Manager Peterboro Branch

SAYS FARMERS WERE DISAPPOINTED

The policy announced by Mr. Biggs after frequent banquets and presentations of various Motor Leagues, and before the Legislature met, is disappointing to the farmers of the province at large, and to the U.F.O. as per letter herewith attached; as per resolution of stated lodge:

The County of Peterboro had hoped for better terms for County Roads, the only roads that would benefit, and assist agricultural production directly but were apprised of the fact that such was not the case, although the same is a clause in the U.F.O. platform and consistent with the expressed opinion of Hon. E. C. Drury.

Provicial highways are a luxury to be enjoyed by the wealthy motorists from the urban centres. Country roads are the feeders to the shipping stations and the shipping centres, which the greatest number of farmers use to deliver their produce for shipment, and the railways do practically all of the transferring from one point to another in Canada and export trade. 1800 miles of water macadam bonded road will cost as much in 20 years as a concrete road when you consider the cost of maintenance. Millions of money expended for luxury that should be expended on busiess roads is not conducive to the improvement of the agricultural industry, and makes those country roads a burden to the farmer, or otherwise they will be neglected.

Over 40c of every dollar used from the provincial or dominion treasury is the heritage of the farmers.

The farmer not only contributes 20, 30 and 40 per cent. direct to provincial county roads but he contributes over 40 per cent. indirect out of the public treasury. Than he must contribute 60 per cent. direct to the county roads that are absolutely essential and beneficial in assisting in agricultural production that is world wide short.

True, representative farmers accompanied a deputation to Toronto to ask for a provincial highway from Port Hope to the Kawartha Lakes, inspired with the idea that if money was being expended for luxuries west this part of the province wanted its share of such expenditure, although it is an injudicious expenditure.

If the province absorbs the auto licences then the province should bear 70 per cent. of county roads and cut out trunk roads that are a luxury and on a par with the upkeep of Government House in Queen's Park, Toronto.

Thanking you for your valuable space, I remain, yours,

ED. M. ELLIOTT.

"Minister of Public Works:

"We, the Waubuno Farmers' Club, Branch 801 U.F.O., assembled, desire to draw your attention to the editorial which appeared in the campaign supplment of the Farmers' Sun issued. Oct. 8, 1919, under the heading "Findlay Loves Liberals Now." And furthermore wish to inform you that in our opinion you appear to be following in Findlay's foot steps, the only apparent difference being that you are endeavoring to spread the system out so that nearly all the constituencies will have a portion of the provincial highways within its borders.

"If you must build these highways which are nearly all running parallel with railroads and are a distinct bid for tourist traffic, please do not try to camouflage them to make the public believe they are to assist the farmers to market their produce.

"We also believe your policy is not in keeping with the economy plank of the U.F.O. platform, which Mr. Drury appears to be trying to carry out."

SANDRA THE JEALOUS

BY JANE PHELPS

OPTIMISTIC YOUTH.

CHAPTER LXXXI

On the train I spoke of Mother's visit to us, and thanked Everett for inviting her and Dad.

"You do not need to thank me, Dear. Your Father and Mother will always be welcome in our home. The reason I did not wish them to come before, you know—I did not want you to appear to a disadvantage; neither did I want them to get the idea that you were an abused wife because I couldn't let you do as you pleased in all things. Your Mother was not keen that I should marry you—because of my age, so near her own. I felt sure I could make you happy if I had time. I may fail, but you have learned to handle yourself better, and shall not longer be denied the pleasure of entertaining your own people when you wish.'

"Thank you, Everett. May I have Buster and Toodles too, some time?"

"Of counre you may! Any time you like. They are great boys, both of them. I shall enjoy having them. Don't ask them during their school term. They are at an age when it is quite necessary their school routine should not be interrupted. But ask them in vacation."

"That will be nice. I am so glad you like them."

"No one could help liking the little beggars," which was great praise from Everett.

Youth would not so often be disappointed if youth were not so optimistic. Because Everett had been kind, because he had appeared to good advantage in my home, because he had shown me attention, I built air castles of what he would do when we reached our own home again—air castles that crumbled before we had ben home an hour.

He did not go up to the house with me, but stopped at the office to 'look over themail.' I asked to be allowed to wait, but he told me impatiently:

"Drive on home, Sandra—I may be some time."

"You will be home for dinner?"

"Yes."

He was only a litle late, but as far as I was concerned he might as well have remained down town. I saw him, I heard him speak when he wished something, but as far as his knowing or caring about me—as far as his being company for me—I might as well have been looking at a picture of him placed in a chair at the foot of the table; or talking with him over the long distance telephone where the service was so bad I had to wait an unconscionable time for an answer.

I asked him if he found everything at the office all right. He made no reply. Added to the hurt of being ignored was the hurt that he never confided in me in any way, that as far as his affairs went, we were strangers. He had that firm, determined look on his face all thru dinner that used to frighten me to speak, but which now made me feel so shut out.

"Go to bed early. You look tired." he remarked as he rose from the table.

"Are you going out" a cold hand seemed to clutch my heart as I asked the question. Was he leaving me to hurry to Irma Barton?

"Yes," shortly. "I may be late." He kissed me lightly, as if it made no difference whether he kissed or not, I thought bitterly as the front door closed and I stumbled up stairs scarcely able to see for my tears.

"Oh, Everett," I said aloud when I reached my room, 'I' keep thinking you are going to be different, and you never are. You just act as if you cared a little, then as if you didn't care at all."

It was as I have said. The optimism engendered by his occasional show of affection, made harder the times like this when he seemed cold, hrd, and unthoughtful of me.

I had been so pleased at our welcome. All the servants, as well as Mrs. Gray, had seemed so pleased to see me. I felt they must like me to be so glad to have me back. The dinner, too, had been an extra effort on Mrs. Gray's part and cook had carried out her instructions faithfully. Had Everett only remained at home with me, reading or smoking, I would have been perfectly happy. As it was, I was perfectly miserable.

To-morrow—Sandra is Impressed.

MILLBROOK CORRESPONDENCE

MILLBROOK March 25—The second annual banquet of the Millbrook Curling Club was held in the Waverley Parlours, and was a very pleasant event indeed. On entering the dining room the first thing that caught the eye was the very pretty arrangement and decorations of the tables. Bouquets of fresh flowers with enough intermingling of the Shamrock to remind one that it was St. Patrick's Day.

About forty members of the Club sat down to a meal that could be supplied and served in Mrs. Sayles' own incomparable way. After all had been thoroughly satisfied, Mr. R. H. Edmunds, the President of the Club, and toastmaster, for the occasion, called all to order and asked them to join him in proposing the "toast to the King". This was responded to by the singing of the National Anthem In reply to the several toasts very interesting speaches were made by the following: Rev. S. T. Tucker, S. R. Atkinson, Secretary, S. S. Smith, R. J. Dosk, J. N. McGill, G. W. Sayles, W. G. Wood and P. Stinson.

Mr. Wood at the conclusion of his remarks moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. H. B. Allen, who had so kindly donated the beautiful silver cup for the inter rink competition. This was seconded by Mr. Atkinson and carried unanimously by all jumping to their feet and singing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow", followed by three cheers and a tiger.

Mr. Allen replied in a few well chosen words wishing the Club many years of prosperity in which to compete for the cup.

Rev. Mr. Tucker moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Sayles for her very kind hospitality in entertaining the Club, which was ably seconded by M. J. Steele. This brought forth the most demonstrative response of the evening and was carried by everybody singing most heartily. "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow." Mr. Sayles replied on behalf of Mrs. Sayles, expressing the very great pleasure it gave them to have the Club with them and hoped they might be able to entertain them on many similar occasions.

Expressions of appreciation of the Banquet were heard on every side and there is no doubt that having become so well established, the curlers will look forward to this as one of the annual events in the history of the Club.

The Club's finances are also very satisfactory, there being nearly one hundred dollars surplus.

Miss E. G. Wallace of Whitby Ladies College, was a guest of the Misses Dean last week.

Mr. Wm. Dixon was a visitor to Peterboro on Tuesday.

A NOTABLE BRIDGE

Born at Houston in 1839, Sir William Arrol began to earn his living at the age of nine in a Johnstone cotton mill. Five years later he was apprenticed to a Paisley blacksmith, and when a journeyman he saw a great deal of England and Scotland. In West Scotland he found himself foreman in the boiler works of Laidlaw & Sons at the age of 24, and ere he attained 30, he had laid the foundation of his world-famous works at Bridgeton and set up as a bridge builder. The Caledonian Railway bridge at Bothwell was his first important contract, in the construction of which he put into execution several original ideas. Even more important was the contract for the same Company's bridge over the Clyde at the Broomielaw his mechanical driller and hydraulic rivetter proving invaluable. Soon he became the foremost bridge builder of his time. The collapse of the Tay bridge with heavy loss of life, gave him an unique opportunity to replace the first frail structure with one which would stand the stoutest blasts. Hard on its completion came the more gigantic task of bridging the Forth, the completion of which entitled it to rank as one of the wonders of the world. It was at the opening of the latter on March 4, 1890, that King Edward, then Prince of Wales, announced that the builder was to be knighted. Another triumph, in which also great engineering difficulties were met and overcome, was the erection of the great Tower Bridge across the Thames. He then received orders which in the aggregate represented five years 'work, one order being for the caissons in connection with the naval dockyard at Rosyth, and the other for a large bridge across the river Trent. Sir William was disinclined to enter public life, but in 1895 he stood for South Ayrshire as a Unionist, and immediately gained the esteem of the House. He was married three times. On the date of his second marriage an important division was taken in the Commons, and Sir William travelled from Scotland with his bride, and went to Westminster and voted. His fellow-Unionists marked his devotion to duty by presenting him with a handsome piece of silver plate. Though having no claim to scholarship, he was honoured by the Universities with the degrees of L.L.D. and D.C.L., and was also elected F.R.S.E. He died at Ayr aged 74, on February 20, 1913.

LITTLE ARTHUR WILL EXPLAIN

MINISTER OF INTERIOR TO MAKE A STATEMENT ON THE FRANCHISE BILL.

OTTAWA, March 26.—Hon. Arthur Meighen, the Minister of the Interior, will make a statement in the House this afternoon on the disqualifying clauses of the franchise bill now being discussed on the second reading.

Criticism of the clauses particularly in their relationship to naturalized aliens, was based largely on mininterpretation of the intent of the sections, it is asserted in official circles. The main purport of the clauses, if is learned, is to provide that a woman not a British subject, who comes to Canada from some part of Europe, and married a Canadian, will not be entitled to vote unless she has same residential and other qualifications as her husband. Were the clause not in the bill, it is asserted, women coming from an alien country, might only be in Canada a few weeks before she was married and become entitled to enfranchise. It was to avoid such a condition that the clauses were reinserted.

There is talk of an amendment to the bill coming from the Liberal benches and it is indicated this morning that the vote on the amendment may be reached before the adjournment to-night.

MRS. DUNCAN WALKER ON THE PROV. CHAPTER

REPRESENTS THE I.O.D.E. CHAPTERS OF THIS DISTRICT.

The regular monthly meeting of the 57th Regiment Chapter I.O.D.E., was held in the Armouries on Thursday afternoon, the Regent in the chair. Much applause greeted the announcement that Mrs. Duncan Walker had been elected a councillor on the Provincial Chapter Executive to represent the Chapters of this district. Mrs. Jamieson and Mrs. Frederic were appointed to represent the Chapter in the work of secondary education of children of deceased or totally disabled men of all forces. The knitting committee asked that those having socks or wool of the 57th Chapter would please give them to either Mrs. J. S. Sharpe or Mrs. Cottrell.

It was decided that the entertainment the Chapter is giving on Thursday April 8th., should take the form of a bridge and tea in the afternoon and cards and dancing at night.

Mrs. Kenner read a most interesting and instructive paper on citizenship which was greatly appreciated The meeting then adjourned and tea was served. Every one was delighted that henceforth the meetings would be held in the Armouries.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Sir,—I have been very much interested over the band question that has been before the public for some time. I notice by the paper to-night that music-loving citizens want good music. Well, I don't know what you call good music, but I think that the 57th Band has done good service. They were here before the 93rd Band or the 59th Band were ever thought of, but I look at this this way: The 57th Band will be here when the G. W. V. Band will have passed to the Great Beyond; and then the 57th will have to carry on. I don't think that we should throw any cold water on the 57th Band. Boost them along and help them to get organised for the summer parades. Now, I think also that there are only a few G. W. V. that seem to do all the talk, and also the blowing; but the fellows that stood the brunt of the day are saying nothing, and are getting tired of it. I look at it from a sensible point of view. The Veterans are here to-day, but a few years from now where will the Veterans' Band be? We as citizens have the best regards for the Veterans. They did their bit, but I don't think that because they are Veterans or G. W. V.'s that they should get everything. There are others that are learning to play that are not G. W. V., and it would not look well for them to go and join up with the G. W. V. Band, which, to my way of thinking, they have no right to do. I would like to see a vote from the ratepayers to ascertain which way the grant should go. I certainly favour Ald. Crowe's views. He is about the only alderman that seems to stand for equal rights to all. We all know a few years ago how the people used to go to Victoria Park to hear the old 57th Band play. I think now the war is over, why not let the people forget about it. I think it would be much nicer to go and hear the 57th Band or an amalgamation of the two bands.

I think I have said enough on this subject. Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for so much space.—Yours.

Lover of Music.

THE HOME CIRCLE COLUMN

Every family boasts its superiors and inferiors and more often than not the family is mistaken. Families are queer things in the judgment of its members; they seem to find it impossible to judge impartially as they would judge outsiders. How often you hear something like this: "Isn't it strange the way the Camerns humor that youngest child of theirs. They talk as though he were a wonder and he hasn't half the brains of his older brother." Yet probably their own darling Sarah, or Anne, or whatever is mother's and father's favorite because she has never given them one moment of trouble. Probably the poor child hasn't enough brains to start any trouble. To be misunderstood by one's family is rather a common complaint of youngsters. It is often very laughable, but it is some times quite unhappily true.

"Swear words are not for young ears, yet those are the ears that are most frequently polluted by them. A little child loves swear words as soon as he hears them because their different sound attracts him as any new thing does. It doesn't take him long to see that a swear word, though wrong, isn't in the same class with "ain't" and "hain't." And, of course, the more opposition he encounters, the better he likes the word.

One night a little boy started to say his prayers and he addressed God as "Mr. Damit." Why do you call him that, dear?" asked his mother. "Why," replied the son, "Papa always call Him God damit, so I think it might sound more 'spectful if I called him Mr. Damit."

That story was told me as true by someone who thought it funny, but if it has a funny side to it that side escaped me. It seems to me a most pathetic thing that a child never hears his Creator's name on his father's lips except as a curse.

Youth is always eager to take a chance, and after defeat, plunges right over again with the same sublime confidence. Unfortunately for the encouragement of the gambling tendency, luck is usually on their side. The time to swear off is in youth before the practice of gambling becomes inveterate, and it is not too late for the stimulation of new interests. Young people always have so much confidence in their own judgment. That is why they are such ready prey for the professional gambler. And the better their judgment in other matters the more desperate their chances at the gaming table, for, though they never find it out until it is too late, there is no such thing as betting on a sure thing.

Children should be encouraged to appear in public while they are still young enough to realize that there are others in the world more important than themselves The performance may cause them to suffer nervous tremors a supernatural raising of the hair, and a hang rope sensation of the Adam's apple, but they will come out of it feeling better. Of course this does not apply to children suffering from some constitutional weakness. But the sight of the strange faces, the unnatural appearance of familiar objects tend to bring out the latent courage and reserve force of the small personality. It fosters confidence in their own ability which is a big step toward a growing poise. This confidence often seems to be fuel for the fire at the "smarty" age of childhood, but that in turn is outgrown.

Everyone has seen the overgrown high school boy who is forced for the first time to appear publicly and mouth the words of a great statesman like so much mush His brain, tongue and legs, all refuse to function. He is a more pitiful sight than the digustingly smart child. And there usually comes a time in every one's life when he is terrified or painfully humiliated, and then he would give his life for the possession of a surface manner of composure.

It is a shame that some dispositions, as vari-colored as Joseph's coat, cannot be buried in a pit forever instead of being worn out on a long-suffering family. First the coat is worn breezily open, denoting a fatuous kindness towards all as long as they remain unoffending. Then a slight cloud appears on the horizon, and the buttons are strained almost right off in unrighteous indignation. Or if the atmosphere is threatenig, the garment is wrapped in a double breasted manner that allows no stray opinion to get out on the wrong side of the fence. Again, the coat is snugly arranged, every fold in place for a public display. This garment withstands the wear and tear of seasons successfully, but the only person it can serve is the owner. His fellow sufferers are wild with envy—not to possess the coat, but to destroy it.

Some people absorb and diffuse knowledge much as a doll does stuffing It seems to stick out all over in little humpy places that you are always running in. Or, apparently very smooth on the surface, it suddenly scratches you unexpectedly. Other people give an impression of having bitten off more than they can chew, which has lodged part way down, painfully in sight, like the food of an ostrich swallowing in a hurry. That is, such over informed individuals are always annoying you with very ordinary things which they tell in a most extraordinary manner. There are few people, really well informed, who know how to assimilate their knowledge and to contain it quietly until it is needed.

ICE PRICE CUT IN NEWARK

Mayor Gets Promise of Reduction of $3 a Ton Wholesale.

NEWARK, March 24.—Mayor Gillen of Newark announced that wholesale ice dealers had promised him that the price of ice this Summer would be $5 a ton, as compared to $8 last Summer. He says he hoped to obtain a promise from retailers that the price to the public will be about 50 cents a hundred, instead of 80 cents, last Summer's figure.

More manufacturers will be in the business this Summer and the price will be affected by the closing of saloons by prohibition, thus increasing the supply for housewives.

TURN HOUSES UPSIDE DOWN.

Two Daring Robberies at Woodbridge—Ransack Houses.

WOODBRIDGE, March 25.—Two robberies have occurred here in the past week. Charles Allen returned home last night to find his house had been broken into and ransacked, articles having been taken from every room.

A few days ago W. O. Duncan and his wife had a similar experience on returning to their home after a few hours' absence. The house was in a state of utter disorder, furniture having been overturned and clothes thrown about. The robbers took away jewellery, a fur coat, $250 in Victory Bonds and other valuables

PROVINCE RETAINS FUEL ADMINISTRATION

UNDER CONTROL OF ONTARIO GOVERNMENT—DOMINION BODY DISINTEGRATING.

Special to The Examiner.

TORINTO, March 26. — The Ontario Branch of the Dominion Fuel Administration has been re-established on a provincial basis, H. A. Harrington remaining administrator, but being directly under the control of the provincial Government, Premier Drury announced to-day.

The way was paved for this change by an act passed by the Legislature last year which provided for the re-establishment of a provincial Fuel Administration by order-in-council.

This order was passed by the cabinet last week the Prime Minister stated.

Mr. Harrington's duties and authority will remain unchanged. The action is regarded as a preliminary to the winding up of the Dominion Fuel Administration, it being believed that the matter will in future be left to the various provinces.

LENIN WOULD BE HEAD OF RED EUROPE

ASPIRES TO BECOME CHIEF OF COMMUNIST ORGANIZATION COVERING THE CONTINENT

WARSAW—An expert report submitted to the American and British representatives in Warsaw says that Nikolai Lenin, the Russian Bolshevist Premier has personal aspirations soon to become the head of a continental communistic state, and that owing to these hopes he is seriously endeavoring to bring order throughout Russia, establish peace with Poland and eventually create credits abroad for Russia.

The report describes Russia as being without wheat or flax for export, saying the peasants have disposed of all the stocks they had hidden from the Bolsheviki. The mills are not operating and the peasants are spinning only enough for their clothing, raising jus enough flax for their own use.

The report says that even if stocks for export existed, shipment of them would be impossible because of the lack of rail and water transportation. The efficiency of the canal system, which before the war was one of Russia's chief means of transportation, has so diminished that the canals now are carrying less than the railroads.

One reason why factory production in Russia is at its lowest ebb, according to the report, is because there are no shipments of cotton from Turkestan and because of the general desertion of workers from all kinds of plants, owing to the refusal of the peasants to send food to the cities. As a consequence, the state of hunger among the poorer classes in the cities is worse than ever. The wealthy people, however, are able to buy food, the report says. Mining in the south of Russia has ceased, the shafts and galleries having been neglected since the war began.

The report concludes by saying that the statements of the Bolsheviki to the outside world are designed to deceive.

Comparing his own observations with the statements of the Bolsheviki, the expert who compiled the report estimates that the Bolshevist declarations contain twenty-five per cent. of truth.

PAINS SO BAD STAYED IN BED

Young Mrs. Beecroft Had Miserable Time Until She Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Hamilton, Ont.—"I have suffered for three years from a female trouble and consequent weakness, pain and irregularity which kept me in bed four or five days each month. I nearly went crazy with pains in my back, and for about a week at a time I could not do my work. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the Hamilton Spectator and I took it. Now I have no pain and am quite regular unless I overwork or stay on my feet from early morning until late at night. I keep house and do all my own work without any trouble. I have recommended the Compound to several friends."—Mrs. EMILY BEECROFT, 209 Victoria Ave. N., Hamilton, Ontario.

For forty years women have been telling how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored their health when suffering with female ills. This accounts for the enormous demand for it from coast to coast. If you are troubled with any ailment peculiar to women—why don't you try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? It is made from native roots and herbs and contains no narcotics or harmful drugs.

For special advice women are asked to write the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of forty years experience is at your service.

MUSIC IN THE HOME

MUSIC TEACHER REQUIRES GOOD EDUCATION

To be efficient, musicians must move—keep up: and the effort to keep up seems to generate strength to continue. The old order is changing. Reform of musical conditions—especially with regard to teaching—is in the air. We note the passing of the music teacher who teaches a piece of music that some one taught him, and who teaches it in the same way. Instead we have men and women who are educated in the real sense of the word, who, in addition to knowing about music, have studied pedagogy and psychology and other more or less related subjects. It is now the rule rather than the exception to find musicians well educated in a general way. This tends to give them a broader outlook and a more comprehensive grasp of affairs, enabling them to fill a real place in the community and to be factors in the various activities of the day. A good general education helps one to think for himself, render one more alert to recognize and to cope with the many problems that arise daily in one's work. But this must be in addition to the specific education, and cannot take the place of it. The man with the musical training alone is poorly equipped. He will be at best an imitator, and not able to work independently. It is very difficult, in fact almost impossible, to do or say something that has never been said or done before. But it is quite possible to develop initiative, and to think for ourselves if there has been due preparation, and if we keep bright by continual study and close observation and deep thought.

LOVE THE MUSIC THAT PLEASES YOU

It stands to reason that, as in religion, so in music, each man espouses the kind that will best suit his needs. Just as one invalid takes the medicine that will help him individually—not that which will help his neighbor. Why should we do any differently in choosing our music? It, too, is medicine—medicine to the soul. And no one should grudge another the music that appeals to him, even if it seems of a lower grade than what he himself likes.

There is no disgrace in avowing a "hankering" for a gay little street melody. The real dishonor is in saying you do not like it, if you do. Be independent musically. Because a "high brow" friend is "just crazy" over some composer, is that any reason why you should follow at his coat tails like a woolly lamb, and declare a corresponding "craze?"

Do not allow yourself to be standardized by other people's tastes. Come out boldly and say what pleases you. Can't in music is abominable—as bad as can't in religion. Let us be sincere and refuse to be forced in to saying what we do not think, merely to keep some people from raising their eyebrows at us.

MUSIC IS PRIMEVAL.

Music, with all its inspiration, seems as necessary to some aspects of our spiritual growth as is good to our physical sustenance. Music is primeval. Its rhythm is analogous to the heartbeat, the flow of the tides, the movement of the spheres. It makes its appeal by way of self expression and is one of the most wonderful ways of our communicating one with another. It strikes at the very root of our being in a more powerful way than does any other art. No other art tells us so much of ourselves, nor lends itself to the manifestation of so many distinct emotions. Poetry may be closely alied as being rhythmic and fanciful, finding its way in word picture as against tone pictures in music, but its sway holds us in lesser grip than that of music at its highest rapture of enthrallment. What has quickened the patriotic pulse more than hearing massed bands play some martial strain? Or what can stimulate rest in the tired mind more than listening to the purity of harmony as given out by some fine string choir? Music has been balm to the sick, comfort to the sorrow laden, worship to the church, and has ever been enchanting in love and entrancing in the dance.

PROHIBITION AND MUSIC.

The Washington Herald recently had quite a dissertation on the effect of national prohibition on music. The opinion of the editorial writer was that prohibition would have a beneficial effect in certain ways. It will give an impetus to music.

"This impetus," says the Herald, "will reflect itself in a greater patronage of the concert stage, more pupils for the music-teacher, in the larger sale of musical instruments and more employment to professional musicians.

"It is not just for the reason that people will have more money to spend for music and music-making devices, but it is, in fact, that those of us who used to use alcoholic beverages in one form or another to get away from the material of our everyday life, are going to use music to a degree for the same purpose.

"A musical authority prophesies that next year will find twenty-five piece orchestras in many of the big hotels where but eight or ten are now employed. Many of the big cities now have symphony orchestras of their own that had not before. Music is one means by which we can forget the material, for a time at least, but without intoxication in liquor."

MUST PREPAY TO CANADA

Exchange Rates Forces New Ruling by Express Company.

NEW YORK, March 25-The American Railway Express Company announced yesterday that after April 15 it would be necessary to prepay charges on all shipments to Canada. The announcement continues:

"This action which is in line with that taken by the railroads some time ago, has been made necessary because of the heavy rate of exchange, which makes the Canadian dollar worth only 86 cents in United States money. The tariff rates from the express offices in the United States to those in Canada have always been calculated in the currency of this country. The express company has found that it loses 14 cents on every dollar of express charges when collection is made in Canadian funds."

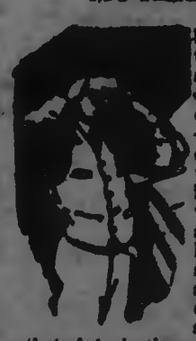
ANOTHER MIX-UP IN CONVICTS' BODIES.

KINGSTON, March 19—The Whig this afternoon contains an article entitled, "Where is the body of Finley Stoneham?" It seems that Stoneham died in the Provincial Penitentiary on the 23rd of February. The prison officials wired his relatives at Gravenhurst, Ont., asking if they wanted the body. Deceased's father wired back to send the body on. The remains reached Gravenhurst on 25th February.

Writing from Gravenhurst, the father, A. J. Stoneham, said that the body was not that of his son, who had light red hair and marks on his body, which the body sent did not have. The body sent, he says, was of dark complexion, black hair, black moustache, a large head, and not as tall as Finley Stoneham. The body was refused and the charges are unpaid.

The Whig says: "In view of the fact that this incident has aroused so much public attention is it not time that the Government discontinued its policy of inaction and make permanent appointments to the positions of Warden, Deputy Warden, Surgeon, and Chief Keeper at the Provincial Penitentiary?"

MY HEAD!



When the head feels thick or aches, when one feels all out-of-sorts—perhaps a coated tongue—it is the signal that poisons are accumulating in the system, and should be cleaned out at once.

Auto-intoxication can be best ascribed to our own neglect or carelessness. When the organs fail in the discharge of their duties, the putrefactive germs set in and generate toxine—actual poisons, which fill one's own body.

Sleepiness after meals, flushing of the face, extreme lassitude, biliousness, dizziness, sick headache, acidity of the stomach, heartburn, offensive breath, anemia, loss of weight and muscular power, decrease of vitality or lowering of resistance to infectious diseases, disturbance of the eye, dyspepsia, indigestion, gastritis, many forms of catarrh, asthma, ear affections and allied ailments result from auto-intoxication or self-poisoning.

Take castor oil, or procure at the drug store, a pleasant, vegetable laxative, called Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, composed of May-apple, aloes and jalap.

Cinnaform Pastilles

heal sore throats, quinsy and tonsilitis—break up coughs and colds—because they destroy disease germs finding lodgment in the throat.

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED

ART EXHIBIT WAS A BIG SUCCESS

EXHIBITION WILL CONTINUE THIS EVENING AND TO-MORROW.

A large representation of the city's four hundred attended the exhibition of etchings by famous Canadian painters held to-day and on Thursday in the Conservatory of Music and the keenest interest was evinced by all who grasped the opportunity of seeing such a splendid collection of portraits and landscapes. The collection included pictures from such master hands as H. Rosenberg, Major E. Fosbery, Ivor Lewis, Charles Jeffreys and Dorothy Stevens. One striking feature of the exhibition was the collection of war pictures depicting scenes at the front. The setting for the exhibition was particularly happy, the new art rooms being especially adapted to such events, while a cheerful grate fire lent an air of hominess which proved a great attraction.

Time Extended.

At the urgent request of several art lovers the Woman's Art Association, under whose auspices the exhibition was held, will continue the exhibition this evening and to-morrow. The extension of time was made in order to let all who are intereated in art see the unusually fine collection of pictures.

DIVORCE BILL IN THE HOUSE

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, March 25.—During the course of his speech on the Divorce Bill, which passed its second reading yesterday in the House of Lords, the Lord Chancellor Birkenhead said that thousands of women had been married by overseas soldiers and then deserted.

This assertion drew from the Archbishop of Canterbury, who opposed the Bill, the opinion that a perfectly undeserved stain had been cast upon the Colonials.

The Archbishop said that the allegation was unsupported by any evidence. He stated that the number of desertions by Canadians was two hundred out of four hundred thousand troops.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

HIS OFFICIAL FIANCE

Recast pictorially, Bertha Ruck's novel "His Official Fiance" proved one of the most charming picture plays seen at the Grand in a long time and was attended last evening by a good house. Vivian Martin, who played the title role ,made a charming an vivacious heroine and lost none of the splendid opportunities lent by the story to display her keen grasp of all situations. The story of the play is known practically by all and is of a young man, "Still" Waters who, in order to avoid complications with a business associate who wishes him to marry his daughter persuades his pretty stenographer to act the part of his fiance for six months. This she does so convincingly that his own family cause her some embarassing moments with their plans for her future under which she writhes but keeps to her purpose and sees the deception through. The picture, after causing many anxious moments to the audience as to the happy ending ends satisfactorily by the stenographer consenting to marry Waters. A couple of splendid comedies augment the programme, also an interesting picture of Belgium as she is to-day, freed from "frightfulness."

World Happenings

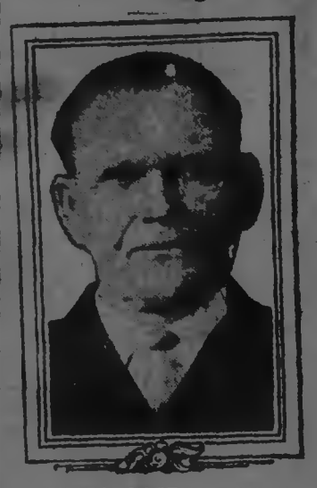
Illinois Man Feels Many Years Younger Since Taking Tanlac



CHARLES STENSTROM,

Well-Known Peoria, Ill., Contractor.

"I feel thirty years younger since I got hold of Tanlac, and if it was necessary I could handle a shovel and turn as much dirt as any of my men," said Charles Stenstrom, the well-known concrete and excavating contractor, living at 607 Fishgate Street, Peoria, Ill.

"For thirty years I have suffered all the misery that goes with stomach trouble, rheumatism, and disordered kidneys, and when I began taking Tanlac I was so bad off I was about to retire from business.

"My stomach was so badly upset that it nearly laid me up altogether and after each meal I took cramping spells that sometimes were so bad I couldn't leave the house for I was afraid I could not get back. I bloated up so with gas that I could not get a long breath. My legs pained me almost every minute of the day and when the weather was damp my arms hurt me so much it was agony for me to bend them. My kidneys were so badly out of order that I had pains all through my back and at night I was in such misery I could hardly sleep at all. Every morning my back was so stiff it was hard for me to get out of bed and during the day I couldn't think of doing my work.

"Things are different now as Tanlac has made a wonderful change in my condition. Everything I eat agrees with me perfectly. The rehumatism has almost disappeared and the pains and stiffness in m back have all gone. I sleep sound every night and I get up in the mornings feeling fine and ready for breakfast. I have given up all idea of retiring from business, as Tanlac has given me new life and strength and I am now enjoying better health than I have for many years."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd., in Havelock by A. C. Denike, in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd., in Fowler's Corners by W. A. Hunter, in Gelert by A. J. Scott, in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

It must have been pre-arranged or else it was a lucky coincidence that brought about the introduction, for they are a happy combination.

The desirable modish little Coats we speak of can be had for $29.00 and $35.00.

All-Wool Plaid Skirts that are so popular, from $23.95 to $33.75.

Skirts of the new Novelty Silk, Kumsi Kumsa, are priced from $39.75 to $43.50.

Then there are many other lower priced models of both Wool and Silk.

Volumes Could Be Written About the Silken Dresses for Afternoon Wear

Much scope is permitted in the selection of materials. For instance, you can have Taffeta, Tricolette, Charmeuse, Crepe Meteor, Georgette—plain or printed, combinations of Georgette and Taffeta and Charmeuse and Georgette. For Trimming Embroidery, Beadings, Ribbons and Puffings are skilfully employed.

The Miss or Small Woman who is in search of something in Navy Blue will find cause for enthusiasm when viewing this Taffeta and Georgette combination. The Overskirt is Georgette, with wide bandings of Taffeta, and piped with Sand-coloured Silk, and the sleeves are finished in a like manner. The price is a most reasonable one at $32.00.

The suppleness of this Navy Blue Satin lends itself admirably to the drapings of the present season. It is touched with American beauty on the Bodice and liberally used on the hip. Price $33.75.

Navy Taffeta and Georgette again play a prominent role. A wide crushed Girdle of Silk defines the waist, and a gathered frill forms its lower edge. A knife pleating finishes the round yoke. Priced at $35.00.

A New Blouse for the New Skirt

In this day of Blouses that slip-on, tie-on, tuck-in, with Peplum and Aprons, it is necessary that there be at least one smart representative of the diversity of kinds. Developed in cobwebby Georgette, Crepe Silks, and Chiffons are Blouses designed for Sports dress, for wear with a tailleur and for "in between" times. Every woman wants a well-balanced collection, and this display makes it easily possible.

Lingeries priced from $1.98 to $11.50.

Georgettes from $6.95 to $35.00.

Silks from $4.50 to $32.00.

The Hoover Electric Suction Sweeper, a Good Rug, and a Good Housekeeper, Have Much in Common

It dislodges the deeply embedded grit and straightens the nap, and with little labour the Rug or Carpet is kept clean from day to day or week to week, not from season to season, as is the case with the old method of beater and broom, when once a year it is taken out to the yard and laboriously beaten until it is only partly cleaned. You need never take a carpet from the floor if you use a Hoover on it, for "it beats as it sweeps, as it cleans." This is more than an advertising slogan—it's a fact that any Hoover Suction Sweeper will substantiate.

HUGE SALE OF MINERALS IN U.S. BRINGS EXCHANGE DOWN SHARPLY

A semi-romantic explanation of the sudden improvement in Canadian exchange is offered by insiders. The improvement is recorded in the figures quoted above. That improvement is described as sudden and marked.

The origin is also described. The description connects the sudden improvement with the American purchase of a great United States property owned by Canadians.

Just a Speculation.

A property of approximately one hundred thousand acres of Virginia timber and iron ore lands bequeathed to the widow, three daughters, and two sons of the late Hon. Peter McLaren, lumberman, of Perth, Ont. and Senator McLaren. Senator McLaren died in May, 1919. The McLaren estate was probated at about $1,000,000.

The estate consists mainly of timber holdings and other properties in Canada. The timber, coal, and iron lands in Virginia were classed as speculative properties and probated at their assessed value.

Baltimore interests are now completing or have completed negotiations for the purchase of the McLaren property in West Virginia. The authority in the negotiations is the New York office of J. Pierpont Morgan. The deal is said to be completed. The price mentioned is between $25,000,000 and $30,000,000.

Held for Many Years.

This mineral property is understood to have been acquired many years ago by the late Senator McLaren for practically a song. For many years it lay idle. When the war broke out, however, a deal was pending for its sale, which fell through. When the United States entered the war, the property came before the eye of the United States Government, which was anxious to increase coal and iron production to the limit. A price in the neighbourhood of $50,000,000 was then asked by the McLaren estate, it is understood. The deal dragged on, with intermittent negotiations, and now apparently private interests have secured it.

Estimating the purchase price at $25,000,000, the drop in exchange today, which is attributed to the heavy offerings of the United States funds concerned here in a fairly dull market, will mean a loss of almost three millions in Canadian funds to the McLaren estate as compared with the ruling rate a month ago to-day.

The Ultimate Effect.

Whether this will have any permanent effect on the exchange situation is doubtful, for it is to be remembered that Canadian funds running into the hundreds of millions are understood to have accumulated here for United States account, as a result of Canadian dollar discounts, and if a portion of these are drawn to the States, the percentage gain will soon be wiped out. The strength of sterling on the other hand, will tend to stabilise Canadian funds, though heavy local buying of sterling through New York may neutralise this to some extent.

PROLONG HUMAN LIFE 1,900 YEARS

DR. FISH TALKS ON POSSIBILITY O. LONG LIFE EXTENSION.

NEW YORK, March 25.—Cheer up. While an eminent London physician was announcing a possible cure for heart disease, Dr. Eugene L. Fisk, of the Life Extension Institute, was telling New York doctors at the Waldorf that human life might be prolonged for as much as 1,900 years.

Dr. Fisk admitted in a paper before the State Medical Society that such a thing as living 1,900 years "would be terrible," but said if the life cycle of men and women was lengthened to the proportionate extent that science has already stretched the life of the fruit fly, it was entirely possible.

The paper, "Preventive Diseases of Adult Life," declares that senility was always premature, and that "youth is a physical state and not a function of time." He pointed out that changed conditions might at any time abolish all life on the earth, however.

RAIL SERVICE IN RUSSIA IS RUINED

FEW LOCOMOTIVES IN ACTION WHILE ALL EQUIPMENT DEMORALIZED.

WARSAW, March 26.—The report of Russian technical experts to the Allied representatives at Warsaw on transportation conditions in Russia, shows that there are approximately 300 serviceable locomotives throughout the country, as compared with 16,000 before the war. Russia at the present time is building about 25 locomotives yearly, whereas before the war she built from 800 to 1,000.

The railways are from two to three per cent. efficient instead of 28 per cent. as reported to the Allies by the Bolsheviki. The rails everywhere are thoroughly worn, and no rails are being manufactured. The rail plates in many places have disappeared; the ties are rotten, and there is a great shortage of waste for cleaning and grease, so that the axle boxes, often made of wood, catch fire after a few miles. The wheel bandages are badly worn, as well as the springs, which rest on wooden blocks placed at the ends.

The Russian waterways are in an even worse state than the railways. The Ladoga canals near Petrogr the pre-war tonnage of which equalled that of the Suez Canal, are now absolutely barren of traffic. The estimated cost of restoring the railways is 2,300,000,000 gold roubles; and of waterways, 300,000000.

PRESCRIPTIONS ISSUED IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

Rye Whiskey is the Popular Influenza Cure.

(Canadian Press.)

VANCOUVER, B.C., March 26.—Three hundred and fifteen thousand liquor prescriptions were issued last year by British Columbia physicians according to the annual report of the prohibition commissioner. Rye whiskey is the popular 'flu cure. During the year, in all British Columbia, 25,000 gallons of rye were prescribed and only 9,051 of Scotch. Total sales amounted to $1,579,000 during the year. Amendments to the British Columbia Act provide that the limit of liquor prescriptions hereafter will be eight ounces, instead of two quarts as heretofore.

FINISHING UP THE SWARTZ SALE

Botnik Brothers, experienced general dry goods merchants, who take possession of these premises after Saturday, April 3rd. The closing-out sale that has had such a successful run for the past two months, will then be finished, so that there remains only eight days more for the public to buy at the closing out prices. Some of the very remarkable prices are given in the advertisement as examples of what the shopping public are promised. Read the large advertisement on another page.

KIDNAPPED BOY TELEPHONES PARENTS AND IS SUBSEQUENTLY RESCUED

United Press.

LEXINGTON, KY., March 26th. — Paul Little, aged 12, son of E. R. Little, a wealthy oil man, who was kidnapped from the Federal Building here late on Wednesday, was found by his mother in a room in the Phoenix Hotel here early to-day.

The boy was unharmed. He himself made a telephone call which resulted in his rescue. The kidnappers escaped, one of the two men who the boy said had held him a prisoner for two days, escaping down one of the elevators as the mother and a number of friends came up another elevator.

A package containing $25,000 ransom was left by the boy's father on Thursday night in a garbage can in the heart of Lexington. It was untouched and the child's parents had resigned themselves to wait for another communication from the abductors. The Little telephone rang early to-day. Mrs. Little answered. "This is Paul; I am in the Phoenix Hotel," he said. The mother did not wait for details. With her other son, Keller, 14 years old, she dashed out of the house, followed by her husband.

They hailed an automobile, and were rushed to the hotel. No one had seen the child, but inquiries at the telephone switchboard revealed the room from which the telephone message was sent.

The boy said that he had been held in the room ever since he left the Lexington post office with one of the kidnappers on Wednesday. A large part of the time he said he had been locked in the bath room. Paul said he was guarded by two men.

SHOULDER FRACTURED WHEN CUTTER UPSET

WARSAW WOMAN HURT ON WAY TO CHURCH—HORSES DROWNED AT BUCKHORN.

(Special to The Examiner.)

WARSAW, March 25.— Mrs. Patrick Fitzpatrick met with a painful accident while going to church last Sunday morning. Vehicles have had to go any place but on the road and s one especially bad place, going fr the ditch road to the road proper, th cutter upset and Mrs. Fitzpatrick was thrown out, receiving a fractured shoulder. Just at this place there are many quite large sharp-edged stones. The boy who was with her was thrown out also, but unhurt. Others going over the same place have had hard work to keep their cutters from overturning.

Mr. Choate went to Peterborough with his motor on Tuesday and brought out a load.

Horses Drowned.

Mr. David Miller received word that his two nephews, Messrs. Percy and Stewart Cullen, while crossing Buckhorn Lake Tuesday of last week, broke through the ice. With much difficulty they got the horses out, but they were so exhausted they died right there. The young men were none the worse for their soaking in the icy water.

L.O.L. NO. 50 HAD RECORD ATTENDANCE

12TH ANNIVERSARY WAS OBSERVED LAST EVENING.

In Victoria Hall on Thursday evening, March 25, L.O.L. No. 50 held their 12th anniversary with a record atendance. Many ladies and visiting brethren were present. Speeches were delivered by Bro. H. A. Fish of Toronto, also the County Master and Past County Masters. A splendid instrumental programme was thoroughly enjoyed, after which supper and games were arranged. This completed the happy evening.

SHORT OF BREATH

Could Hardly Walk Without Resting

When you go to a physician to be examined for any heart trouble one of the first questions he asks is: "Are you short of breath?"

Now, when the heart becomes affected there ensues a feeling of a choking sensation, a shortness of breath, palpitation, throbbing, irregular beating, smothering sensation, dizziness and a weak, sinking, allgone feeling of oppression and anxiety.

On the first sign of the heart becoming weakened or the nerves unstrung Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are just the remedy you require. They regulate and stimulate the heart and strengthen and restore the whole nerve system.

Mr. Stephen Crouse, East Clifford, N.S., writes:—"I suffered for five years with heart trouble. I could hardly walk from the house to the barn without resting as I used to get so short of breath. Doctors could not help me. My wife told me to get a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and I felt better after taking them; three boxes made me quite well. I am now helping my son to work the farm, and can truthfully say I feel like a different man."

Price 50c. a box at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

MINE TO BE OPERATED ON A LARGER SCALE

(Canadian Press.)

THE PAS, Man., March 26—The Flin-Flon mine is under option, and sum of $200,000, and more if necessary, is to be expended upon the property, starting at once, according to The Pas Herald, which says that the owners are W. B. Thompson, of New York, and the Mining Corporation of Canada. Two shafts will be sunk, for which machinery has been purchased, and the whole Mandy mine equipment taken over. Work is already proceeding with the dismantling of the Mandy and numerous freight teams are busy on the trail from The Pas with tons of supplies The engineering work is in the hands of the Longyear company of Minneapolis, and William Koerner of New York, is the manager. Some 60 miners will be brought in to begin operations, and this force will be increased as required. The program of development is stated to consist of shaft-sinking and drifting along the ore-body.

It will probably take six months to thoroughly explore underground ore body and map out the scheme of production. When this is accomplished it is expected that a request will be made upon the government to construct a railway from The Pas. It is believed that the request will embody a wish that the line start right at The Pas, and not at Mile 42, as at present indicated.

THIN, NERVOUS PEOPLE NEED BITRO-PHOSPHATE

Weak, thin people—men or women—are nearly always nervous wrecks; thus conclusively proving that thinness, weakness, debility and neurasthenia are almost invariably due to nerve starvation. Feed your nerves and all these symptoms due to nerve starvation will disappear.

Eminent specialists state that one of the best things for the nerves is an organic phosphate known among druggists as Bitro-Phosphate, a five grain tablet of which should be taken with each meal. Being a genuine nerve builder and not a stimulant or habit forming drug, Bitro-Phosphate can be safely taken by the weakest and most delicate sufferer, and the results following its use are often simply astonishing.

By strengthening the nerves, weak red people regain energy and vigor, thinness and angularity give way to plumpness and curves; sleep returns to the sleepless; confidence and cheerfulness replace debility and gloom; dull eyes become bright, and pale, sunken cheeks regain the pink glow of health.

CAUTION.— Bitro-Phosphate, the use of which is inexpensive, also wonderfully promotes the assimilation of food, so much so, that many people report marked gains of weight in a few weeks. Those taking it who do not desire to put on flesh, should use extra care in avoiding fat-producing foods.

MILLBROOK FIRM CEASES TO EXIST

MILLBROOK, March 26.—One of the oldest business concerns in Millbrook ceases to exist after April 1st, when Messrs. Geo. and Stanley Carveth go out of the butchering and retire to their farms west of the village, where they will farm some and deal in stock more no doubt. Forty-seven years ago Mr. Wm. Carveth came to Millbrook from Port Hope and purchased the butcher business from the late Mr. Matthews, the father of the founders of the great Matthers Packing House. The new firm Messrs. Thorne and Yake came from Stouffville.

BUFFALO KILLED TO SAVE THE FEED

Thirty Heads Sent to Edmonton to be Mounted.

(Canadian Press.)

EDMONTON, Alta., March 26 — About thirty heads of buffalo, late members of the big national zoo colonies at Wainwright and Elk Island parks, have come to Edmonton for mounting this winter. A despatch from Montreal a few days ago stated that the government had ordered the killing off of a considerable part of the herds at both parks on account of the shortage of feed, and that the skins were being included in the fur sales in that city. This can not be verified here but the usual amount of slaughtering has been done this winter, and the thirty heads sent here for mounting are the result.

Harmless Means of Reducing Fat

Many fat people fear ordinary means for reducing their weight. Here is an extraordinary method. Extraordinary because while perfectly harmless no dieting or exercise are necessary. Marmola Prescription Tablets are made exactly in accordance with the famous Marmola Prescription. A reduction of two, three or four pounds a week is the rule. Procure them from any druggist, or if you prefer send $1 to the Marmola Company, 884 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich., for a large case.

MAPLE SYRUP COSTLY.

KINGSTON, March 26.—Farmers asked $5.00 per gallon for their first offering of maple syrup on the market here, but the housewives put a boycott on syrup, with the result that in an hour's time the price was dropped to $4.00. Even at this figure the sales were far from being heavy.

Several machines are now being constructed in Seattle and early next month the first one will fly to Stewart. In may the other two contracted for will leave. They will have a carrying power of 1,200 pounds, and a sped of ninety miles an hour.

VALUABLE BADGE

The most costly badge of office in England is worn by the Lord Mayor of London. It contains diamonds to the value of £121,000, and each holder of it during his term of office is called upon to enter into a bond for its safe custody before he is sworn in and thus becomes entitled to its possession.

The flat back is recognized as extremely fashionable.

About two hundred invitations (with miniature aprons enclosed) have been issued as follows:

This apron small we send to you,
And this is what you're asked to do;
Measure with care around your waist
You know large waists are in good taste,
When for each inch a cent you count,
Place in the pocket that amount;
Our game is fair you will admit,
You 'waist 'the money, we pocket it.
We want our friends, both thin and fat
To meet together and have a chat,
Our 'Ladies' Aid Fund' to swell,
We'll give you tea and cake as well.

The W.M.S. of the Presbyterian church spent a very profitable and enjoyable time at a social evening given by them in the basement of the church on Monday night. The proceeds amounts to over $15.00.

STATES TO BLAME FOR RAILWAY CAR SHORTAGE

OTTAWA, March 25.—The Department of Railways and Canals admits that at the present time there exists a serious shortage of cars for the purpose of handling export business to the United States, but professes to be unable to remedy the situation so long as the United States persists in retaining Canadian cars across the border for its own domestic purposes.

As an indication of this tendency to hang on to Canadian cars the following figures showing the relative number of Canadian cars in the United States, and of United States cars in Canada up to March 1st of the present year are of interest: Canadian cars on American railways; box cars, 42,347; auto cars, 3,502; refrigerator cars, 883; open top cars, 5,781; stock cars, 1,751; flat cars, 4,428; other cars, 1,024. Total, 59,716. American cars on Canadian lines: box cars, 24,151; auto cars, 1,380; refrigerator cars, 1,388; open top cars, 11,934; stock cars, 187; flat cars, 1,454; other cars, 138. Total, 40,632.

The excess of Canadian cars on American lines over American cars on Canadian lines is therefore 19,084. In the mater of box cars which are particularly in demand, it is stated in the department that the excess averages about 22,000.

The department declares that it has exhausted ever known means to get Canadian cars back, and that in self defence it has been compelled to use only American cars for American export business.

The same condition of affairs applies to private owned systems in Canada. The hope is expressed, however, that with the return to individual system in the United States of equipment which was pooled under the war administration of the American railroads the situation will improve.

SCOTTISH REGIMENTS WILL RETAIN THE KILTS.

LONDON, March 24.—The Minister of War, in the House of Commons to-day, assured a questioner that there was no intention of abolishing the kilt in Scottish regiments.

He also said that a committee was arranging for an issue of battle-name clasps for about ten outstanding engagements in France, and two or three in other theatres of war.

There would be between six and seven million medals, and their issue would take three or four years.

BETTING SOCCERS CHIEF EVIL THE FIGURES ARE AMAZING

(TOM WATSON)

Amateur clubs	15,000
Professional clubs	500
Amateur players	250,000
Pro. players	6,000
Games per week	8,000
Spectators each week ..	5,000,000

These astounding figures relate to soccer football in England and are supplied by the English Football Association to the British House of Commons in connection with the Ready Money Betting Bill now before Parliament. Just fancy 15,000 amateur and 500 professional clubs controlled by one association, and 256,000 players to keep in hand. It is astounding. Eight thousand games per week means 176,000 players kicking a ball in an official match every Saturday in England. It means 8,000 referees, 16,000 linesmen, 16,000 trainers, and 40,000 groundsmen, gate checkers and other necessary help. Then take the public attendance which is estimated at five millions each week. That means that there are more people watching football in England every Saturday than there are in Scotland altogether. Truly soccer is a great drawing power.

It's Great Evil.

Recognizing its great influence as a health-promoting as well as popular entertaining medium, the Football Association are determined to stamp out anything that would tend to spoil it. They have now taken drastic steps to suppress rough play and misconduct among the players. They have intimated that they will deal most stringently with any club that fails to keep the spectators under control and have warned all referees with regard to the full extent of their duties. But there is one evil which exists that the association cannot control—the coupon betting, and it is that Parliament has been asked to legislate against, and which legislation is almost certain to be enacted before the season closes.

It's One Feature.

The bill deals solely with one phase and one method of betting on football matches, that is, ready money betting on the coupon system. It does not aim at interfering with individuals backing their opinion as to the merits of any football team, or taking part in competitions backed by reputable newspapers. It simply aims at stopping coupon betting, which has become a menace to a most entertaining and health-giving sport. Many hundreds of thousands of betting coupons are distributed each week. Agents are present in every mill, factory, workshop and shipyard and these get a percentage on the money which they collect for the bookmakers. In a case tried recently at Newcastle-on-Tyne, it was given out that after the police had raided the premises of a betting firm, they seized over 90,000 filled up betting coupons, and it was proved that in four months there had been bets made amounting to $100,000 and that firm made a yearly profit of $100,000.

What About Canada?

The question may be asked as to whether the evil exists in Canada, and I unhesitating answer that I am convinced it does. As, however, it only exists in relation to games in the Old Country, and its activities cannot affect the players over there it is not such a menace to the game The time may come, however, when the games here may entice the "bookies" to issue coupons with a local connection, and it will then be the duty of the Dominion of Canada Football Association to exert its authority and its influence to stamp it out.—Toronto Telegram.

READY TO BOX DEMPSEY WHEN BOUT ARRANGED

CARPENTIER SAYS HE IS ANXIOUS TO MEET WORLD'S CHAMPION SOON AS POSSIBLE.

WON'T TAKE LONG TO GET INTO CONDITIONS

NEW YORK, March 25.— "I am anxious to box Jack Dempsey for the world's heavyweight championship as soon as the match can be arranged." This was the first statement made by Georges Carpentier the French heavyweight, on his arrival here. "I can get into condition on reasonably short notice an am willing to meet the holder of the premier title anywhere the match can be held, either in America or Europe," he added.

Pugilistic Sensation of Decade.

These statements, made through an interpreter, were the answers giv to a host of newspaper and moving - picture operators, who boarded the French liner La Savoie to secure their first view of the holder of the European heavyweight championship and the pugilistic sensation of a decade. The first impression of Carpentier was far different than might have been expected of a heavyweight boxer and veteran of four years of world war fighting.

Resembles a Bank Clerk.

Of apparently slight physique and weighing, according to his own statement, 176 pounds, the conqueror of a long line of French and English heavyweights resembled a bank clerk on a vacation far more than he did a pugilist whom boxing enthusiasts in all parts of the world are eager to see match his skill and power against the American fighter who wrested the ring laurels held in turn by Jeffries, Johnson and Willard.

Greeted All With a Smile.

Carpentier who greeted all his interviewers with his engaging smile, and accompanied by his 17-year-old bride, was backed by two trainers. Mrs. Carpentier, an extremely pretty girl, reached to her husband's shoulders. When questioned regarding her ideas of boxing, Mrs. Carpetier said that she had never seen her husband box and never would. She said that she hoped Georges would soon take up some other line of business, but as long as he was in the ring she hoped that he would win the world's title before he retired.

Movies Will Be Busy.

Manager Descamps stated that just before the party sailed for America he had signed a new contract with C. B. Cochran, the English promoter, which covered all Carpentier's boxing exhibitions, except those for motion pictures, until December 31. He did not explain how Carpentier could be matched to meet Dempsey in this country under these conditions without Cochran controlling the match.

Ten Weeks of Vaudeville.

According to his manager's plans Carpentier will remain in this city for several weeks while a two-reel motion picture is taken of the French pugilists in the role of college boy interested in boxing. Following this picture engagement Carpentier will embark upon a ten weeks' vaudeville tour, which will require his appearance in most of the leading cities of the east and middle west. Beyond that his plans are uncertain.

Among those who assembled at the dock to greet the French champion on his arrival were Messrs. A. Jacquehart, X. Marbonne and M. Singher, representing La Union Nationale Francais, who came here to endeavor to arrange for Carpentier's appearance in Quebec. Ironbound cotracts tie up Carpentier's movements for the next six weeks, but the Canadian representatives hope to secure a visit from him after these agreements expire.

While on the vaudeville circuit Carpentier will spar with his three boxing partners, Jules Lanears, Charles Ledoux and Georges Papin. These boxers are due to arrive on a later boat and in addition to appearing with Carpentier they hope to box several American pugilists in their respective classes. Carpentier refused to express any opinion regarding the outcome of a match with Dempsey. He did say, however, that if he won the world's heavyweight title he hoped he would be permitted to retire after defending the championship once.

QUERY FOR CURLERS.

A correspondent wants to know whether the curler uses the "out" or the "in" turn in pulling a cork? The question looks like an idle one, but we have passed it on to one of Orillias most seasoned skips and he says it is such a long time since he had a chance to pull a cork, he has forgotten.—Packet.

EXPERIMENTAL MARRIAGE

"NIGHTIE NIGHT"

If you were a jealous, pretty wife and came home one night to find one of your husband's old "girl friends" lolling around in the guest room with nothing on but a charming suit of pink pyjamas, what would happen?

And if you were the temperamental husband of the pink pyjama lady, with a penchant for raising cyclones, and you dropped into the apartment in time to reach the most exciting conclusions, then what would happen?

The best answer to these conundrums is the farce comedy, "Nightie-Night," an Adolph Klauber and Selwyn production, which is coming to the Grand Opera House, matinee and night, Saturday, March 27th, after a phenomenally successful run at the Princess Theatre in New York and with the original ideal New York cast, headed by Francis Byrne. "Nightie-Night" is the work of Martha M. Stanley and Adelaide Matthews, who, six months ago, were unknown quantities in the dramatic sphere except to Mr. Klauber, who had been carefully cultivating their talent ever since his dramatic-editor days. To-day these authors are covered with glory reflected from the biggest farce comedy success New York has seen since the golden days of "Baby Mine."

But "Nightie-Night" is not one of those blushing comedies, it stops modestly, though hilariously, at the pink pyjama point, with the result that the well-known producer, who has studied what the public wants from the orchestra chair as well as the box office, gives the most profound assurance that any policeman on the theatre beat can drop in to see it without feeling obliged to call up headquarters. It is a farce of a new kind—the family party kind. The authors aimed to make the average playgoer laugh himself sick and then go forth and tell everyone all about it and not be scolded by his wife on the score of dementia Americana.

"Nightie-Night" is produced under Mr. Klauber's personal direction. With Mr. Byrne, who has blossomed forth as a comedian of the Collier type, are Dorothy Mortimer, Suzanne Wills, Malcolm Duncan, Marie Chambers, Grant Mills and other notable players who took part in the New York run.

(Telegram)

Word has been received that Lindsay will again enter a team in the Central Ontario League this summer. They promise to trot out a nine that will cause much trouble in the league race. "Cannon Ball" Ed. Scott, who did the flinging for the small town boys last year, is again counted on to work on the mound for them this season. Scott is at the present time working in a lumber camp in the north country, and will return to the city the latter part of this month, when he will go into business with his father. Scott was in Toronto from Christmas last year until the middle of January this year, and is not eligible to play with the Easterners. Scott has assured the Hillcrests that he will be with them this season, and that he will spend the summer months in Toronto.

OXFORD AND CAMBRIDGE WILL RESUME ANNUAL BOAT RACE

AFTER FIVE YEARS' LAPSE—BOTH UNIVERSITIES LOST MANY FINE OARSMEN IN THE GREAT WAR.

LONDON, March 24.—There is perhaps no sporting event in the world around which hangs such venerable traditions and historic associations, and upon which is focussed so keenly the interest of an entire nation, as the Oxford-Cambridge boat race. Interest in the event, now a hardy sporting annual of seventy-one Springs, is more than national. In pre-war days the result of that brief, tense eighteen-minutes struggle was flashed to Berlin, to Paris, to Petrograd, to India, to the Antipodes—the sun never sets on Oxford and Cambridge graduates, and something of their interest in the result of this annual test of supremacy on the Putney tidewater has spread to every land.

Next Saturday the crews of Oxford and Cambridge will meet for the first time in six years on the historic four-and-a-quarter-mile Thames course from Putney to Mortlake. Officer crews competed in the Henley Regatta last June, but the coming race is, in effect, the first test of university aquatic supremany since 1914. For that reason unusual interest is attached to the outcome.

With the exception of the Olympic games and the America's Cup race, this is the last of the world's big sporting events with which the war interfered to be resumed. We have seen the resumption of polo, of Davis Cup matches in Australia and of international golf.

The war cost each university many of its finest oarsmen, both among those who played great parts in famous races of the past and those who would be in the boats this year.

Recall Only Dead Heat.

Seventy-one times in the last ninety one years the Dark Blue and Light Blue oarsmen met over the Thames tidewaters. Oxford has won thirty-nine of these contests. Cambridge thirty-one, and there was a famous and thrilling dead heat in 1877. That year, when the Dark Blues (Oxford) were leading, the present Lord Desborough, then W. H. Grenfell, bow oarsman in the Oxford boat, seriously damaged his oar, and the Cambridge crew, which had been hanging on gamely some distance behind, crept up until just as they crossed the finish line the two boats were exactly equal.

It is the contention, I believe, of many famous oarsmen that a boat race cannot end in a dead beat, owing to the difference in the stroke of the two boats, which would advance one or the other to be always in front, but on this occasion the judges unanimously agreed that the oncoming Light Blue shell caught up with the unlucky Oxford boat at the instant it reached the finish line at Mortlake lock.

This year finds Oxford, favorite in so many races of the past, again picked to win, although the closest of finishes is looked for by the rowing experts. Cambridge has the heavier crew an unusually heavy set of bow oarsmen in the Light Blue boat having necessitated re-rigging the shell. From No. 1 to No. 4, inclusive, the Cambridge oarsmen average more than 180 pounds, a weighty average even for the waist or stern of a racing shell.

A feature this year has been the sporting spirit of the president of the Oxford crew, whose position is vastly superior to that of a Harvard or Yale crew captain. He is virtually dictator, having authority over the coaches. Yet this year he has given up his seat in the boat to another undergraduate, who is considered by coaches and by the president himself to be the better man. Only three times in the entire history to Oxford Cambridge races has the president been missing from either boat, and on each occasion he was incapacitated through accident.

Record Certain to Stand.

It is not expected that either crew will approach the record of 18 minutes 20 seconds, established by the victorious Oxford crew on April 1, 1911. Both are comparatively green crews, and while the oarsmen are all powerful athletes, with exceptional reach and promise to develop into crack men next year, they have not had sufficient work together to tackle the job of lowering the record set up by a seasoned eight.

In the year following that in which the record was established, both crews sank, and the race was declared void. A strong westerly gale was blowing, which whipped the Putney reach into a veritable sea. Cambridge was waterlogged off Harrods, and sank, the crew scrambling ashore. The Oxford boat, although in difficulties, rowed on until Chiswick was reached, when it foundered, too. The Dark Blue crew got ashore, managed to empty the boat and get it afloat again and eventually completed the course.

There was great rejoicing in the Oxford ranks, but the umpire ruled the contest "no race," since the Oxonians had been helped in their efforts to get afloat by spectators on the tow path at Chiswick. The race was rowed again and the following Monday, when the wind was stronger than ever before, but from a more northerly quarter. Both boats were fitted with splash boards and carried inflated bladders. Cambridge again got into difficulty, but Oxford, in a more sheltered station pulled easily away and won by many lengths.

MIGHT HAVE BEEN WORSE.

Mr Justwed—Yes, I'm terribly angry, I merely criticized the biscuits Ethel made and she hit me with one of them.

His Mother-in-Law—Foolish boy! you got off easy. Her father ate one of my first batch.

WHITE SOX HOLD-OUTS.

CHICAGO, March 23.—Reports to club headquarters here today from the Chicago Americans training at Waco, Tex., were regarded as exceedingly "bearish."

Dissatisfied with the terms of his three-year contract, made last season, George "Buck" Weaver, star third baseman, refused to practice yesterday, and declared his intention of leaving the team. Weaver said he will return to Chicago and conclude some business matters and go to California, according to the reports.

Shortstop Risberg and First Baseman Gandil are still in California. They have reiterated their intention not to join the White Sox this season unless salary demands are met.

"SHAG" SCOUTING.

Manager Shaughnessy is going on a tour of the southern training camps next week. He has the assurance of several of the big league managers that he can have his pick of their surplus material, and he wants to have a look at them in action before arranging for their transfer to this part of the country. The Boston Nationals and Detroit Americans have expressed a willingness to turn over some infielders to him, but it's pitchers that he is mostly in need of.—Hamilton Herald.

BROOKLYN LEADER WANTS FEWER BUNTS

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 24.—The old army game of slamming the ball past the infield is destined to be very much in evidence at Ebbets field next season, as Uncle Robbie is about ready to dispose of the sacrifice method of working runners around the bases to the plate. That is he does not intend to do away with the sacrifice system altogether, but it will not be used as often as it has been in the past few years. Including the first game of their series with the Yankees the Robins have played about fifteen contests and in these battles the sacrifice play has been conspicuous by its absence. The number of times Uncle Robbie has ordered a batsman to advance a mate by sacrificing may be counted on the fingers of one hand. One of the very few sacrifice hits made by the club was in the game against the Yankees, and it was an accident. It was recorded in the sixth inning of the game. Chuck Ward opened that session with a single and Neis, the rookie outfielder, was the next batter. Otto Miller, who was coaching at third, flashed Neis the signal to hit the ball hard. But the inexperienced athlete got his signs mixed and bunted to the Yankee pitcher, who threw him out at first. The out, however, advanced Ward to second, but Chuck was left stranded.

Pitching Rules the Cause.

The pitching rules, which are all in favor of the batters, may have caused the rotund leader to change the method of his club's attack. Uncle Robbie is one of the many who believe there will be more hitting in the games in the future and there will be less need for the sacrifice system. Instead of playing for one run the Robins wil be out to gather as many as possible in an inning. John McGraw employs the slam 'n out game with great success, and the spectacular attack will be welcomed by the Robin rooters.

Uncle Robbie has several players in his regular batting array who can lay down a sacrifice and slam the ball in the direction of outfielders with equal ability, and by using the army game far more often than heretofore these batters are going to make it interesting for their opponents who may be playing for a sacrifice, only to have the ball belted by them at a fast clip.

If a woman wishes to keep her throat white she should keep a cut lemon on her dressing table.

A Man's Estate

There is but one certain way of having an Estate, and that is through life insurance.

At age 21 "twas all the Estate he had."

"The records of the Surrogate Office of New York County, covering a period of five years, showed that the average number of deaths among adults for those years was 27,611. Of these:

23,051 or 85 per cent. left no estate at all.

1,422, or over 5 per cent. left estates of more than $1,000, but less than $5,000.

475, or nearly 2 per cent. left estates of more than $5,000, but less than $10,000.

492, or nearly 2 per cent. left estates of more than $10,000, but less than $25,000."

At age 30 he wisely increases his insurance.

At age 50 he has no fear of hardship for himself or his family.

The Canada Life Way

This Company will guarantee to provide at your death an Estate which is twenty or thirty times greater than the amount of your annual deposit. And if you live—

Every dollar of regular annual deposit will be returned at the end of twenty years, along with substantial dividends.

Fifty dollars a month will be paid to you while living if you should become totally and permanently disabled before reaching the age of sixty.

Our "Capital Return" Policy

1st. Deposits are made yearly. This is what you are saving, and at the end of 20 years the Canada Life guarantees the return of every dollar paid in.

2nd. Your life is insured from the day you make the first deposit,—for $5,000, or whatever amount you decide.

3rd. Dividends are paid at stated intervals in addition to the return of all deposits at the end of 20 years.

4th. These dividends may be used to increase the amount of your insurance, or be allowed to accumulate at interest for 20 years.

5th. The cash value of Policy and Dividends represents a valuable asset, useful in business, and your "estate" is protected by the insurance.

6th. At the end of Twenty Years you can draw out all you have paid in, along with the accrued dividends—you can draw a Special Cash Guarantee, together with the Accumulated Dividends, making a substantial sum, and leave the $5,000 Policy fully paid for and continuing to earn Dividends as long as you live—this Special Cash Guarantee may be applied to increase the amount of your policy to more than $7500.

---or---

---or---

CASTLE PICTURE FINE.

Climax to "The Invisible Bond" Is a Spectacular Plung Over Cliff.

A spectacular scene, worthy of a "stunt picture" forms the climax of Irene Castle's latest release, "The Invisible Bond," which will be on view at the Grand Theatre for three (3) days, commencing Monday. As the story goes, a wealthy New Yorker infatuated with a heartless coquette disguises himself as her chauffeur and takes her for a wild automobile ride. Maddened because she spurns his attentions, he drives the car at terrific speed through fences, shrubbery, open fields and finally plunges it over a 400-foot waterfall and meets death at the bottom.

Director Maigne chose for this scene the cliff at Taughannock Falls, near Ithaca, N.Y. Five cameras were used, catching the plunge from as many different angles. The fall of the machine is startlingly registered against the background of the rushing water.

CANADIAN FREIGHT TRAFFIC IS CRIPPLED BY SHORTAGF OF CARS

NEARLY 20,000 MORE IN THE UNITED STATES THAN AMERICAN CARS IN CANADA—ARE USED TO SUPPLY DEFICIENCY FROM UNDER PRODUCTION OF ROLLING STOCK.

EXPORTS BUSINESS SUFFERS.

(Special to the Examiner)

TORONTO, March 26.—The United States Railways have from 18,000 to 20,000 more cars belonging to Canadian Railways, than Rialways in Canada have belonging to the United States. This statement was made by one of the leading railway men of the Dominion in an interview to-day.

The Railway expert declares that the situation is such that Canadian Railways cannot afford to send many cars to the United States at the present time, without seriously interfering with the service in Canada, at the present time, due to the car shortage, the province of Quebec with its great export trade in pulp products, is in a most serious position.

"We have to ask the United States Railways to send cars in for the products, due to the large balance in our quarter," he said.

Asked what caused the present situation, he replied: "that there was a great shortage of cars on the railways of the United States. The United States Railway administration should have had more cars built. They needed great amounts of pulp wood and other products, and Canadian cars were sent over to carry the exports."

Representations Fail.

"I do not think they should use our cars in their own local services. We have made representations during the last year or two to the railways of the United States to get back their cars. Representations have even been made through the British Ambassador at Washington. The United States Railway men are very courteous to us, but we don't get the cars.

There has been for years a balance of cars in our favor in the United States, once I think it was as high as 40,000. It has been decreasing right along. When the United States has plenty of cars and it is better for them to send their cars on to our lines for products because a per diem allowance has to be paid for the use of the cars.

"What can be done in the matter?"

"I really couldn't say. The question to be answered is: If we send any more cars over, can we get them back?"

WILL FIRST CONSIDER HYDRO AUDITOR'S REPORT

PREMIER DRURY SAYS BONDS OF EASTERN RAILWAY WILL THEN BE AUTHORIZED.

(Special to The Examiner.)

PARLIAMENT BUILDINGS, Toronto, March 26.—The order-in-council authorizing the provincial treasurer to endorse the bonds of the Hydro Commission of the Toronto and Eastern railway will not be passed until the Legislature has considered the report of the Hydro authorities, Premier Drury made this statement to-day.

"We are far from being antagonistic to the Hydro," the Premier declared emphatically. "We believe in development of the water powers of this province, by the province. If there has been any delay in endorsing the bonds, it has been because caution dictated it. The report of the auditor will probably be tabled in the House to-day. The House will then be given an opportunity to discuss it before the orders-in-council is passed endorsing the bonds. I think that is the proper procedure."

Dealing with Sir Adam Beck's reference to the Farmers' Sun, Premier Drury denied that that paper is in any way to be regarded as a government organ.

"We have nothing to do with it, either by direction or approval," he declared. "As a matter of fact, I have only read one editorial the Farmer's Sun had on the Hydro question."

HERE IS ENTERPISE IN MAKING CLOTHES

MEN WHO ACT AT ONCE CAN STILL HAVE THEM MADE IN TIME FOR EASTER.

Many men feel that Easter is not really Easter to them unless they wear a new suit of clothes or a new topcoat. For that reason this is one of the busiest periods of the year in most tailor shops.

With characteristic enterprise the Regent Tailors, 326 George Street Arcade, stated to-day that they will finish in time for Easter every order left with them up to Monday evening next. Their suits and overcoats made to measure for $27, are wonderful value, and it is little short of amazing that such a big range of materials are supplied from which to make a selection at this price. Regent Tailors say that only by buying their cloths direct and closely watching every department of their business, so as to keep down tailoring expenses, can they do it.

SIXTY WOMEN ATHLETES TAKE PART IN ROAD RUN IN FRANCE.

PARIS, March 26.—The growing interest of women in athletics was exemplified yesterday by sixty runners taking part in a race at Antony, Department of the Seine.

The distance was about two and one-eighth miles, and the winner covered the distance in 16 minutes 47 seconds.

Marcel Guillemót, the French long-distance runner, yesterday confirmed his right to represent France in the Olympic Games by winning the French national run of about ten miles, making the distance in 1 hour 41 seconds. By his victory Guillemot now becomes the cross-country champion both of France and Great Britain.

CANARY BIRD FLIES IN THE MOUTH OF SLEEPING HUSBAND

BLOUNT CORNERS, N.Y.—Mrs. Martha Joslin says she is through trying to keep a canary. Mrs. Joslin states that if her husband would keep his mouth shut when he takes his afternoon nap, she would keep a bird, but that he won't do it and that she has bought her last canary.

A few weeks ago Mrs. Joslin bought a young canary. She brought it home and placed it in a cage. According to Mrs. Joslin she opened the bird cage to feed her pet and before she could close the door the bird flew out.

Joslin was asleep in a chair in the kitchen. The bird flew to him, circled over his head several times and flew into his wide open mouth. Mr. Joslin brought his jaws together and killed the bird.

Mrs. Joslin expresses the opinion that her husband's gold tooth attracted the bird. Mrs. Joslin says she has lost 6 canaries within 4 months by the same means and that she is through trying to keep a bird.

Mr. Joslin says he is innocent of bird slaughter and would not have killed the bird for $10 if he had known it was in his mouth.

GUELPH HOUSING COMMISSION HAS NEW SECRETARY.

Intends Erection of Forty Six-Roomed Houses This Summer.

GUELPH, March 25.—At a meeting of the local Housing Commission yesterday morning Mayor Westeby tendered his resignation as Secretary, stating that it was impossible for him to devote the necessary time to the position.

G. M. Yates was appointed to the office, and he entered on his new duties yesterday.

The Commission received a large number of applications for houses, and five were approved of.

It was decided to call for tenders for the erection of forty six-roomed houses, the work to be completed this summer.

Suffered With Boils Past Five Years

Boils are simply a breaking out of bad blood and anyone who has suffered from them knows how sick and miserable they make you feel. Just when you think you are cured of one another seems ready to take its place and prolong your misery. All the poulticing and lancing you can do will not get rid of them.

While the skin appears to be the cause of the irritation the real disease is rooted in the blood and to get rid of these painful pests it is necessary to get right at the seat of the trouble.

When the blood is purified, cleansed and vitalized by Burdock Blood Bitters, the boils will quickly disappear, you misery is at an end, and health and strength come back again.

Mr. Robert Johnson, Barkway, Ont., writes:—"I hav suffered very much, during the last five years from boils, having as many as five at once. I tried different remedies without any relief. I was advised to try Burdock Blood Bitters which I did and after taking just one bottle I have had no more boils."

B.B.B. has been on the market for over forty years and is manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Obituary—Wm. Abbott.

Mr. H. J. Abbott received word that his father, Mr. Wm. Abbott, died at his home in Mission City, B.C., at the advanced age of 87 years.

Mr. Abbott was one of the oldest settlers in this part of the country, as he settled on and cleared the farm in Douro now occupied by his son, Mr. H. J. Abbott, over sixty years ago. He moved to British Columbia a number of years ago and has remained there ever since. His wife predeceased him five years ago. Since then he made his home with his daughter, Mrs. Thomas Cox in Mission City.

Funeral of Mr. G. Payne.

The funeral of Mr. George Payne, which took place on Thursday afternoon, was largely attended. Mr. Payne was one of the most highly respected citizens of the town. He was the possessor of a fine tenor voice and for many years was a prominent figure in the choir of the Methodist church. A very remarkable thing is that in a family of ten, five brothers and five sisters, the youngest being over 60 years of age, this is the first break in the family. Few families can claim a record such as this.

The pallbearers were his four brothers and two brothers-in-law.

"PUSSYFOOT" OPENS FRENCH "DRY" FIGHT

PARIS—William E. Johnson, more familiarly identified in both England and France as "Pussyfoot" Johnson, has inaugurated a "dry" campaign in this country, addressing a Paris audience for the first time on prohibition this evening, under the auspices of the "Blue Cross Society," which advocates absolute prohibition.

"Prohibition in America," said Mr. Johnson, "is the most beneficial measure ever adopted. The jails are emptied, the banks are full of money and the people are happy."

He spoke to a rather small audience, composed for the most part of women. His words were received silently.

Murders Increase

TO-DAY DUBLIN PRESENTS THE APPEARANCE OF OCCUPIED CITY—MAGISTRATE IS LATEST VICTIM.

29 TO DATE

(United Press.)

DUBLIN, March 27.—Dublin presented the appearance of an occupied city to-day. Following the murder of Alan Bell, Magistrate of Dublin Castle yesterday, the military activity was greater than at any time since the rebellion.

Numerous additional troops have arrived. Tanks, armoured cars, and motor lorries moved through the down town streets.

In connection with the murder of the Magistrate, it was recalled to-day that Bell was denounced in the recent Sinn Fein proclamation on the British Government's efforts to determine the source of the Sinn Fein loan.

Military leaders said a total of 29 murders of police constables, s lors, and other Government representatives have been committed since 1st January, 1919. Eighty-nine other murders have been attempted.

THE ARMSTRONG FARM PASSES FROM FAMILY

SALE OF EFFECTS IN OTONABEE ATTRACTED CROWD.

"Like the Norwood Fair" was the attendance at the sale of stock and implements on the farm of John Armstrong in the 5th concession of Otonabee according to one of those who were there from the city. Prices were comparatively high, one team of horses, for example, selling for $540. This farm, which has been sold to Mr. John Dewart, has been in the family for nearly one hundred years. From information received, some of the heirlooms were distributed among the surviving members. Heavy wooden ox yokes that had been made and used by an earlier generation, when farm methods were somewhat primitive ,were also disposed among relatives.

LONDON, March 27.—Polish government was removed on Thursday from Warsaw to Bromberg in Polish Posen, twenty-five miles north-west of Thorn, according to Berlin despatch, quoting rumors in that city.

PREMIER NORRIS ON TEMPERANCE ACT

Electors of the Province Will Have Another Opportunity to Vote.

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, Man., March 27.—Premier Norris declared in the Legislature that the policy of the government will be to submit the question of temperance legislation to the people of the province again within a period of three years, should there be an agitation for the return of liquor in that time. Should the referendum fail to carry next summer the government, on presentation of a petition signed by eight per cent. of the electors of the province, will submit another referendum to voters on the matter of sale of beer and light wines within the province.

NEW YORK GOES ON SUMMER TIME

TIME WILL CHANGE AT TWO O'CLOCK SUNDAY MORNING.

(United Press.)

NEW YORK, March 27. — New Yorkers to-night lose an hour of sleep, not from worry over the high cost of living or because baby has colic but because at two a.m. Sunday, the Daylight Saving Law goes into effect.

Beginning to-morrow, accommodation trains running into New York from New Jersey and Connecticut will run on New York "Daylight Savings" time. Hours on the stock exchanges will be advanced to conform with New York time.

Many nearby cities doing most of their business with New York of where much of their population is employed here will change their time also.

CLAIM DEMAND IS TOO HIGH

MINERS WANT SIXTY PER CENT WAGE INCREASE

(United Press.)

NEW YORK, March 27.—Mine operators of the anthracite coal fields today declared in a conference with miners union representatives that the mine workers' demand for a sixty per cent. wage increase in their pay is exorbitant.

One of the chief arguments of the miners is that their pay is 45.7 per cent. lower than now received by the bituminous miners. The operators answered this with a statement that steadier work all year in the anthracite fields equalizes their earnings.

SEPTET IS BORN TO HIS WIFE; MAN PAINTS TOWN RED

MONTEZUMA, Mexico, March 27. —Three girls and four boys were born to the wife of Jesus Lopez, a private in the Mexican army.

The new arrivals weigh about two pounds apiece, each perfectly developed in every respect. It is believed here that this blow at race suicide is unprecdented in any country.

After he became a seven-fold papa, the father was given the privilge by the military commander to "paint the town red, and go as far as he liked." He is doing so at the present moment, and with a vengeance.

The mother and her seven children were reported as doing splendidly.

REDS ARE HETEROGENEOUS MASS, WEARING RED SHIRTS AND ARE CALLED "NOKES"

WOMEN AND CHILDREN SPEAK ABOUT SHOOTING AND DEATH LIKE ONE WOULD SPEAK OF RAIN.

DOLENS KILLED

Special to The Examiner.

AMSTERDAM, March 27. — Telegraphing from Dusseldorf after a visit to the headquarters and front of the Red Army in the Ruhr district, a correspondent of the Amsterdam Handelsblad says:

"The Reds are a heterogeneous mass, wearing red armbands, ribbons, or neckties. Some of them have red shirts. The only thing in common to all is that they carry rifles. While the rest of the world uses such terms as "Government troops." "Spartacans," and the like, in the fighting area everybody speaks of them as "Noskes," which includes all varieties of the former class and "carabinen," who include all the Reds. It is a war of Noskes against Carabinen. At Duisburg, where dozens were killed and hundreds were wounded during the first day's fighting, the women and children in the streets speak about shooting and death like one would speak of rain. At Duisburg the allied food missions, which were caught in the town at the height of the fighting were courteously treated and escorted out of town by the Reds after the Belgians occupying the hotel had fled in the darkness."

GUNS CAPTURED.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, March 27. — Bolshevik communications received by wireless last night from Moscow say:

"During the occupation of Kholmskaya we took more than one thousand prisoners and fourteen hundred stores of machine guns. These were captured mainly by a Uhlan regiment which only the previous day had passed over to our side. Two thousand Kuban Cossacks have joined us near Smolenskaya. We entered Grosnaya Ciscaucasia, on March 24th. The oil wells had not been damaged."

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., March 27. —"Please find out who poisoned my dog—signed Ambrose Fisher." The Indians look upon the agent as doctor, detective, constable, financial provider, employment agent, etc., etc.

BEGAN 102ND YEAR.

WINNIPEG, Man., March 27. — The other day the Dean of the Oblates and the oldest priest in the world, Rev. Father Damase Dandurand, began his 102nd year. This length of years has not been, in the case of this venerable priest, attended with the most dreaded of all circumstances, loss of the reasoning faculty, weakness of intellect. On the contrary he is so shrewd in his conclusion, so ready in his repartee, that you would credit him for being in the heyday of his powers. Rev. Father Dandurand was the first Canadian priest to join the Oblates congregation in Canada; he has been vicar at Ottawa, then vicar-general of its first biahop; administrator of the same diocese, vicar-general of Quebec diocese; first Winnipeg parish priest for a short time He founded St. Charles parish and has been among the citizens of Winnipeg and St. Boniface since August 28, 1875.

GRASSHOPPERS ARE REPORTED IN WEST

Recent Warm Spell Has Revived the Insect Plague.

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, March 27. — Swarms of grasshoppers are reported on the high lands of South-Eastern Saskatchewan. Department of Agriculture is investigating and urging immediate action on the part of farmers and municipalities to cope with hoppers.

In view of the early appearance of the hoppers and devastation caused by this insect in South-east of Saskatchewan last year, M. P. Tullis, Commissioner of Weeds and Seeds Branch of Saskatchewan Department of Agriculture said it was believed the recent warm spell had revived insects that were hatched last fall and had remained dormant all winter. Large swarms of hoppers are said to be moving about on the hills of both provinces.

The wages offered for single men average about $50.00 a month and board, for boys $20.00 a month and board, while married men and their wives are offered $60.00 and $65.00 and board. There are, however, only 3 vacancies for married men.

The Week's Work.

APPROVES OF THE HOUSING SCHEME

PLAN IS BASED UPON THE CO-OPERATION OF TRADES UNIONS

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, March 27. — Labor members of the Legislature ,although professing to be acquainted with the skeleton of the housing solution suggested by James L. Gunn, a well-known labour leader, informed your correspondent to-day that the scheme in its outline appears to offer a real solution to the housing shortage. Mr. Gunn's plan is based upon the co-operation of all trade unions engaged in building with the municipality resulting in the complete elmination of private contractors.

Mr. Frank Greenlaw, M.P.P. for St. Catharines, declared he was heartily in favour of any solution to the present problem. He foresaw in the plan many desirable features and further remarked that as amendments to the Housing Act were now being considered, it might be well to give serious consideration to Mr. Gunn's plan.

In extension of the scheme patterned along the Hydro-Electric systems organization, is also explained, thereby a province wide housing scheme would be launched.

Meeting Reviewed

RECENT PROVINCIAL PROHIBITION MEETING COMES IN FOR LOT OF CRITICISM.

WAR IN CAMP

(Special to the Examiner)

OTTAWA, March 27.—Do not take any notice of resolutions passed at conventions of Methodist or Presbyterian ministers," was the adjuration made by Mr. Samuel Groves to the audience at the Temperance Alliance meeting in Carnegie Library last night. "For years Dr. Moore has followed the Dominion Alliance with a knife," said Mr. Groves.

The principal business of the evening was a review of the proceedings at the recent Provincial Prohibition Parliament, held in Toronto.

The Press reports of the recent Toronto Convention which referred to "quarels and bickerings" indulged in, had been "exaggerated ninety per cent.", Mr. Groves averred. He characterized Dr. Grant's attitude at the convention as "anything but a beautiful or Christian one," and asserted that Dr. Grant had referred to those who did not agree with him as "a set of Boobs". Dr. Grant is an intellectual bully", said Mr. Groves. "I never felt so disgusted in my life."

"In interviews purporting to come from him and published in Toronto, are the vilest words that ever came from a man who professes to be a Christian."

EARLY SPRING IS GOOD FOR FARMERS

ROADS ARE BEGINNING TO DRY UP —WELLS STILL DRY

The farmers state that the last few days of warmth have had their effect on the roads, drying them up rapidly and leaving them in good shape. There are few holes and soft spots because of the rapid disappearance of the snow and the frost being drawn so quickly out of the ground.

Cars have been able to get through on all the better roads except where there is a great deal of swamp or low lying land. In the higher upper lands the frost is well out of the ground, and farmers are contemplating beginning their spring plowing on the higher ground next week.

The fall wheat was reported to be in good shape and one farmer stated that his clover showed a decided advance this week.

The early spring, if it is an early spring, has been a blessing to many farmers, who have experienced a great scarcity of water during the the winter for the dry wells have filled again obviating what was a very serious condition.

Some of the farmers are very dubious about the weather and prefer to wait and see the developments instead of rushing into their spring work. "It is only March yet," seems to be the concensus of opinion of many and they hold that we are in for another cold spell yet.

BENEFIT CONCERT FOR INJURED GIRL

SAD CASE OF OF SUFFERING AND DISTRESS IN THE CITY

Disabled as a result of an accident at the Canadian General Electric Works about two years ago, Miss Doris Warren lies to-day in a very precarious conditions, having undergone another operation yesterday and it was in her benefit a committee of interested citizens composed of Mrs. Prevost, Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Scholley and Mr. Bartley last evening gave a concert in Victoria Hall. The call for aid for the little girl, whose family is confronted by hospital bills which much exceed the income, was very generously answered, and a large number of persons attended.

The Programme.

A good musical programme was given, to which Miss Evans contributed a piano solo, Mr. Ted Bartley, Miss Minnie Allen and Mrs. Scholley vocal solos ,and Mr. Parkins concertino and banjo solos. At the conclusion of this a dance was held. A feature of the evening was the raffling of a centrepiece, which was worked entirely by the little sufferer for whom the concert was given by her one remaining hand.

To Receive Contributions.

Further contributions will be gratefully received by Mrs. Prevost, 587 Chamberlen street and Mr. Charles Coleman, 426 George street.

THE GERMAN GOVERNMENT RESIGNS AFTER A BITTER ATTACK BY THE RADICALS

FARMERS WILL FIGHT THE DAYLIGHT SAVING

Farmers Club Meet in Cornwall and Decide to Take Action.

(Special ti The Examiner.)

CORNWALL, March 27.—The members of the Cornwall Farmers' Club are out to fight daylight saving, no matter how badly the people of the town desire the long pleasant evenings. The farmers in the immediate vicinity of the town are opposed to it, and at a well attended meeting of the club a resolution opposing its adoption, not only here but in all Canada, was carried. The resolution states that daylight savings has "a tendency to curtail production on the farm and inconvenience the farmer.

NEW RESULTS ON DAYLIGHT SAVINGS

THREE MORE LOCAL FACTORIES FALL IN LINE.

In the vote on day-light saving in the local factories to-day's results show three more plants in favour. Following are the results:

Peter Hamilton Co., 55 p.c. in favour; Adam Hall, 55 p.c. in favour; Western Clock Co., 84 p.c. in favour.

MAN SHOT WHILE HUNTING MUSKRAT

(Special to The Examiner.)

CORNWALL, Ont., March 27.—While hunting muskrats on the Nation River, near his home at Cass Ridge, Garnet Summers, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Summers, was shot when the butt of his gun accidentally came in contact with the ice.

The shot entered the young man's bowels.

He was brought to the General Hospital here, and was operated on, and it is hoped he will recover.

WEEKLY COMMENT ON STOCK MARKET

(Canadian Press.)

NEW YORK, N.Y., March 27. — Active trading in speculative shares was resumed on a broader scale this week, movement continuing to centre, however, in specialties of motor group, also oils, equipments and steels. Gains among some of these issues, which rose and fell in bewildering confusion on frequent profit-taking, were of substantial proportions and in several noteworthy cases new high records were established. Advance was in large part traceable to relatively easy rates for call money, demand loans ruling between 7 and 9 per cent., though mounting at one time to higher quotations, with continued firmness for time funds. Another important factor in advance was the strength of remittances in London, which rose vigorously even before it became generally known that heavy imports of gold to the United States had begun. Large consignment of metal is already here, according to reports current in shipping circles, but the inflow, which is supposed to bear a close relation to the payment of Anglo-French loan, maturing next October, may reasonably be expected to reach huge proportions. Industrial conditions, as indicated by several favorable annual reports, pointed to high pressure of activity in many lines of trade and investment situation offered encouragement in heavy subscriptions to new capital underwritings.

MR. LOUIS JOFFE IN ST. PAUL'S

It is an interesting fact that Jewish Christians hold a view of our Lord's Second Advent and Messianic Reign not held by most Gentile Christians. Mr. Joffe is to speak in St. Paul's on Sabbath evening on the subject: "The Day of the Son of Man". He believes in our Lord's personal and literal reign, and finds in that reign the only hope of the world's ills. He will speak in St. Paul's Sunday School Hall on Monday evening, March 29th., on Russion Literature, Folk Lore, Superstitions and Proverbs. Those who heard his masterly address on Shakespere last Monday evening, know what a treat is in store for them.

HERMAN MUELLER HAS BEEN ASKED TO FORM A NEW GOVERNMENT—MAY RENEW STRIKE.

POLITICAL WAR

(United Press.)

BERLIN, March 27.—The possibility of a renewal of the general strike was foreseen here as a result of the fall of Chancellor Bauer's Cabinet.

The Bauer Government resigned as a body, after it was attacked bitterly by the Radical trade unionists. The Cabinet was in existence less than twenty-four hours.

Hermann Mueller, former Minister of Foreign Affairs, was reported to have expressed doubt as to his ability to carry out President Ebert's instructions to form a new Cabinet.

The chief political parties—the Majority Socialists, Independent Socialists, and Centrists—seemed unable to reach any agreement, and the situation was complicated by the bitter antagonism of the Radical Labourites.

There was some talk that Karl Legien, secretary of the trades union organisation, may be asked to form a Government in the event of Mueller definitely refusing the President's request.

The Cabinet's resignation followed a fight upon Geheimrath Cuno, director of the Hamburg-American Steamship Lines, Minister of Finance. He accepted only provisionally, declaring that he must have the consent of the ship line owners.

Labourites believed Cupo would be inimical to their interests. They also attacked Eugene Schoffer, Minister of Justice, accusing him of disaffection in the negotiations with the Von Kapp insurrectionists.

Johann Giesberts, who was Minister of Posts and Telegraphs in Ebert's old Cabinet, returned from the Ruhr District last night after conferring with the insurrectionist workmen there. He was optimistic, believing order soon would be restored.

RECITAL AT THE CONSERVATORY

Evidencing the masterly training she had received from Mrs. Alice Roger Collins, Miss Avis Ruth Phillip's recital given last evening in the Conservatory of Music Hall, was one of the best musical events in the season, and was heard by a large and interested audience.

In introducing her pupil Mrs. Collins thanked the Peterboro people for coming to the recital when, as she said, thy have so many opportunities of hearing artists. In announcing each of the different numbers she gave brief and interesting sketches of the composers.

The programme included such numbers as the Military March by Schubert-Tausig, Chopins Etude C. mi. op. 25 a Revolutionary study written by Chopin at the downiall of Poland, Liszt's Cantique d'Amour, selections Bach and Debussy and throughout all the difficult programme Miss Phillips maintained a high artistic standard which was an assurance that the talented young lady is destined to go far in her career. Her technique is good her phrasing excellent and her expression of a very high oder. A large measure of her success is undoubtedly due to the careful schooling she has received from Mrs. Collins, whose ability and experience is unlimited.

Noted Contralto.

Miss Phillips was assisted by Miss Gladys Topping, soloist of the first Presbyterian Church, London, who with a really remarkable contralto voice delighted the audience and like Miss Phillips was repeatedly encored. Her solos "Japanese Love Song" and "Romany Songs" sung in costume were particularly charming.

Those Present.

A few of those noticed in the audience were Rev. and Mrs. J. A. McKenzie, Sheriff Hall, Miss Nan Hall, Miss Grace Reinhart, Mrs. Widdess, Dr. and Mrs. Buchanan, Mrs. Guy Whittaker, Mr. Herbert Rush, Miss Lillian Rush, Miss Mabel Collins, Mrs. Walter Roger, Miss Halliday, Mrs. Arthur Amys, Mrs. Charles Amys, Mr Schneider, Miss Alma Morrison, Miss Betty Mowat, Mrs. Gliddon, Mrs. Logan, Mrs. Marsden Comstock, Mrs. C. EDMONTON, Alta., March 27. — According to the report tabled by Hon. A. G. MacKay, re medical inspection of rural schools, covering 126 schools and 5,745 children, only 1,129 were found to be without defect. The greatest number of cases were those of adenoids, tonsils and throat affections, and the next greatest were for bad teeth.

SICK HEADACHES CONSTIPATION

If you have suffered from constipation for years, tried doctors and all the remedies you ever heard or read of, without getting relief, if you have been subject to all the miseries associated with constipation, such as sick and bilious headaches, biliousness, specks floating before the eys, water brash, heartburn, jaundice and the painful, troublesome, internal, bleeding or protruding piles, etc., wouldn't you consider it a blessing to be able to keep the bowels in a good healthy condition and prevent disease getting a foothold on your system.

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are indicated just for this purpose; their regular use relieving the worst cases of constipation.

Mrs. Malcolm McDermid, Cranton Station, N.S., writes:—"I have been sick for a number of years with sick headaches and constipation. I tried all kinds of doctor's medicine, but none did me any good. I tried Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, and after using four vials I am completely cured and would heartily recommend them to all sufferers."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c. a vial at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

TROYT WON GRAND NATIONAL

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, March 27—The Grand National was won yesterday by Troyt; The Turk second, and The Bore third.

RHUBARB GROWN IN WATER

Rhubarb that has taken root may be grown in water, care should be taken, when lifting the roots from the garden, not to injure them.

It is well to leave them fully exposed to the weather for two days before bringing them indoors. Then half-fill empty jars with water; if you can get rain water so much the better. Put the rhubarb roots right into the water, if some of them are to big they may be cut in portions, though care must be taken to avoid damaging the top buds from which the stalks will spring.

The rhubarb does best of all in the early stages of its growth if it is kept away from a bright light. In a wonder fully short time the pretty pink stems begin to come up. Then the plants may be removed to a lighter position and they are seen to be really very attractive indeed.

It is surprising what a large number of stalks quite a small root will send up, and eventually the roots should just be placed in the ground again. Any shoots they send up must be left alone, and, if this is done, the plants will be in bearing again next year. The only thing to keep in mind in connection with this novel in mind in connection with the novel culture is that the rhubarb roots should never be allowed to become dry.

ACTIVITIES OF A MENTAL DEFICIENT.

Invitations Sent to Mayors of Cities in Canada and U.S., to Industrial Congress.

(Canadian Press.)

VANCOUVER, March 27.—As a result of the activities of J. C. Putnam, now in an institution for mental cases, the City Hall staff are busy sending out letters of explanation to Mayors of Canadian and American cities who were invited here by Putnam to attend a gigantic industrial congress.

Putnam reached here a week ago, and sent letters to virtually every city in Canada and many in the United States, inviting city officials to Vancouver, promising that their expenses would be wired to them.

The first intimation the City Council had of the proposed congress was when letters of acceptance began to pour in.

City Clerk Armstrong, when questioned by the Examiner, said he had not received the invitation here. In all probability Mr. Putnam confined himself to the Western cities in his invitations to his gigantic imaginary industrial congress.

STOP CATARRH! OPEN NOSTRILS AND HEAD

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils Relieves Head-Colds at Once.

If your nostrils are clogged and your head is stuffed and you can't breathe freely because of a cold or catarrh, just get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm at any drug store. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream into your nostrils and let it penetrate through every air passage of your head, soothing and healing the inflamed, swollen mucous membrane and you get instant relief.

Ah! how good it feels. Your nostrils are open, your head is clear, no more hawking, snuffling, blowing; no more headache, dryness or struggling for breath. Ely's Cream Balm is just what sufferers from head colds and catarrh need. It's a delight.

SURVEYED STREET RAILWAY SYSTEM

AND PROPOSED EXTENSIONS—COMMITTEE WILL SEND DEPUTATION TO TORONTO.

Members of the railway committee of the Council, together with representatives of the street railway, surveyed the local system yesterday preparatory to interviewing the Hydro-Electric Commission in regard to the work which has been proposed for this season. Ald. Gainey, chairman of the committee, Mayor McIntyre and Ald. Copping were accompanied by Mr. W. G. Ferguson, general manager of the street railway, and Mr. John McCann, inspector.

The program mapped out does not lack comprehensiveness, and the committee will probably be satisfied if the Commission undertakes and accomplishes part of it this year.

The committee will urge the extension of the Charlotte Street line on the Monaghan Road to Byersville, and the Park Street line south to the DeLaval. It is also suggested that a loop be made off the George Street service westerly on either Westcott or Romaine Streets to Park and this line be carried south to Crawford's grove.

There has been a demand for accomodation for the growing suburbs at the extreme south end and there would also be the decided advantage of providing communication to the resorts along the river from which the general public are practically excluded at present on account o. the distance.

North End Service.

Service for the central north end district in the Normal School neighborhood is proposed in a loop from George Street westerly along McDonnel Street to Reid Street and north to the Wolsely Street district connecting with the George Street line near its north end. The committee are thoroughly conversant with the details of the existing system and the contemplated extensions, and are in a position to discuss the subject from every angle with the Hydro-Electric Commission.

Referring to the report of Ald. Gordon's interview with Sir Adam Beck on Thursday Ald. Gainey remarked that Ald. Gordon had apparently anticipated the deputation from the railway commission, which was authorized on his motion at a recent meeting to arrange for an appointment with the Commission and to lay before them Peterboro's transportation needs and its claims for an improved service.

Home in Halifax roofed with Brantford Asphalt Slates

A handsome roof that defies the weather

An added touch of beauty to any house is a roof of Brantford Asphalt Slates, which are in soft, harmonious shades of reddish brown and dark green. The colors are permanent and unfadeable, being the natural shades of the slate just as it is taken out of the quarries.

It will also prove a very economical roof, because Brantford Asphalt Slates do not split, get loose, absorb water or rot. They are strongly fire-resistant and are classified as non-combustible by the fire insurance companies, and allowed to be used in cities where the most rigid fire-prevention By-laws are in force.

Brantford Asphalt Slates are very moderate in cost. The regular size of the slates and their pliability make them easily and quickly laid, thus saving time and cost of labor. Being made of high grade felt saturated and coated with asphalt, and with a surface of crushed slate, they make a roof that defies the elements and is a permanent part of the building, just like the walls and the foundation.

Brantford Asphalt Slates

are being used more extensively every year for city, country and summer homes, churches, golf clubs, stores, garages, and wherever an artistic effect is desired on a pitch roof.

If you are going to do any building this year or have an old roof that needs replacing, it will be to your advantage to investigate Brantford Asphalt Slates.

CENTRAL SCHOOL IN ASSOCIATION

INTERESTING MEETING WAS HELD THURSDAY AFTERNOON.

A large enthusiastic meeting of parents and teachers was held Thursday afternoon in the Centra School to consider the forming of a home and school association.

Mrs. W.R. Moris presided and outlined the work of these associations, their use and helpfullness in connection with every school.

Mrs. S. T. Medd, president of the Queen Mary School Association, addressed the meeting touching briefly the work of her asociation and pointing out the fact each school had its own particular work. Mrs. Medd read the preamble from the constitution of the Toronto Home and School Council which showed how very important this association can be and how helpful both to teacher and pupil.

It was moved by Mrs. W. F. Nelson seconded by Mrs. R. Denne and unanimously carried that an association be formed. The following officers were elected: Presidet, Mrs. R. Denne; 1st Vice, Mrs. R. Heidman; 2nd Vice, Mrs. Lush; Secretary, Mrs. J. Shayne; Treasurer, Mrs. Spensor; Convenor of Relief Committee, Mrs. J. Craig; Convenor of Program Committee, Mrs. J. Anderson.

The association decided to affiliate with the National Home and School Association and to send a representative, if possible, to the annual convention in Toronto in Easter week.

Meetings will be held the first Wednesday of the month and the executive hopes that all mothers will join the association.

The Central School Association is very much indebted to Mrs. Morris and Mrs. Medd for their help in forming the Asociation and hope that in the near future they will be very proud of their effort.

WINDOW GLASS LACK SPREADS EPIDEMIC

IN CENTRAL EUROPE LIGHT AND AIR ARE SHUT OUT WITH OPENINGS FOR WINDOWS CLOSED WITH MUD.

PARIS.—Lack of window glass is responsible for the spread of typhus, tuberculosis and other contagious diseases in Central Europe. To resist the severe cold of winter, the windows are closed with mud, shutting out light and fresh air. Shortage of buildings causes overcrowding in the rooms, accelerating contagion and the spread of disease. The Jewish element are the greatest sufferers, owing to the habit of mobs breaking all glass when looting Jewish dwellings.

The report of these conditions has just been brought here by Lieutenant James H. Becker, who, as Relief Administrator of the American Joint Distribution Committee for Jewish War Relief, was called by his work into isolated districts of Bukowina, Roumania, Bessarabia and the Ukraine heretofore unvisited by allied officers.

The division of great estates among the peasants has reduced production as the peasants revert to primitive methods, and are content now to provide their own needs, instead of supplying markets. Lack of transportation prevents the exchange of goods with manufacturing countries, and has even stopped the shipment of wood and fuel from Bukowina, which is well forested. Trading is reduced to barter owing to the low value of paper money, much of which is counterfeit, and the difficulties of exchange.

The Governments are unsettled and weak. The Jewish communities, which are deprived of the weapons for local defence are unable to resist repeated robberies and lootings. In many large towns in Bukowina, which are purely Jewish, artisans have been robbed of their tools and have thereby been forced into trading. This is of course a bad economic condition, it is pointed out.

The Joint Distribution committee for Jewish War Relief has enabled numberless Jewish families to start anew by loans expended only for tools or merchandise. The people took heart, and showed their gratitude by their eagerness to repay the loans with their first earnings.

Lieutenant Becker said he had seen girls, brought to the Jewish hospital with severed arms, have to wait four hours before medicine and bandages could be obtained.

The misery is indescribable. In the Ukraine the Jewish orphanages lack meat, fats, blankets and medicines, and the children are emaciated. Bukowina, with more than 100,000 Jews has only one Jewish hospital and that with a capacity of forty-six beds. The Joint Distribution Committee started three new orphanages for Jewish war orphans in Roumania, but the facilities are still woefully inadequate.

SATURDAY, MARCH 27TH, 1920.

A SPLENDID REPORT.

The attention of the readers of the Examiner is directed to the splendid report of Miss Edith Hamilton, District Nurse of the Peterborough Health Association, which appears elsewhere in to-day's issue. Miss Hamilton has been very modest in her summing up of her activities during the year 1919, but nevertheless she has given enough concrete facts to justify the opinion that she has been a very faithful and a very useful servant of the public, and to prove, if indeed any proof was required, that the Health Association has been doing a wonderful community service for which it deserves the thanks and merits the support of the citizens generally. Miss Hamilton last year made a total of 1,878 visits, treating in all 134 people during the twelve months. Eleven of these were suffering from tuberculosis and these cases necessitated no fewer than 259 visits. All patients who were in need were supplied with milk, eggs and butter by the Association. These are some of the features of Miss Hamilton's report. The bald facts hardly do justice to the value of the work carried on by her under the auspices of the Health Association and the report forms an excellent reason why the coming motor show in aid of the Association should be enthusiastically supported by the people of Peterborough.

A DELAYED POLICY.

The description used by Dr. Michael Clark that the Government statement on the question of a naval policy for Canada was "one of the most extraordinary ever presented in Parliament" seems to have been justified by the facts. It was evident — in fact government speakers practically admitted it—that the Union Administration has no permanent naval policy to offer at present and will not frame one until after the Imperial conference is held. In the meantime the government will carry on the Canadian naval service on a pre-war basis. The Niobe and Rainbow, which have been employed as training ships, are to be scrapped and their places will be taken by a light cruiser and two torpedo boat destroyers selected from the war vessels offered to Canada by the British Government. Apparently the country will have to wait until after the Imperial conference to learn what permanent policy is to be proposed for Canada and it is not by any means clear that the Government has any definite policy to lay before that conference. If the Union Administration has a programme to be discussed at the conference it should first be laid before the Dominion Parliament so that the Canadian people may know what is to be promised on their behalf. So far there has been no information offered save the curt statement from the Minister of Naval Affairs, that "it has been decided to defer for the present any action in regard to the adoption of a permanent naval policy for Canada."

A NEW GRATUITY PLAN.

There are many friends of the Great War Veterans' Association who will read with regret of the decision made at the Montreal convention to abandon the G.W.V.A. re-establishment scheme drafted last year and to substitute in its place a new gratuity plan which calls for a war bonus based upon an additional $1 per day for the total period of enlistment to soldiers who have seen service on a belligerent front. Under the new scheme the maximum bonus would be $2,500 and the minimum $1,000, and it is estimated that to carry it out would cost Canada the neat little sum of approximately $215,000,000. The original G.W.V.A. plan was logical and businesslike for it was based not only upon service but upon need and therefore could be justified. The bonus scheme now adopted pays no attention to the question of need at all and differs from the Flynn $2,000 gratuity proposals only in the matter of amounts. Both methods would give able-bodied men not in need of re-establishment the same gratuity as the soldiers who are actually suffering and public sympathy is not likely to be unanimous in endorsing such a principle.

The new plan will be submitted to the House of Commons during the present session and will likely be turned over to the special parliamentary committee for investigation. As the government has already showed itself to be opposed to any indiscriminate cash bonus and the opposition and cross benchers with a few exceptions are apparently of the same opinion, there seems but little prospect of a realization of the provisions of the latest G.W.V.A. plan. As Dominion secretary McNeill reminded the delegates, "it only remains to convince the public of Canada."

THE SUN AND THE HYDRO

The fued between Sir Adam Beck and the Farmers' Sun, the official organ of the United Farmers of Ontario, continues to wax furious. The head of the Hydro-Commission has evidently commenced to carry the war into Africa judging by his speech to representatives of Eastern Ontario municipalities at Oshawa the other night, when he referred to recent articles in the Sun condemning the Hydro scheme generally and Hydro radials in particular. The Farmers' has been recognized as the official organ of the Government. The latter is supposed to be sympathetic towards the Hydro movement and yet the Sun continues to attack the policies of the Hydro Commission. Sir Adam believes that the time has come for a "show down" and frankly declares "I think that from articles that have appeared in the paper, (The Sun), we have almost reached the time that the Government must either approve of repudiate the statements in that paper, so far as radials and Hydro are concerned." Premier Drury has not been slow to make it clear that the Sun is not the official organ of his Government. Some explanation was undoubtedly required as to why a paper which was supposed to be the official mouth-piece of the Government should voice sentiments that are directly opposed to the policies of the Hydro Commission and to the views of members of the Government as far as they can be judged from their speeches on the subject. It now appears that the Sun while it calls itself the official organ of the United Farmers' of Ontario cannot be regarded as holding a similiar position in regard to the Government.

SANDRA THE JEALOUS

BY JANE PHELPS

SANDRA IS IMPRESSED

CHAPTER LXXXII

When I had reached my room I stood before the dressing table. I wiped the tears from my eyes, took a book and sat down to read. I would not obey him and go to bed, altho I really was tired. No, Leola had defied him and he had worshipped her. I too would defy him as far as I dared —now. Perhaps the time would come when I would dare as much as had Leola. And then he would worship me.

I read in a desultory way until my attention was attracted by this paragraph:

"Some souls" it said, "have the power of merging themselves in another, and when the other is gone the power of loving is gone too. One is then compelled to live in the memory of past happiness, happiness that I can't explain, even to you." Of course the closing phrase referred to the person in the story to whom the one quoted was talking.

I read and re-read the paragraph: "When the other is gone the power of loving is gone too. One is compelled to live in the memory of past happiness" * * * *"

Was this true of Everett? Had his soul been so merged with the soul of Leola that when she had gone his power of loving had gone also?

I felt that perhaps at last I had found a solution of Everett's seeming indifference to me. He had lost the power of loving when he lost his happiness—Leola.

But if this were so, I had no reason to fear another woman; and I did fear Irma Barton. Even if he were not in love with her, Everett had no right to be with her, entertaining or being entertained, while I sat alone with no company but books. Often, too, when we were alone he was tired from the labours of the day —or so he said. I always felt irritated when this was so, because of my knowledge of his powers of fascinating others with his conversation when he chose.

As I thought of this I was angry and humiliated. Of course I couldn't be expected to hold so brilliant a man's interest. It must be true what they all said—he had married a young, a very young and healthy woman because he wanted a family.

Hetty broke in upon my musings.

"Mr. Kemp is calling," she told me.

One glance at the mirror told me that all traces of tears were gone.

"I will be down at once. Show him into the library." Just for a moment I recalled what Everett had said about receiving Walter Kemp, but only for a moment. My only feeling was one of delight that he had remembered me, had cared enough to call.

"I will see him—just as Leola would-" I whispered to myself when again a stray feeling that Everett would not aprove swept over me as I descended the stairs.

"This is so good of you," Kemp remarked as I entered the library.

"What is?" I asked saucily, "Allowing you to entertain me when I was bored to death by my own society."

"Mr. Graham is not at home?" Then, after a second, "I had hoped to find him."

An embarrassed flush made my face burn as I replied:

"We only returned from a visit to my old home this afternoon, and like all busy men Mr. Graham found matters that needed his attention," yet altho I had spoken glibly, I had a feeling that Walter Kemp did not accept my excuse. My resentment against Everett increased.

But I soon forgot Everett in listening to the airy persiflage of my caller. His brilliant dark eyes looked down into mine with the same admiration in them I had seen that day when he lifted me from the dusty road after our accident.

How I cudgelled my brain in vain for witty repartee with which to reply to his nonsense. But he seemed to be satisfied, and soon I was chatting of my visit home, my delight in meeting all my old friends, and the party mother gave the night before we left.

"Oh, that I might have been there!" he said with mock regret. "Am I never to have a dance with you?"

"If we meet at some private house, yes," I answered in the same careless tone. "But Everett —my husband does not approve of my dancing in public places with anyone but him—and that not often."

"I don't wonder he is afraid of losing you. If you belonged to me, I would buy a desert island, and lock you up on it."

"Oh, how dreadful!" Then to ease the situation, I asked: "Shall we go into the music room? Would you like some music?" He rose and followed willingly enough. Then as I switched on the lights he said:

"I see you have a victrola. We can have a dance together right now," and without waiting he opened the machine and adjusted a popular fox trot.

A TONIC IN SPRING AN AID TO EFFICIENCY

You Can Lay the Foundation of Good Health Now by Building Up Your Blood and Strengthening Your Nerves

The good old fashion of taking a tonic in the springtime, like most of the customs of our grandparents, is based upon sound common sense and good medical practice. Winter is always a trying time, for those who are not in rugged physical health. Many men, women and children go through the winter on reserve strength they have stored up during the sunny, summer months, and grow increasingly pale and languid as the spring days approach. A tonic for the blood and nerves at this time will do much for such people, by putting color in the cheeks and banishing that tired feeling that worries thousands of people at this season of the year.

It is impossible to be energetic if your blood is thin and weak, or if your nerves are frayed or shattered. You cannot compete with others if you do not get refreshing sleep at night, or if your apnetite is poor or you are losing weight. You need a tonic at this time to add to your efficiency now, as well as to save you from suffering later on. And in all the realm of medicine, thre is no safer and better tonic than Dr. Williams Pink Pills. These pills tone and enrich the blood which circulates through every portion of the body, strengthening jaded nerves and run down organs, and bringing a feeling of new strength and energy to weak, easily tired, despondent men, women and children.

Had No Energy.

Another of the thousands who have found benefit through the timely use of Dr. Williams Pink Pills is Mrs. T. Flynn, R.R. No. 1, Erinville, Ont., who says: "Last spring I got into a badly run own condition. I had no energy, work left me exhausted and the least exertion would make my heart palpitate violently. I had often read of Dr. Williams Pink Pills and decided to give them a trial and got a half dozen boxes. I had not been taking the pills long when I felt a decided improvement in my condition, and by the time I had used the sixth box my health was fully restored and I could do my housework with ease. I can recommend Dr. Williams Pink Pills to all weak people."

Badly Run Down.

Mrs. J. N. McNeil, Glace Bay, N.S., says: 'For years past my home has never been without Dr. Wiliams Pink Pills, and I have good reason to praise them highly. Following an attack of la grippe, I was left in a badly run down condition. I had no appetite and felt so weak I could scarcely go about the house. I was taking medicine, but it was not helping me and a friend advised me to try Dr. Williams Pink Pills. I used them for a time with the most beneficial results. My appetite improved, my strength returned and I was soon able to do all my housework. I now use the pills every spring and find them a splendid strength bringing tonic. I have recommended the pills to other friends who have used them with good results."

Never Felt So Well.

Miss Beatrice Bishop, Fendale, N. B., says: "I have never felt so well as I do since taking Dr. Williams Pink Pills. When I began their use I was very much run down. I had no color, no appetite, could not go upstairs without stopping to rest on the way. I had frequent headaches and a feeling of despondency. I took Pink Pills regularly for about eight weeks and while I felt a benefit from them almost from the first, at the end of that time I was in better health than I had ever enjoyed before. I freely give you permission to publish this letter as my experience may be the means of pointing the way to new health to some other weak and run down girl."

Bilious Headaches Gone.

Mr. D. C. McClure, Heffley Creek, B.C., says: "As a spring tonic I know of nothing else that can equal Dr. Williams Pink Pills. Last spring I felt weak and run down and suffered a great deal from bilious headaches. I got a half dozen boxes of Dr. Williams Pink Pills, and after taking them I felt like a new man. The lassitude from which I suffered had disappeared. I had a better appetite, and was in every way stronger and better than before I began the use of this medicine Almost everyone needs a tonic in the spring, and for this purpose I can strongly advise Dr. Williams Pink Pills."

Pale, Weak Girls.

When your daughter's strength fails, and pallor, breathlessness and backache disclose her anaemic condition, remember that you can make her well and asure her healthy development by giving her Dr. Williams Pink Pills to make good red blood. Remember, too, that for women of all ages Dr. Williams Pink Pills are especially helpful in the many ailments that result from watery blood. They make women an girls well and keep them well. This is amply proved by the case of Miss Eva McKinnon, Glammis, Ont., who says: "As a school girl I grew very pale and would take dizzy spells and sometimes vomiting. My Condition was such that I was not able to attend school regularly, and my mother was very much worried about my condition. Finally she decided to give me Dr. Williams Pink Pills, and I took these for a considerable time, gradualy gaining strength, until I was perfectly well. It is some years since I took these pills and I have enjoyed the best of halth, and I am certain pale, sickly girls will find new health if they will give Dr. Williams Pink Pills a fair trial."

Has a Better Appetite.

Mrs. M. D. MacLeod, Caledonia, P E.I., says: "I have used Dr. Williams Pink Pills as a spring medicine with satisfactory results. Before I began their use I was subject to weak spells, but these have now disappeared. I find that my appetite is better, and I have every confidence in your pills as a blood builder."

A Medicine Worth Trying.

Dr. Williams Pink Pills are a tonic, not a stimulant. They build up the blood, and through their use not only the disastrous after effects of influenza but also troubles due to poor blood, such as anaemia, rheumatism, indigestion and the generally worn-out feeling that affects so many people, disappear. You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED

IN THE LITERARY WORLD

There is a book in the Library entitled "A Book of Discovery," which is a most fascinating one. It deals with the discovery of lands and peoples from the time of the Phoenicians to the finding of the North Pole by Peary. It tells of the ancient and mediaeval idea that the world was flat, of the travels of Herodotus, of Alexander the Great, and his exploration of India, and of Pytheas, the mathematician of Marseilles, who first discovered the British Isles. And so down the centuries the book brings us, giving us information concerning Strabo's Geography and Ptolemy's maps, and unrolling the whole story of man's efforts to discover the extent and character of the lands and races of the planet on which he lives. There can be no more alluring study than that which deals with the story of the world and the people who inhabit it. There are few indeed who have not at some time or another been thrilled with the adventures of great explorers, and wished that they themselves could have a hand in piercing some portion of the world's surface hitherto untrodden by civilised mortals.

I remember that my own desire for a life of adventure was kindled at quite an early period by the experiences of a friend of the family named Bradford. He was in the merchant service, and had just returned from a voyage to Patagonia. His account of the wonders of that distant land, and of an attack by pirates on his vessel thrilled the young people of our household to the innermost fibres of our being. I can see him now, big, brawny, and bearded, dramatically describing for our edification how the savages eluded the watch on the vessel, massacring all of the crew who happened to be on deck, and throwing them into the sea. He went on to tell how they then descended into the cabins to finish their bloody work and that he was awakened by the touch of a dagger tickling his throat. But when he described how he suddenly rolled from his hammock and caught the pirate by the hair and stabbed him to the heart with his own snicker-snee, the blood leaped in our veins and we fairly shrieked with excitement. It adds to the interest to have known the heroes of such doings, but still we love to read about them whether we know them or not. The lives of great explorers abound in such adventures as these. We read of perils by water and by land, attacks by pirates and bandits, startling escapes from wild beasts and cobras and pythons, and apart altogether from the interest such adventures create in our minds, they help us to see through how many difficulties and dangers mankind has had to pass in order to arrive at his present knowledge of the earth, and to keep alive in us that spirit of daring and enterprise that has kept our Empire in the van. It is a duty incumbent on everyone to study geography and to read such books of travel as come in his way, for only by such means can knowledge be obtained of how much exploration has meant to the extension of commerce and the evangelisation of heathen races.

One Vast Island.

Strabo and other writers believed the earth to be one vast island surrounded on all sides by an ocean into which rivers flowed. He computed the breadth of the habitable world to be about three thousand miles and the length about seven thousand. But Strabo lived at the very commencement of the Christian era, and by the time of Ptolemy, A.D. 136 or thereabouts, quite an advance had been made in the knowledge of geography. Both as an astronomer and a geographer Ptolemy held sway over the minds of almost all scientific men down to the sixteenth and the beginning of the seventeenth century. But the last three hundred years have swept away nearly all the mists created by ignorance, surmise, and imperfect acquaintance with astronomy. Our shelves show to what an extent the desire for more perfect knowledge of distant lands has seized on men and women. Our books deal with travels in almost every corner of the world. Stanley and Livingstone, Emin Pasha and Donovan Pasha, Slatin Pasha, Baker and Speke, and Grant, Cook and Dampier, Scott and Nares and Franklin, are seen there in close touch with the heroes of other lands, Peary and Amundsen, Nordenskiold and Nansen. There is no end to the names of those who in these latter years have ventured into the wilderness of field and flood in order to blaze fresh trails for the advancement of science and the good of civilisation. Women have done their part, too, as the lives of many abundantly testify. Livingstone's wife, the daughter of the famous missionary, Dr. Moffatt, accompanied him on his journey to Lake Nyami and the Zambesi; Sir Samuel Baker's wife shared with him the perils of the Nubian Desert, and was with him when he discovered the Albert Nyanza. Their privations are well set forth in Sir Samuel Baker's book, "The Albert Nyanza."

A Well-Known Book.

Sir Henry Stanley, whose real name was Rowland, was the boyhood hero of many among us. Years ago I heard him lecture in the old Auditorium building on Queen Street in Toronto, and I couldn't help thinking as I gazed at him that he hardly measured up in appearance to one's preconceived ideas of a traveller and explorer. Bruce, I had read, was a giant in stature. Burnaby, whose "Ride to Khiva" was one of the most talked-of books of its day, was looked upon as the strongest man in the British Army. It was reported that on some gala occasion at Windsor he tucked a Shetland pony under each arm and walked up a flight of stairs with them. Compared with these, Stanley was almost a pigmy. But he was a compact little man, and determination was written in every line of his countenance. He had returned about a year previously from his search for Emin Pasha, and his fame was related to this one Stanley's life had been filled with incident. His early days must certainly have been loveless ones. He spent nine years in a workhouse, exposed to the tyranny of a man who ended his days in a lunatic asylum. He finally ran away and worked for a time on his aunt's farm, then he got a place in a dry-goods store, afterwards at a butcher's, and ended by shipping as a cabin-boy on a ship bound for New Orleans. There he attracted the notice of a kindly cotton broker named Henry Stanley, who eventually adopted him, and whose name he took.

His benefactor died suddenly without making any provision for him, and Stanley entered the Confederate Army as a volunteer, and was taken prisoner. He obtained his release on promising to serve in the U. S. Army, and was promptly attacked by fever which prevented his going on active service. For two years he obtained employment at various jobs, and then returned to his mother's house at Denbigh. He was peremptorily ordered away, and returned to America, and went seafaring. He was wrecked off Barcelona, and swam ashore naked, the sole survivor of the ship's company. He then decided to write an account of his adventures, and thus made his entry into journalism. The rest of his career is too well known to need recapitulation. If anyone is anxious to read a book of real adventures, whose only demerit lies in the fact that it wasn't written yesterday, he can obtain much enjoyment by reading "In Darkest Africa."—F. M. D.

1619 VISITS TO 144 PATIENTS MADE BY THE DISTRICT NURSE

MISS EDITH HAMILTON'S REPORT TO HEALTH ASSOCIATION A REMINDER OF EFFICIENT SERVICE QUIETLY PERFORMED—SPECIAL TUBERCULAR WORK.

The service the Peterborough Health Association renders the public was reviewed at the annual meeting in the following report by the District Nurse, Miss Edith Hamilton, the publication of which was deferred until now:

Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen.—I beg to submit the following report for the general and tubercular work for the year 1919.

During the year one hundred and thirty-three patients were treated. Of these there were:

Medical	86
Obstetric	36
Surgical	11
	133

The following donations have been handed in and have been greatly appreciated.

The Red Cross Society—Fifteen 1 lb. packages of absorbent cotton, three webs of gauze, a large number of Canton flannel bandages; also old linen which is always needed.

The one hundred and thirty-three patients mentioned above, had to be visited once or twice a day as the case demanded. Thus one thousand and six hundred and nineteen visits in all were made by the nurse. I might just say that had I not a car I could not attend to both general and tubercular patients. Nine hundred and sixty-one were free, six hundred and fifty-eight were paid for by the patients. The total sum collected was one hundred and sixty-four dollars and sixty cents.

Clinic Was Helpful.

During the year a clinic for babies was held at the motor show. To this a large number of mothers brought their babies for a physical examination. Some of these were poorly nourished and some had slight physical defects, which the mothers had not thought serious enough to have attended to. These were pointed out and the mothers were advised by the physician in attendance to have their family doctors correct them. It would not be possible to mention all these cases in this report, but one baby in particular was poorly nourished and weighed only six lbs. when four months old. This baby was visited daily by the nurse and the mother instructed as to the baby's food, sleep, bath and airing. The child now weighs fifteen pounds and has a good foundation laid for a strong constitution.

In a family of seven, there were two children who were poorly nourished. There were supplied by the association with milk and eggs for three months and gained rapidly in weight. Now they are in good health and attending school.

The Association had also an emergency tent on the Exhibition grounds on the first of July. Four patients who had been overcome by the intense heat were revived.

On exhibition week they had another emergency tent to help all who were in any way hurt.

During the year the nurse was called out twelve times at night.

The Tubercular Work.

The tubercular work has not increased to any extent during the past year. If there are more patients they have not been reported to the nurse.

During the past year, eleven tubercular patients were treated, three of which were new cases. These were visited as occasion demanded, thus making a total of two hundred and fifty nine visits.

In one house that was visited there were eight children, the eldest being in the advanced stage of tuberculosis. Here no precaution had been taken to ward off infection, no precaution taken in regard to the sputum. The danger of contracting tuberculosis is especially great during childhood and we have learned that the advanced stage must be isolated, if we are to avoid case after case of infection. This is hard to do, however, in a home. The ladies of the Supervision committee have sent a little girl eight years old suffering from tuberculosis in the bones of the feet to the sick children's hospital, where she will be operated on.

For this the following articles have been loaned: Air cushions, 2 electric fans, verandah curtains, thermometers, cots, soap stones, coal oil stove and a bed rest. Moerover, all patients who are in need are supplied with milk, eggs and medicine as long as they are required.

1878 Visits During Year.

The total number of visits made during the year is one thousand and eight hundred and seventy-eight and one hundred and forty-four patiets were treated. Of these ten have died, 3 of tuberculosis, 4 carcinoma, 1 pernicious anaemia, one heart disease, 1 paralysis ,and one hundred and thirty-four have recovered.

FASHION NOTES

Favorite materials for Spring Suits are smooth-faced. There are some wonderful new serges, woven like Oriental cashmere—that is, the colors follow the serge cordings and cross the material diagonally. The ground of these new serges is usually a dark shade, gray, brown, dark blue or mole, and the colors are woven in diagonally only one way. The colored threads seem to be simply drawn through the material one way of the cloth so that they are not clearly marked and give a shadowy effect.

The dressmakers one and all agree that the hips of the spring models whether they are suits, day dresses or evening frocks, are flat, and any drapery that is allowed falls well below the hip line. This, of course, means very snug corseting below the waist, though elastic, girdle corsets, upon which some of the smartest clothes for a long time past have been modeled are still in evidence. The difference is that now they are much more tightly drawn in below the waist and the only part of the new unlined spring dresses which is really carefully fitted is the hips.

Long, straight under arm lines, extending twelve inches below the waist are esential this spring and mark the new cut of all clothes.

There are no buttons or metallic ornaments this season and the usual spring braided costume is conspicious by its absence from the smartest saloons. Braid is occasionally used to accentuate a color scheme or outline a drooping fold, but the lovely materials are left untrimed for the most part, and the spring clothes depend entirely upon their line for distinction.

UNBLEACHED MUSLIN.

Unbleached muslin, or as it is perhaps better known, grey cotton, has come into its own and it is not only a la mode for household purposes but the very newest and most expensive summer dresses are being made of it.

Until recently no up-to-date nor out-of-date person would dream of wearing the unbleached even where it couldn't be seen and you could only suspect, for to display it even as bed dressing on the wash line would mean neighborhood ostracism.

Now in some of the most exclusive shops dresses or gowns for grown-ups and childern with simple running stitches as decoration, and at sugary prices, made of unbleached muslin are on sale.

GUARD AGAINST THE 'FLU

Serious Outbreaks of Influenza all over Canada

GOOD HEALTH IS THE SUREST SAFEGUARD

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Brings Vigor and Vitality and Thus Protects Against Disease

There can be no doubt that the situation regarding the spread of Influenza throughout Canada is one of grave concern. It is quite true that the number of cases does not constitute an epidemic such as caused the suffering and sorrow during the terrible days of 1918. Yet there is no disguising the fact that everyone should be on their guard against the disease.

In Montreal alone, from January 20th to February 21st, three thousand, one hundred and twenty-two cases of Influenza and 189 deaths from the disease were reported to the Health Department.

If the outbreak had come at the beginning of the winter instead of the end, we might reasonably feel that the very cold weather would check the spread of the disease. But coming as it has, at the end of the winter, there is grave fear that an epidemic may occur. For spring, with its slush and rain under foot, its dampness and chill, its constant changing from cold to warm and back again, is a prolific source of coughs and colds, pleurisy and pneumonia.

The best protection, in fact, the only safeguard against the 'Flu, is, GOOD HEALTH.

Those who are not as well and strong as they should be; those who are underweight; those who are "run-down" through overwork or sickness; should build up at once. What they need is a Blood-purifier, a body-builder, a strength-giver, like "Fruit-a-tives", the wonderful fruit medicine.

"Fruit-a-tives" regulates the kidneys and bowels, causing these organs to eliminate waste regularly and naturally as nature intended. "Fruit-a-tives" keeps the skin active, and insures an abundant supply of pure, rich blood. "Fruit-a-tives" tones up and strengthens the organs of digestion, sharpens the appetite, brings restful sleep and renews the vitality of the nervous system. "Fruit-a-tives" contains everything that an ideal tonic should have; to purify the blood, to build up strength and vigor, and to regulate the eliminating organs, so that the whole system would be in the best possible condition to resist disease.

Now is the time to build up your health and strength, not only as a precaution against the ravages of Influenza, but also to protect you against "spring fever" and the inevitable reaction which comes with the appearance of warmer weather. Get a box of "Fruit-a-tives" today and let this fruit medicine keep you well.

"Fruit-a-tives" is sold by all dealers at 50c a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, trial size 25c, or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

VICTORIA, B.C., March 27—The Prince of Wales will not return to England from Australia by way of Canada this summer. This statement is made by his secretary in a cablegram to the Victoria board of trade.

COLOUR RIOT IN SUMMER DRESS

ALL THE SHADES NOT IN THE RAINBOW ON EXHIBITION IN N.Y.

NEW YORK, March 26.—The man who created the latest innovation in Fifth avenue fashions got his inspiration before the prohibition era. When the window curtains in one of the best known shops were hoisted this morning, crowds of early pedestrians collected to a mustard and henna tunic blouse, with a mass of snakes around the bodice for decorations.

Tha was only an early indication of the fact that the entire reptilian family, with its choice assortment of frogs, snakes and alligators, has swarmed, or squirmed, or whatever they wo when they find some place and light. Dame Fashion all eager for an innovation, has caught at this one, like a curio hunter in a cliff dweller's winter home.

In several other shops on the avenue there was more sign that the new style had sprawled into the realm of what-shall-I-wear-next with all four feet. Hand-painted gods and goddesses, sphinxes, eels, and any other creature that could come from either the nursery book or the immagination leered from luxurious silken backgrounds in gorgeous profusion.

This was the first indication of summer. Spring having been introduced along in February to anticipate the ending of the snow season, the fashion dictators chose to indicate summer today when what is hoped to be the last snow of the year is fast going away.

All the summer finery, however, is not bizarre or fantastic. On the whole the mid-summer gowns seem more airily feminine and dainty than before. Some of the Fifth avenue windows, where the reptile mania does not hold sway, look like nothing so much as a chant of "What is so rare as a summer gown?"

Sheer materials such as organdie, dotted swiss and net are in the lead and have almost annihilated the time-honored voile. What little voile is shown is camouflaged, one favorite pattern having been made to resemble swiss, with red polka dots. Flowered georgettes and chiffons are found in abundance, and, with the exception of a few organdies, are the only materials that permit the use of flower and spray designs. Such materials as are not one color are conventially patterned.

Ruffles have supplanted flowers. It seems as though every known stitch in the art of sewing is crowded into each gown. One leading courtier shows a pink organdie dress that has eighteen rows of ruffles, an accordion-pleated skirt, three different kinds of lace, an over-apron, hemstitching, tucking, ribbon trimming, bias bands and smocking.

In the thinner frocks, orchid is the leading color, even surpassing in popularity the jade green that gleamed on most spring displays. Rose and firefly come next, auguring well for a season of riotous color.

In general contour, the majority of the frocks are very straight and loose. The waistline is lost behind sashes of crushed ribbons of every color of the rainbow. Dual colored ribbons appear to be in vogue at this early showing. Narrow picoted ribbons in new shades are seen as trimming on every sort of midsummer model, and the makers say that the cost of the gown is in the sash.

Copen and French blue have to take a back seat these days to the more greenish Pekin. It's Pekin blue for sports coats, for suits and dresses.

"Suncloud" is the name of a new material, said to shed the rain, which will be used for sports costumes. It is reversible, so that both sides can be used.

GENEVA.—The Journal de Geneve asserts that Russian and Hungarian Princesses and Baronesses driven to suicide indirectly by the Bolshevist regime of these two countries number fourteen alone in resorts around Lake Geneva.

Since the armistice five have been found drowned in the lake off Montreux. The remainder shot or poisoned themselves in hotels.

Similar cases are reported from other Swiss towns.

The Swiss papers are suppressing the names, some of which are well known in New York society. Some of the victims married Americans who were killed or disappeared in the war.

RECOLLECTIONS OF TORONTO IN ITS PERIOD OF MUDDY YORK

Eighty-six years of momentous change have passed since Toronto, or York, as it was called in 1833, thought itself mature enough to have a town directory. The little book, four by six inches, one copy of which is now in the possession of J. T. Worden, North Toronto, dwindles into insignificance beside the bulky volume of today. It contains nevertheless a large number of interesting facts, some of which are closely related to present-day events. The original cover has long since disappeared, but the title page bears the following inscription:

York Commercial Directory, Street Guide and Register, 1833-4, with Almanack and Calendar for 1834, being the second after leap year and the fifth year of the reign of His Majesty King William the Fourth. Compiled and arranged by George Walton, York, U.C. Printed by Thomas Dalton, 233 King Street.

At the foot of the almanack the compiler, evidently a humorous man, adds: "This table is sufficiently accurate for the purpose for which it is wanted—that of ascertaining moonlight evenings."

Even at that early date the civic administration had conceived the idea of spoiling the scenic beauty of York harbor. On Feb. 13, 1833, an act was passed granting £2000 for harbor improvements. To repay this sum a toll was to be imposed on all vessels within the harbor and for wharfage on any vessel lying under the protection of works erected by the commissioners.

Horse-Propelled Ferry.

The island ferry service then consisted of one boat, Sir John of the Peninsula, which made daily trips, propelled by the combined exertions of four horses. These horses turned the windlass connected to the paddle box. The fare was one shilling and three pence. The hours of sailing were regulated to the public convenience. Th chief attraction on the island was the starch and candle factory of Benjamin Knott, in connection with which was a hotel for the accommodation of picnic parties.

The port was served by steamboats which left York daily for Niagara, Hamilton, Prescott, Kingston and Rochester. At 7 a.m. the Canada left York for Niagara, making the return trip at 1 o'clock in the afternoon. Cabin and after-deck passage was ten shillings each way; fore-cabin and deck five shillings. The John By left York for Hamilton Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at 9 a.m., returning at the same hour Monday, Wednesday and Friday. The steamer Peacock made weekly returns to Rochester.

Vaccination, the question occupying the limelight at present, was doubtless much discussed by our forefathers, since Dr. Rees presided over a medical dispensary and vaccine establishment at 74 King Street, opposite the market, where advice and vaccination were given gratis to the poor on Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturdays from 10 to 1 o'clock.

Fifteen Physicians.

Considering the size of the place, York was well supplied with physicians. Fifteen doctors practised in the town, including the resident physician at the hospital, situated at King and John streets. It is deshribed as being a large plain building wih a "pediment" front. Five druggists had establishments in York, all of which were on King Street.

King Street was then the main business thorofare. The book states that the street was a mile and a half long, running thru the centre of the town from Parliament to Peter Street. Like the other important highway of "Muddy York," the road was flagged, but an act was passed to replace the flagstones with a macadamized pavement.

The majority of important buildings and business houses were situated on this street. On the northwest corner of King and Church Streets, known as court house square, was the jail, court house and pound. On the site of the present C.P.R. building William Crawford, jr., kept a general store. Farther west, at the corner of Graves Street (later renamed Simcoe), stood the government house, government offices and stables. Across the road was Upper Canada College, "enclosed by a neat palisade fence.

Peter Street formed the western boundary of the town. South to the bay shore and across the common were the barracks, where some two hundred men of the 66th Regiment were quartered. Close by was the battery commanding the entrance to the harbor.

In adition to the company of regulars York boasted of a section of the Royal Artillery numbering one sergeant and eight rank and file. Then, to, there was the volunteer artillery company, fifty strong. A good band, an elegant standard and fifty stad of arms as well as two field pieces comprised their equipment.

It is interesting to note the changes in the names of the downtown sreets, Adelaide Street was then called Newgate Street and contained about an equal number of residences and business houses. The late Jesse Ketchum, M.L.A. for York lived at the corner of Newgate and Yonge Streets. His tannery occupied both sides of Newgate Street to Bay Street.

Queen Street, then known as Lot Street, commenced at Yonge Street and ran west. Lot Street east commenced in Yonge Street, ran east for a short distance, and was intercepted by the residence and grounds of Capt McGill, S. P. Jarvis and the Hon. W. Allen. Past these it opened out again. It was intended to be continued to the Don River.

The north side of Lot Street west was kown as Macauley town, the block originally belonging to Dr. Macauley. It ended at Osgoode Hall, often spoken of as Lawyers' Hall, which then consisted of the east wing of the present structure. It had been completed in 1832 and York was proud of it.

Yonge Street commenced at Front Street and bisected the town. It terminated somewhere about the present Shuter Street, and from there on to Newmarket was known as Yonge Street Road.

The Hon. Robert Baldwin resided at the corner of Yonge and Meldiva Streets. Meldiva was later renamed Melinda Street. Behind his premises in Jordan Street Rev. James Richardson edited and published The Christian Guardian.

William Lyon Mackenzie lived at Church and Richmond Streets. The office in which he published his paper, The Colonial Advocate, was at 14 Church Street.

Down at the corner of Parliament and Palace Streets Enoch Turner kept a brewery. Not far away was the windmill of Worts & Gooderham. The compiler adds the following comment: "This street is called "Vale Pleasant."

Close by was a bridge across the "great Don River" as the main stream of the river was called. The bridge was known as the "Angell's Bridge," being named after the engineer. It had been built by public subscription for the convenience of crossing to the Island. It was out of commission temporarily owing to the destruction of the bridge across the "little Don" by fire, which, as the book says, it was necessary to pass to get to the first-mentioned bridge."

How this could have happened is astonishing since York then prided itself upon having two volunteer fire companies.

The fire engine company, formed in 1826, was composed of some of the most respectable merchants and tradesmen of the town." It was fifty strong, had two excellent fire engines and about 750 feet of hose. The hook and ladder company had 60 members The firemen's hall was on Church Street. Every fireman so long as he remained on active duty was exempt from military duty in time of peace, from serving as a constable or juryman and similar parish offices.

As the railway had not yet made its appearance in Upper Canada York had to depend largely on the old stage coach to keep in touch with other points A daily service was in operation between York and Holland Landing and another between York and Hamilton. Daily except Saturday the stage left to bump its way over the so-called road between York and the Carrying Place, on the Bay of Quinte. There it made connection with the steamer to Kingston. Passengers on these stages were only permitted to carry thirty pounds of bagagge, all extra being charged by weight. Two hundred pounds counted the same as a passenger.

Empounding Pigs.

The regulations governing the pound offer an amusing contrast to those of the present time. Instead of empounding your dog the authorities singled out your pig was the offender. Pigs were positively forbidden to roam at large thruout the streets of the meropolis. If your pig disregarded these rules and was "run in" it cost you one shilling to get it out plus one and t' reepence per day for keep. Unless trespassing, horses and cows were not empounded.

At this most interesting period of its existence York had six missions and one temperance society. Since for a population of 9,000 there were sixty saloons, taverns, inns or liquor shops and that whiskey sold at 15c a quart, the temperance worker must have had an uphill job.

The Ontario House, at the foot of Church Street, was the most pretentious hostelry in town. The others were small inns. The King's Arms Tavern and the Bull's Head Inn are typical examples of the names by which they were known. John Palmer, the proprietor of the Bull's Head Inn, inscribed on his signboard the following little verse:

"Traveller's friend,
And extortionist's foe,
And to-morrow you'll know."

Situated on the south side of King Street nearly in the centre of the town was the public market. The lon grange of brick buildings stretched from King Street to the bay front. The main entrance on King Street consisted of three large iron gates On each side were three similar entrances and another at the lower end. Shops were arranged on both sides for butchers only. At the lower end were booths where dairy products were sold. The space in the centre was reserved for the farmers' wagons. Over the butchers' shops was the warhouse of Gillespie, Jamieson & Company. The northeast corner fronting on King Street was occupied by a firm of auctioneers. Above the main entrance was a hall used for town meetings.

Running north opposite the market was New Street, later named Jarvis Street, terminating at he grounds of S. P. Jarvis. Duke Street, commencing at New Street and running east contained some of the finest residences in the town. Close by the "elegant brick-built mansion" of Hon. Sir Wiliam Campbell, William Proudfoot was erecting "two elegant brick houses." The Bank of Upper Canada stood at the corner of Duke and George Streets. Just east of the bank was the new postoffiece.

The quaint town has now faded into the dim past, to have its place taken by the foremost city in the Dominion. Only casual references are made to the early days of this big city, when the streets were unlighted, and the business transacted by telephone and telegraph were yet unknown.

Voice Of The People

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Could you inform me if there is no way or law to stop a man from starting up in business and canvassing a man's customers after selling out to him six months ago?

Yours truly,

There is no way unless it was agreed at the time of the sale of the business that the seller would not go into business within a specified time nor canvass for business.

MADAM LANDRY TELLS WHAT DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS DID FOR HER.

New Brunswick Lady Who Had Tried Other Medicines Claims She Found the Remedy She Was Looking For In Dodd's Kidney Pills.

ST. LEOLIN, N.B., March 26.—(Special.)—Among the many women who claim they owe their health to Dodd's Kidney Pills, none is more enthusiastic than Madam Bruno D. Landry, a highly esteemed resident here.

"It is with great pleasure that I recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills," Madam Landry says. "I was ill for a long time, and nothing I took relieved me. I read often of the good Dodd's Kidney Pills did for others, but I had not much faith in them."

"At last, after having tried a lot of other medicines, I decided to give Dodd's Kidney Pills a trial. The result has brought me perfect health.

"If those who suffer from kidney disease will use Dodd's Kidney Pills they will find them good and soon be convinced, as I have been, that they are the remedy for kidney disease."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are no faith cure. You don't have to believe in them to find in them the relief you are looking for. But if you ask your neighbors they will tell you out of their own experiences of the work Dodd's Kidney Pills have done.

The Human Clock usually Breaks Down instead of Runs Down

"It has long been a favorite idea of mine to compare the human body with my old clock here."

"Without proper attention the old clock gets run down and stops until I wind it up again and then it ticks away just as heartily and regularly as ever."

"And so it is with the human body, but the great difference I find is that the human clock usually breaks down instead of runs down because people neglect to take proper care of their health."

"Through all these years I have managed to keep well and to keep young by using restorative treatment whenever there are indications of the system becoming run down.

"Fortunately I learned the value some years ago of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and to its use I largely attribute my healthful condition at this age."

"When I hear people talking about being unable to sleep or of suffering from nervous headaches, indigestion or worn-out feelings I ask them, 'Why do you not use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to increase your nervous energy'."

"So many people, as age advances, suffer from a lowering of the vitality, from high blood pressure or hardening of the arteries, but I have found that the use of this restorative treatment, when required keeps my health at the high water mark."

CALEDONIAN CLUB SOCIAL EVENING

A SPLENDID DANCE—OFFICE-BEARERS ELECTED FOR THE FOOTBALL CLUB.

A PIPER PRESENT

A large number of Scotsmen turned out last evening to the regular dance under the auspices of the Caledonian Club in the Woodmen of the World Hall. The dancing commenced early in the evening to the strains of excellent music provided by the Symphony Three—Mrs. Goodley, pianist, Mrs. Foster, violinist, and Mr. "Dad" Dyer, drums—as they played all the latest music, which every person highly appreciated. During the evening Miss Duthy, Mrs. French and Mr. Thompson rendered appropriate songs, also Mr. Lorne MacDonald, a man of good repute, gave a number of selections on the pipes, but the event of the social function was the pipe band accomplishment, so well taken up by Mr. Wm. Thompson at the big drum, Mr. French at the small drum, and a few others, brought back recollections of beyond the sea.

Football Office Bearers of the Club.

Previous to the dance the following gentlemen were appointed as follows, to take care of the Caledonian football team:

Hon. Pres.—Mr. G. N Gordon.
Hon. VicePres.—Mr. Alex. Gibson.
President—Mr. Alex. Dick.
Vice-President—Mr. Harry Taylor.
Sec'y-Treas.—Mr. Alex. McArthur.
Committee — Mr. R. Veitch, Mr. Robert Haddow and Mr. McLeish, Senr.

The Scotsmen of the city who play football will get a hearty welcome if they desire to become associated with the Club.

PREDICT REPORT ADVERSE TO THE U·S. SOCIALISTS

ALBANY, March 25.—In the case of the suspended Socialist Assemblymen, a majority of the Assembly Judiciary Committee are expected to report early next week in favor of expelling all five Socialists on the ground that they are ineligible and unqualified to sit, also urging the outlawing of the Socialist Party at the polls. This follows the contentions in a brief filed by Attorney General Newton.

Says They Are Bound by Party Acts.

The Attorney General's brief bases its recommendation on the charge that their party affiliation unfits them for service in the Assembly.

"It is by the organization to which they belong that these men must be judged," said the brief. "Their individual acts and declarations, insofar as they have been proved, serve merely to illumine and to show in concrete operation the principal purposes of the party to which they belong.

"Socialists are trying to bring about a change of government by political action backed up by a general strike, the two being employed as the two strong arms of a giant to pull down the structure of our Government which has been built and maintained through the inspiration, the toil and the blood of countless loyal citizens of this republic."

Assemblyman Samuel Orr and Samuel A. De Witt, against whom no personal charges were made, are included in the demand for exclusion on the ground that they are "members in good standing, pledged to support Socialist principles and programs and in failing to take the stand by their silence have acquiesced in the utterances of their party and admited the truth of the accusations brought against them and must suffer from every hostile presumption rising from their silence."

The individual acts of August Claessens, Louis Waldman and Charles Solomon, the other three, as shown by the testimony, are subordinated in the brief as merely affording illustration and making manifest where the Socialist Party principles will lead when applied in word and act. Every charge against the five Assemblymen has been proven, according to the brief, which recommends that the committee report that they "are ineligible and disqualified to seats in the Assembly for all of the reasons set forth and because of their disloyalty to the United States of America and State of New York; that because of such ineligibility and disqualification they are incapable of taking the oath of office prescribed by the Constitution of this State; that by formally subscribing to said oath their position, in view of their ineligibility and disqualification, is no different from what it would have been had they refused to take the oath, and that they, therefore, shall be denied seats in the Assembly."

In support of this contention that the Socialist Party is preparing and attempting to bring about a revolution in this country as part of the international Socialist revolution, the brief says:

Charges Incitement to Mass Action.

"It has opposed and obstructed and continues to oppose and obstruct the Government of the United States and this State in all measures relating to the national and State defence. Its purpose in so doing is a manifest one; to weaken and leave defenseless the Government of the State and nation against the attacks of foreign and domestic enemies and thus deprive it of that right of self-preservation which is admittedly the first laws of government.

"It has advocated and incited the destruction of the existing Government of the United States by illegal mass action.

"While professing to utilize political action, it constantly denies that existing evils or defects may be remedied by such action, and insists that such political action must be supplemented by violent and mass action, which it advocates directly as well as by insinuation and suggestion.

"The political action of the party is responsible only to the dues-paying membership. Those who are elected to office are bound to follow the dictates of such membership and their compliance is compelled by drastic and comprehensive provisions in the constitution of the party.

LATE SEEDING IN NORTH.

The Snow is About Three Feet Deep and Spring Seeding Will be Delayed.

CALGARY, Alta., March 27. — "There will be a late seeding in the north," according to H. Greenfield, of Westlock, on the Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia railway, a member of the executive of the United Farmers of Alberta. "The snow is about three feet deep, and it will be some considerable time before the farmers will be able to commence operations on their land."

NEGRO WILL MARRY NOVA SCOTIA GIRL

THOMAS FLETCHER SAYS THAT NEITHER HE OR FIANCE CONSIDER COLOR OR RACE.

BOSTON, MASS.,—Thomas I Fletcher, a full-blooded negro, 28 years of age, residing at 203 West Springfield Street, will be married to Miss Jessie Mae McLaren, 22 years of age, a native and resident of Glace Bay, N.S., a white girl of unusual beauty, Saturday night or Monday morning. Fletcher, who enlisted in the Canadian army at the beginning of the war and who was later transferred to the American army, is now a real estate agent with offices at 997 Tremont Street. He was born in Cambridge, Maryland, and attended schools in Baltimore and Washington.

Miss McLean served throughout the world war as a nurse in the Canadian Red Cross. "I met my fiancee near Dedham four months ago," stated Fletcher this morning. "Miss McLean was a nurse with a private family there and I was a waiter. My real estate work is not a new venture for I once had offices in Baltimore before the war. Neither she or I consider color or race for we love each other dearly. I have been keeping company with her steadily since I met her. We filled our marriage intentions yesterday and she has gone to Everett to live with an aunt until we are married. As long as we are not breaking the law I do not see why any one is interested in us. After we are married we will spend our honeymoon in Baltimore and then return here to live with my people."

LACROSSE PROSPECTS ARE VERY BRIGHT

A LARGE NUMBER OF GOOD PLAYERS IN THE CITY—MR. J. L. JOHNSTON NOMINATED FOR O. L. A. EXECUTIVE.

The lacrosse meeting held last evening brought out the fact that there is material in the city for a first class lacrosse club and that the sport will have many enthusiastic supporters as soon as the organization is complete.

There are players in the city of first class ability, from Quebec, Orillia, Maitlands, of Toronto, Norwood and other places, with a number of Peterboro men who have previously played the game. An effort will be made to get into a series comprising Peterborough, Norwood, Havelock, Hastings and Tweed, where good lacrosse has been played for a number of years.

The meeting for the organization of the club with a full set of officers, will be held on Tuesday night next, in the Empress Hotel.

In the meantime a committee is getting information on grounds, available players and prospects for a district. Mr. J. L. Johnston was elected delegate to the annual meeting of the O.L.A. and will be Peterboro's nomination for a place on the Executive.

A MEETING OF LACROSSE MEN

ANOTHER MEETING ON TUESDAY EVENING NEXT.

About twenty-five representative citizens interested in the formation of a lacrosse club in Peterboro met at the Empress Hotel last evening. The election of officers was postponed until Tuesday next. Much business was attended to and the enthusiasm displaced in the reviving of this game augers well for the success of the season in Peterboro. Joseph Begley was elected secretary, pro tem, and H. Tudhope, treasurer, pro tem. A committee was appointed to go into the question of grounds. Mr. Len. Johnston was appointed Peterboro representative at the Ontario Amateur Lacrosse Association meeting in Toronto on Good Friday.

The meeting on Tuesday next is an important one and all interested in seeing lacrosse returned to ite old status are requested to come out. Not onl yare the old lacrosse players invited but the young fellows who are desirous of getting into the game are cordially invited.

MAGEE THREATENS TO SPILL THE BEANS.

If Barred from Baseball, Will Take Other Noted Ones With Him.

CINCINNATI, March 25. — Lee Magee, baseball player, barred this season from the National League clubs, is threatening to "spill the beans."

Magee says that on Saturday he will make public the charges on which the National League bases its action in barring him, and also the documents in the case.

"If I'm barred, I will take quite a lot of noted people with me," he declared. "I'll show up some people for tricks turned ever since 1906, and there will be merry music in the baseball world."

COLLEGIATE WON THE FOURTH GAME

DEFEATED THE 57TH REGIMENT IN BASEBALL GAME.

The Collegiate Institute team won their fourth game in the Indoor Baseball League last evening when they defeated the 57th Regiment in one of the most closely contested games played this season by the score of 12-8.

From the first innings the game was a pitcher's battle, both Hunter for the Collegiate and Dunkerly for the 57th pitching a great game. Practically all the scoring by both teams was due to fast running on the bases.

The Best Cough Syrup is Home-made.

Here's an easy way to save $2, and yet have the best cough remedy you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? When you do, you will understand why thousands of families the world over, feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will quickly earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a 16-oz. bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth); then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the bottle. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you 16 ounces of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for $2.50.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex

How Wrinkles Are Caused—and Removed

Wrinkles are caused by the skin becoming loose. Obviously the remedy is to tighten the skin. Equally it is obvious that the only thing which will tighten the skin is a good astringent application.

Now, it is well known that the only effective astringent which is at the same time perfectly harmless and beneficial as well, is pure powdered saxolite, obtainable from any druggist. Dissolve one ounce in a half-pint of witch hazel. Bathe the face in this refreshing lotion and—behold! The result is almost magical. The skin becomes firm and smooth, the face feels smug, comfortable and solid, instead of loose and flabby.

One should be careful to use no other astringents than pure saxolite.

FRECKLES

March Worst Month for This Trouble—How to Remove Easily.

There's a reason why nearly everybody freckles in March, but happily there is also a remedy for these ugly blemishes, and no one need stay freckled.

Simply get an ounce of Othine, double strength, from your druggist and apply a little of it night and morning and in a few days you should see that even the worst freckles have begun to vanished entirely. Now is the time to rid yourself of freckles, for if not removed now they may stay all Summer, and spoil an otherwise beautiful complexion. Your money back if Othine fails.

"NIGHTIE NIGHT"

For a farce comedy not of the bedroom order to achieve an all-season's run in New York, drawing capacity audiences all the time is phenomenal But that is the record standing to the credit of "Nightie-Night," by Martha M. Stanley and Adelaide Matthews, which Adolph Klauber, in asociation with the Selwyns will present at the Grand Opera House today. It is a comedy of domestic misadventures involving jealous wives and husbands and a perfectly proper pair of dainty pink pyjamas. The hilarity produces not a single blush on the tenderest cheek, but it is warranted by the producer to send any playgoer home with jaws and ribs sore from laughter. Mr. Klauber is bringing from New York the original Princess Theatre cast. It is headed by Francis Byrne, a tried and true comedian, and comprises also Suzanne Wills, Dorothy Mortimer, Malcolm Duncan, Grant Mills, Marie Chambers, Ruby Craven and Cyril Raymond.

CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG IN "EYES OF YOUTH"

HAS CAST OF DISTINGUISHED ARTISTS.

One of the most interesting casts secured this season will surround Clara Kimball Young in her new big production, "Eyes of Youth." The cast has been selected from the very highest ranks of both stage and screen, and there is hardly a bit in the production that is not being played by an artist of star qualities.

Miss Young is playing the role of Gina Ashling, which was created in the New York production, one of the most sensational successes of the season, by Marjorie Rambeau.

One of the really big parts of the play is that of Palo Salvo, the Italian impresario, who inveigles Gina into accompanying him to Europe for an operatic career. The distinguished actor, Wiliam Courtleigh, has been secured for this role, while Gareth Hughes will play the role of Kenneth Ashling, the brother, and Lowe, a favorite of both the stage and screen in New York and throughout the country, is playing the part of Peter, the successful suitor. The mysterious and particularly colorful character of the Hindu Yogi that weaves itself through the play, giving an air of the mysteries of the Orient, will be created by Vincent Serrano, while Pauline Starke, recently appearing with Norman Kelly in "Soldiers of Fortune", will play the role of Rita Ashling, Gina's younger sister. Sam Southern, Ralph Lewis and Milton Sills have the other featured characters of the production, and there will be fully twenty or more bits and small character parts to be taken care of. "Eyes of Youth" will be shown at the Allen Theatre for three days commencing Monday.

PARENTS WARNED BY MAGISTRATE

TRUANT OFFICER HAS TWO CASES IN POLICE COURT

The School Attendance Officer had two fathers appear before Magistrate Dumble this morning. It is alleged that their children have not been regular attendants at school and the parents have been a little delinquent in the matter too. Magistrate Dumble gave the fathers a severe censuring and warned them to see that their children became better acquainted with the teacher and readin' an' 'riting an' 'rithmetic. The case was adjourned for two weeks when if no improvement is observed the parents will have to pay the penalty.

DAYLIGHT SAVING.

The State Legislature of Massachusetts has passed a daylight saving bill by a vote of 181 to 38. The daylight saving law becomes effective in New York State next Sunday, and the heads of many industries announce that they will observe it despite the fact that railroad time tables will be based on standard time. The Journal has been of the opinion that the opposition to daylight saving which developed in the Canadian Parliament and the U. S. Congress, was the result of prejudice rather than reason, and we should not be surprised if before long both these legislative bodies face about on the question. In the meantime the people of Ottawa, Toronto and Montreal are to enjoy the sunlight regulation this summer and the advantages will be far greater than the slight inconvenience that may be caused a comparatively small proportion of the population through a variation in the railroad time.—Ottawa Journal.

Get Rid of The Cough That Sticks

Some coughs seem hard to shake off—stick right to you in spite of all you do to get rid of them.

Those are the kind of coughs that are dangerous—that weaken the lungs so that the germs of consumption find a ready foothold.

We know of no remedy that will cure stubborn coughs— coughs that won't let go—like Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

It allays the inflammation, soothes the irritation, and heals the diseased mucous lining of the lungs and bronchial tubes.

Mrs. Leo. Allen, Petit de Grat Bridge, N.S., writes:—'Last winter I had an awful cough that kept me in the house for over two months. I tried several cough remedies, but got no relief. I was almost discouraged when a grocer here offered me a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. After taking that one my coughing began to cease. I took two more and they cured me completely."

Get the genuine Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup; put up in a yellow wrapper; 3 pine trees the trade mark; price 25c. and 50c.; manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

TROOPS SHELLED WORKERS' FORCES

Canadian Press:

WESEL, March 27. — Government troops made a sortie south-east of this city yesterday, and drove the besieging workers' forces from their posts, shelled their retreating columns and raised a siege of Wesel on both east and south-east. Dissensions seem to have broken out among both workers and Government forces.

While the counter attack was proceeding reinforcements arrived here, including the Deathshead Hussars and Uhlans. Allied commissioners confered with General Kabitsch, and soon after the Belgian military authorities at Buderich, a Belgian town cross the Rhine, began issuing passes for civilians to return to the city. After a conference at Hagen, three Socialist parties' delegates have decided to send envoys to Wesel in an attempt to bring about the cessation of the fighting there.

Canadian Press:

LONDON, March 27.—One hundred Russian officers, sent to Germany by Nicolai Lenin, the Bolshevik Premier, are assisting in the operations of the German workers' army before Wesel, says a despatch to the London Times. The despatch says the workers have taken over control of the Krupp Works at Essen, and are turning out arms and ammunition.

BRUCE MEDAL AWARDED TO DR. BROWN.

The medal established about thirty years ago by the late Catherine Bruce of New York City, to be given "for eminent contributions to astronomical science," has been awarded to Professor Ernest W. Brown, of Yale. The recipient is selected upon the recommendation of directors of six of the greater observatories of the world. Since it was established, the medal has been awarded fifteen times. The award comes to Dr. Brown just as he is finishing the monumental task of defining the motion of the moon. This work is to be published shortly by the Yale University Press under the title, "Tables of the Motion of the Moon," and represents twenty-five years of untiring devotion to the given task.

R. U. JOHNSON SAILS FOR ITALY.

Robert Underwood Johnson, Ambassador to Italy, will sail on 18th March. President Wilson's appointment of Dr. Johnson for this important diplomatic office has met with approval from all sides. As a leader in many national movements, and a prominent literary critic and editor, Mr. Johnson is well known; but it is primarily through his poetry that he has touched the hearts of his countrymen. A complete edition of his poems was recently published by the Yale University Press under the title, "Collected Poems 181-1919."

THE SPANISH CONQUERORS.

A remark of James Bryce in "The American Commonwealth," to the effect that Rhode Island needed philosophical treatment in the writing of its annals, led Irving Berdine Richmond to write three volumes on the history of that State, and this work won him the degree of Doctor of Literature from Brown University. He has since turned his attention to a close study of Spain in America, with the result that from his pen has come one of the most fascinating volumes in "The Chronicles of America" (Yale University Press), "The Spanish Conquerors."

POETS.

When we are young,
We think it is for us
To shake a shower of lovely words
Like blossoms from a tree;
To make men drunken with our pleasant honey,
And envious of the bee.

When we are grown
We know it is for us
To rend the flowery lies from worlds
Foul with hypocrisy;
To perish stoned and blinded in the desert
That man unborn may see.

You Who Are Over-Worked, Run-Down, Thin and Ailing

You Need Vinol, the Blood, Strength and Vitality Maker, to Restore Your Old Time Health and Energy

VINOL is sold on a positive guarantee by the leading Druggists of Canada, to return your money if it fails to benefit you.

BUTLER SEES WAR ON CHRISTIANITY

ASSERTS SOCIALISTS AND BOLSHEVIKI TEACH THAT IT IS FRAUD AND ILLUSION.

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 26.—"We would have to go back 1,800 years to find as highly organised opposition to Christianity as that which exists to-day," declared Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, President of Columbia University, to a congregation that filled the Church of the Good Shepherd here the other night. Dr. Butler, Mrs. Butler, and Miss Sarah Butler are spending a month here.

The subject of Dr. Butler's address was "Christian Education."

"The feeling that every change is progress and that in some mysterious way the outcome will be all right has no basis in fact, unless we do our part," he said. "In the Government schools of Russia, one hour each day is spent in removing traces of what we call civilisation and the Christian religion."

He criticised the tendency to avoid fundamental principles and discuss the details of education, politics, economics, and religion.

"Christianity to-day is not only overlooked and neglected, but is positively antagonised. A new element has taken its place in the world. We are face to face with a teaching that holds Christianity to be not only an illusion and a superstition, but a fraud invented to gain control over men. This you will read in every tract of the Socialists, in every publication of the Bolsheviats. The virtues extolled by the philosophers, humanity, charity, service, are held by them to be worthy only the attention of children, and the world must get along without them; from life must be excluded everthing that partakes of religious belief and organisation."

"One would say that such a place could not exist at this late date. Anything is possible to-d . The human mind was never more credulous. Never were people so easily moved. While we are comforting ourselves that although there may be a storm, the structure that has been built on such a foundation, and founded so securely, cannot be shaken; we forget that protection is not by faith alone, but by men who are to be leaders as well."

Dr. Butler then told of the inheritance children are entitled to, including an education of which religion is most essential. He pointed out that this part of education cannot be given in the school.

"So long as there was a State religion, this was possible," he said, "but it is no longer. We must now make sure that the State makes no difficulties in allowing the child to receive religious education, and the home and church then step in and supply the defect.

"The process of education is complex and difficult. The school alone or the college cannot bear the burden of complete education. It has no control over the environment of the child, and must transfer this function to other agents. The home must furnish the foundation and supply the atmosphere. The Church must cooperate with the home in rounding out and completing what has been started. If the Church and home do not do their part in handing down religious inheritance we will be on the road to a return to paganism. There is no other power. The Church once controlled all education, but this is not possible now, although there are those who believe it necessary. Certain it is that no obstacle should be put in the way of religious education.

"Indifference can block sometimes more effectively than opposition the onward march for an ideal, for opposition arouses the fighting spirit. We are now face to face with opposition and the more powerful indifference."

After speaking of the feeling of optimism prevalent and labelling it as unjustified without effort on our part, Dr. Butler said:

"Any machine will run down if neglected. The human machine will do likewise in a few centuries unless we transmit the Word. We are all trustees. We pass through the world and have entrusted to us the great moral, intellectual, and religious aspirations. We may abuse or neglect our trust. If we do, the generations to follow will know it and suffer."

Tells How to Regain Perfect Health and Keep it by Bathing Internally.

Are you aware that nearly one million bright, intelligent people throughout Canada and the United States alone bathe internally instead of loading their systems with drugs? Why? Because it keeps them in better health in every way.

Internal bathing is the only sure means of keeping the intestines clean and free from accumulated waste matter, which is sure to slowly poison the system and become food for the millions of bacteria which infest the system, thereby causing rheumatism, impure blood, indigestion, headaches, and a hundred other ailments which are directly the result of constipation.

If you want to be healthy all the time we would strongly advise you to get a J.B.L. Cascade, which is the only perfect appliance ever devised for efficiently cleansing the colon and lower intestines. It is the invention of Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell of New York, who is a specialist on Internal Bathing. The J.B.L. Cascade is shown and explained at Warne Drug Co. where you can receive an interesting book called "Why Man of To-day is Only 50% Efficient." It will tell you facts about yourself that you probably never realized before or write Tyrell's Hygienic Institute 163 College Street, Toronto.

ORDER IS BEING RESTORED IN GERMANY

The Reds Defeated

GOVERNMENT SENDS ULTIMATUM TO THE RUHR DISTRICT FORCES.

REVOLT AT AN END

United Press.

BERLIN, aMrch 29. — By Carl D. Groat. — The government to-day was reported, to have sent an ultimatum to the Ruhr Communist forces, demanding their immediate capitulation with guarantees that hosilities would not be renewed.

An attack in force was threatened unless the Reds sent a favorable reply before Tuesday.

The ultimatum, it was said, demanded the unqualified recognition of the government, restoration of the regular police power and the release of all prisoners.

The belief prevails here that the Ruhr revolt was near its end.

The Lokal Anzeiger reports that Prince Joachim, Captain Von Platthen and Prince Hohenlohe Langenburg, has been summoned to appear for trial after Easter in connection with the incidents of March 6th when two French officers were attacked in the restaurant of the Hotel Adlon because they failed to stand during the playing of a German national song.

Joachim, a relative of the former Kaiser, was to be charged with intimidation, the newspaper said.

United Press.

ESSEN, Germany, March 29. — The Westphalian Red army, it was understood to-day, has asked the Berlin government for an armistice, following its defeat by Reichswehr troops, reinforced by Guards.

Will you kindly thank the members of your club for the cheque for $169.77, received some days ago. Prominent Labour Men Comment on the Result In the Case of Five Winnipeg Strike Leaders

(Special to the Examiner)

TORONTO, March 29.—Conviction of the five Winnipeg strike leaders has stirred the labor movement here to a considerable degree and has created a demand that labor draft a "Bill of Rights", in in which sedition, unconstitutional action, and strike rights will all be clearly defined.

As usual, the labor movement has divided in its opinions on the effect of the verdict. A canvass of a number of prominent labor leaders today gave the following comments:

W. J. HEVEY, former Secretary of the Trades and Labor Council, was one of the few to see definite benefits accruing to organized labor, as a result of the trial. He said: "I think it will have the effect of showing labor that massed action, as preached and practised by the One Big Union, is not a successful way of doing business. The only way is by constitutional means and not by Red propaganda and violent action. The case of Ivens appears as the worst. He should have known better."

A. W. MANCE, Secretary of the Toronto Trades and Labor Council remarked that it merely meant that the cases would be appealed as the strikers have been granted a reserve case. "Under the instructions from the Judge," he said, "and in view of the fact that the case was tried under a law that has been obsolete in England for more than 50years I believe that the jury was perfectly honest in its finding. There has been no precedent in Canada and it now means that labor will have to draft a bill of rights in which an interpretation of sedition, and what constitutes sedition actions, will be clearly defined. As it is now, a public speaker never knows what he can or what he cannot say, without being prosecuted. However, there is one thing certain and that is labor will take care of its right to strike. The trial has brought things to a head."

JOHN T. VICK, a prominent man of the independent labor party and business agent of the Bricklayers Union refused to comment on the verdict.

"It is too stiff", said John Cottam, secretary of the Toronto Carpenters District Council emphatically. "They should have let those men off, seeing that they did not proceed against the ones who really decided the strike—the rank and file of the Winnipeg Labor Movement. Officials of a labor union inevitably have to bear the brunt of any strike in which they merely carry out the instructions they are given."

MANITOBA'S GREATEST CRIMINAL CASE CLOSED SATURDAY AFTERNOON

THE ACCUSED TOOK UP NINE DAYS WITH ADDRESSES TO THE JURY—THE COST WILL BE HEAVY.

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, March 29.— Manitoba's greatest criminal trial, that of seven strike leaders, concluded Saturday afternoon, having lasted sixty-one days. The trial opened on Saturday, 20th, but the series of legal objections and arguments by counsel for the defense put off the selection of the jury until January 28th. With the exception of four days and a half, when Juror James Jack was in the hospital with influenza, the trial has continued six days a week since January 28th.

A total of 1,010 exhibits was put in by the Crown. Many were bundles of correspondence, newspapers and pamphlets, so it is estimated that there were nearly 5,000 separate documents placed before the jury. One hundred and thirty-five witnesses were called by the Crown and six were required to present its case.

Called No Witnesses.

The accused called no witnesses and put in no exhibits but took up nine days with addresses to the jury. A. J. Andrews K.C., chief Crown counsel, addressed the jury three times, first when the trial opened, again when his case was completed, and on a third time in rebuttal of the defence speeches. Eight addresses were made by the defence, four by the defendants and four by counsel.

Prosecution was a strenuous ordeal for the Crown counsel, most of them having been occupied with the case continuously since the arrest of the strike leaders on June 17.

Justice Metcalfe sat on the strike cases almost continuously since November 4 when the trial of R. B. Russel opened.

It is estimated that nearly four million words were spoken during the trial. The cost of the trial is variously esitmated at from $100,000 to $3,000,000, the later figures including expenses of securing evidence, etc. How much the defence has spent no one outside a small number of the Workers' Defence committee knows definitely, because of the extreme secrecy with which they have surrounded their operations.

Cost to Labour.

A man in close touch with the situation estimated several weeks ago, however that the trials would cost labour $100,000. This is considered conservative, in view of the fact that the Defence committee has supported the accused strike leaders and their families since their arrest last June, in addition to paying all legal expenses. Exact figures in respect of the remuneration received by counsel are unavailable, but it is generally reported that Andrews' salary was $21 daily for every court day and that of R. A. Bonnar, K.C., chief defence counsel, $150 daily.

The Defence committee will undertake to support the families of all convicted men during their imprisonment, depending on appeals to labour throughout the country for funds.

LAKEFIELD HAPPENINGS AND ITEMS OF PERSONAL MENTION IN THE VILLAGE

TAX VETOED

(Special to The Examiner.)

MONTREAL, March 29.—Passengers travelling from Canadian points to destinations in the United States will not be called upon to pay the 10 per cent. increase which was recently proposed by the railways.

The Board of Railway Commissioners has put a veto on this proposal, having issued an order on Saturday to the companies concerned that the new fares, which were to become effective to-day, are suspended. The reason for the proposed increase of 10 per cent. was that the American railroad companies required that their portion of prepaid fares should be settled in American currency, and as far as the Canadian railroads were concerned, the only way to meet the difference on the rate of exchange was to make this addition of 10 per cent. on the tickets.

Another circular stated that the head tax of $8.00 on each Canadian entering the United States would be increased 15 per cent. on account of the exchange rate, and would be $9.20 instead of $8.00 as heretofore.

LIGHTNING STRUCK OTONABEE BARN

BUILDING AND CONTENTS ARE DESTROYED—INSURANCE LIGHT.

Barns and outbuildings belonging to Mr. George Hall, of Otonabee, and situated on the old Hall farm, lot 31, concession 8, were destroyed by fire this morning when lightning struck the buildings at about 3.30 o'clock. The fire was not noticed by Mr. Hall's family until it had gained too much headway to cope with, and all adjoining buildings were totally destroyed, besides a quantity of valuable machinery, oats, hay, straw and wheat. A small amount of insurance was carried on the buildings and contents.

PRESENTATION AND ADDRESS TO MISS DOROTHY HILLIARD—LAKEFIELD CANOES FOR OLD COUNTRY.

CHURCH SERVICES

LAKEFIELD, March 29.—Mrs. W. J. Webster entertained a few of her daughter Ida's friends in honour of Miss Dorothy Hilliard on Thursday evening last. The evening was spent in games and social intercourse, and before separating they presented Miss Hilliard with a dainty vanity case and lavender sachet as a token of the affection they had for her, and as a reminder when she is far removed from them. The following address accompanied the offering:

Dear Miss Hilliard,—The Maple Leaflets and your hostess of this evening, having heard of your proposed removal from our village, feel that we cannot let the occasion pass without some tangible mark of our love for you and our regret at losing you from our midst. Our little circle of workers and friends, who so unwaveringly held together in the effort to contribute something towards the comfort of our brave soldiers when visiting the Maple Leaf Club in London, England, while on leave from active service, regard your departure with sorrow and dismay. Your leadership was ever just and kind, and your untiring devotion to duty a stimulating example to us all and our happy intercourse will always remain a precious memory. We hope most earnestly that you will come back to us, whose hearts will long for your return. Meantime, our sincerest wishes for all the happiness this world can vouchsafe shall attend you wherever you may be. We ask your aceptance of our little gifts as simple tokens of our loving regard for you, whose memory we shall unceasingly cherish.

Signed — Ida Webster, Margaret Charlton, Fern Wannamaker, Lottie Lemay.

Miss Hilliard, who was surprised at the gift, made a graceful and fitting reply, thanking the girls for their gifts, and also Mrs. Webster, to whose thoughtfulness the little gathering owed its being. As a windup to a pleasant evening, the girls accompanied Miss Hilliard to her home.

Special Services.

There will be special Passion Week services every evening but Saturday in the Methodist Church. Rev. S. F. Dixon has arranged these services specially, and the addresses will be suitable for the solemn season.

On Good Friday evening Mr. F. E. Walden will preside at the organ and will also sing a solo.

On Easter evening the service will be as usual in the hands of the ladies of the W. M. S. Mrs. Kendry, of Peterborough, will give the address. There will be special music at both services.

Sunday Services.

The Palm Sunday services in St. John's Church were especially bright and appropriate. Mr. Strickland, of Toronto, was present and rendered several selections on his violin, which were thoroughly enjoyed by large congregations, morning and evening. He also accompanied the organ all through the musical part of the service.

Mrs. Osborne sang "The Palms" in splendid voice at both services, accompanied by Miss Atwood on the organ and Mr. Strickland on the violin. Rev. Dr. Archbold preached two excellent sermons in his usual brilliant, clear-cut style.

Social Evening.

Mrs. Osborne entertained the members of the S. O. N. G. Club at the

GEN. NEVILLE MACCREADY WILL HAVE INCREASED POWERS IN IRELAND.

WIRELESS 'PHONES

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, March 29.— Daily Express says that the government is making a dramatic change in military control in Ireland by sending over General Neville MacCready, Commissioner of the Metropolitan Police, in place of Gen. Shaw. MacCready is known as a strong peace maker and he has vastly increased powers in Ireland. In consequence of the frequency with which telephone and telegraph wires in Ireland are being cut, the government has decided on an extensive use of wireless telephone there, says the Daily Mail. Naval signal men are being employed to start the system and the newspaper intimates that portable telephones with a radius of about thirty miles are being employed in transmitting messages from one police station to another or between adjacent towns. It is asserted that the system has proved satisfactory.

DEATH LIST IS ON THE INCREASE

MILLIONS OF PROPERTY DAMAGE DUE TO STORM.

(Canadian Press.)

CHICAGO, March 29.—Special augmentation of known death list of sixty-four, hundreds injured and property damage estimates of many millions of dollars loomed up to-day when restoration of wire communication would permit compilation of accurate reports from six Central West States hit yesterday by a series of tornados. Most foreboding reports early to-day were from Southern Mich. Peninsula and the rural districts of Indiana and Ohio. In those States, wires were prostrated in every direction and it was said it might be days before some of the communities were heard from.

Wires Down.

(Canadian Press.)

ATLANTA, Ga., March 20. — Because of the demoralized wire conditions no additional details of last night's tornado, which struck Georgia and East Alabama, had come in up to noon to-day. The death list is approximately forty.

BACK TO THE DEAR OLD FARM

PETERBORO CITIZENS OUT TO BEAT THE H. C. OF L.

In view of the roseate appearance of farming and the apparent opportunities of making easy money, many Peterborough urban dwellers are considering moving to the country and killing two birds with the one stone by beating the old H. C. of L and by producing more to help the starving nations of the world.

It is said that the turn-over of farm lands has been very heavy around Peterborough in the last year due to the high prices offered to farmers who were prepared to retire and taking advantage of them have sold their farms and moved to the city.

Here they found their troubles beginning when it came to find a house, and if they did succeed in getting one they soon discovered that it wasn't the equal of their old home. And then the high prices of everything, and having to buy everything, fairly astounded them, and their changed conditions did not please them as well as at first. It has been with a rueful countenance that most of them have dwelt on the fatal step they took when they disposed of their land.

Among those who have purchased farms are Mr. W. J. Oke and J. Lowes, who have bought the 62 acre farm of Graham Weir in Otonabee. This is a well situated property about 1 1-2 miles east of the Locks bridge, and Mr. Oke hopes later on to swing into fruit. Mr. Lowes will manage the farm, moving out about April 1st.

GERMAN TROOPS ENTERED ALLIES' FORBIDDEN ZONE

MATTER WILL COME UP BEFORE THE SUPREME COUNCIL—CONDITIONS BECOMING NORMAL.

Canadian Press.

PARIS, March 29. — Absolute confirmation of the entrance of regular German troops into the Ruhr district, on the edge of the allied zone of occupation, without any permission from the allies, has been received by the French Foreign Office, it was declared to-day. The subject, it was stated, will probably come up before the Supreme Council in London. The French say they can find no excuse whatever for sending of any troops into this section.

ORDER RESTORED.

Canadian Press.

BERLIN, March 29. — The news from the Ruhr industrial district, the Rhineland in general and from Westphalia, permits the conclusion that order will be graulally restored in these sections where rebellious forces of working men have been operating, it was declared here to-day.

At a meetng held on Sunday at Hagen, Westphalia, three Socialist parties, decided to withdraw from the Mulheim headquarters, the seat of the rebel control, and if necessary to fight under republican leadership against the Mulheim factions, despatches from Hagen announced.

The behaviour of this faction was declared to be held in these Socialist quarters as constituting a danger to the industrial region.

Similar decisions, it is stated, are expected from Dortmund, Elberfeld, and Bremen, which would mean isoation of the Mulheim faction. This faction however so far has not changed its attitude in making demands which far exceed the terms of the agreement reached a few days ago at Bielefeld for a settlement, the carrying out of which was prevented by further military activities on the part of the working men.

These demands in excess of the settlement terms were for the complete disarming and disbanding of regular troops and the establishment of a people's army, composed of workmen, to which all arms must be surrendered.

The attitude of the Mulheim insurgents is not easily understood here in view of the fact that the rebels have suffered a sharp set back before the fortress of Weisel which they have been besieging.

Friedrichsfelde camp has been cleared of rebels who suffered heavy losses so that the bombardment of Weisel is no longer feared. The rebels' heavy howitzers and other artillery have been captured.

He had been an employee of the Grand Trunk Railway for over 31 years.

EXPLAINS VISIT TO HYDRO OFFICE

ALD. GORDON SAYS HE DIDN'T ANTICIPATE RAILWAY COMMITTEE.

Mr. G. N. Gordon said that Ald. Gainey, chairman of the Railway committee, was mistaken in his remark contained in Friday's Examiner, that Mr. Gordon had anticipated a deputation from the Railway committee which was authorized to arrange an appointment with the Ontario Hydro Electric Commission and to lay before it Peterborough's transportation needs and claims for improved service.

What did take place, Mr. Gordon said, was that he was invited to a conference of the head of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission Insurance Department and Secretary to discuss the question of settlement of some threatened actions for personal injuries caused to Mr. Gordon's clients, and while there Sir Adam Beck met Mr. Gordon and asked him how Peterborough was moving and what Peterborough wanted, and Mr Gordon said his answer was to Sir Adam Beck 'that he no doubt would receive information as to Peterborough's need shortly from the City Council.' He did not interfere in any way or anticipate the Railway committee's intentions to interview Sir Adam Beck about Radial Railway extensions.

The information was volunteered to Mr. Gordon by one of the officials that they were taking the old worn cars from the Street Railway and putting on new ones with all modern brakes, and up-to-date equipment, and Mr. Gordon said the only equiry he did make was regarding the Kinmount Railway, the building of which he has been urging for the last two years, and this was considerably before the mater was even broached to the City Council.

As to Street Railway extensions, Mr. Gordon admitted to the reporter that if the proposed paving took place the Street Railway would require to extend, but this of course, is a fact recognized by every member of the Council.

RED TERROR

Canadian Press:

ROTTERDAM, March 27.—Hundreds of fugitives from the Ruhr district are nearing the Dutch frontier, according to a correspondent of the Courant. Some have arrived at Steenburg, bringing stories of Red terror in town through which the Spartacists have driven armoured cars. They confirm reports, the correspondent says, that workers' forces are being fed by Russians or other foreigners. The Government at Muenster, it is said, has had to contend with Soviet dictatorship, after the Russian model, which has been getting help from Moscow. Spartacists forces in the Ruhr Valley have enough ammunition but their rations are very bad.

Many Put Trust In The Unknown

Never Satisfied With Those Things With Which They Are Familiar

Inclined To Take Chance

Curious Traits in Human Nature Have Make Possible Growth & Development of the Great Mail Order Houses

A curious trait in human nature makes itself apparent very frequently. That is an inclination to trust in the unknown rather than in that with which one is familiar. A person is very apt to take a chance, even though he knows that the odds are 100 to one against him, instead of being satisfied with the lesser rewards about which there is no possibility of doubt.

It is possibly the flaring up of the ever present gambling instinct, but there is something more in it than that. There is in it the unexplained tendency on the part of most people to reach for the chimerical and ignore the tangible and substantial thing which is near at hand. Man is seldom satisfied with those things that are within his grasp but is always reaching out for the unattainable. Too often he loses that which he might easily gain by blindly pursuing that which is always just out of his reach.

Why "Con" Man Thrives.

Coupled in a way with his faith in the unknown is the tendency on the part of so many people to place confidence in a stranger in preference to one who is known and has been tried and proved. It is this tendency which makes possible the operations of the "con" man, the get-rich-quick artist, the unscrupulous promoter, and the salesman of worthless mining stocks. The man who would not think of trusting Bill Jones, his next door neighbor and fellow church member will confidingly turn over his life's savings to a stranger who unfolds a tale of riches to be won. Bill Jones might talk his head off in behalf of a legitimate proposition, without getting a dollar where the slick stranger with the worthless proposition can get thousands.

It is these tendencies which apparently are so widely prevalent among all classs of people that have made possible mail order houses in the big cities. A knowledge of psychology is as important to the mail order man as a knowledge of business practices. He plays upon these tendencies of man to take a chance, to trust in the unknown, rather than the known to place confidence in the stranger rather than the friend.

Hope to Draw Prize.

Those who buy merchandise from a mail order house are moved partly—whether they realize it or not—by that trait in their human nature which promps them to trust in he unknown rather than in that which they are familiar. They are hoping, it may be unconsciously, they may draw a prize. They do not know what they will get, for it is impossible for anyone to know what he is going to get when he orders merchandise from a picture and a highly colored description in a catalogue. He is taking a chance on the unknown.

Buying merchandise from the local merchant on the other hand, contains some of these elements of chance that enter into the dealings with the mail order house. When one buys a stove from the hardware store in his own town he may get none of the thrills that come from taking a chance but he will get a stove that will last longer and keep him warmer than the one that he might get from the mail order house, and to the average individual these things are likely to be more important than the thrills

Using your Eyes.

When you buy from the local merchant you see the thing that you are buying, you inspect it carefully, examine the workmanship and the quality of the material of which it is made and in many cases you have the privilege of testing it before paying for it. You have not only your own eyes and knowledge of values to rely upon, but you have the advantage of the advice of the merchant who has an expert knowledge of the merchandise which he is selling, and who in 99 cases out of a hundred, can be relied upon to tell the truth about it. Then you have the guarantee that is backed not only by the retail merchant, but in many cases by the manufacturer. If the article which you buy does not prove satisfactory, after it has been given a fair trial, you can take it back to the store where you bought it in most cases and get your money back. The retailer may get his money back from the manufacturer but if he doesn't, he stands the loss. In any event you are protected.

Why a person will place his confidence in a strager rather than a friend or will trust in the unknown rather than in that which is tangible, is something that is hard to understand. Even the mail order house does not pretend to know why it is so but it accepts conditions as it find them and makes the most of the opportunities that hey offer.

BUY AT HOME

When you yield justice to your City and your own local merchants, the great mail order houses will be powerless to absorb vast sums of money that should be kept at home. And when mail order houses decline, thousands of the smaller cities of Canada will enter upon an era of unprecedented prosperity. Poverty is a curse and a heavy expense to taxpayers. Spending money at home where you make it will do much to stamp out poverty. You can't keep reaping money at home and spending it elsewhere without exhausting your local resources.

Help home merchants to increase the volume of their sales by additional thousands instead of doing all you can to swell the volume of mail order houses by more millions. You can never again have an interest in the money you send to mail order houses, but the money you spend at home will float back to you upon the stream of reciprocity.

As you read the above words, don't get the notion that they apply to others and not to you. We mean them for you.

THE WORKERS WANT IT.

A reader of the Examiner takes exception to our advocacy of daylight saving, claiming that with the railways running on the old time there will be endless confusion and inconvenience. For a while there will be a certain amount of confusion—that is admitted—but the benefits that are rendered by daylight saving to the many far more than counter balance the inconvenience to the few. If the people of Montreal and Toronto, the headquarters of the majority of Canada's largest mercantile manfuacturing and financial concerns, are willing to endure the difference between the railway time and city time, there should be no difficulty in the citizens of smaller centres adapting themselves to the same conditions. The employees of the post office and the express companies would of course, have to follow the old time in conformance with the railway's decision to do so, but there would be little inconvenience to the rest of the people and on the other hand the extra hour of sunlight in the evening would bring beneficial results to the majority of citizens. The City Council, it is expected, will deal with the matter at its next meeting. The aldermen need have little hesitation in deciding upon the system locally for the workers of the city have expressed their wishes unmistakably in the vote that has been taken in the city's factories which showed a big majority in favour of the daylight saving. Only three factories have voted against the plan and the adverse majorties in each case were small, while in other concerns as high as ninety per cent. of the employees have expressed their desire for the local adoption of new time.

BACK TO BELGIUM.

It is a high tribute to the valor of Canadian sportsmanship that the majority of the players who are participating in the final series for the hockey championship of Canada are men who saw service in the great war. In fact on all the teams who reached the elimination stage of the competition, the greater number were returned soldiers, men who a year or two ago were manning the trenches in France, or fighting the Hun in the air or on the sea Their presence on the teams in all parts of Canada was a welcome indication not only that the war was over but that the war was won, for if the Kaiser's plans had been carried out to the conclusion he had aimed at, there would have been little hockey in Canada last winter

It is gratifying to know that the two teams which reached the finals are practically composed of veterans and that of the Falcons, who will undoubtedly represent Canada in Belgium at the Olympic games next month, all but one or two fought in the great war. There is a significance in their return to Belgium on this occasion—on a widely different mission from that which first took them across the Atlantic. They are going to a country that they helped free from the grasp of the brutal Prussian fist that was trying to squeeze the life blood from the little nation that placed honour before self interest. When they and their comrades first went overseas only a little strip of Belgium was free from German control, but on that little strip the Canadians made the name of Canada immortal by their stand at Ypres. And so when the Falcons reach Antwerp on their peaceful mission of 1920 they will be assured of a memorable welcome, for the Maple Leaf occupies a very lofty place in the affection of the Belgium people. Canada is proud to send them forth as the represenatives of the Dominion's national pastime, knowing that it is the second visit for many of them and knowing too how successful was their first.

ALD. CROWE'S PLAN.

Ald. Joseph Crowe, who having been for many years a bandsman himself, naturally takes a deep interest in the present discussion over the band issue, does not favour the idea of a Citizens' Band, pointing out that if such an organization was completed the entire cost of its maintenance would fall upon the city. The Council would have to provide uniforms, music, quarters in which to practice, and pay the leader and the bandsmen and the plan would not only be expensive but the record of such bands in other centres does not hold out encouraging hopes for the success of a similar undertaking here.

Ald. Crowe believes that a business-like solution of the problem would be to secure Mr. Gliddon as bandmaster and instruct him to engage thirty competent musicians for the concerts in the park, paying them the union rate for their services, it being understood that they would be capable of playing standard music in a proper manner. Such a arrangement could be carried out at any expense well inside the approriation of $1,000 that has been set aside for band purposes and would give better results than dividing the grant between three different organizations.

The Examiner is glad to put forward Ald. Crowe's suggestion as it has been to call attention to all possible methods suggested. Whatever plan may be chosen by the Council, it is certain that the three-cornered division of the appropriation is the least business-like policy that has been advanced. Effective results cannot possibly follow such a disposal of the available funds and many citizens who have been considering the question during the past two weeks have come to the conclusion that if a plan by which a good band can be secured for the park concerts this year cannot be arranged that it would be preferable not to give any grants at all rather than to share it among three organizations. If there are to be no returns in the shape of real music for the expenditure of the grant, then the Council might better devote the $1,000 to improvements in the parks, rather than to pass it out as so much prize money.

THE PENSION QUESTION.

When the Special Parliamentary Committee appointed to deal with questions in regard to the re-establishment of Canada's soldiers reaches the pension issue, they will have before them the petition of the Great War Veterans, asking not only for a more adequate scale, but for the equalization of pensions. In these requests the returned soldiers will have the backing of a very large measure of public sympathy. The case in favour of the equalization of pensions to those who were badly disabled is so strong that it is a matter of surprise that in a supposedly democratic country there should have been any hesitation over this step. A blinded delegate at the recent convention made the point clear when he asked why his eyes should be considered worth only $600 a year when a brigadier's were valued at $2,800. The handicap to both men is the same and there is no reason to suppose that the condition in life of the two is necessarily different It is possible under the circumstances in which many men rushed to the colours that the blinded private might have occupied a more prominent position in life than did the officer. Certainly there is not the same distinction between officers and the rank and file among the citizen soldiers of Canada as there is regular armies, the members of which have adopted military life as a profession. Canada's pension system, however, seems to have been based on the theory that the Canadian army was the same as a professional army—an altogether mistaken diagnosis, and one that has caused the present unjust and unpopular condition of affairs.

There will be keen disappointment if one result of the sittings of the special committee is not a fairer, more generous distribution of pensions. The men who are permanently disabled, and the dependents of their comrades who lie beneath the wooden crosses in France and Belgium must be looked after. Cash gratuities for those who escaped unhurt is quite another matter.

INCOME TAX RETURNS.

Many people may need reminding that it is at this time of year income tax returns are to be made to the Department of Finance. The newspaper advertisements and the posters in red and black type that are put up in post offices and other conspicuous places may escape the notice of some persons who are eligible for assessment on income. Returns falling under Class 1 are not in many cases likely to be behind time, for that class has to do with people whose methods are supposed to be strictly business-like. It includes trustees, executors, administrators, agents, and assignees; it includes employers who are to make a return of the names and amounts paid to all directors, officials, agents, or other employees; and it includes joint stock companies, who are required to make a return of all dividends and bonuses paid to shareholders and members during 1919. For Class 1 the forms must be filled in and sent in by the 31st of this month.

Class 2 is the one particularly required to stand at attention now. It takes in all individuals, farmers, and ranchers, and corporations and joint stock companies. The returns for Class 2 must be filed on or before the 30th of April. The individual's memory sometimes needs to be jogged. It is a serious matter for any person who is liable to taxation to fail to make his return within the time limited. The person who neglects to make the return in due time is subject to a penalty of 25 per cent. of the amount of the tax payable, and any person, whether taxable or otherwise, who fails to make a return or provide information duly required under the provisions of the Act shall be liable on summary conviction to a penalty of $100 for each day during which the default continues. The penalty for making a false statement in any return is not to exceed a fine of $10,000 or a term of six months in prison, or both. And the Act does not require the Government or the Commissioner of Taxation to issue any notice or demand. People are expected to keep mindful of their annual duty in this respect, and the newspaper advertisements and the posters are expected to keep them from forgetting.

Every unmarried person, every widow, and every widower without dependants, as defined by the Act, who during the calendar year 1919 received or earned $1,000 or more must make a return. All other individuals who during the calendar year 1919 received or earned $2,000 or more must make a return. Every corporation and joint stock company whose profits exceeded $2,000 during the fiscal year ended in 1919 must make a return. Each person knows his own affairs and is expected to send in a return if his receipts for the year 1919 come up to the amounts specified. The unmarried person, the unencumbered widow or widower who received the gross sum of $1,000 in the calendar year 1919 must obtain a form, fill it in, and file it on or before the 30th of next month. All other individuals who in that year received or earned $2,000 must do likewise. People who never had occasion to make income returns before are in danger of being inattentive to that duty when their income rises to the taxable limit. It is the new additions to the taxable class who are particularly in need of reminding that they are in that class and will be required to contribute to the Federal Revenue.

The first thing to be done is to obtain a form. That can be had from the local postmaster or from the Inspectors or Assistant Inspectors of Taxation. When the form is obtained it is to be read carefully and its blanks filled in. The country is divided into Taxation Districts, over each of which there is an Inspector. To him applications for forms and for information can be sent. Inquiries and applications will receive prompt attention. The all-important thing is to have the return filed before the end of next month. The sooner that business is attended to, the sooner it will be off the citizen's mind. The return is the basis on which the person making it will be taxed.—Mail and Empire.

HEART SO BAD

WAS NOT SAFE TO LEAVE HER ALONE

Miss Eva P. Yatem n, Krugersdorf, Ont., writes; "I feel that I must write and tell you of the great benefit I have received from Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. About four years ago I was taken terribly bad with my heart, nerves and fainting spells, and was down in bed for about six months. I doctored with two different doctors and seemed to get better although the fainting spells would not leave me. I would take such terrible falls wherever I was, that it was not safe to leave me alone at any time. At last I decided to resort to proprietary medicines, and took several different kinds but seemed to receive but little benefit from them. One day noticing the advertisement of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I decided to try them. Before I had taken more than two boxes I could see that they were helping me. I have taken about ten boxes and am almost cured of those terrible spells. I sincerely feel that your medicine has proved a blessing to me and I advise anyone troubled with their heart to try them as I am confident they will find relief."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c a box at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"NIGHTIE NIGHT."

It is seldom that Peterborough playgoers have the opportunity of seeing a complete New York production, with cast and settings just as used in the Metropolitan appearance of the company. The visit of "Nightie Night" to the Grand on Saturday afforded such a chance, and the result was one of the most delightful and amusing entertainments that has been seen here in a long time. This hilarious farce comedy, which has been delighting New York audiences for a year, is on the way to Chicago, where it will settle down for a run the week after next, and Peterborough was lucky enough to be one of the few cities visited en route.

It has a most ingenious plot, in which several married couples are entangled in a series of knots that provide all kinds of amusement for the audience. Built for laughing purposes only, it is one hundred per cent. effective.

Mr. Klauber has given the farce a most adequate cast, headed by Mr. Francis Byrne, who after many years in "heavy" roles has made the hit of his career in the comedy part of "Billy" Moffatt. Mr. Byrne's methods are original and clean cut, and he made the part a rich mine of humour. Nothing funnier than the way he delivered his lines has been heard at the Grand in years. Associated with him was a splendid cast. Miss Dorothy Mortimer was very effective as Mrs. Moffatt, and Grant Mills gave a convincing interpretation of the part of Jimmy Blythe.

The settings used were realistic, and added greatly to the success of the production. Peterborough will welcome more shows of the calibre of "Nightie Night."

KING GETS AN UNEXPECTED GIFT

King George has, it is said, recently received a most welcome gift from an unknown donor. It is a complete set of war stamps issued in the occupied parts of France and Belgium by the Germans, and also a set of the stamps issued by the Bolshevik Government.

Stamp collecting has always been one of His Majesty's favorite hobbies, and his sets, artistically mounted by himself, are probably the finest in the world. He possesses the celebrated "Baden Powell" stamp, issued during the defence of Mafeking This was given to the King when he was Duke of York by Queen Victoria (who received it from Baden-Powell) accompanied by the staff memorandum: "Even the circumstances of the seige in no way justified the substituting of his head for ours."

The Telephone Situation

What We Get For The Money!

On January 1st this year our total investment in telephone property---buildings, equipment, tools and supplies, plus what it has cost in actual cash to put this working equipment into service ---was $51,458,306. On the same date we had in operation 337,476 telephone instruments.

This means an investment of $152 for each telephone instrument in service.

What has been provided for this investment of $152 per telephone?

Here are some of the things;

An exchange telephone system in thousands of cities, towns and villages in Ontario and Quebec with substantial fire-proof buildings, the last word in sanitation and convenience; 96,750 miles of Long Distance wire on 9,500 miles of poles; 587,000 miles of wire in underground cables; many hundreds of miles of wire providing party service to rural communities besides exchange and pole line facilities to give exchange connection to 720 local telephone organizations serving over 109,000 subscribers, mostly farmers.

It takes some 11,600 telephone workers to operate the system and their wages in 1919 totalled $9,400,000.

This goodly band of faithful workers, with those dependment on them, are a substantial element in the community. They are intimately concerned in its welfare ---concerned most of all that the telephone service shall be adequate to its needs. They appreciate, just like the rest of humanity, the kindly co-operation of the public.

SANDRA THE JEALOUS

BY JANE PHELPS

KEMP IS FORBIDDEN THE HOUSE.

Chapter lxxxiii.

Walter Kemp danced divinely. As I looked at him I had to acknowledge too that he was a splendid specimen of manhood. Then as if he had read my thoughts, his eyes caught mine and held them. There was an enigmatical smile on his lips, an inscrutable look in his eyes, that intrigued while they vaguely troubled me.

I recalled what Mrs. Sloane had said about his reputation with women — that he was considered a Don Juan. But I was safely married. Surely I was in no danger from his fascinations. Then suddenly he startled me by a question:

"Forgive me if I am impertinent, but how did you—how could you—marry a man so much older when you are so full of life, and when life for you has scarcely begun? You are beautiful and clever, yet you are not allowed even so innocent an amusement as dancing. Graham was not so particular about the first Mrs. Graham."

For a moment I hated Walter Kemp. How dared he speak of Leola to me. Then came the thought that others had done so, even Everett's friends.

"Perhaps he has seen his mistake, and does not intend to repeat it," I replied with a nervous laugh, coming nearer the truth than I dreamed.

"You see I am much younger than—she was," I added, feeling the need of an excuse for Everett.

"And much more beautiful, although you are the same general coloring. But your is the more vivid."

Just then the clock chimed 11. I started, and then he said:

"Shall I go? It is later than I thought."

"I don't know where the evening has gone," I replied. "Yes, please go. I should have retired long ago."

"Does he make you go to bed when he is out?" he asked, so archly that I had to laugh instead of being indignant as I should have been.

"Oh, no—but I was very tired tonight."

He said nothing more but left at once. I had scarcely gained my room when Everett came in. I picked up the book that I had been reading when Kemp came in, and pretended to be absorbed in it. In reality I was trembling, fearful of what my husband would say because I had disobeyed him, because I had not retired. Not a thought that I need hide Walter Kemps call came to me, so that it might anger Everett.

"Look at me, Sandra."

Everett's voice was low and tense. It held an even more masterful note than usual. Without volition on my part I did as he commanded. I raised my eyes and looked at him

What I read in them frightened me. I lowered mine and then fingered the leaves of the book nervously, my eyes on the paragraph that had so fascinated me earlier in the evening:.....when the other is gone the power of loving is gone also.....

"Leola, 'the other' with Everett, had gone; so perhaps the power in him to love again was gone also.

"Tell me, did you have an engagement with Kemp for to-night?"

"Why no—of course not." How I did wish I had gone to bed, had not seen Walter Kemp.

"He has been here?"

"Yes. He came soon after you left. He asked for you, too."

My attempt at conciliation was ignored.

"What did you do?"

"We chatted—then I—we—danced."

"Danced!"

"Yes; you don't mind in my own home, do you? We put on a record, and danced in the music room," the words fell over each other so very anxious was I to finish before he interrupted. "We only danced a few minutes."

"Naturally. That's his way. Now, listen, Sandra, I absolutely forbid you to receive him again at any time. And I forbid you to receive any man in the evening unless I am with you. You are too young to discriminate, and I shall have to do it for you."

"You treat me like a child!" I said. "I believe what I read in that story is true. That when the other is gone the power of loving is gone also. And that you can't love me or be nice to me because you still love her."

Then bursting into tears I held my finger on the paragraph.

"Read it yourself and see if it is not true!" He took the book from me while I rushed into my dressing room, fearful that he would be terribly angry with me.

TWO HUNDRED MILLIONS SPEAK ENGLISH

It is estimated that the census taken this year will show the population of the United States to be 112 millions.

This means an increase of over 20 millions in the decade, a somewhat remarkable increase when it is remembered that practically half the period was taken up by the war, which although it did not involve the United States in a vast sacrifice of life interfered with immigration, which had contributed so largely to the increase of population in the previous decade

The present increase is therefore a natural one due to the excess of births over deaths and it should hearten those Americans who a few years ago feared for the vitality of the native stock.

It is hardly likely that a census taken in the near future of any other country that played a part in the war will show an increase of population at all proportionate to that in the United States.

Great Britain will probably have a larger population than in 1911 but the other countries will probably show a loss within their present areas.

The appalling sacrifice of 800,000 lives by Britain during the war, the sharp fall in the birthrate and the high death rate during the influenza epidemics, have led some to believe that our population will be smaller at the next census than at the last.

But many of the 800,000 men who fell in the war would have died in the natural course of things if there had been no war, the birth rate seems to have recovered, the death rate is healthily low, emigration is next to nothing, and a number of Britons brought home by the war from the far ends of the earth seem to be staying here.

We are at least assured that we are holding our own in numbers and unless emigration increases extraordinarily between now and April, 1921, our population may easily show a fair increase at the next census. It will hardly be the same in France. She has suffered severely in actual sacrifice of life and probably has fewer people than before the war within her old territories, but the restored provinces of Alsace and Lorraine will perhaps just make good her loss.

Belgium is recovering quickly, and may not have lost much population through the war. Germany has lost some millions through the surrender of territory, and probably the population in what territory remains to her is not increasing. Austria, once part of an empire of over 50 millions, is now a small land with only nine millio people and many of them are nearly starving.

What the losses or gains in Russia may be no one can say. And it is difficulty to reckon exactly the population of the new States of Middle Europe and the Baltic, but probably the population of Europe as a whole has not greatly increased during the past few years, if it has increased at all. Stoppage of emigration may, however, have set off to some extent the war wastage of lives.

It is satisfactory in any case to know that the English speaking countries of the world are becoming more populous. To the 112 millions of the United States there may be added at the next census at least 65 million whites in the British Empire. This does not necessarily imply the consummation of that great Anglo-Saxon dom of which we sometimes talk, for both in America and in the British Empire the race is very mixed, but it does mean that nearly 200 million people will be linked throughout the world by a common tongue, and that may help towards keeping the world's peace.—R. H. B., in "Daily Mail."

HEAVY MEAT EATERS HAVE SLOW KIDNEYS

Uric acid means if you feel tired-out or have bladder trouble.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatisms, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

HUMILIATING POSITION.

Christian Guardian Comments on Temperance Situation in Ontario.

The Christian Guardian, the organ of the Methodist Church, has some pungent editorial remarks in this week's issue about the temperance situation in Ontario. It thinks the division in the temperance ranks is threatening to make them a jest and a byword. It says:

"The referendum committee, which handled the referendum so satisfactorily and so successfully, has asked for the referendum, and as that committee represents the united temperance forces of Ontario, that would naturally be supposed to settle the matter. But the Ontario Branch of the Dominion Alliance, claiming to voice the temperance sentiment of the Province, has asked the Ontario Government not to seek a referendum.

"This is rather a strange position to take, and it places the Government in rather an embarrassing situation. Not only so, but it places the temperance people of Ontario in the most humiliating position they have ever been in.

WOMAN SWALLOWS MOUSE; TO HOSPITAL

Penalty of Sleeping With Mouth Open, She Says.

LONDON, Eng., March 27.—St. Thomas Hospital, London, has just treated a patient who told the doctors that she had swallowed a mouse. She is Mary Watson of Lambeth, a young married woman.

"I have swallowed a mouse and am very sick," she said to the doctor who attended her. She explained that she was asleep at 3 a.m. with her baby when she was awaken by the child moving.

"I saw a mouse coming along my breast. The house slipped into my mouth before I could stop it. I always sleep with my mouth open.

It was thought unnecessary at the hospital to put the woman under x-rays, as she was suffering from ordinary sickness only, and she left easier in mind.

HER BODY TURNING SLOWLY INTO BONE

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio, March 27.—Mrs. Levi Shroyer, twenty-seven, presents to the medical world one of the most baffling cases in history. Experts the world over have studied her malady without being able to help her.

The woman's body, from her jaws to her hips, slowly is ossifying. It is feared that ossification soon will reach the heart, causing death.

The strange affliction seized Mrs. Shroyer in 1916, shortly after an operation.

Mrs. Shroyer was brought here from the South to take chiropractic treatments.

While under treatment at one time she lapsed into a state of coma. Her heart stopped beating for five minutes and afterward, she declared, she experienced the feeling of entering another world and having been in the arms of her late husband.

Inflammatory Rheumatism Cured by B.B.B.

Rheumatism is a constitutional disease, caused by the uric acid in the blood. It manifests itself by pain and lameness attacking the muscles and joints of the body, which often swell and become hot and inflamed.

Anyone who has suffered months after months, and perhaps year after year, with rheumatism, and who has tried remedy after remedy in the hope of relief, and without success, should not give up hope.

Burdock Blood Bitters, by invigorating the digestive organs and eliminating the uric acid from the system, will give prompt and permanent relief.

Mrs. D. Barry, Puslbrook, Ont., writes:—"I feel it my duty to let you know of the great benefit my husband derived from using your Burdock Blood Bitters. He had been suffering for the past two years with inflammatory rehumatism. He tried many medicines but got no better. A friend advised him to take B. B. B. He did so, and after taking five bottles he felt like a new man, and was able to go to work the same as ever."

Burdock Blood Bitters has been on the market for over 40 years. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

The International Harvester Company will act as business agents and banker for the 22 councils, which have more than 30,000 constituents. The suits wil be delivered in about six weeks and will cost the individual purchaser about $18 each. It was estimated that suits of like quality would cost about $30 in the domestic market.

The clothing was manufactured in England.

TORONTO BOTANICAL GARDEN PROPOSED

The probability of Toronto having a Botanical Garden was advanced another step on Saturday last when a meeting attended by about 150 people interested in the project met to discuss it. In attendance were representatives of all the organized horticultural and floral associations and also Professor R R. Thompson of Toronto University; Prof. J. W. Crow of the Ontario Agricultural College Guelph; W. T. Macoun, Dominion Horticulturist, representatives of the City Council, School Board, University, Government, etc.

Dr. Macoun said that a botanical garden would serve the primary purpose of providing a place for studying plants. It would be a testing ground for all plants likely to thrive here and those that did not succeed would be shown to be unsatisfactory for general planting. In this way it would prevent losses.

Prof. Crow emphasized the value of such an institution as a place for training gardeners who had hitherto been drawn from Europe but who would not now be available there.

Prof. Thompson, secretary of the Botanical Committee of Toronto University, outlined the proposed plan, saying that the idea had grown out of the work done in labeling the trees in Toronto parks which had followed the labeling of those in the University grounds in 1904. The war had held up the project, but it was now proposed to go ahead with it if sufficient support could be obtained.

Others from the city council, Board of Education, and other organizations spoke, after which the following resolution was unanimously carried:

"That this convention put itself on record as in full accord with the University Committee's project for the establishment of a botanical garden, and, further, stands ready to cooperate with the committee in such ways as it suggests."

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED

TWO MANY "PILATES" TO-DAY

There are too many people of the Pilate type to-day in the opinion of Rev. A. J .Thomas, who took as his theme "Jesus and Pilate," at George Street Methodist Church last evening. He preached from the text, Mark 15, 15: "And so Pilate, willing to content the people, released Barabbas unto them, and delivered Jesus, when he had scourged him, to be crucified."

This was a memorable scene in the city of Jerusalem. Jesus, nearing the close of his career in this life, stood before Pilate on trial. Pilate knew the attitude of the chief priests and Jews. They hated Jesus because He was good and they evil, and besides feared He would undermine this powers. Envy has led to many crimes, but this was the foulest. Even Pilate whose record of dealings was none too clean, saw this and despised the Jews.

Pilate gave a splendid testimony of Jesus. Three times he pronounced Him innocent. He knew Christ was guiltless and pitied Him. He also marvelled, for he seemed to have the idea that he himself was being tried, rather than that he was judge, for he said, "Knowest thou not that I have power to crucify thee and have power to release thee?" His verdict was, "I find no fault in Him."

Pilate showed moral cowardice, revealing the weakness of a clever politician. He knew the right thing to do, but he feared for his popularity and his job, and so denied his principle.

Too Many Pilates To-day.

"We have too many people of the Pilate type to-day," said Mr. Thomas "They have good impulses, but are selfish. They refuse to take a right attitude on the matters of community welfare and other moral questions, as they fear to lose their popularity or position. They refuse Jesus for the same reason. They are too cowardly to be true to their best selves."

What is a Pilate?

Henry Ward Beecher in comparing Pilate with the modern world once said, "What's a Pilate?" A Pilate is one of those courtly gentlemen, polished, tasteful, expert, who is not disturbed nor warped by convictions in over measure, who looks upon all moral qualities as a gambler looks upon cards, which he shuffles and plays according to the exigencies of the game—and one just as easily as another. A Pilate is a man who believes in letting things have their own way. Do not sacrifice yourself. Do not get in the way of a movement. Do the best thing. Live in peace with your time. Be not like the fool who stands in his own light. Maintain good appearances—that is profitable. See to it that you do not go too far one way or another. Study the interest f number one all through. Do not be gross, brutal, fanatical—that is not profitable. Preserve your balance. See that you keep your eye on the chances. If they go this way, you go with them far enough to reap them. If they go the other way, go with them. Do not be too scrupulous. Use men, use events, use everything that is profitable. Do not use your conscience too much. This is the language of the Pilates of our day. Those men who ride astride of the time, of administrations, and of policies; those men who are polished, cold, calculating, speculating—these are the Pilates."

"To win Jesus is the main thing," Mr. Thomas said, "and what prevents is worthless, and should be renounced and despised."

Pilate was warned by his wife through a dream. It would have been well if he had heeded this warning and the prompting of his own conscience. God is always trying to block the way to destruction. He tried to stop Baalam. Just as mariners are warned of approaching storms, so God raises danger signals So when the soul goes wrong, it need not blame God.

Pilate had a mistaken conception of his responsibility. He thought he could wash his hands of the whole matter, and shift the blame. The Jews took some responsibility and have since suffered, but that did not clear Pilate.

The Sinner Responsible.

The sinner is responsible for his own sin. He cannot reject Jesus Christ and blame it on his friends or on circumstances. Pilate lost in the end being deposed from his position and dying, it is said as a suicide in exile. The great Cardinal Wolsey who held such a high position next to the King, and who sacrificed everything for power, at the end broken and wretched, exclaimed: "Would I had served my God as faithfully as I have served my King."

There is no gain in sin. It is all loss. Only eternity will reveal the loss the soul suffers who is untrue to Jesus. Jesus is at your side inviting you now. It is just as sinful for you to reject Him as it was for Pilate.

GIRLS COMING TO PETERBORO

ONE HUNDRED ARE DUE HERE ON WEDNESDAY.

The first party of 100 Barnardo girls to arrive in Canada since September, 1915 will reach Peterborough on Wednesday, it is expected. They sailed on the Cicilian and were to dock at St. Johns, N.B., yesterday or to-day.

The sinking of the Lusitania in May, 1915 ,and the ruthless submarine warfare of the Germans prevented the bringing out of more girls, and so for more than four years no parties have come to Canada. This soon resulted in the demand exceeding the supply and for the girls that have been available showers of applications have been received. The demands for domestics, both in the city and the country is so large that it will be several years before it can be filled. The girls in this party are older than those that were previously sent out and will be about 13 or 14, although there will be some younger ones in all likelihood.

That the sending out of parties, of which four were formerly sent each year, will be resumed, will be welcome news to all who have waited for years to secure girls.

$1631 JUDGMENT FOR GEO. E. PERRIN

FINDING OF JUDGE HUYCKE AFTER INVESTIGATING THE PERRIN-LUMLEY PARTNERSHIP.

In a decision untangling the partnership of George E. Perrin and Thomas W. Lumley, who conducted a butcher and drover business in this city, Judge Huycke this morning found that $1,631.00 is owing by Mr. Lumley to Mr. Perrin.

This case was begun in the Supreme Court with Mr. Perrin as plaintiff, and was referred to Judge Huycke as special referee. The judgment states that in the operations of the partnership stock was bought by Perrin in Haliburton, part of it shipped to Toronto and sold, and the remainder shipped to Peterborough through retail shops. This end of the business was managed by Lumley.

"Most of the evidence was incomplete and unsatisfactory, and the books, especially in Peterborough, very much worse."

A schedule of the Toronto end of the business showed a profit of $1,812.89, or $906.45 to each, the partners sharing equally in the returns.

"The accounts of the Peterborough business are a puzzle," the judgment continues. "It was alleged there were profits there which mysteriously disappeared. Lumley admitted there were or must have been profits, but does not say what became of them nor does he know, as he says. I am urged to find the profits there at $3,000.00, or at least as much as made in Toronto. This may be quite true, but I cannot so find, as there is no evidence to support it. I fix this profit at $500.00 to be equally divided, but I am in doubt if it is more or less, probably the former, but it is not definitely shown at any sum. I allow the plaintiff $123.00 balance owing by the defendant on two notes held by plaintiff after deducting certain collections made by him and credited on these notes. The defendant from time to time drew out $136.11 more than the capital he put in, and is therefore charged with amount.

"At the time of the dissolution the defendant had no financial interest in the business. All he had put in and much more he had drawn out and he was then considerably indebted to the plaintiff. Under these circumstances the plaintiff is, I think, entitled to the interest I have awarded him and also to the costs of the action."

Half the profits from the Peterborough business ...	$ 450.00
Perrin's capital, deducting all withdrawals	1611.00
	$1861.00
Deduct defendant's half of Toronto profits	906.45
	$954.55
Balance on Lumley's notes,	133.00
Overdrawn by Lumley	136.12
Fowler account....	31.00
	$1254.67
Interest thereon....	376.33
	$1631.00

Mr Joseph Wearing was solicitor for Mr. Perrin, and Mr. G. N. Gordon for the defendant.

This case has dragged through the Courts for two years.

GOVERNMENT WILL CONSIDER REQUEST OF THE G.W.V.A.

(Canadian Press.)

OTTAWA, March 29.—The Government has taken the request of the Great War Veterans Association for a cash bonus under consideration and will announce its decision in a couple of days. This morning a large delegation from the G.W.V.A. headed by the newly elected President R. B. Maxwell, and representatives of G. W.V.A. members in every province waited on Sir George Foster, acting Premier and members of Government to present resolutions adopted at Montreal Convention. Sir George promised delegation, early reply and full consideration.

Veterans ask for cash bonus of dollar a day for all members who served on belligerent fronts from time of enlistment until their discharge with an approximately less amount for those who served their country in Great Britain, Siberia or Canada. The Government is also asked to give to next of kin of fallen soldiers cash grant in a lump sum not less than he would have received had he returned on the day of the armistice. It is estimated that this bonus will cost the country fifty two million.

IF THIN AND NERVOUS TRY BITRO-PHOSPHATE

While excessive thinness might be attributed to various and subtle causes in different individuals, it is a well known fact that the lack of phosphorous in the human system is very largely responsible for this conditon.

It seems to be well established that this deficiency in phosphorus may now be met by the use of Bitro-Phosphate, which can be obtained from any good druggist in convenient tablet form.

In many instances the assimilation of this phosphate by the nerve tissue soon produces a welcome change—nerve tension disappears, vigor and strength replace weakness and lack of energy and the whole body loses its ugly hollows and abrupt angles, becoming enveloped in a glow of perfect health and beauty and the will and strength to be up and doing.

CAUTION:—White Bitro-Phosphate is unsurpassed for the relief of nervousness, general debility, etc., those taking it who do not desire to put on flesh should use extra care in avoiding fat-producing foods.

TORONTO MAN HAS GAINED 16 POUNDS

"TANLAC HAS CHANGED ME INTO A STRONG, HEALTHY MAN," HE STATES.

"I have gained sixteen pounds in weight, and have been changed from a sick, worn-out, broken-down man into a strong, healthy one since I started taking Tanlac," said Andrew Thompson, of 1 Poulton Avenue, Toronto, Ont., Canada, an employee of F. B. Blaine, wholesale grocer.

"For the past six years I had been suffering with rheumatism in the small of my back so bad I was never free from pain. I could get no relief either standing, sitting or lying down, and if I stooped over it caused me such agony I could hardly bear it. My left arm finally became affected, my elbow got stiff and pained me terribly, and the balance of my arm and hand felt numb and dead all the time. I also suffered with severe headache and was in such constant misery I could get but little sleep. Iving awake many a night all night long without sleeping a wink. I lost a great deal, and for one whole summer was absolutely unable to do a thing. I tried many different treatments and medicines, but never found anything that did me a particle of good until I started taking Tanlac.

"A friend told me about Tanlac and the good it had done him, and I decided to give it a trial. Well, sir, after I had taken the first bottle, the improvement in my condition was simply remarkable. I continued taking it until now I am absolutely rid of rheumatism, never have a sign of a pain, and can get around as good as I ever could. I have not had a headache since I started taking Tanlac, sleep well, and have regained my strength and feel so good all the time I never miss a day from work. I don't think I could praise Tanlac too highly, and it is a real pleasure for me to tell others about it."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd., in Havelock by A. C. Denike, in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd., in Fowler's Corners by W. A. Hunter, in Gelert by A. J. Scott, in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

During influenza epidemics spray the nose and throat several times a day with one part Wizard Oil and two parts water, using an atomizer. If you haven't an atomizer, gargle the throat and snuff the mixture up the nose. This treatment sets up an antiseptic wall of defence against "Flu" germs.

Chest colds and sore throat lead to grip. Stop them at once with Wizard Oil before they can develop into dangerous influenza.

The GRESSMAN-ELLIS

A Historical Sketch of The Scottish Bagpipes

At the memorial service for the dead soldiers in the old churches in Scotland when the "Flowers of the Forest," played by pipers of the regiment, close followed the singing to the cheerful melody of "St.Asaph," of the Paraphrase that tells of the after-death joys of the spirits who have exchanged "suff'rags great" for the brightness and for blissful seats for realms of light and robes that shine. The pipers themselves were in the back of the Magistrates' loft, and there was something eerie, something almost creepy, in the wailing sound that penetrated to every crook and cranny of the sacred old edifice, something that was at once reminiscent and mournful, something that recalled the men who had marched away to the war and who are now at rest on the scenes where they fell. The bagpipe is—or more correctly the bagpipes are—a wonderful instrument, ancient in its origin, almost a suggestion of nature forces, an instrument that, though musically limited, has a range of expression that is all it own.

The bagpipe, in the strict sense, is not an instrument at all, like the cornet, flute, harp, sackbut, dulcimer, and the rest of them that go back to the Babylonian days. It is not like the trombone, or the cornet, or the piano, or the organ. It has no affinity to the fiddle that is said, in its original form ,to date back to a period of 5000 years before Christ. It stands alone, the materialisation in music of the musical soul of a nation, the one and only instrument that, taken by itself, thrills a people and that brings them from the partly perpendicular to the upright when they hear its weird voice of the winds coming along the street, and impels them to march to its inspiring call. When Ian McLaren was in America on the last visit he made to the Western continent, he happened upon Chicago on the day of the Scottish festival, and he was walking along when the Caledonians hove in sight. The pipers were in front, and they blew with an unco flare, and behind them came a band of Scots, elderly men the most of them, normally douce, decent citizens, men of substance and of solemn mein, some of them in kilts, and all of them with their shoulders squared and their breasts sticking out, and marching along with those light, springing footsteps that one associates with the Cameron men on their native heath. One of them stepped out of the procession and approached the Doctor. "Doctor," he said, "we are a michty people." "We are," replied the Doctor, "but we have our faults." "Toots," was the rejoinder, "they're no worth mentioning." What other instrument under the sun could, or does, inculcate such a sense of national virtue?

There is a high Greek authority for saying that just as [illegible] When Eve all fresh from beauty's [illegible] charms

First met Old Adam's view,
The first words that he spoke to her
Were, "Cuss or auld and dku."
So
Music first on earth was heard
In Gaelic accents deep,
When Juber 'neath his oxter squeez'h
The blether of a sheep.

But high and all as the authority is I fear it will have to be classed with the story of the Grants who had a boat of their own at the Flood, and with the tale of the M'Lean who, searching far back into his pedigree, and leaving Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob far behind, came across a marginal note which ran—"About this time the world was destroyed by water." The sacred historian, at all events in the Authorised Version, says, nothing tbout the pipes. Jubal, he says, was the father of all such as handle the harp and the organ. It was natural for the early and ingenious musician to turn his attention to the harp, for the wind he blew in he forest was a teacher to him as it rose and fell and made strange, wild melodies of the boughs and branches of the trees; and the world at all events as we know it, was still comparatively young, and Egypt was but in the first spring of its national greatness when it had a great harp seven feet high, with 18 sonorous bass and tenor strings, its massive frame shimmering in all the colours of the rainbow, and ornamented with carvings, gold and precious stones. The harps of the Jews, on the other hand—the harps that they hung on the willows of Babel's streams—were small, and resembled more a lyre than a true harp.

An organ, as the Authorised Version has it, might be almost anything, except what we know as an organ. In the Revised Version, however, the word is rendered "pipe," and that, freely translated, gives us the chanter. When the bag was added is impossible to say; but from a very early period the completed instrument was known, at least in Europe and in Asio. The Jews knew it, so did the Greeks and the Romans. A terra cotta, of 200 B.C., executed in Tarsus in Asia Minor, gives us a wind-chest with vertical rows of reed-pipes firmly fixed to the body of the performer. It appears on both Greek anud Roman sculpture, and history avers that the Emperor Nero was a performer on it; more than that, it appears on a coin of Nero.

The bagpipes have long been known both in India and China—how long cannot be said; but we may almost take it for granted, from th character of the Chinese, and their marvellous clinging to the ways and customs of their fathers back through untold generations, that they did not take the instrument up at a comparatively late period. But the old histories everywhere are all but silent on the minor affairs pertaining to the domestic and communal life; they are monopolised by the greater events that went to the making of history. Every modern writer who attempts to re-create the past knows that; it takes a good deal of groping, and of piecework, to reconstruct the customs ,the habits, the amusements of the people. And that ignoring of common things is no doubt why we fail to trace the bagpipes across the European centuries. No doubt, probably in a much cruder form than we know them to-day, they were there, but they were like the Jaws in the Scottish National character—they were hardly worth mentioning.

Up to the beginning of the fifteenth cetury, when the Highland clans went to battle, they were incited to combat by the songs of the bards. Well, there are great capacities in the human voice and it does not take a very big crowd to raise a storm—and a very discordant storm, too—of sound; and I can quite well picture the bards, after a preliminary recital of the deeds of daring and conquering ancestors, as a sort of prelude to emulation, and a few stirring appeals to the patriotism and valour of the Celtic warriors, breaking out, as the clans drew their claymores, in invocations that a modern descriptive writer would describe as blood-curdling yells. It was their business to inspire, and you may depend upon it they knew their business. But, after all, the bard was even then out of date as part of a fighting machine. Something better, something wilder, something more inspiring was needed to respond to the Celtic temperament, and that was found in the pipes. The wonder is that it was not discovered earlier; but for one thing, the bards had been a long time at the business and they were good at it; their songs were clan memories, and the Highlanders are loath to give up their memories; and everything, even the bagpipes amid the storm of battle, must have a beginning somehow. But once the were introduced, and the clansman felt the magic of their influence, it did not take long for them to supersede the bards.

The earliest extant specimen of the bagpipes in Scotland dates from 1409; save that it lacks the big drone, which was introduced in the 18th century, it is in all respects the same as the Highland bagpipe of the present day. Half-a-century before that, however, there were "King's pipers"; and it appears from the records that the pipes were employed in the service of the Catholic Church in Edinburgh. There is no particular reason for believing that that was the beginning of them in sacred service; and, of course, if the people were satisfied with their interpretation of the musical spirit of the age, that was all that was required. These things depend very much on how you look at them; and to some of us still a Sabboth rendering of the "Land of the Leal" or the "Flowers of the Forest" on the bagpipes were better in our ears and in our hearts than voluntaries conceived on the Continent, whose spirit makes no apeal to us and the meaning of which we do not comprehend.

To certain ears accustomed to the diatonic scale, the music sounds harsh and unpleasant; some people declare that the bagpipe is only its proper place on the hills or in some glen or corrie, and others elect to have it just as far away that they cannot hear it at all. But, more important than that, this is why the pipes appeal to a Celtic people like the Highlanders—and most of us have some Celtic blood in our veins—who take their tone to some extent from the character of the country itself, who feel the influence of its hills and valleys, who experience the rigour of its climate, to whom the beating of the wings of the storm is familiar; a warlike people who have to fight for nearly everything they have; a romantic people because they take care that the spirits of the fathers are never far away; a dour, determined people, not easily moved, and to whom th music of the pipes is an exhilaration and a stimulus to-day, as well as a pathos and a sympathy to-morrow. The truth is, you cannot fully appreciate the bagpipes unless you can feel somewhat, as the old Highlander felt as he sat in his shielding thinking of the silence of the eventide of the day he saw kilted lads march off to embark for war—

And still he thought he could all but hear
The echoing notes of the pibroch clear,
Sounding near and sounding far
The wailing echoes of distant war;
The pipes that sigh like the nor'land breere
Amid the boughs of the whispering trees,
That touch the heart, that start the tears,
That fire the blood, that banish fears,
That scream aloud o'er the war-druma rattle,
To the charging hosts n the deadly battle.

Or like the dying Celt, whom his friends tried to console with the assurance that in the land to which he was going he would hear the harpers with the golden harps—

But think o' the harpers wi' golden harps.
Yes, I'd like to hear them fine
But gie me the win's on the [illegible]
That wail to the stormtod wine.
An' it's O' for the pibroch fierce and wild.

That made my he'rt like the he'rt o' a child.

The word "pibroch" recalls a good story told by the famous American Temperance orator, John B. Gough. I give it in his own words—"A clergyman, using as an illustration the scene at Lucknow when Jessie Brown cries out, 'Diana ye hear it, the pibroch and the slogan?' said 'Diana ye hear it, the pigan and the slobroch?' A friend told him about his blunder, and he, wishing to be correct, took occasion at the evening service to say, 'I have been informed that I said at the morning service the pigan and the slobroch—I intended saying 'the slobroch and the pigan.' Receive the benediction." The slogan, of course, has nothing to do with the bagpipes; it is the war-cry or the gathering cry of a Highland clan—Cruachan, for example, for the Campbells, the name of the mountain that rises from the side of Loch Awe in the heart of the Campbell country—in olden days so inaccessiible that "It's a far cry to Loch Awe" passed into a proverb.

There are different kinds of bagpipes, though the Highland is beyond any doubt the king of the race, and the only bagpipe that goes to war. Th Northumbrian pipe is played not with the mouth but with a bellows, it has several keys on the chanter, giving it a chromatic scale, only one hole is uncovered at a time, and the end of the chanter is closed. The Irish pipe is musically more complex, and also more complete than the Highland; it is also regarded as much sweeter in the tone. Its chanter has nearly a full chromatic scale. The player is seated with one side of the bellows tied firmly to his body, the other to his right aem; the bag under his left arm, the drones resting on his leg, and the end of the chanter resting on a pad on the knee, on which it is "tipped" for the purpose of articulating many of the notes. Its use is dying out. It takes two to play the Italian bagpipe, the one playing the drone with a mouth tube, the other the melody on a separate chanter.

The pipes are a wonderful instrument. They grip the Scot as nothing else does. They are blithe at a bridal of the north; they are the most heart-wringing sound that can be heard at a funeral; there is nothing to equal them in the mustering of the hosts for the battle; there is nothing, that can breathe fire and fury into men in the slash of the conflict, as their voice really speaks; it gets into the heart at all events, for there are memories in it that no years can efface, and though the music may be harsh, it is welcome in the ears of the man, be he Highland, be he Lowland, in whose veins the Scottish blood courses true and strong.

BANKING FACILITIES AT FRASERVILLE

MERCHANTS' BANK OPENS A SUB-OFFICE.

On Thursday last the Merchants' Bank established a new branch at Fraserville to be run as a sub-agency from Peterborough. It is to be open on shipping days and will carry on a general banking business, cashing grain and stock cheques, accepting deposits, etc. This large Bank maintains a special rural service department, and no doubt these facilities will be welcomed by the many farmers of the district. The country adjacent to Fraserville is noted for good farms and the shipping done is quite extensive. Having a bank there should prove a great convenience to the farmers and a boon to the village.

The Peterborough branch will provide staff for Fraserville and definite announcement as to the days and hours the Bank will be open will follow later.

Yesterday the congregations were very large, both morning and evening being one pleasing feature was the large percentage of men present.

The pastor occupied the pulpit at both services, and the after meeting showed a deep spiritual interest. In the morning the text was three-fold, namely, "Every man shall bear his own burden": Gal. VI, 5. "Bear ye one another's burdens", Gal. VI 2. "Cast thy burden on the Lord". The first is Self Help the second Brotherly Help and third Divine Help. The following points were discussed.

(1) Every human life has its burden.

(2) There are burdens which cannot be separated from the bearer, such as care, sorrow, disease, age, sin and death.

(4) Burdens which we may lighten for others, by giving the cheering word, the warm hand clasp, helping the poor fellow to get a start, putting the drunkard on his feet, acting, the "Good Samaritan", and jailing the grafter and the profiteer. Then there are burdens which we may cast on the world's Burden Bearer. The gospel waggon is going your way why not fling your load in and ride? Think of a man checking his baggage through to the West, and keeps going to the baggage car every hour to see if his baggage is safe. Can your check? Well sir, you can trust the Railway Company. Think of a man checking his luggage through to heaven and then worrying himself to death for fear the Company, Father, Son and Holy Spirit will fail him. Oh, I guess the Company is safe, sir, better [illegible] easy if you have your check.

The evening subject was the "Barter of a Soul", and the text was found in Luke XXII, 21, "Behold the hand of Him that betrayeth me is with me

HEAVIER RAILS ON THE G.T.R.

It is understood that the Grand Trunk Railway Company will commence work this summer on the laying of heavier steel between Lindsay and Toronto, and will also cut down a few grades and reduce the number of curves.

With the coming of the heavier powered engines the light rails have not been standing up and the change to the heavier steel is almost necessary. The elimination of the curves, some of which have a 7 inches slant, will be a decided improvement.

It is also stated that an improved passenger service will be given to the Lindsay citizens.

MUSIC IN THE HOME

CREATION OF MUSIC.

Music is known as a plastic art because it is capable of being moulded. The average music lover thinks that when the composer has put his notes down on paper his work is done. Nothing of the sort. The work is only begun. There is a kind of path of correctness which all players of the piece will observe. The notes must be right and the time, rhythm and phrasing must be right, but there is yet all kinds of room for creative effort. It is for this reason that the player must always think earnestly while playing so that the interpretation will not be a mere imitation of what the teacher or some other player has done, but a creation, an original new living thing. It is interesting to compare the talking machine records of different pianists playing the same piece and note the decided difference in interpretation—creation. If they all imitated one model their playing would be uninteresting.

FAKE MUSIC TEACHERS.

The fact that a few fakers have been able to make temporary successes in music-teaching has a most discouraging effect upon many young teachers. They see a man who has been a grocer's clerk in a small town go to a great metropolis, study voice for a year, and then start himself up in some other city as a master of singing or as a conductor. By reason of sheer nerve and bluff he worms his way into a certain social set, and often does more business than many far worthier teachers. Nevertheless, the student should note that by far the larger number of successful teachers are those who have worked long and hard.

BUYING OF CHEAP VIOLINS SHOULD BE DISCOURAGED.

Why will people buy cheap, worthless violins to "lean on" It seems to be owing to some queer crook in human nature that people who think nothing of paying $400 or $500, or more for a piano, think it is good policy to pay $5 or $10 for a cheap fiddle at the start. Now, it should be understood that these cheap fiddles are practically worthless so far as producing good musical results go. They are in the same category with $1.25 shoes, $8 suits of clothes and eyeglasses which are sold at the five and ten cent stores. They are like wooden razors, only made to sell.

The theory on which people buy these cheap violins is that they do not know whether the pupil will make a success of violin playing and do not want the instrument left on their hands if he does not. It is strange that they do not apply the same line of reasoning when purchasing a piano or a vast number of other articles which might be named.

Theodore Thomas, the late famous orchestral director, who was an excellent violinist himself, was always most emphatic in advising violin pupils to use violins with a good quality of tone. His theory was that the rough, crude, rasping tones of a cheap, worthless violin were a positive injury to the growing brain and artistic nature of a pupil obliged to use it.

PLAYER PIANO STIMULATES DESIRE FOR MUSIC.

There is one fact about player pianos which should make even the most apprehensive take heart. The invention has not cut down the number of music students. There are, in fact, more pupils today studying under private teachers than ever there were before. Surely if these instruments had the devastating effects on the number of music students which they are in some quarters supposed to have, the signs of it would have been visible long before this.

As a matter of fact, the mechanical instruments, far from diverting possible pupils from the paths of music, have had the contrary effect and have undoubtedly been one of the greatest factors responsible for the increased number studying the art at the present time. This, through the mere fact that the player piano, if it has done nothing else, at least has made music more fully known, made it a more every day possession of everybody. It has stimulated the desire for music and the desire to perform rockled read sdN ...ooxh icyUod music to a remarkable extent.

BALLAD IS POPULAR

Nothwithstanding considerable adverse criticism, the "ballad," it must be admitted, is the form of song which reaches more hearers than perhaps any other. In these days many competent musicians are giving public endorsement to ballads of the better variety, and it may be profitable to examine one or two of the reasons why this form of music is becoming so popular, and further, to try to see its value to the teacher.

The world word, "ballad" immediately conveys to the unprejudiced mind the idea of melody, that essential part of music which often receives scant courtesy at the hands of would-be adepts, who in their desire for what they consider "modern" music, scorn the very existence of a clearly defined "tune." To the blase ears of these, ballads are naturally anathema. Fortunately, however, these poseurs are comparatively few and their opinions are carrying lessening conviction. The great masses of music lovers, who, because of deeper intuition and more normal judgment, (and not through lack of perception), prefer form to chaos and a flowing melody to cacophony run amuck.

RECOVER AVIATOR'S BODY IN SAHARA

Gen. Laperrine Killed in Attempt to Fly Across Desert.

ALGIERS—The body of General Laperrine, who left here early in February in an attempt to fly across the Sahara Desert to Timbuctoo, has been found about 75 miles from Tinzulin, an oasis in the Sahara, 120 miles southwest of Morocco. General Laperrine was killed by the capsizing of his airplane, but the pilot and mechanism of the machine escaped uninjured.

Nothing had been heard from General Laperrine or his assistants since February 17 when the airplane reached Tamanarasset, midway to Timbuctoo.

General Laperrine died on March 5, after suffering greatly from his injuries. The pilot of the airplane, Adjutant Bernard, and the mechanician Wasselin, walked two days in an endeavor to obtain help. Finding none they returned to the machine where they were found.

A ROSARY OF JOY.

There are so many sorrows in our lives—
Oh, let us take the little joys we find
And thread them like a rosary of pearls.
To count them o'er and keep them all in mind.

A day of sunshine where we look for rain,
A sudden bird-song when the skies are grey;
The first frost-painted leaf that flutters down
The breeze that blows some vexing thought away.

The sleep that bears us far from toil and care,
And gives new strength to meet the day's demand;
And, oh, above the rest, the faithful friends
Who always love and always understand.

Yea, life hath many sorrows for us all,
And our hearts grow faint with long-continued ill:
But let us clasp our rosary of joys
And hold them in our dear remembrance still.

"CAMOUFLAGEUSE."

The "Camouflageuse" is the latest profession for women. It has made its appearance in London advertisements. One lady advertises that she can "reconstruct that last year's frock and make it look like this year's latest. Suits and gowns camouflaged to appear to be new and of the latest design." And the lady in question takes to herself the title "London's leading camouflageuse."

It seems a worth while profession, one opening up a large field of effort. If the "camouflageuse" can touch up that 1918 model suit and give it the zig and lines of the 1919 mode why can't she do the same for many other articles of apparel, furniture or furnishing? And why stop with feminine affairs? There are plenty of men who would be glad to have last year's fedora or blue serge suit re-adapted to the present prevailing style, thereby saving enough money to take in several ball games or buy a few additional cigars.

YOUR FRIEND.

He that is thy friend indeed
He will keep thee in thy need.
If thou sorrow, he will weep;
If thou wake, he cannot sleep.
Thus of every grief in heart,
He with thee doth bear a part.
These are certain signs to know
Faithful friend from flattering foe.

IT WAS A DREAM.

It was a dream, that vision of a world
Made sweet with peace and holy brotherhood!
A world wherein the flags of hate were furled
And all man's needs so rightly understood
That nation's strove, each for the other's good—
Their greeds and rancours to oblivion hurled.

It was a dream—the hope that right-eousness
Might yet prevail upon the land and sea;
That never more war's horrors should distress,
Or human flesh die of its misery.
Yet we did dream, and almost happily,
That peace might prosper us, and truly bless.

O splendid sleep! O wretched waking hour!
Back are our souls—back in the sordid slime!
Lost to our land munificence of power,
The chance magnificent — almost sublime!,
Lo, now the war red flushes clime on clime,
And waiting foes stand ready to devour

It was a dream that could have been fulfilled—
A glorious vision wide earth might have seen!
Would that to-day the peaceful bugles trilled
Across the lands that Spring will soon make green!
Sad are our hearts, for now these intervene—
Forewarning war-cries and the peace hope—killed.

THE DREAD PYORRHEA BEGINS WITH BLEEDING GUMS

Pyorrhea's [illegible] germs cause many ills. Medical science has proven this.

Diseased conditions, which not long ago doctors were unable to trace to a cause, are now known often to be the result of Pyorrhea germs that breed in pockets about the teeth. Rheumatism, anaemia, nervous disorders and other diseases have been traced in many cases to this Pyorrhea infection.

Don't let Pyorrhea work its wicked will on your body. Visit your dentist frequently for tooth and gum inspection.

And watch your gums yourself. Pyorrhea, which afflicts four out of five people over forty, begins with tender and bleeding gums; then the gums recede, the teeth decay, loosen and fall out, or must be extracted to rid the system of poisons generated at their base.

Forhan's For the Gums will prevent Pyorrhea—or check its progress, if used in time and used consistently. Ordinary dentifrices cannot do this. Forhan's keeps the gums hard and healthy—the teeth white and clean. Start using it today. If gum-shrinkage has set in, use Forhan's according to directions and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

...rl Smith May Get Call ...ver McGraw's Old Catchers

A YOUNGSTER SENT TO GIANTS BY ARTHUR IRWIN TWO YEARS AGO.

...ATONIO, Texas.—Just now ...of the four catchers on the ...f the Giants stands forth as ...ably the best of the group. All ...stage are on an equal footing ...en the last game of the year ...en played and the last box ...filed one of the four will have ...r his place as the genuine first ...ng catcher of the Giants. It may ...that this honour will fall to Frank ...er, a rugged two-fisted sort of ...stop and a bulwark on the de..., or to Lew McCarthy, who fail...e last two years to show his old ...simply because he had not re...ed from an injury received in ...world series of 1917. It may be ...Mike Gonzalez, the tall and slen...but remarkably strong Cuban, ...cop the laurel, but perhaps the ...bet of all is Earl Smith. Smith is ...youngest of all four. Also the ...est. All that, however, matters ...to Earl. He's big enough to ...his own in any man's ball game, ...h is sufficient for him. He is not ...tall, but he's strongly made and ...as game as any player in the na...al pastime and just a trifle gamer ...most of them. To his natural ...ifications, he had added a fair ...e of knowledge of baseball as ...play it under the big tent. He's a good catcher now, and some day he's going to be a better one.

Career Short.

Two years ago Smith was a free agent knocking around his home town, which is Hot Springs, Ark. He'd had a bit of experience here and there in the sticks, but he hadn't burned up any leagues. He was all set to play ball somewhere, but he didn't know just where it was going to be. The Brooklyn club trained in Hot Springs that year and Smith obtained Wilbert Robinson's permission to work out with the Brooklyn players. Robbie got a good look at the kid one day and then proceeded to take several more looks at him. Then he went to Charles H. Ebbets and told him he would do well to grab Smith, who was to be had for nothing. Ebbets, however, was of the opinion that the Brooklyn club already had enough catchers, and when the Robins went East, Smith remained in Hot Springs. Arthur Irwin was casting about for a catcher that spring, and Robbie told Arthur about Earl. Arthur added Earl to the roster of the Rochester club for the price of a railroad ticket from Hot Springs to Rochester and sundry meals devoured en route. The following winter Arthur handed Earl over to the Giants in return or six ball players and a neat but somewhat bulky wad of dough. Which was not a bad transaction, whether it be viewed from the standpoint of Arthur or the Giants. The only one who doesn't stand out so well in this proposition is Charles H. Ebbets. Last spring Smith joined the Giants at Gainesville.

Lacked Experience.

John McGraw had an idea that Earl was a pretty good ball player who needed experience more than anything else. Much may be learned from the bench if a recruit has the good sense to keep his eyes and ears open and this mouth shut, except when he has a sensible question to propound. That's exactly what Earl did. He looked and listened and warmed up pitchers in the bull pen, and now and then he went behind the bat in the closing innings of a game. At the end of the season he knew vastly more than he had known at the beginning. Also he knew how to apply his newly acquired knowledge, all of which caused McGraw to regard him as a pretty good catcher. This spring he began where he left off last fall. His improvement has been steadily and rapid. He is not at all conceited, but he thinks he's going to be pretty nearly the best catcher in the National League this year. Possibly McGraw hasn't told as much, but there is good reason to believe that John has some ideas on the subject which do not vary greatly from those held by Smith. It is quite possible that ere the season wanes one of the Giant catchers will be used in a trade to strengthen the club in another department. The betting hereabouts is that if such a thing comes to pass, the catcher involved will not be Smith.

DARK HORSES IN THE DISTRICT

A FEW OF LAST YEAR'S PLAYERS TURN UP.

Port Hope Guide: If the enthusiasm and interest shown at the second annual meeting of the Central Ontario League held in Peterboro can be taken as a criterion, then the season of 1920 should be most successful. Delegates from Belleville, Cobourg, Port Hope, Oshawa, Lindsay and Peterboro were present and all gave most encouraging reports for the coming season. Belleville has all of last year's players, with several new ones added. New faces will also be seen on the Oshawa, Lindsay and Peterboro teams, and it was the general opinion of the delegates that the brand of baseball for 1920 would be superior to that of last year. Cobourg and Port Hope are evidently the only two teams who have not endeavoured to secure new material.

"Sandy" Lockington has another guess coming. If there are "dark horses" floating around Lindsay, we have yet to hear about them.—Lindsay Warder.

JACK DEMPSEY OUT ON BAIL

SAN FRANCISCO, —William Harrison Dempsey, better known as Jack Dempsey, champion heavyweight prize fighter, and his manager, Jack Kearns, were arraigned in the United States district court here on an indictment charging conspiring to violate the selective service law. Both pleaded not guilty. Dempsey, after stating that his true name is William Harrison Dempsey, was arraigned on a second indictment charging him with evading the draft.

Judge Robert S. Bean fixed Dempsey's bonds at $1000 in each case and Kearns at $1000 on the conspiracy charge. Both gave bail before United States Commissioner Francis Krull, and were released.

DENVER CLAIMS THE LONGEST GOLF COURSE IN THE COUNTRY

Denver advances the claim for the longest golf course in the United States, if not in the world. The new municipal links there, recently completed, measures 6,767 and occupies only eighty acres of ground, forty of which belong to the States of Colorado. It is remarkable also because of the great number of bunkers and traps and other hazards. The course is typically Western, there being little grass in the fairways. Greens are of oiled sand. It was necessary to remove forty-five buildings, a farm, a dairy, a brickyard, a dumping ground and part of a race track in order to build the course. The Shackamaxon links at Westfield, N.J., one of the longest in the metropolitan district, measures an even 6,500 yards.

TYRONE POWER AT THE GRAND

Patrons of the Grand are on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week offered the first of the Canadian-made pictures, "The Great Shadow," featuring the eminent actor Tyrone Power, in the leading role. The picture is a story dealing with the present day labor unrest in the world and is so skilfully presented that both employers and employees will find in it a lesson that should have an influence for good in the solution of labor problems. The picture will be presented twice daily and will have special orchestra accompaniment.

THE MOTE IN BABE RUTH'S EYE.

The batting of Babe Ruth, the home-run king, has been anything but impressive since he donned a Yankee uniform; in fact, it has been extremely disappointing. The fact that he has not been hitting the ball has occasioned quite a little comment in baseball circles everywhere and some critics have even gone so far as to intimate there must be something wrong with the player who last year set a major league record by knocking twenty-nine home runs as a member of the Boston Red Sox.

That something is wrong there seems to be no doubt, but that it is anything that cannot be remedied is highly improbable. Diagnosing his case the logical deduction is arrived at that Ruth is handicapped by nothing more serious than overeagerness. The fact that Ruth made a reputation as a slugger last season and that he was purchased for a record price, generally affirmed to have been $125,000, must be given serious consideration when seeking the reason for his failure to hit. In other words, Ruth is carrying two burdens, one on each of his broad and powerful shoulders. He is trying to live up to his reputation as a slugger and he is also trying to convince the owners of the Yankees that they made no mistake in laying out a fortune to procure his services.

When Ruth reported at the Yankees' camp in Jacksonville, he cherished the determination to knock the cover off the ball every time he stepped to the plate. His failure to succeed at first only spurred him to greater efforts. Like many another player who has toppled into discouraging throes of a batting slump, Ruth undoubtedly increased the heft of his swing. Invariably players who are not hitting blame their swing instead of blaming their eyes.

Instead of putting more power in his swing Ruth would probably have fared better had he lessened it—had he shortened it and tried chopping at the ball until he began to get his eye on the "old apple." No doubt with such a skilled veteran as Miller Huggins watching his every move Ruth will soon be coached to overcome his present shortcomings.—New York Times.

CRASHED INTO G.T.R. GATES

The steel casting at the base of the north gate on the west side of Bethune street, at the King street crossing, was smashed by a careless and unknown driver last night between 7 and 8 o'clock.

It is believed that in turning into King street he struck the base and smashed the steel casting which is valued at about $15. Mr. MacNab pointed out the car must have been a heavy one to inflict the damage.

HICKEY'S HURRY-UP SALE OF HATS

Men have no time to spare if they want to share in the positive economy offered by Hickey's pre-Easter Hat Sale, Saturday was a rousing day and hats passed out to ready buyers at a lively clip. Remember, it's a positive sacrifice sale of the entire hat stock, as Mr. Hickey is making a sweeping clean-up of every hat in the store, to make room for his spring stock of "Art" clothing, which is crowding in upon him. "King" hats in all the popular shades, that were $6, $4 and $3, going now for $3.95, $2.45 and $1.65. English stiff hats worth $6.50 while they last going at $3.95. Every dollar you can save on your Easter dress is worth going after. Every Hat must go, and here's a hat for every occasion— the models are up-to-date, the quality is assured, and the prices should induce men to lay in an extra hat or two to cover their dress and other needs. SMALL BLAZE ON STEWART STREET

Fire broke out in the roof of Mr. Robert Jackson's residence, 186 Stewart street, last night at 9.40 o'clock The blaze was observed by a lady passing and telephoned from the house. After a short tussle with the fire the firemen had it under control and by about 10.15 the fire was extinguished. The fire was confined to the roof and although it ate its way into the attic little damage was caused in the interior most of the damage being caused to the roof.

The cause of the blaze is unknown but in all probability a spark from the chimney was responsible.

OBITUARY

THOMAS BRUCE ROBERTSON.

On Saturday evening Thomas Bruce Robertson, aged 31, son of the late John Roberston, of 588 Bonaccord street, passed away after an illness resulting from pleurisy, and being gassed in France in 1917.

The deceased was born and raised in Peterboro, and before going overseas was employed with the Utilities Commission. In 1916 he went overseas with the 93rd Battalion, but was transferred in England, crossing to France with the 87th Battalion.

After some ten months service in the line he went out after the Battle of Vimy Ridge, in 1917, suffering from pleurisy and gas. In 1918 he was invalided home, and after hospital treatment at Kingston, was discharged in September, 1918.

His condition had not improved any and in spite of all that could be done, he passed away on Saturday evening. His parents both predeceased him. He leaves six brothers and three sisters. Three of his brothers served overseas.

The funeral will take place Tuesday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from the family residence, 588 Bonaccord St., to the Little Lake cemetery, Rev. James Rollins officiating.

MICHAEL H. HAYES

Michael H. Hayes, a former president of No. 103, one of the well-known members of the International Typographical Union in the East, died suddenly while seated at his desk in the pressroom of the Linotype Composition Company, Newark, N.J. Mr. Hayes had a host of friends and his death was a great shock to all. In years gone by Mr. Hayes, in company with the lamented Percy Monroe and George Schweitzer, helped make famous the short circuit of Syracuse-to- Rochester- to- Newark, and this trio had many interesting tales to tell after a trip around the circuit. His chapel adopted suitable resolutions of condolence on his demise.

The late Mr. Hayes was a former resident of Peterborough and a brother and sister still reside here. He was a printer of more than local reputation and many old friends here and in other cities where he has resided will regret to learn of his death.

Lane and Mr. T. Dineen were the marshals. Bishop O'Brien, referring to the presence of the Foresters of the three parishes, commended them upon their custom of receiving Holy Communion in a body annually, and welcomed them to the Cathedral.

CONFUSION OVER DAYLIGHT SAVING

SEVERAL TOWNS ALONG THE BORDER ADOPT SYSTEM.

Canadian Press.

TORONTO, March 29. — There is considerable confusion to-day in the Canadian border cities and towns generally throughout Canada in industries having direct United States' connections, following daylight saving time going into effect in New York and other border states.

This mix up will probably continue more or less during the month of April. On May 1 the cities of Montreal, Toronto and Ottawa will adopt daylight saving time locally, Niagara Falls, Ont., and other frontier towns, are running on the new time to-day.

It is not expected that Federal or any of the provincial governments of Canada will take up daylight saving this year as a Dominion or Provincial measure. The railways have made no definite move in the matter.

Tickets will be available from any of the members of the choir at the advance price of twenty-five cents.

TRIBUTE TO LATE ROBERT NEILL

At the conclusion of the morning service at Trinity Methodist Church yesterday, the large congregation paid a fitting tribute to the late Robt. Neill, who for many years had been a prominent member in Trinity Church, and its predecessor, the old Charlotte street Methodist church.

Mr. George King, the organist, played the Dead March in Saul, while the assemblage bowed their heads in respect of Mr. Neill.

Rev. Mr. Malott, in his service, referred to the passing of Mr. Neill and the loss the church suffered in one who was at all times foremost in church work.

ART ASSOCIATION MUSICALE PROVED A FINE SUCCESS

The last of a series of Saturday afternoon musicales which have been held by the Women's Art Association took place in the Association's rooms at the Conservatory of Music on Saturday. The exhibition of etchings was still on view, which added to the attractiveness of the rooms, and there was a record attendance, many being turned away.

Mrs. James H. McDonald was a soloist who needed no introduction to her audience, as she has been heard to advantage before. Mr. P. A. Matthews, of Toronto, who has also been heard in Peterborough, was enthusiastically received, and sang in an exceptionally fine manner a well-chosen series, which revealed his remarkable voice. Miss Maud Dowsley, Bachelor of Music, of Toronto, was the pianist, and was a delightful treat to the music-lovers of the city. She is a pianist of note in Toronto, and those who were privileged to hear her enjoyed fully the display of her powers of execution. Particularly in the "Liebstraum" by Liszt was her faultless technique apparent, while the rhythmical appeal of the ringing tones in Littolf's "Spinnerlied" was much apreciated. It is to be hoped that Miss Dowsley will appear in the city again. Needless to say, her career will be followed with interest by those who heard her..

The programme was arranged by Mrs. Edward Howard Wood, who also accompanied. The tea was in charge of Mrs. R. R. Hall and Mrs. Ernest Frederick, who poured in place of Mrs. Gardner, and the tea table was charming in its spring-like arrangements of daffodils.

The following is the programme:

"God Save the King" ..... Mr. Matthews

"Parted" (Tosti) ..... Mr. Matthews

(a) Liebstraum in A flat (Liszt) .....

(b) Dance (Mussovsky) .....

..... Miss Dowsley

"Love's Wondrous Garden" (Lewis)..

..... Mrs. J. McDonald

(a) Intermezzo (Dreiner) .....

(b) Barcarolle (from "Tales of Hoffman") .....

..... Miss Dowsley

"I Hear a Thrush at Eve" (Cadman)..

..... Mr. Matthews

"When You Are Near" (Bernard) .....

..... Mrs. McDonald

(a) "Hark, Hark the Lark" (Schubert)

(b) "Spinnerlied" (Littolf) .....

..... Miss Dowsley

"My Task" (Ashford).. Mr. Matthews

There are many thin oils on the market that are not suitable for internal use; other oils have irritating qualities which render them also unsuitable. The one we are selling is guaranteed thick and entirely pure.

It is recognized that a good grade of Mineral Oil is one of the best remedies for CHRONIC CONSTIPATION that is being used. It acts mechanically and does not irritate the intestinal tract, nor does the dose have to be constantly increased as is the case with ordinary purgatives.

It is much better and cheaper than Castor Oil as a laxative for children, since Castor Oil has two effects, the first of which is purgative and the second or after-effect, which is Constipating.

VOL. XLVI NO. 76 — PETERBOROUGH TUESDAY, MARCH 30, 1920 — PRICE TWO CENTS

DICTATORSHIP OBJECTIVE OF SOCIALIST LEADERS IN WINNIPEG GENERAL STRIKE

REPORT OF JUDGE H. A. ROBSON WAS MADE PUBLIC TO-DAY—LABOUR ORGANIZATIONS PROTEST.

QUESTIONS INVOLVED

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, March 30.—Dictatorship by the proletariat was the objective of the Socialist leaders who thrust themselves to the forefront in the Winnipeg general strike of 1918, and who seized upon the strike as an opportunity to advance their own plans by converting it into a Socialistic movement with themselves as its leaders.

So declares Judge H. A. Robson, late chairman of the Board of Commerce, formerly Public Utilities Commissioner of Manitoba, and one of Canada's most eminent jurists, who was given a Royal Commission last autumn by the Provincial Government to investigate the causes and review the results of that industrial catastrophe.

Robson's report has been in the hands of the Provincial Government for many weeks, but was not made public until to-day, because it was feared it might prejudice the case of the strike leaders, whose trial was concluded only Saturday.

In addition to confirming the opinion that had been expressed most effectively by two separate juries, those in the R. B. Russell case and the case of seven other leaders—opinion that radical labour element had visions of establishing a Soviet form of Government—the Robson report puts into words the opinion that is held by practically every fair-minded observer of the strike and the trials that have developed from it.

Judge Robson expresses this opinion as follows:

"Commissioner finds that the great mass of workers, intelligent and loyal to British institutions, did not acquiesce in all that was said and done (by Red leaders), and it was clear to them that the motive of the Radicals was not that of obtaining the right to the mode of collective bargaining for the group of workers, but that their purpose was to elevate labour into a state of dictatorship."

In other words, Judge Robson was convinced, after listening for eleven whole days to the testimony given by the strikers, employers, and more or less disinterested spectators of the strike, that "Red" leaders, intent on advancing their Socialistic programme, got the body of labour to support them by fooling the rank and file into believing thaey were striking to enforce the right of collective bargaining.

New Plan Outlined

PREMIER MUELLER MAKES MAIDEN SPEECH IN THE REICHSTAG.

By Carl D. Groat.

(United Press.)

BERLIN, March 30.— "Germany's greatest danger is from the reactionary rights not from the Bolshevists," Premier Mueller told the Reichstag to-day.

It was the maiden Reichstag speech of the former Foreign Minister. Mueller's plan, as outlined, was practically that of the preceding cabinets. He promised early fulfillment of the social laws, particularly socialization of mines, which was promised by former cabinets but never fulfilled.

The government's ultimatum to the Ruhr rebels was to expire at noon Tuesday and authorities here declared their threat for an immediate military action in force against the Communists might be expected if the Reds failed to accede to all the government's demands. These demands included full recognition of the complete power of the Central government by the workmen of Westphalia, with admission of the government's right to control policing of the entire nation.

Government troops were reported being concentrated to move into the disordered district if the ultimatum was not accepted.

DEATH TOLL FROM TORNADO

NORMAL CONDITIONS ARE BEING RESTORED.

Canadian Press.

CHICAGO, March 30. — The death toll of Sunday's tornado, which ripped a path of destruction through eight states at noon to-day stood at 158, with fears expressed that reports from isolated districts might increase the total.

Relief measures for thousands of injured and homeless were well under way.

Reports by states to-day gave the number of deaths as follows:

Indiana	36
Illinois	27
Ohio	26
Michigan	12
Georgia	38
Alabama	17
Missouri	1
Wisconsin	1

Wire communication in the affected areas was being restored and this was expected to aid in clearing up the extent of the destruction, and he total number of those who lost their lives.

No accurate estimate of the total property damage, which runs into the millions, has been made to-day.

In Illinois it was estimated that the material loss was six milions; in western Ohio two millions, Michigan two millions and Georgia more than one million.

FARMERS OBJECT TO THE CHANGES IN FRANCHISE ACT

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, March 30.—Meeting to protest against the clause in the proposed new Dominion Franchise Act, which prohibits any association from organizing or collecting money for political purposes, will be held Wednesday by Political committee of United Farmers of Manitoba. The fear that $37,000 already collected in the provincial canvass now under way cannot be used for political campaign, was expressed to-day by J. T. Brown, president, who called the meeting. Others of this committee gave their opinion that if the Franchise Act was passed there would be no need for a campaign fund.

"Farmers would rise as one man in protest and many other people would join them to take a stand against interference without rights of any body of men to further their political interests," said one.

WILL DISCUSS THE HOUSING PROBLEM

MORE ORATORY WILL BE EXPENDED ON THIS ISSUE.

A special joint meeting of the City Council and Board of Trade, will convene in the Board of Trade Chambers this evening, Tuesday, at 8 o'clock sharp, to discuss and formulate a plan of action in relation to the housing problem, which is one of the greatest problems with which the city is confronted to-day, and upon its solution depends, to a large extent the possibilities of our future development. Every citizen interested in the development and prosperity of the city should attend this meeting at 8.00 o'clock sharp.

STIPULATIONS ARE ACCEPTED

DIFFICULTY IN RUHR DISTRICT STRAIGHTENED OUT.

Canadian Press.

ESSEN, March 30. — All stipulations of the Berlin government relative to the cessation of fighting and the maintenance of order in the Ruhr district, have been accepted, with one exception, by the central committee in charge of the anti-government operations here, according to the notifications sent to Berlin las night.

Exception was taken in reference to the fourth condition referring to the surrender of arms and ammunition.

The government in sending its ultimatum to the Communists in the Ruhr district, stipulated its conditions must be accepted to-day.

CALDER HAS GONE SOUTH

(Canadian Press.)

OTTAWA, March 30.—It is stated in well informed circles that Hon. J. A. Calder, who has gone south, will make his journey serve double purpose, in that while recuperating after his recent illness he will place several questions before Sir Robert Borden for his decision. Among these it is said are certain clauses of Franchise Act which Government has intimated it is willing to change, question of Naval Policy and Proposed Taxation to be outlined when Sir Henry Drayton makes his maiden budget speech.

EXPECTS TO COMPLETE BRIDGE AS ESTIMATED

Mr. Charles Townsend, construction engineer on the Hunter street bridge, told the special bridge committee yesterday afternoon that he felt certain the work would be finished at a cost within the available appropriation.

The committee recommended that the salary of Mr. Christie as inspector be paid by the city.

WILL NOT COMPLY WITH ULTIMATUM

(Canadian Press.)

COPENHAGEN, March 30—King Christian announced to-day his refusal to comply with the ultimatum of Social Democrats, demanding reinstatement of the Zahle Ministry, dismissed by the king, and other actions demanded in connection with government crisis. The demand was made under threat that Danish trade unions would meet to-day with a view to declaring a general strike if the throne did not comply. Action demanded included immediate summoning of Rigsdag and restoration of constitutional conditions.

Wilson's Position

GERMAN GOVERNMENT PLEDGES ITSELF NOT TO SEND ADDITIONAL TROOPS INTO FORBIDEN ZONE.

FRENCH READY

(United Press.)

PARIS, March 30 (by Henry Wood).—Dr. Wilhelm Mayer, the German Charge d'Affaires, to-day notified Premier Millerand that his Government pledged itself not to send additional troops into the neutral zone, as provided in the Peace Treaty, without the authorisation of the Allies.

Mayer's action followed threats of vigorous action by the French Government.

Premier Millerand was quoted by The Matin as declaring:

"The French are ready to advance from Mayence and occupy Frankfort, Hanau, and Darmstadt should the Renchswehr further penetrate the neutral zone.

"I hope the Allies will act jointly, but France will act alone if necessary."

Hugh Walace, the American Ambassador, to-day handed Premier Millerand President Wilson's note favouring the German occupation of the Ruhr district, and opposing the extension of the Allied zone of occupation.

Observers here saw the President's position as directly opposed to that of Millerand. They believed that the French Premier would not dare to accept Wilson's suggestion, even if he were so inclined, because of the growing popular demand that the Treaty of Versailles be enforced to the letter, and that France's position be fully protected.

LETTER DEPLORES THE DISCUSSION

DIFFERENCE OF OPINION HAMPERS WORK.

Special to The Examiner.

WINNIPEG, March 30.—Regret at the differences of opinion that have developed among the Ontario temperance forces over the question of taking full advantage of the present legislation dealing with the provincial importations, passed by the Dominion Parliament last November, is expressed in a letter sent to the Dominion Alliance at Toronto, by the Social Service Council of Manitoba, to-day.

The letter deplores the possibility of such dissension spreading out of Ontario into the other provinces, and declares that the call issued by the Dominion Alliance Council may have the effect of raising again in Manitoba, the issues that had already been settled there.

NO CHANGE IN PRICE OF MILK

"No chance", three of the milkmen told the Examiner this morning, when asked if the milk prices in the city will come down this summer. They all claimed that cows are not out in pasture long enough to help out the feeding problem, taking nourishment the majority of the time in the barns. "And as cows are not eating any less and food is just as expensive as last year we don't see how we can bring down the price and make a living."

TWO MORE STORES ON CHARLOTTE STREET

A convenience to householders in the vicinity of Charlotte and Rubidge street, will be the two stores which Mr. J. E. Lillico contemplates opening at that particular corner. The residence now occupied by Mrs. Dancy has ben purchased from the Toronto Savings and Loan Company and will be converted into apartments and stores. An ice cream parlour and grocery store will be the result.

EXCITEMENT AT THE KING EDWARD HOTEL

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, March 30. — An imposing crowd filled Scott Street shortly before nine o'clock this morning while fire reels dashed in to save the King Edward Hotel from being destroyed by fire. But alas for the sightseers—nothing more serious than a charred wastepaper basket and slightly scorched curtain formed the local fire loss.

The origin of the blaze could not be explained, but it had been extinguished before the arrival of the fire fighters.

"Just a little text to show we have a fireproof building," smiled Manager Muldoon to the curious,

ALDERMAN'S WIFE TO BE CANDIDATE IN BYE-ELECTION

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, March 31.—Mrs. John Queen, wife of Alderman Queen, convicted on Saturday as a strike leader, may run in ward five as a candidate to succeed her husband. Alderman W. B. Simpson, Labor, states that in case of a by-election, the Labor party will ask her to be a candidate. Queen, under charter, is entitled to remain alderman for six weeks after his conviction.

The imprisonment of Mrs. Queen's husband means the end of the fifty-fifty split between labor and non-labor elements in the city council. Since January 1 the council has been evenly divided with six labor aldermen and six non-labor and Mayor Gray has had to cast the deciding vote on every matter on which there has been a division. Queen's enforced absence leaves non-labor element with a majority of one.

RELUCTANT TO GIVE OPINION

CANADA NEVER SUBSCRIBED TO MONROE DOCTRINE.

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, March 30—While members of the Government hesitate to give an opinion regarding the statement contained in a Londou cable to the effect that Canada's hands are tied in the League of Nations, owing to the fact that in the altered draft all the members bound themselves to admit the Monroe Doctrine, the general impression is that there is very little in the contention. In the past, Canada has never subscribed to the doctrine.

Hon. N. W. Rowell, president of the Privy Council, declined to give an opinion until he had given more consideration to the matter.

DESCRIBES IRISH HOME RULE BILL

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, March 30.—Herbert Asquith in the Commons to-day described the Irish Home Rule Bill as a "cumbrous duplication and multiplication of institutions and offices," adding that from the viewpoint of efficiency there is nothing to be said for it. Mr. Asuith recalled that in 1914 he gave the pledge that Ireland should have one parliament, and declared that he adhered to that view now. He disagreed with those who believed there could be no constitutional changes until order had been restored and asserted that the root of the trouble could not be got at until there was wide reform in government system.

Bonar Law followed Mr. Asquith, declaring that if the Liberal leader proposed to amend existing law, as he indicated, his proposal would be condemned as unanimously by representatives of Southern Ireland as is the present bill. Government leader said that no bill was not the result of free choice on government's part. It recognized that when the last of the peace treaty was signed, existing law for Irish Home Rule would become effective. This would have meant that Ulster would be forced to join Dublin parliament against its will, something which the government would not attempt to carry through. He declared the government in the present bill intended to give Ireland the largest measure of home rule compatible with national security and pledges that had been given.

LABOURERS WANT TEN CENT INCREASE

NEW RATE WILL TAKE EFFECT ON MAY 1ST.

At a meeting of the labourers of Labor Union No. 437, the concensus of opinion of the members was that the time had come for the members to raise the wage schedule ten cents on hour making the new rate 55 cents an hour for a nine hour day. Following address by Messrs. Darrow, Wm. O'Donnell, Frost and A. J. Bolwell, who spoke on the question of organized labor and of the necessity of raising wages in keeping with the High Cost of Living the meeting adjourned until Saturday evening, when the matter will be definitely settled. No increase will be made until May 1st. The day is made in order to give the contractors time to adjust their contracts to suit the increase in labor. Several new members joined the lodge at the meeting.

Denikine Escaped

"LAST STAND"

(United Press.)

LONDON, March 30. — General Denikine, leader of the anti-Bolshevik forces in South Russia, escaped from Novorossisk when the Soviet armies captured that port last week, the British War Office has been informed.

It has been feared that Denikine might have fallen into the hands of the Bolsheviki. He made a "last stand" defence against the Reds at Novorossisk, and was defeated.

The War Office admitted that this defeat practically eliminated the anti-Bolshevik movement in South Russia.

THE STOCK MARKET OPENS IRREGULAR

A FLURRY IN CALL MONEY—STERLING EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, N.Y., March 30. — The stock market opened irregular today. United States' Steel opened at 103 7-8, up 1-8; Pan-American Pet. 101, off 1-2; General Motors Certificates, 37 1-4, up 1-4; Anaconda, 63 7-8, up 1-2; Studebaker, 104 1-2, off 1; Republic Steel, 100, unchanged; International, 83 1-2, unchanged; Baldwin Loco., 132, up 1-4; Crucible Steel, 255, up 2; Bethlehem B. 95 5-8, off 1-4; U. S. Rubber 110, off 1-4; American Car and Foundry, 143 5-8 up 1 3-4.

Wall Street attributed the flurry in call money in late dealings Monday to wire trouble arising from storms in the middle west, this preventing transfer of funds from interior sources.

Sentiment was much more cheerful since it was felt the difficulty would be corrected, although several houses reported wires still in bad shape.

Trading in the first hour was characterized by an under current of firmness in the general list. General Motors sold at 375 against a low of 369 in the previous session. Crucible continued a feature selling at 263, up 22 points from the week's low.

Dealings up to noon fell nearly a thousand shares below the volume in the same hours on Monday. Continued wire trouble with the middle west continued to cut down commitments.

EXCHANGE MARKET.

FORMALLY WELCOMED INTO THE CANADIAN MANUFACTURERS' ASSOCIATION.

THOSE PRESENT

The inaugural banquet of the Manufacturers' Association, held in the Empress Hotel last evening, was a momentous one for the local association, for this was the first occasion when they have been formally welcomed into the Canadian Manufacturers' Association Two of the foremost officers of the Association, Mr. J. E. Walsh, general manager of the Association ,and Mr. H. A. MacDonald, secretary of the Ontario division, were present and spoke at length in glowing terms of the work of the association and its benefit to Canadian manufacturers.

Over forty manufacturers, representing practically all the industries of Peterborough, assembled last evening to hear the interesting messages brought to the local organization by the officers, and the success of the banquet was gratifying in every way. The manufacturers left the building imbued with new enthusiasm in their work and with greater confidence and enlightenment in the work being carried on by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

Big Problems.

Mr. W. R. Breyfogle, chairman of the local association, presided. After the toast to the king had been honored, Mr. Breyfogle spoke of the momentous problems facing the agricultural and manufacturing industries, and expressed the hope that both would co-operate for the betterment of Canada The speaker paid very high tribute to the Canadian Manufacturers' Association and its inestimable assistance given freely in all industrial matters—assistance and advice which in many cases has saved thousands of dollars to industries.

The purpose of the meeting to receive Peterborough into the ranks of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association was dwelt on ,and the chairman outlined the steps leading up to this affiliation. Mr. Breyfogle spoke on the excellent record of the Peterborough Association in securing new members and its steady growth until now it represents 100 p.c. of the manufacturers here.

Mr. J. E. Walsh, general manager of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association in beginning his address, expressed his pleasure at being present. The work of the local association was commended highly. In the last six or eight months Peterborough has set an example for all the branches in Canada," he said, speaking of their 100 per cent. membership.

Strong Organization.

Our organization is stronger than ever. The association was first formed in 1872 and in 1899 there were only 3 branches. Mr. Walsh spoke of the meeting held in Montreal in 1875 and contended that the problems facing the manufacturing interests at that time were almost identical with those of to-day. The growth of the different departments were outlined Stress wa slaid on the important duties of the transportation department, how it had brought about many needed reforms in legislation and worked with the railways for the betterment of these facilities The tariff department under the management of Mr. Bristol, has rendered very special and commendable service and the insurance department has been invaluable. Under the capable leadership of Mr. H. A. MacDonald the legal department has kept in close touch with all federal or provincial legislation inimical to the manufacturers. In a resume of the work of the commercial intelligence department, which deals with the trade unions and dispenses statistics and general information of all kinds, Mr. Walsh gave some idea of the large volume of work carried on.

Labour Questions.

The industrial relations department which looks after all labor questions athough not a conciliatory board in any way has done much to bring about amicable relations between labor and capital.

Mr. Walsh referred to the opening of the office in Ottawa during the past year to keep tab on government moves and the valuable work it has done has fully warranted its establishment. The satisfactory state of affairs since the Dominion wide association has been divided into five organizations as a result of a little irritation amongst the ranks when a feeling spread that Toronto was running things, was dwelt on.

Ontario Division.

The Ontario division comprises five branches, representing Toronto, Ham-

STUDENTS DID NOT ESTABLISH "SOVIET" AT KANSAS SCHOOL

EXUBERANCE OF YOUTH CAUSED THEM TO DUCK PROFESSORS.

HAYS, Kas., March 30.—The student soviet of the Fort Hays Normal School has ceased to exist. In fact, it never did exist, according to the county prosecutor, except in the mind of one of the faculty members, who was made a victim of youthful exuberance, and who, with two others, was ducked in a pond.

This faculty member, P. Casper Harvey, so the county attorney reported to the state's attorney today, resented an implication of coercion in an "ultimatum" delivered by the student body to the effect that everyone connected with the institution would have to help lay the school running track yesterday or take a ducking. Whereupon the investigation disclosed, Prof. Harvey and Prof. James Start, with a student named Linquist, objected to this seeming interference with personal liberty, and refused to take any part in the work.

In consequence, there were three splashes in the pond nearby, and Proi. Harvey upon emerging from the water, immediately hastened to his office and informed the state board of education by telegraph that the students had seized control of the institution and that a virtual "soviet" was in power, and that, said the county attorney in his report, was all there was to it. The track was built, the non-workers were ducked and the incident was closed—officially.

MAPLE SYRUP SUPPLY WILL NOT BE LARGE

SAP FLOW IS BEGINNING TO WEAKEN —PRICE $3.50 PER GALLON.

Although earlier in the season, when the sun first started to drive away the snow, indications pointed to a bountiful supply of maple syrup, the season which started less than a week ago has already less than a week ago end. After three days of an unusually copious flow, the trees started to dry up Wednesday and Thursday last and only an occasional drop found its way into the buckets.

The season has been rather a disappointing one to the owners of maple bushes, for they had expected a good year. The steady intense cold of the winter, the deep snow, the absence of thaws during the months of January and February, and the sudden coming of spring, all gave promise of a long, steady flow. Instead the season was unusually short.

For a good flow of sap it is necessary to have clear, frosty nights, followed by hot days. The first few nights after the sap started to flow were ideal; but during the past few days the nights have been almost as warm as the days. This has forced the sap to rush to the upper parts of the trees, and so the flow has almost ceased.

Considerable syrup was made during the few days of the season, as the conditions were excellent. In most years the snow remains in the bush in drifts for some time after it has disappeared from the fields, hindering the progress of the sap-gatherers. This year, because there had been no rain or thaws, the snow had not packed, and although it was deep the warm winds melted it like magic, clearing the woodlands almost as rapidly as the open country.

REDS OCCUPY RUSSIAN CITY

(Canadian Press.)

NOVOROSSISK, March 29.—Occupation of this city by Bolshevik forces, occurred Saturday morning at ten o'clock. Thousands of General Denikine's volunteer soldiers went over to Soviet side and most of remainder went on board ships and departed for Crimea with Denikine. Only ships which resisted occupation of city were Russian which fired few shells at Soviet forces. Virtually all shipping of value was removed from harbor before Bolshewki gained control of city.

MANY DESERTING SERVICES.

Men Unit in Droves Because of Inadequate Pay, Senate is Told.

WASHINGTON. — Unable "to make both ends meet," on their present pay, officers are resigning and enlisting from the army and navy "in droves," the Senate was told by Chairman Wadsworth of the Military Committee and Senator Poindexter, Republican, of Washington.

They complained of the refusal of the House to agree to a conference on the bill recently passed by both houses providing for increased pay for the service men.

Senator Wadsworth said that he had been informed that 200 petty officers deserted from the navy in one month and that since the armisitice 2,358 army officers had resigned because they were unable to live on their pay.

THE GREAT BREATH.

Its edges foam'd with amethyst and rose,
Withers once more the old blue flower of day;
There where the ether like a diamond glows,
Its petals fade away.

A shadowy tumult stirs the dusky air;
Sparkle the delicate dews, the distant snows;
The great deep thrills—for through it everywhere
The breath of beauty blows.

I saw how all the trembling ages past,
Molded to her by deep and deeper breath,
Near'd to the hour when Beauty breathes her last,
And knows herself in death.

Voice Of The People

To the Editor Peterboro Examiner:
Dear Sir:—

Your account of the Armstrong sale in the Examiner of Saturday, 27th inst., revived the memory of old events, especially the ox yokes, the making of the ox bowes, also breaking in the steers and then ploughing with old "Buck" and "Bright," when 11 years of age and twisting around the stumps of those early days, especially catching the point of an old Number 2 plough on one stump and being sent quite a piece. Those stumps have all or nearly all been pulled and put into fences long ago.

My father had came unto that 100 acre farm being very heavily timbered, about 90 years ago, and called the neighbors to help him build a house right in the very centre of the farm, I think. And it is said when building the house they felled a tree on him and knocked him off the corner that he was shaping or building, not knowing whether they had injured him or not. But he came out from under and said, "God is above thre Devil yet."

On that home I was born more than 74 years ago.

From that home I went to an old log school and learned some. At all events I learned that if boys were bad they might be put in under the desk for a while. I expect that I incurred the Master's displeasure as he undertook to put me under the desk, but he found he was not man enough. So I was to stay in and take my punishment after school was out: but escaped that by running when the door was opened, they did not appear to have the right material to beat me running then nor later.

In that home after breakfast a part of God's holy word was read and then all bowed in prayer.

In that neighborhood 6 houses opened their doors for prayer meetings on Wednesday evenings.

On that farm two skulls were ploughed up reminding of an earlier race.

From that home as a Big Boy or young man I took a span of horses and went back to the shanty to draw logs in winter. I had thought that reading the Bible and prayer was good any place but I soon found out that I was known as the "Preacher."

Reader, these two things has paid me well, try it on them.

To God be all the Glory.

THE HOUSING QUESTION.

The meeting called by His Worship Mayor McIntyre and Mr. Edgar Worth, President of the Board of Trade, for Thursday night, to discuss the housing question, should be largely attended. No problem that has engaged the attention of the people of Peterborough in many years is more serious than this question and the critical nature of the situation should result in a representative attendance. Public meetings as a rule are not productive of the results aimed at, but the importance of the subject to be discussed on Thursday night should make every citizen who feels that he can do or suggest something that will help to remedy the present condition of affairs resolve that he will contribute what assistance he can. The best counsel that is available in Peterborough is needed in the deciding upon of a policy, and no one who believes that he can in any way help should absent himself from the meeting which is to be held in the Board of Trade rooms. This is a real call to service, for undoubtedly the city that first grapples successfully with the housing problem in the city that is going to outstrip its rivals. It is not necessary to labour the point in regard to the absolute necessity of more housing accommodation in Peterborough. Too many citizens have been brought absolutely face to face with the problem to need any extended newspaper summing up of the situation. It is bad now and will speedily grow worse unless a way out can be found. Thursday's meeting may furnish the way.

CANTEEN FUNDS.

Members of the local branch of the Great War Veterans' Association were doubtless gratified to see that one of the resolutions passed at the Dominion Convention last week and forwarded to the government, was one that originated in the Peterboro branch. This was the motion advising the utilization of Canada's share of the canteen profits in the establishment of scholarships for the children of C.E.F. soldiers, for twenty-five years and after that period open to all children of British subjects. The suggestion was adopted by the Dominion convention the policy being viewed as a constructive and business-like disposition of the two million dollars which it is estimated, represents Canada's share of canteen money. Comrade James Milby, of the Peterboro branch and a former member of the 21st Eastern Ontario Battalion is responsible for the resolution, which he introduced several months ago before the Peterboro G.W.V.A. Its adoption by the representatives of the Veterans from all parts of Canada, furnishes the Government with a method of disposing of these funds when they are finally settled. The money certainly belongs to the soldiers, for it was earned by them, and if the organized body of Veterans favours the establishment of scholarships as a satisfactory scheme, that should practically settle the matter.

A MERITED HONOUR.

Although titles have been officially banished in Canada and the majority of Canadians have approved of the step, there is one name at least in the list of those decorated with the Order of the British Empire for war services that will please many people in this country. The conferring of knighthood upon Phillip Gibbs, the famous English war correspondent, is a fitting recognition of the magnificent work done by Mr. Gibbs during the war. In the dark days when the line in France was bending back before the hammer blows of the German war machine, there was nothing that served to keep up the morale of the people of the British Empire more than the vivid despatches of Mr. Gibbs, telling the wonder story of the gallantry of the British armies. For this knight of the pen wasted little time on the strategy of the war, but told of the way in which the Tommy fought and died. He was everywhere on the fighting front and always in the hottest part of the battle, and in so far as the censor permitted him, gave the world an unforgettable series of pictures of the epic bravery of the British fighting forces. Canadians have to thank him for his vivid descriptions of the exploits of the Canadian army corps, for he was often with General Currie's men and was a warm admirer of their gallantry and prowess. His knighthood has been richly earned.

THE BOARD OF TRADE.

A correspondent writes the Examiner to ask what the Board of Trade has done during the past year. While this question might have been more properly directed to the Board itself, and the latter needs no newspaper championing, yet it may not be out of place to point out that since the re-organization of the Board less than a year ago, a vast amount of preliminary work has been accomplished. The year has been a preparatory one, devoted to the establishment of adequate quarters, the development of an efficient staff, the organization of sections representative of the various interests in the city and the preparing of plans for city betterment and many other features. The work has been done effectively and in a business-like manner and an organization has been effected that should in the present year be capable of much service on behalf of the people of Peterborough. The machinery is ready and the success of the Board depends upon the extent to which the members are willing to co-operate in carrying out the work that is planned. Criticism by members whao fail to do their share of the work and by non-members who wil not show enough interest even to join, will not help to reach the ideals aimed at. There must be loyal, enthusiastic, warm-hearted co-operation, with a membership inspired with the idea of putting all they can into the Board, instead of getting all they can out of it. Otherwise the organization can at best next year show only an average record.

A NEW CONCILIATION PLAN.

The use of public opinion as a force to minimize strikes and lockouts, and to promote co-operation in industry is the chief feature of a plan which has been submitted by President Wilson's second industrial commission. The ideas, as worked out, are said to be the product of Mr. Hoover's brain, and if they prove practicable will further enhance the national reputation of the man now named for the presidency. According to reports from Washington, the new labor conciliation plan is an advance of the Canadian act, and has been declared by Hon. W. L. MacKenzie King to be ahead of any existing legislation. Indeed, it is hinted in some of the American papers that the Canadian act may be amended at a very early date in order to take in the better features of the Hoover plan.

The idea proposed is that disputes shall be settled "at the source," in shop councils, and that only when failing on an agreement there shall be reference of the isue to the system of investigation and arbitration tribunals. These tribunals are of two types, regional and national. The parties concerned may take their case to the regional adjustment conference, which consists of four representatives selected by the parties, and four others in their industry chosen by them and familiar with their problems. The chairman at the conference is a trained government official, who acts as a conciliator, and if an agreement is arrived at it results in a collective bargain, having the same effect as if reached by joint organization in the shops. Nowhere in the whole plan is there any compulsion as to arbitration, collective bargaining or accepting of awards.

It is provided that if there is disagreement before the regional tribunal, the matter in dispute maye be taken, with certain restrictions, to the national industrial board, unless the parties prefer the decision of an umpire selected by them. Submission to the regional board carries with it an agreement by both partiees that production shall not be interfered with pending the process of readjustment. If the parties, or either of them, refuse to lay their case before a regional board, provision is made for the constituting forthwith of a regional board of inquiry made up of the permanent regional chairman, two employers from similar industry, and two employees, also not parties to the dispute. This board can summon witnesses, carry on investigation, and report its findings. It cannot, of course, compel an acceptance of its findings. Public opinion may do that.

It is evident that there is nothing very radical in the plan proposed, which has as its chief object to stimulate settlement of differences by the parties in conflict, and which is depending upon the force of public opinion behind it to be successful in its object. A plan of this kind in operation a few months ago would have been of service in the steel strike, where Judge Gary contended that the workers could not be represented in conference with the steel trust by their paid union officials. Under the newer plan the steel workers would have elected their representatives, and could have chosen union officials or anybody they pleased. However, the United States is not likely to lack in opportunities for trying out this or any other plan that may possibly lead to industrial harmony. The threat of a coal miners' strike at the first of April seems likely to be carried through. In other basic industries there are similar threats being heard. If Herbert Hoover or anybody else can devise a plan whereby justice may be given to both parties in labor disputes, and the number of strikes and lockouts so directly affecting the general public lessened, that person will have conferred upon the republic one of the greatest benefits of the post-war period.—London Advertiser.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

There is certainly variety to our Canadian climate. A thunder storm and a snow storm within twenty-four hours should be change enough for anyone.

A correspondent wants to know what the Board of Trade has done in the past year. He fails to tell what he has done to help the Board during the same period.

A Toronto paper says the Varsity team were all at sea in their game with Winnipeg. Well the Falcons will be all at sea next week, so it's fifty-fifty.

Those Winnipeg jurors will be looking for a bonus to re-establish them into civil life.

A man charged with being a common nuisance practically proves the charge to be true when he addresses the jury for two days.

What is the matter with the Farmers' government? The Legislature has been talking for two weeks and nobody has mentioned Government House.

The Farmers' Sun complains about the depopulation of rural Ontario, and in the same issue grows so pessimistic about farm conditions that one wonders why anybody stays on the land.

Gordon Waldron is trying to take the hide off the Hydro.

If there are to be no band concerts this summer, what can hold the Council meetings to this week? The people are entitled to some amusement.

The surest sign of spring is the first letter of the season from "Pro Bono Publico" asking what is the matter with the watering carts.

The Veterans' deputation announce they are going to stay at Ottawa until they get a definite answer from the government. But the government never gives anybody a definite answer.

The price of hair cuts in Toronto is advancing to 50c., the figure which Peterborough owners of hair have been paying for some weeks. This is one time when we would have been willing to wait and let Toronto set the pace.

Appropriations for soldier re-establishment purposes for the coming year total $122,480,400. And the G.W.V.A. wants $352,000,000 more in cash bonuses. Whew!

26 SLAYERS OPPOSE DEATH.

Sing Sing Vote to Abolish Capital Punishment is Unanimous.

OSSINING.—A poll just taken to test sentiment of twenty-six murderers in Sing Sing Prison, according to prison attache today, found every condemned man in favor of abolition of capital punishment but all opposed to remedial legislation proposed to punish first degree murder.

The slayers are all bitterly opposed to life punishment in solitary confinement, they said. This was suggested as a substitute for killing murderers, at the legislative hearing on the bill to abolish the electric chair.

"We'd rather walk to the chair and be burned," said one, "than stay in solitary for life."

Or any other blossoming tree,
Is each God's fair, white gospeller,

A gust-broken bough; a pilfered nest;
Rumors of orchard or of bin;
The thrifty things of east and west—
The countryside becomes my inn.
And I its happy guest.

THE BELATED VISIT TO THE ATTIC.

CHAPTER LXXIV

Not a word did Everett say when I returned to the room. The book lay closed on the dressing table and he was preparing for bed. Only one reference did he make to what had passed. That was in the morning before he left for the office. He said:

"I intend to be obeyed in what I spoke of last night," I made no reply, and without his usual kiss he left me.

Of a sudden it came to me that it had been what I showed him in the book I had been reading which had made him so suddenly quiet the night before; had saved me further scolding because I had not obeyed him and retired at once. As I thought of it I recalled that this had happened whenever I had spoken of Leola to him. "Good!" I thought. "I will say something about her whenever he is cross to me."

Someway I couldn't dismiss her from my mind that morning. I stood in front of her picture, trying to see if I could find in her features the reason of his idolatrous love for her as compared to his carelessness of me. But the calmly smiling face told me nothing and I turned impatiently away.

She had his real love. Mine is warmed over—if I have any—just as Rose said." I whispered to myself. Then "I would like to be first with some one. I will too."

As usual when I had quarreled with Everett, or I thought he had treated me unfairly. I wandered about unable to set myself at anything. Suddenly I thought of the little black trunk in the attic which for one reason or another I had not yet attempted again to open. Mrs. Gray would soon go to market. While she was out I would try once more to open it. One day while looking over some things of Everett's I had come across a small bunch of keys. They were on a tiny silver ring, such as a lady might carry. I had taken them to my room, and laid them carefully away, convinced they had belonged to Leola, and perhaps one of them would unlock the trunk which had so excited my curiosity. I had been unable to secure a locksmith.

"She's dead! I'm his wife now—I have a right to know." I quieted my conscience. "It isn't fair for him to keep things belonging to her now he is married again." So I waited for Mrs. Gray to go out, then went immediately to the attic.

I was right.

One of the keys did belong to the black trunk. I trembled with delight and fear combined when at last it was open. The small tray held a few articles of apparel, gloves, fans, and combs for the hair. Slipper buckles and buttons of odd design were laid loose, as if thrown in regardless of their value.

I tossed them over quickly, with no eyes for their beauty. Then I lifted out the tray and set it on the floor be side me. My heart almost stopped beating. There was what I sought lying before me. Bundles of letters, some of them yellow with age (as the novelist always expresses it) others looking as if mailed a day or two ago.

I started to untie the first package, then hesitated. Mrs. Gray would soon return. She might find me looking thru them. I cannot yet explain my feeling that I should be disgraced in her eyes, for I was sure I was within my rights as Everett's wife.

I finally took the packages which looked as if written long ago, and replaced the till, and locked the trunk. I would read them in my room. Then get others when I took them back.

I hurried down and hid the letters where no one would ever find them, sure soon to have an opportunity to read them. Then I went down to answer the telephone.

"Where in the world have you been? Hetty said she couldn't find you," it was Everett's voice, impatient, suspicious.

"What is it, Everett?" I ignored his question.

"I am going to bring an old friend home to dinner. Have Mrs. Gray told please. Hetty said she was out. We will go to the theater afterward, so dress and—look as well as you can," he added after a moment's hesitation.

I told Mrs. Gray we were to have a guest for dinner, then ordered the flowers for the table. After I had eaten my luncheon I locked myself in my room, telling Hetty I wanted to rest and was not to be disturbed unless Mr. Graham should want me.

Then I took from their hiding place the letters that were to prove to me that Leola held, even tho dead, the love of the man to whom I was married.

PROPAGANDA IN RUSSIAN ARMY

LED TO FINAL COLLAPSE OF GEN. KOLCHACK.

(Canadian Press.)

NEW YORK, March 30.—Propaganda, not bullets, led to the final collapse of Admiral Kolchak, Supreme Ruler of Russia, who, after losing his army of 80,000 men by wholesale desertion, was executed at Irkutsk, Siberia, early in February by the Bolsheviki. The success of the Soviet leaders in winning battles by propaganda was described here today by Major-General Thord-Gray, who served with the All-Russian army under Kolchak from early in 1919 until the final cataclysm this winter.

Major-General Thord-Gray went to Siberia in November, 1919, as a staff officer in the Canadian Expeditionary Force (Siberia) with the rank of lieutenant-colonel, and no one member of the force saw more of the thrilling events that marked the struggle against the Red armies in the Siberian area. When it was announced that the Canadian troops were to be withdrawn, he obtained permission to join the Russian army, and was given the rank of Major-General under Kolchak. He served in the latter's armies from Vladivostok to Ekatorinburg, and one occasion was wounded at Omsk. When the Social Revolutionaries captured Vladivostock recently Maj.-Gen. Thord-Gray was taken prisoner, and before he finally escaped from Siberia two attempts were made to assassinate him.

Two days after the All-Russian forces under Kolchak had evacuated their capital city Omsk, Leon Trotsky, the Bolshevik Minister of War, delivered a "propaganda" address to a group of All-Russian prisoners, who had been taken in the fighting, said General Thord-Gray. Calling those men "comrades," Trotsky said they would be welcomed by the Red Army if they wished to join. Captive officers, he said, who wished to return to Kolchak would be given safe escort and 2,000 roubles each. A number of the prisoners accepted this offer, and, returning to their own lines, told what Trotsky had done. Within two weeks, said General Thord-Gray, Kolchak had practically no army.

In the last weeks of the fighting, said General Thord-Gray, the Bolshevik troops showed better morale than those of Kolchak, and they were better armed. The Reds had one machine gun for every twenty men, and while the Kolchak troops had but three to each battalion of six hundred men. During the 2,000-mile retreat of the All-Russian armies they were driven before machine gun, not rifle fire. General Sakharoff, the All-Russian war minister and chief-of-staff, "lost the army at Omsk without a fight," said General Thord-Gray.

General Thord-Gray is a veteran of upwards of twenty wars and campaigns. In the Great War he commanded a British battalion until wounded. He was later connected with the British Recruiting Mission in the United States. He served in many African campaigns, and at one time held a commission in the Mexican army.

BIG SLUMP IN MOUSE MARKET

HOSTS OF MICE REQUIRED DURING THE WAR.

NEW YORK, March 30.—A big slump in the mouse market is reported from Columbia University where large stocks of the little rodents are used for experimental purposes. Quotations for mice have fallen far below pre-war levels and many breeders have been forced out of business, according to Dr. Francis Carter Wood.

Hosts of mice were required during the war for medical experiments and high prices offered for them by the government stimulated the breeding of these animals. When the armistice was signed the breeders were caught "long" on mice and they found themselves carrying a heavy overload of a useless commodity.

This situation in the mouse market is disclosed in Dr. Wood's annual report as director of the George Crocker Special Research Fund made public today. This fund was created to conduct scientific cancer investigation and many mice not used for experiments at Columbia University are shipped to other labratories. As one means to reduce the surplus, the directors of the Research Fund have attempted to ship some of the mice to the Pathological Institute of the Imperial University of Tokio.

SUICIDES FOLLOWING QUARREL WITH WIFE

C. F. Curry, Wealthy Land Owner, Kills Himself in Detroit

DETROIT, March 30.—Following a quarrel with his wife over trivial matters, C. F. Curry, a wealthy land owner, with a fortune variously estimated at from one to four million dollars, committed suicide by sending several bullets though his head in his room at the Curry mansion in Highland Park. Curry, who was 35 years of age, was a son of the late John W. Curry, wealthy banker and land owner of Windsor, who at one time owned practically all of what now constitutes the business section of Windsor. He had received a letter from his brother-in-law, J. B. McLeod, of Windsor, referring to the Curry estate, which had made him melancholy throughout the day. At the time of his father's death he shared the state with his two sisters, Mrs. J. B. McLeod, Windsor, and Miss Gladys Curry, of New York. He travelled extensively in the Southern States and Mexico in his early years, and at one time was missing for several months. He returned to Detroit and married five years ago.

HOME-MADE BREAD

Home bread-making reduces the high cost of living by lessening the amount of expensive meats required to supply the necessary nourishment to the body. The increased nutritious value of bread made in the home with should be sufficient incentive to the thoughtful housewife to give this important food item the attention to which it is justly entitled. Bread made with Royal Yeast will keep fresh and moist longer than that made with any other.

ROYAL YEAST CAKES

CANNOT DEBAR HEARST PAPERS

Protests of soldier organizations in Toronto against the entry of the Hearst papers into Canada has brought a reply from the Dominion Government to the U. V. L. head office as follows:

"Since the abolition of the Order-in-Council which depended on the War Measures Act for efficacy, the Government has no power other than that given by existing legislation to prohibit the entry into Canada of the Hearst papers. The Government, under the War Measures Act, could prohibit the papers referred to.

"Existing legislation gives certain powers of prohibition of obscene or seditious publications, but these are not sufficient to exclude the papers referred to. The whole matter is, however, engaging the attention of the Government at the present time."

"You Are Losing Weight—You Are Anaemic"

"WHAT does that mean, doctor?"

"It means that you are not deriving proper nourishment from the food you are eating."

"I eat enough, I think."

"That may be, but your blood is thin and watery, your nervous system is being starved and your weight is below normal."

"Is that what makes me feel so tired? I don't seem to have the energy to do much."

"Exactly, you have not enough nervous energy to drive the machinery of the body. Digestion fails and you do not derive proper nourishment from your food."

"What should I do?"

"You need a treatment that will supply to the blood in condensed form the elements which are necessary to build up the nervous system."

"How about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."

"There is nothing better. I could easily give you a prescription that would cost you more money, but Dr. Chase's Nerve Food contains all the elements necessary for the enriching of the blood and restoration of the nervous system. If you keep a record of your weight each week you will be able to prove this for yourself.

"You think I am anaemic then?"

"Yes, your blood is weak and this is why your nerves are starved and exhausted. The headaches, tired feelings and sleeplessness are the result of this condition, but you will soon be all right if you follow this treatment faithfully."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is sold by all dealers. On every box of the genuine you will find the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., the famous Receipt Book author. Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd.; Toronto.

LIFT OFF CORNS!

Doesn't hurt a bit! Sore corns lift right off with fingers. Magic!

Costs few cents! Drop a little Freezone on that touchy corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then you lift it right out with the fingers.

Why wait? Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of Freezone for a few cents, sufficient to rid your feet of every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and calluses, without soreness or irritation. Freezone is the much talked of discovery of the Cincinnati genius.

LADIES! LOOK YOUNG, DARKEN GRAY HAIR

Use the Old-time Sage Tea and Sulphur and Nobody Will Know.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and luxuriant, and you appear years younger.

ROAD OIL MARKET SO UNSETTLED COMPANIES NOT QUOTING PRICES

HINT TO THE BOARD OF WORKS THAT THE CITY MAY HAVE DIFFICULTY IN PROCURING THE SUPPLIES NEEDED FOR THE STREETS THIS YEAR.

DAMAGE ACTION THREATENED

Due to unsettled conditions in the oil market, the companies from whom the city has hitherto bought its supplies of road oil have informed City Engineer Parsons that they have no definite quotations to offer for the present. They also intimate that the indications point to a decided scarcity of this material for the coming season.

Mr. Parsons had written for prices on 45,000 gallons which he estimated would be required this year, and the most favorable reply was one company's intimation that they might be able to quote to the city early in April.

This question came up at last night's meeting of the Board of Works following a communication from the Little Lake Cemetery Board who want to buy 2,000 gallons of oil from the city for the roadways in the cemetery. Last year they used 2,000 gallons with such satisfactory results that the directors desire to extend the oiling in the cemetery this summer.

"We shouldn't make them any promises," Mr. Parsons advised. "We will have trouble enough getting our own supplies."

Ald. Conning moved, seconded by Ald. Morrison that the request of the Cemetery Board be granted if satisfactory arrangements can be made with the producing companies.

Ald. Phelan and City Engineer Parsons were authorized on Ald. Gainey's motion to buy road oil or tar products for this season wherever they can obtain it to the best advantage.

Threaten Damage Suits.

Letters from solicitors for H. P. Kennedy, C. W. Russell and Walter Brumwell, owners of property adjoining the Wilson farm in Otonabee on which the city will build the sewage disposal plant, warned the Council that actions for damages will be instituted if the work is proceeded with. These properties, the letters all declared, were valuable, and would be seriously depreciated by the presence of the sewage disposal plant across the fences.

Mayor McIntyre moved, seconded by Ald. Copping, that the Kennedy communications be received.

Ald. Phelan—Do you include the others in your motion?

Mayor McIntyre—Yes, and any others that come along.

For a Road to Lindsay.

J. R. McNeillie, Clerk of Victoria County, conveyed the resolution of the Victoria Council proposing a movement to urge the Ontario Government to assume as a provincial highway the main road between Peterboro and Lindsay.

Ald. Phelan—As soon as Peterboro County comes into the system we could co-operate in supporting the idea.

Ald. Copping—It's too late according to what Hon. Mr. Biggs told us in Toronto. He said that if the municipalities didn't think enough of the good roads system before now it was too late for the present as the province had its work all mapped out.

Hide Company's Complaint

The Colonial Hide Company complained that due to the lack of adequate drainage their property at the North-east corner of Lansdowne and Haggart Streets is flooded every year by spring freshlets. They suggested that a drain be constructed parallel to the G. T. R. tracks with an outlet into the river.

City Engineer Parsons was instructed to prepare a report for the Board on the conditions complained of by the Colonial Hide Co., and also on the need of better drainage in the North end in the vicinity of Aylmer and Dublin Streets.

A letter from Dr. McCullough, Provincial Officer of Health, formally approving the site of the sewage disposal plant, brought up the suggestion that, instead of buying the thirty-five acres required by the city, at an estimated cost of about $20,000, the entire Wilson farm of 137 acres be acquired.

Mayor McIntyre said he understood that $35,000 would secure the entire property.

"We would have the goodwill of the people from whom we are buying," Ald. Morrison remarked.

Ald. Phelan recalled a proposal he had made a year ago long those lines.

The Board considered that this question was beyond their province and declined to send a resolution to the Council, although it may be introduced at the regular meeting.

Remuneration Increased.

Edward Marchand, engineer of the Fire Department, who takes care of the machinery at the pumping station at the corner of Romaine and George Streets, asked that his remuneration be increased to $200.

The allowance for this work had remained at $100 for ten years of more.

Ald. Morrison's motion, seconded by Ald. Gainey, that Mr. Marchand's request be granted, was adopted.

To Ald. Copping's enquiry as to how the engineer obtained time from his duties with the Fire Department to attend to the machinery at the pumping station, Ald. Morrison replied that the work was done during Mr. Marchand's rest shift, that is during his time off the work at the fire hall.

Ald. Gainey remarked that this appointment was given to the engineer of the department in order that he would have the opportunity of obtaining the additional remuneration.

Ald. Phelan was informed that Mr. Marchand's salary from the Fire Department was $1,450.

It was contended that this allowance for work at the pumping station should be considered entirely apart from the engineer's regular salary.

PETERBORO MANUFACTURERS HELD A ROUSING MEETING

lton, Peterborough, Brantford and Niagara Falls. Several more cities are expected to line up in the near future. In Quebec there are 3 branches; in the Maritime provinces two; in the Prairie provinces seven, and in British Columbia two, making in all 19 branches.

In concludng he invited the members to use the association and every department whose constant effort was to serve.

First Visit Here.

Mr. H. A. MacDonald said that this was his first visit to Peterborough and paid a striking compliment to Peterborough manufacturers, and incidentally to the city, when he spoke of the wide difference between Peterborough industrial conditions and those in England and Scotland. "The workers here could have little complaint on sanitary or any other conditions as compared with the old country."

The success of the membership campaign in Peterborough was eulogized by the speaker, and tribute paid to Mr. W. R. Breyfogle.

Mr. MacDonald as secretary for the Ontario division, gave a few figures to show the prominent part Ontario takes in the agricultural and industrial life of the Dominion Ontario produces more than one-half the cheese products of Canada, 45 p.c. of all the minerals mined, 25 p.c of the timber cut, and more than half of the manufactures of Canada. When questioned on statistics as to how many cities and towns there are in Ontario the members' knowledge appeared a little hazy. There are 23 cities and 139 towns, he announced triumphantly. Ontario's assessed value is $2,000,000,000, or about equal to the national debt of Canada.

He outlined how it was necessary for every association to watch the municipal legislation and take action if necesary and to also interest themselves in all educational matters. In Toronto, besides assisting industrial schools, 52 boys are given a three-years' course by the association, being picked out by competitive examinations. He urged the need for sending all deeper matters, such as legislation and taxation, to headquarters.

A Good Work.

The associations are everywhere doin ga good work and proving most beneficial to the manufacturers. In speaking of the work of the legal department he said it helped every department. Every proposed legislation is examined by them. Mr. MacDonald reiterated the words of Mr. Walsh in inviting the local association to use the department freely for knowledge.

Mr. W. R. Breyfogle spoke on the value they had all received from the interchange of ideas amongst the members and said that during the next year it was planned to interchange their business too, and show each other what they made, how they made it and all about it.

Mr. E. G. Patterson, as a member of the Board of Education, was asked to speak briefly on the plans of the board along the lines of an industrial school..

Mr. Patterson said that although such a school was undoubtedly need there was such a pressing need for other ordinary school accommodation that it would be premature to ask for one just now. The work of the night school in the winter was outlined. Mr. Patterson hoped that he would be able to bring the other members to see that the old south ward school, as soon as the new one is completed, could be utilized as an industrial or technical day school to which the Dominion, Provincial and Civic governments would each pay one third. He explained how his company allow the apprentices one month off each year of their apprenticeship if they attend at least 90 p.c. of the classes at the night schools. About 40 of their apprentices have taken advantage of this to shorten their apprenticeship. Mr. Patterson praised technical schools highly and hoped that Peterborough would soon have have one.

Mr. W. R. Breyfogle echoed these words of Mr. Patterson. Mr. Edgar Worth, general manager of the Canadian Woollens Lt., in a few words, referred to the assistance and benefit the association had been and how the monthly meetings were veritable gloom and trouble dispellers. Mr. J. J. Turner corroborated the sentences of Mr. Worth, and speaking on behalf of the Board of Trade, said that their motto, like the Princes of Wales' was, "We serve."

Mr. W. A. Richardson said that the members perhaps did not know the benefits that were theirs for the asking and the information and aid the association could be was an eye-opener to all. "Opinion based on knowledge is given out by experts," he stated.

In Conclusion.

In concluding the evening Mr. Walsh expressed his hope that he would be able to visit the branches more closely in future and so be able to keep in closer touch with the work of each and its members.

t 10 o'clock the meeting was concluded by the singing of the National Anthem.

"Complexion Secrets Of An Actress"

In a recently issued volume bearing the above title the author says: "Continuous use of grease paints, rouge and the like had ruined my complexion. My skin was colorless, wrinkled, coarse and punctured with large pores. In England I heard of the virtues of mercolized wax; my first experience with this marvelous substance convinced me it was more valuable than all cosmetics combined. Now whenever my complexion begins to wrong I get an ounce of mercolized wax at the nearest drug store, spread on a thin layer of it before retiring, washing it off next morning. The wax, after a few such treatments, seems literally to absorb the worn-out cuticle, when a brighter, healthier, younger-looking skin appears.

"For the wrinkles and enlarged pores I began using a solution of powdered saxolite, one ounce, dissolved in a half-pint of witch hazel. Bathing the face in this every day for a while soon relieved the condition most wonderfully."

CONCERT WAS A BIG SUCCESS

JESSIE ALEXANDER WAS THE STAR ARTIST.

The "Jessie Alexander" concert, held in St. James' Methodist church, last night under the auspices of the Ladies Aid, was one of the most successful events of the season.

Any program bearing the name "Jessie Alexander" is a guarantee in itself of an hour of unalloyed pleasure There fore an appreciative audience packed St. James Church to capacity.

Jessie Alexander is so well known here now and her work so much discussed that it is scarcely necessary to make any comment in detail upon her performance. As usual her numbers were very happily chosen and she richly deserved the enthusiastic plaudits and the many recalls she received.

Among her numbers were the following:

"The Turning Point", a pathetic tale of a little Irish boy.

"The Charge of the "Mad" Brigade' an up to date parody.

"Mrs. Mason's Teapot".

"Mr. O'Brien's St. Patrick's Day after-dinner Speech".

"In Flander's Fields", (McCrea).

"The Convenanters".

"Should Women Propose", (Dorothy Dix).

The musical programe which interspersed the readings, was of a high order and given by Peterboro artists.

Miss Doris Rathbone sang in her usual charming voice and responded to the hearty applause.

Mr. Barton and Mr. Humpage, also delighted their hearers with solos which were sung with estimable effect.

A cornet solo by Mr. Sutton was greatly enjoyed, as were also the several selections by the "South End" orchestra.

The committee in charge wish to thank Mr. James for the beautiful flowers and Easter Lilies which banked the platform.

JAS. E. ELLIS WANTS COUNCIL TO GIVE HIM SOME REDRESS

HIS BUSINESS IS HARASSED BY THE WORK ON THE BRIDGE, HE SAYS.

Hampered by the construction of the Hunter street bridge, which he alleges has virtually isolated him, and is seriously interfering with his business, Mr. James Ellis, proprietor of the Peterborough Mattress Factory, lodged his grievance with the Board of Works last night, only to be told that his protests should be laid before the Special Bridge committee.

"I can't get lumber into the factory," he complained, "and when I have used up what I have for bed springs what am I do? The only thing I see is to close down when my stock is gone and charge my loss to the city. I should be away on the road now. This is our busiest and best season. But I can't go away and leave the men with everything upset as it is now. If I have to get out some time I want to get out now. I think the city should consider the position I am in. I didn't ask the city to build the bridge."

Mr. Ellis remarked that if his business were a big one the Council would pay more attention to his claims. As it was his business was comparatively small. However, he had rights which should receive notice. All he asked was to be given a place as central as his location on Hunter street, where the public would see it and thus give him the advantage of a form of advertising he derived from the present site.

Mr. Ellis told the Board that he had no aspirations to become a millionaire, but was contented with a moderate business that did not envolve responsibilities beyond his capacity.

Mayor McIntyre promised that he would notify the Bridge committee of Mr. Ellis demands and would endeavour to have them considered prior to the regular meeting of the Council next Monday night.

THE MARK STREET EPWORTH LEAGUE

ENJOYABLE EVENING AT REGULAR WEEKLY MEETING.

The regular weekly meeting of Mark street Epworth League held last night proved a very enjoyable and interesting evening to the young people. The attendance was very good and Mrs. H. Morton the president was very highly pleased with the representation and the programme.

The topic of the evening was based on the life of Fanny Crosby and Miss Halliday gave an excellent reading clearly and forcibly on this subject. Miss Craft spoke at length on the subject using apt and pointed illustrations that lent colour to the address. One striking illustration was the comparison of the lights of the city to represent the various luminaries in the church of God.

The young people of the church are manifesting great interest in the league and the league has met with great success during the last year and greater success than ever is sure to reward its efforts.

INSURANCE RECORD OF THE METROPOLITAN

The Annual Report of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, which is summarised to-day, shows that the Metropolitan broke all the world's records for business in 1919. During the early part of the year, many claims, traceable to the epidemic of influenza, which extended, roughly speaking, over the period from September, 1918, to March, 1919, figured in the mortality of the Company, although general health conditions during the year were better than usual. The industrial death-rate in 1919 was the lowest in the history of the Company.

Notwithstanding the current stories of wasteful spending on the part of those receiving more money than heretofore, the experience of the Company indicates that a greater number than ever are saving their money and investing it in life insurance for the protection of their families. Increased wages, together with the fact that the influenza epidemic brought new emphasis to the need of life insurance, and the Government's scheme of War Risk Insurance, which placed the amount needed by the average man at ten thousand dollars, are reflected in the world-breaking record that the Company made in writing new insurance. The total new business was one billion four hundred and eighteen million six hundred and eighty-one thousand, four hundred and ninety-two dollars, an amount greater than was ever placed by any company in any year anywhere. People in all circumstances seem to have held the same attitude toward the taking of new insurance, because the so-called Ordinary insurance, the larger policies, amounted to almost eight hundred million dollars, and the Industrial, the small policies on which premiums are paid weekly, to something over five hundred million dollars, while the comparatively new branch known as Group insurance, where employers take insurance covering their employees, reached the total of nearly one hundred and twenty-two million dollars. The total number of policies outstanding is 21,770,671 for the enormous total of $5,343,652,434.

The income of the Company amounted to two hundred and fifty-four million seven hundred and twenty-nine thousand dollars—an increase over the previous year of more than fifty-four and a half million dollars. The assets of the Company increased during 1919 by $89,367,126, and total $864,821,824. Dividends to be paid to policyholders this year are $7,645,783.

Claims paid numbered 289,125—an average of one every thirty seconds of each business day of eight hours, while the amount paid to policyholders during the year was over seventy-three and a half million dollars, or an average of $505.93 a minute of each business day.

The Metropolitan report shows that it has Canadian securities on deposit with the Dominion Government and with Canadian trustees amounting to over thirty-eight and three-quarter million dollars; and has forty-four million dollars invested in Canadian Bonds, while its total investments in Canada amount to more than fifty-four million dollars. This amount added to the sum paid in death claims, endowments, dividends, and other payments to policyholders, and to Canadians for administration expense, exceeds the total amount received by the Company in premiums from Canadian policyholders.

The Metropolitan has a free nursing service for sick Industrial policyholders, and during 1919 Metropolitan nurses made 129,635 visits in Canada, and in carrying out its campaign for better health its agents distributed 1,061,440 pieces of health literature in the Dominion.

Canadian policyholders will be interested in knowing that the rate of exchange between the United States and Canada in no way affects them because all premiums on policies in force in Canada are payable in Canadian funds.

MR. C. ROY PRAISES DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

He States That They Relieved His Son of Bed Wetting and Himself of Bladder Trouble—Ask Your Neighbors About Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Thivierge Office, Bonaventure Co., Que., March 29.—(Special.)—That Dodd's Kidney Pills have been successfully used by both old and young as a remedy for kidney ills is again shown by the statement of Mr. Clement Roy, of this place.

"I am glad to be able to state," Mr. Roy says, "that Dodd's Kidney Pills relieved my little boy of bed wetting. They also helped my bladder trouble. I cannot say too much in praise of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are a kidney remedy pure and simple. But bladder and urinary troubles come as a result of weak or diseased kidneys. The natural way to treat such troubles is to strengthen or help the kidneys.

Mr. Roy acted on this principle when he used Dodd's Kidney Pills for his own and his son's troubles. The satisfaction he got is voiced by his statement.

If you have not used them yourself, ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills are noe the remedy for kidney ills.

CHELSEA TEAM IS OUT OF IT

ASHTON VILLA AND HUDDERSFIELD MEET IN ENGLISH CUP FINAL.

LONDON, March 29.—The semi-finals for the English Association Cup were the principal features of the association games on Saturday. The Londoners hoped they might be represented in the final by the Chelsea team, but the latter was completely disorganized in their big match on the famous ground at Sheffield and Aston Villa easily qualified by three to one for the final contest at Stamford Bridge next month. Hudersfield justified the confidence of their many friends who have admired their fine performances this season by defeating Bristol City two to one, after a hard struggle and they will not be daunted in approaching the final encounter by their opponent's greater experience and reputation.

Omitting the four teams engaged in the semi-finals for the cup the full league was caried through with results having rather an important bearing on the championship by their decision. By their defeat of Preston, West Bromwich Albion have gained a six-point lead in the first division and seem fairly safe for the honors. Their nearest opponents, Burleigh, have played two more matches and were beaten by Sunderland.

There would seem to be more of a strenuous struggle at the bottom of the first division then at the top, and any one of the five clubs might have to accompany Sheffield Wednesday whose fate seems almost settled in relegation to the second division. Tottenham although only able to draw with Rotherham, have such a long lead that they are practically sure of the championship of the second division and whatever happens to Huddersfield in the cup final, their accompanying Tottenham into the first division is very probable. They stand second on the list with one point ahead of the third club, Birmingham, who were unexpectedly defeated by Bury. Portsmouth's defeat by Exeter City has damaged their position in the Southern League and the have now dangerous rivals in Crystal Palace, Watford and Reading.

LATEST LOCAL FOOTBALL GOSSIP

LOCAL SCOTSMEN HOLD MEETING TO-MORROW NIGHT—OTHER NEWS OF INTEREST.

The local Scotsmen of the city will hold a special meeting to-morrow night in the Woodmen of the World Hall at 8 p.m., prompt. The Caledonian Club Football Executive request all associated members or prospective players who have not affiliated with any football team, to come along and boost the familiar game in the City of Peterboro. It is probable the Caledonians will have a pretty good team and anticipate holding their own.

The C. G. E. football team have been making great progress as they have got their playing pitch in fairly good shape and according to "Parkins" are going to carry off all the honors.

Scottie McKinley is making things hum around the Great War Veterans' Football Team and had a practice on Saturday last, in the Central Park, which ended up by many reporting tired limbs, stiff legs and a few kicks around the legs.

The various other teams are still waiting until the weather clears up to get agoing. The DeLaval and Auburn teams have had a few practices, but have not settled definitely as to where they will have their playing grounds, at any rate, time will tell.

The Caledonian Club will practice on the west half of the Exhibition park. Last night seven of the members braved the snow and sleet in an effort to put up the goal posts preparatory to early practices, but they struek frost at several feet below the surface and decided to defer the work to the present.

At that the C.G.E. club under J. Parkin's leadership have already laid out their grounds at the east end of the Exhibition park, have their goal posts in position and will turn out as soon as the weather permits.

Will Roll the Grounds.

Soccer enthusiasts report that they have been given every encouragement by President Denne of the Exhibition Board, who has promised to have the playing fields rolled and otherwise groomed as soon as possible. It has always been the hope of the directors of the Exhibition Board that this park would be generally used for athletics, and this summer's possibilities include even city league baseball.

The Caledonian "working party" who reported for duty last night were Alex. Dick, A. D. MacLeish, Neil Hurry, Alex. McArthur, Harry Taylo, S. Leith and Robert French.

FALCONS WIN SECOND GAME OF SERIES

THREE TO TWO SCORE AGAINST VARSITY LAST NIGHT.

TORONTO, March 30.— Winnipeg Falcons take the Allan Cup west and will represent Canada at the Olympic games but their last game for the mug will be one long remembered. The western team simply skated away from Varsity on Saturday night, 8 to 3, and the majority of the fans expected them to let out another notch last night and make the gap about as large. Varsity changed their tactics and the result was that the Falcons had a large job winning the game, 3 to 2. This made the round 11 to 5, or a 6-goal lead.

The play last night was about 50-50 with the westerners showing their great speed in spots but the student team bobbing up with new tricks learned from the bad trouncing on Saturday. The blue and white bumped their checks before they got into their stride and it not only took a lot out of Falcons but it spoiled their quick get away and put considerable of a damper on their passing. Added, to this the Varsity defence were up to their job and were in front of the puck carrier every time he came in. It was effective and the goals were not so plentiful as in the first clash.

TYRONE TOWER WILL STAR IN FILM PRODUCTION.

The first of the film productions made in Canada will be screened at the Grand Opera House on Thursday Friday and Saturday of this week, with a matinee every day. It is entitled "The Great Shadow," and the leading role is portrayed by the eminent English actor, Mr. Tyrone Power. The production is the output of the Advance Producing Company, and at private screenings it was conceded by critics to be one of the most interesting photodramas of the season, and a meritorious offering compared with such famous film dramas as "The Birth of a Nation" and "Intolerance." It is in "The Great Shadow" that Mr. Power is shown in a role that fits him admirably, and in which he is said to be more convincing than similar roles portrayed by regular motion picture actors. It is a play that pictures the capital and labor problem —a problem that is agitating the leading statesmen of all countries, and which is a difficult one to solve. In this play there is a great lesson, and leading labor men advise all union men to see it. During the week at the Grand a matinee will be given every day.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

Irene Castle last evening charmed a large audience at the Grand in the leading role of the compelling drama "The Invisible Bond" the feature picture for the beginning of the week. The story which is a powerful story of life is one of compelling human interest and the film is lent special interest at least from a feminine view point, by the wonderful assortment of beautiful gowns worn by the star who is noted alike for her dancing, acting and ability to dress exquisitely.

Russel and Marjorie put on a well received comedy and singing vaudeville act and the balance of the programme consisted of a Paramount comedy, "The Night of the Dub", featuring Ernest Truex which proved its right to be called a comedy.

"EYES OF YOUTH" WONDERFUL PICTURE FOR ALL CLASSES

This picture will undoubtedly be classed by those who have seen it at the Allen last night, as a wonder picture. It is Clara Kimball Young's first big picture and is taken from the successful stage play of the same name by Max Marcin and Charles Guernon. Miss Young has one of the best roles of her screen career and one of her characterizations in particular, registers supreme.

The star appears as Gina Ashling, the daughter of a business man who is fast losing his hold financially and urges that she marry a certain wealthy man. She loves a young man who leaves for South America to try for the fortune and the success that will enable him to provide for her in the environment she has been accustomed to.

There is another persistent suitor that she does not care for and probably thinks less of him than the other two. He advises her that her duty is at home with her father and her brother and her sister instead of the grand opera career promised her by a visiting director, who heard her beautiful voice.

It is then that a Hindu appears and places before her the crystal globe, which he declares will reveal the future in each of the three choices. The first shows her the outcome should she stay at home, the second shows her graphicallp just what will occur if she accepts the grand opera career. The third gaze shows her the fate she would meet if she marries the wealthy man.

This is branded by critics as the most wonderful picture that Clara Kimball Young has ever starred in, and they say that it gives her a wide scope for emotional acting. In the cast are such well known artists as Gareth Hughes, Pauline Starke, Sam Southern, Edmund Lowe, Ralph Lewis, Milton Sills and Vincent Serrano.

Eyes of Youth will be shown at the Allen to-day for the last time and is a picture that should be seen by everyone.

AFTER THE "FLU" OR ANY SEVERE SICKNESS

You Need Tonic to Enrich and Revitalize Your Blood, and Restore Your Strength

There is Nothing Like It, So Nothing Else Will Do

There is just one great drawback to recovery for a person who has been sick, and that is poor, devitalized blood and consequent weakness, and this condition is characterized by prostration, nervousness and depleted strength.

We believe our pain-proved Cod liver and iron tonic, VINOL, to be the best remedy in the world to hasten recovery and build up health and strength.

In a natural manner VINOL creates red corpuscles and enriches the blood, quickens circulation, increases the appetite, promotes sound, refreshing sleep, and soon the entire system is filled with renewed life, vitality and energy.

Mrs. O. J. Snoddy, of Moosomin, Sask., writes: "I am a farmer's wife, and keep house for my family of six children. I suffered from a constitutional breakdown and a weak, nervous run-down condition. My daughter recommended VINOL, and it built me up so I enjoy my meals and feel like a different woman."

For all run-down, nervous, anaemic conditions, weak women, overworked men, feeble old people and delicate children there is no remedy like VINOL.

For the Little Ones

To Keep Their Digestion Perfect Nothing is so Safe and Pleasant as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets

An experienced observer in charge of a large office said it was a waste of words to tell most people to eat plain food. They prefer the food that delights the eye. Checking up on the after effects the usual distresses of gassiness and so on may be avoided by following the meal with one or two Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. These supply the stomach with an alkaline effect, thus promoting normal conditions as in health. This puts the O. K. on so-called rich food. Men and women are but children of a larger growth when it comes to eating the foods that satisfy, even though they may cause indigestion.

Indigestion is not necessarily confined to those who live high. It may follow so simple a process as the flavor of a bay leaf, thyme, [illegible] savory flavorings so universally used in soups, roasts, dressings etc. As a rule if the stomach balks at such things, it will be disturbed by cheese, milk, coffee pies and almost anything that most people like so well. Such conditions as these are met quite adequately by following the meal with one or two Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. They digest food and at the same time supply the stomach with an an alkaline effect that prevents gassiness, heartburn, sour risings, drowsiness after eating and such distresses so familiar to those susceptible to indigestion or dyspepsia. Get a box of these tablets at any drug store in the United States or Canada, price 50 cents, and then note how comfortable the stomach feels. Your most excellent cook may use garlic without a protest.

"SYRUP OF FIGS" CHILD'S LAXATIVE

Look at Tongue! Remove Poisons from Stomach, Liver, and Bowels.

Accept "California" Syrup of Figs only—look for the name California on the package, then you are sure your child is having the best and most harmless laxative or physic for the little stomach, liver, and bowels. Children love its delicious fruity taste. Full directions for child's dose on each bottle. Give it without fear.

Mother! You must say "California."

GRENFELL MISSION

A sewing meeting will be held in the interest of the Labrador Medical Deep Sea Mission on Wednesday, March 31st., in the Sunday School room of Murray Street Baptist Church at 2 p.m. The committee in charge is anxious that every lady interested in this work should be present.

What causes Indigestion

An excess of acid in the stomach sours the food and starts fermentation. Distressing gases form. Your meals don't digest but lay like lumps of lead. Then you have heartburn, flatulence, fullness, belching,headache and real misery in the stomach and intestines.

A few tablets of "Pape's Diapepsin" bring relief almost as soon as they reach the stomach. "Pape's Diapepsin" costs little at drug stores.

A CAPITAL WAY TO AVOID "FLU"

Well Worth Trying.

Of all the suggestions made for prevenung the "flu" none seems to be more worthy of trial than the use of Dominion C. B. Q.

Dominion C. B. Q. (Cascara Bromide Quinine Tablets) immediately attacks the germs and, increasing the secretions of the stomach and liver, clears the system with certainty yet without weakening effects. There are none of the burning sensations peculiar to the Sulphate of Quinine.

TORONTO WORLD IN LIQUIDATION

OVER HALF A MILLION DOLLARS ESTIMATED LIABILITIES.

Special to The Examiner.

TORONTO, March 30. — It is announced that the Toronto World made an assignment late yesterday afternoon.

Full particulars are not yet available but it is understood that both the Daily and Weekly editions will continue publication under the direction of the liquidator.

The liabilities are said to be very heavy, estimated at over half a million dollars.

It is understood that the assignment is to G. T. Clarkson of Toronto, who also took over the Toronto Times when that journal ceased publication.

The liabilities according to the latest information, will amount to about $730,000, and the assignment is made for the purpose of reorganization, although no official statement will be given out before four o'clock this afternoon.

The Independent Order of Foresters are believed to be the practical owners of the World building, through money advanced to the World some time ago when the building was erected.

RAILWAY REPORT BEFORE THE HOUSE

(Canadian Press.)

OTTAWA, March 30.— Hon. Dr. Reid, Minister of Railways, will lay before the House this afternoon the first annual statement of Canadian National Railways System. The statement it is understood will present in detail the result of operations on all government lines.

So far as the public is concerned, probably the most important question with which Dr. Reid will deal with will be that of increases in railway rates. He will present the views of the management of the C.N.R. in this regard and also his own as Minister of Railways. The railway budget it is understood will show a total deficit during the year, including fixed charges of rather more than thirty million dollars.

LIVER TROUBLE AND HEARTBURN

The liver is the largest and one of the most important organs of the body. Its duty is to prepare and secrete bile, and serve as one of the filters of the body, cleansing it from all impurities and poisons. Therefore when the liver gets out of order it is the starting of trouble in nearly every part of the body.

Keep the liver active by using Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills and you will have no heartburn, constipation, biliousness, sick or bilious headaches, dull, yellow eyes, brown blotches, sallow complexion, coated tongue, jaundice, catarrh of the stomach, or the painful protruding, internal or bleeding piles.

Mrs. John Kadey, Chipman, N. B., writes: "I have used Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills for some time and can recommend them to anyone suffering from heartburn and liver trouble. I tried other remedies but they only relieved me for a short time. I always recommend Laxa-Liver Pills to all sufferers as I think that they are a valuable remedy."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c a vial at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

THE HOLY NAME SOCIETY MEETING

The last meeting of the Holy Name Society Amateur Athletic Association was held last night in their rooms. Mr. M. Neary, president, occupied the chair, with about 30 members present.

The treasurer, Mr. W. G. Prindible, read the finacial report showing that although the expenses were heavy, and many unforseen items cropped up, they had come out about even.

The medal in the form of a shield, presented by a local hockey enthusiast to be given to the best all round player selected by the committee was presented to G E. Sheehan by Rev. Father Phelan, who complimented him highly and spoke of the benefit of sports to young manhood.

Mr. Sheehan replied thanking them in a few words after which the meeting dispersed after a few speeches on the success met with during the last winter and the very fine brand of hickey displayed by all the players.

selves my woudn't there be a holler. Just as well as raise their own. Live and let live you know. I think the working man should be given a little consideration as he is the one that needs a raise if anyone soes, more so where there is a large family to look after.

PROTEST MEEETINGS OF LABOUR UNIONS

WINNIPEG, March 30. — Eighty delegates representing One Big Union units of the Labour Party, Socialist Party of Canada, Women's Labour League, and International Unions—16 of the latter being included—assembled last night with the object of taking steps in an endeavour to have the labour leaders recently convicted released. Discussion was continued until nearly midnight.

At the close of the gathering it was decided to hold protest meetings at various points in the city all day and on the evening of Good Friday. Also that telegrams should be sent to Eastern and Western Canada, and protest be made against holding the convicted men in jail. It was also decided that preliminary steps be taken to carry the Russell case to the Privy Council.

The convicted men are placed in the same ward at the Provincial Jail, and upon inquiry this morning it was learned that the men had spent most of their time so far in reading.

"Bona-fide strikes, where only the questions of wages and working conditions are involved, are legal, but that general sympathetic strikes are illegal."

This is the effect of Justic Metcalfe's charge to the jury in the strike trial on Saturday and the ruling of the Court of Appeal in the R. B. Russell case, according to the opinion expressed by prominent lawyers closely identified with both trials.

CHILDREN'S COUGHS QUICKLY CURED

It is very hard to keep the children from taking cold. They will run out of doors not properly dressed—play too hard and become overheated—get their feet wet—kick the bed clothes off at night.

There is nothing so good for children's coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough or bronchitis as Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. It is so pleasant to the taste the youngsters take it without any fuss, and at the same time its promptness and effectiveness in loosening the phlegm and healing the lungs and the bronchial tubes are such that the cough is checked before any serious trouble can possibly develop.

Mrs. Harold Acker, Lake Pleasant, N. S., writes: "I have three children, the eldest eight years old and the baby ten months old. They all had a bad cough. I knew of quite a few persons who had used Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup with good results so I got three bottles. I am glad I did so as it is a sure cure for coughs and colds. A home where there are children should never be without it. I highly recommend it to those who need a quick cure."

WILL CONSTRUCT NEW WATER MAINS

MEETING OF THE UTILITIES COMMISSION.

At the regular meeting of the Utilities Commissioners, held yesterday afternoon, several important resolutions were passed. W. H. Moore presided.

It was resolved that the superintendent be authorized to construct an 8-inch main on Queen street to replace the present 5 inch main and to extend the 8-inch main on Simcoe street easterly to the east end of the Peterborough Cereal Co. and to extend the present 12 inch main on Monaghan road from King to Patterson street and a 5 inch main on Sherbrooke street to about 200 feet from the Monaghan road to serve the new school with fire protection if the City Council order four hydrants on its Monaghan road and Sherbrooke street extensions, the estimated cost being: On the Monaghan road and Sherbrooke street, $9,100; and on Queen and Simcoe streets $3,362.50.

The superintendent was instructed in a resolution to purchase 24 hydrants and to use about half of them in replacing hydrants that require to be replaced to prevent them from freezing.

A resolution of interest to householders was passed that the accounts for domestic electric services be sent out every two months instead of monthly and that this system be put into opertion on May next if possible. This will be welcome news to those who are bothered enough with bills these days, every mail bringing in a shower of them, but when it does come ratepayers will perforce have to dig deeper into their jeens.

The Board adjourned till Saturday, April 3 at 3 o'clock.

DON'T LOOK OLD FROM HERE UP

A Little "Danderine" Checks Ugly Dandruff and Stops Hair Falling.

Get a small bottle of "Danderine" at any drug store for a few cents, pour a little into your hand and rub well into the scalp with the finger tips. By morning most, if not all, of this awful scruf will have disappeared. Two or three applications often remove every bit of dandruff and stops falling hair. Every hair on scalp shortly shows more life, vigor, brightness, thickness and color.

Hats are larger, and all have an upward tilt.

DORIS WARREN.

Extremely sad circumstances surround the death, which took place this morning at 11 o'clock in Nicholls Hospital, of Doris Warren, the 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Warren, 87 Smith Street. About two years ago, while employed at the Canadian General Electric Works, her arm became infected by a wound caused by a needle which she ran into her hand, and it was found necessary some time later to remove the infected arm. Since then she has borne her suffering with the utmost fortitude until about a week ago, when it was found necessary to remove her to the hospital and another operation was performed. Al medical efforts, however, failed to save her, and she died to-day. She was born in England, and came to Canada about eight years ago.

There are left of the immediate family her parents and one sister, Violet, residing in the city, and four aunts, Mrs. Farthing, Mrs. White, of the city, and Miss Minnie Warren, nurse-in-training at the Barrie Hospital.

The funeral will be announced later.

DAVID CURTIS

The death occurred in the General Hospital, Winnipeg, on Monday, March 2nd of David Curtis, son of the late David Curtis, Cavan.

The remains are expected to arrive at Cavan, Wednesday evening. The funeral will take place on Friday, April 2nd at one o'clock from the home of his sister, Mrs. Beatrice Fee, Cavan, to Little Lake Cemetery.

IRONING WITH A HOT-WATER BOTTLE

A "Bachelor Girl" sends the following hint. A stoneware hot water bottle serves excellently instead of a flat iron for many small articles. Laces, ties, veils, gloves, stockings can readily be smoothed by straining them over the surface, and a crumpled blouse can be dealt with the same method. For pressing out seams and raising embroidery it is most convenient, one advantage being that it can be placed anywhere and requires no clearance of table space.

For raising velvet pile, lay a damp cloth on the hot bottle and the velvet over. When both are dry the velvet will look like new.

Bye-Election In The North Country Is Warming Up

Nothing Seriously Wrong With History Used in the Schools

THE BOOK IS BEING REVISED—BANNED IN BRITISH COLUMBIA.

MINISTER'S OPINION

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, March 31.—Hon. P. H. Grant, Minister of Education, is not of the opinion that there is anything seriously wrong with W. L. Grant's History of Canada, which has been barred from the schools of British Columbia because of anti-British sentiments which it is alleged to contain.

"It is a good many years since I read the book," Minister of Education stated to The Examiner to-day. "But I perceived no anti-British sentiments in it. I heard that it had been barred from British Columbia schools, and was rather surprised, for Dr. W. L. Grant is well known to be a strong Imperialist."

"No representations have been made to the Department against the use of the book in Ontario schools," Hon. Mr. Grant stated.

"And no action will be taken until such representations are made if then," he added "The book is now being revised, however It has been on the curriculum for a number of years—I am not sure just how long."

Hon. Mr. Grant is no relation to Dr. W. L. Grant, the author of the book.

HOME RULE BILL PASSES IN HOUSE

(Canandian Press.)

LONDON, March 31. — The House of Commons passed the second reading of the Irish Home Rule Bill to-day. The vote was 348 to 94.

Sir Edward Carson was one of the first speakers to-day and he reiterated his opposition to whole policy of Home Rule for Ireland. He believed it would be disastrous to both Ireland and England.

Morgan Jellett, member for Dublin University asked MacPherson, chief secretary for Ireland, whether Government would be prepared to facilitate scheme of emigration for such loyalists of south and west of Ireland as may desire to leave that part of country through apprehension of results to themselves in event of Governments Irish proposals becoming operative and to compensate them for their loss. Mr. MacPherson replied that if such contingency ever arose it would have to receive grave consideration.

Over One Thousand Reach Winnipeg During the Week.

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, March 31.—More than one thousand immigrants from Europe to Western Canada have passed through Winnipeg clearing depot in the last seven days, Thomas Gelley, Immigration Commissioner announced today. Many have come from devastated regions of France and Belgium, but most from the British Isles. "The type of these settlers is better than ever before," said Melley, "because of stricter immigration rules. They represent a good class and intend buying and working their own farms."

A GOOD CONCERT AT THE Y.W.C.A.

EXCELLENT PROGRAMME PROVIDED BY LOCAL ARTISTS.

An interested and attentive audience enjoyed the excellent programme at the concert in the Young Women's Christian Association last night.

Mr. Wm. Madill, the able chairman, after a few opening remarks, announced the first number. "Calm is the Lake," sung by Miss Eastwood, Mrs. Perrin, Mr. Steer and Mr. Nelson. This selection was noteworthy for the harmony and perfect balance of the voices, and was much appreciated. Miss Edith Pryce, physical director of the Association, then gave her own interpretation of MacDowell's beautiful little piece ,"To a Water Lily," an interpretation so full of grace and beauty that one could fairly see the water lily out on the lake. Miss Lillian Eastwood's solo, Miss Davidson's reading and Miss Norma Moore's piano solo all brought forth such hearty applause that they had to respond with second numbers. Miss Eastwood with Hawley's ,"In 'the Deeps o' the Daisies," Miss Davidson with "No Kiss" and Miss Moore with "The Nightingale" by Schubert-Liszt. Miss Florence Emmerson then sang "Rose Softly Blooming" from Spohr's opera, while Miss Pryce danced. Miss Emmerson's voice is one of real musical charm ,and the song and dance together made a very beautiful number. Mr. F. Whitehouse, who was on the programme for a violin solo, was unable to be present, but Miss Dorothy Harrington very kindly played in his place. Everyone enjoyed her interpretation of Ries' Adagio and her encore, "Cavatina" by Raff. Another reading by Miss Davidson and a second number by the quartette brought this very enjoyable concert to a close. Great credit is due Mrs. A. A. Perrin, who was responsible for the programme and did much to make the concert a success. The accompanists for the evening were Miss I. Sanderson,. Miss Harrington and Miss Layton.

TO SUPPORT COMMUNISTS IN GERMANY

BERLIN RADICALS THREATENS TO CALL A GENERAL STRIKE IF UNFAIR TACTICS ARE USED.

TROOPS READY

(United Press.)

BERLIN, March 31.—Berlin Radicals have threatened to call a general strike if the Government used unfair tactics in putting down the Ruhr revolution, it was understood here today.

The Radicals were said to have telegraphed a resolution, pledging support to the Westphalian Communists at Essen.

Socialists in the Ruhr district were also prepared to have agreed to support the Communists against the revolt if the Berlin authorities send additional troops into the disturbed district.

The Government hoped for a last minute acceptance of its ultimatum to the Ruhr Radicals. The ultimatum, demanding unqualified recognition of the supreme authority of the Ebert forces, with the threat of immediate military action if refused, was to expire to-day.

The Defence Minister said he was prepared to move large bodies of troops into the Ruhr Valley immediately if the ultiamtum was refused.

Canadian Press.

BERLIN, March 31.—Leaders of the three Socialist parties here have sent an energetic ultimatum to the Government requesting that it respect the Bielefield Convention and immediately suspend all military measures in the Ruhr Valley.

The Government is given until 3 p.m. on Thursday to either accept or reject this request. Should it be rejected an immediate proclamation of a general strike will follow, Chancellor Mueller was informed by the Socialistic delegation.

LENTEN SERVICE.

PRISONERS TAKEN BY THE BOLSHEVIKS IN RECENT FIGHTING

Thousands Captured at Various Points of the Fighting Zone.

(United Press.)

LONDON, March 31.—The Soviet Army in South Russia took 25,000 prisoners in its recent successful operations against General Denikine, the defeated anti-Bolshevik leader, a Moscow wireless despatch to-day claimed.

Red troops took 10,000 prisoners when they captured Novorossisk, the important Black Sea port, and the last stronghold of the Denikine Government, the communique said, and 15,000 additional when the Soviet cavalry surrounded large bodies of anti-Bolshevik troops fleeing toward Gelinjik.

WANT TO RETURN

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, March 31.—During the past few months over thousand foreigners have left Toronto for their homes in Europe. At present there is a slackening in the movement of aliens out of Canada, but a rush homewards is anticipated at the end of the harvest. Of those who have already left Toronto, 80 p.c. have found conditions so bad in their respective countries that they are anxiously awaiting the lifting of the ban by the Canadian immigration authorities to return to the land of opportunity and prosperity. Apart from this many of them had become so used to Canada that they feel like foreigners in their own country.

PROPERTY LOSS IS VERY HIGH

MANY KILLED—DEATH LIST IS BELIEVED TO BE STATIONARY.

(Canadian Press.)

CHICAGO, March 31.—The Districts of the middle west and south swept by tornados on Sunday with loss of 164 lives were recovered rapidly to-day and rebuilt homes and buildings began to rise from the wreckage. The property loss suffered in eight states affected was estimated to-day at from ten to fifteen million dollars. It was believed that death list would not be changed materially.

STRIKE IS THREATENED IN DENMARK

LABOUR OBJECTS TO THE ACTION OF KING CHRISTIAN—HOARDING FOOD.

A REPUBLIC?

(United Press.)

COPENHAGEN, March 31.—Labourites were to present their plan to call a general strike in protest against the King's action in dismissing the Cabinet of Premier Zeahle to a meeting of the Trades Union Congress today.

The King, it was said, charged the new Ministry of Labour with responsibility for preventing the strike, but was told the Ministry was powerless.

Railway workers and postal workers agreed to walk out if the strike was called.

Rumours of a Republic persisted today. The Socialists were said to be preparing a proclamation to issue simultaneously with the calling of the general strike.

Crowds paraded through the streets crying, "Long Live the Republic."

Troops were drawn up around the palace.

A COMPROMISE.

(Canadian Press.)

COPENHAGEN, March 31.—Offers by responsible trade unionists of a compromise by which a general strike might be averted if the Rigsdag is called together immediately, have not been accepted by King Christian and the new Danish Ministry, and thus a general strike throughout Denmark seems inevitable this morning.

All classes of the population are hoarding food, petroleum, candles, and water.

No serious trouble has developed as yet, as the police have been able to disperse the hostile street crowds.

The Independent Socialists are joining the Majority Socialists in demanding a general strike.

The Ministry has issued an appeal to the population, saying it will resign as soon as the elections are over and the Rigsdag has met.

BRICKYARDS BARE AND UNPRODUCTIVE UNTIL 1ST OF MAY

Not only is there a local scarcity of bricks but Curtis brothers of Douro repot that the situation amounts to a world famine. Their reserve stock was taken by the Canadian Woolens Limited for the several extensions to their Auburn and McDonnel street factories and also by the Board of Education for the new Prince of Wales school.

"We can't begin making until May 1st" Mr. Curtis told the Examiner today." Our capacity is 40,000 bricks a day but last year our best output was 15,000. This year's work will depend upon the supply of fuel and also whether we can get the help we need."

The present price is $22 a thousand as compared with $12 in 1914. It shows a slight advance over last year's price and will probably prevail throughout the present building season.

At last night's Housing conference in the Board of Trade rooms Mr. Edgar Worth stated that the Canadian Woolen Limited has stripped brick yards in Peteboro, Lindsay and Beaverton of their supplies and was now in touch with brickmakers in Galt and other towns.

Ald. Turner's comment was that the local demand would be exceedingly keen this year because of the many buildings to be erected, but for houses other materials such as stucco, wood and cement blocks might be used if brick was unobtainable.

No Shortage Expected in Toronto

TORONTO, Ont., March 31.—The Examiner correspondent learned that there is not likely to be any serious shortage of bricks during this season but the manager of one of the largest brick concerns pointed out that, it is early yet in the season.

"New bricks are not yet on the market," said he. "We cannot make bricks during the severe winter months. We have several kilns burning and the new bricks will soon be ready. You can say that we do not anticipate any real shortage."

REVOLUTION IS BREAKING OUT

(Canandian Press.)

PARIS, March 31 — The breaking out of a revolution all over Turkey, except in Constantinople, directed against the allies is reported by the Pester Lloyd of Budapest, according to a despatch from Basle to the Journier agency here.

Stormy Meeting at Cobalt On the Eve of the Bye-Election

G. D. NICHOLSON AND HON. ARTHUR MEIGHEN WERE THE CENTRE OF ATTACK—THE WINNIPEG STRIKE.

MEETING TO-NIGHT

(Special to The Examiner.)

COBALT, March 31.—The by-election is beginning to warm up, and last night, the eve of nomination, saw the hottest and wildest meeting ever staged in the north, in which G. D. Nicholson, of Algoma, and Hon. Arthur Meighen, were the centre of attack, and James McGuire, erstwhile miners' leader, and other labour men were the attackers.

Charges, counter-charges, and recriminations flew thick and fast.

A wild tumult raged for a couple of hours. Finally the event simmered down to a debate between Messrs. McGuire and Meighen, and was followed by further attacks, and finally broke up at midnight.

Mr. Nicholson's appearance started the row. He went after labour radicals without gloves, and the labour men who occupied a section of the hall came back.

Mr. Nicholson started by declaring that two Labour members of the Drury Cabinet had already repudiated the principles on which they were elected, and then touched on the Winnipeg strike, which he declared was a carefully planned revolution, and branded the leaders as grafters on the body pdlitic or organised labour.

The One Big Union, which is gaining strength in the mining camps, was also attacked, and this started a real tumult and a fight among some of the members of the audience.

Mr. Nicholson, amid the uproar, declared that the labour and farmer movement could only take its place when big enough to represent all classes.

Mr. McGuire, who took the platform to debate with Mr. Meighen, declared, in speaking of the Winnipeg strike, that the Government at Ottawa was the biggest producer of Bolshewik in the Dominion.

Mr. Meighen said there was an honest misapprehension about the trials of the strike leaders at Winnipeg, who had been convicted by a jury under the old common law of England.

Things having warmed up so much, Mr. Meighen stated that he would stay to address another meeting to-night at Haileybury.

WAGE INCREASES FOR THE WINNIPEG RAILWAY WORKERS

New Schedule Will Be Presented to Street Railway Company on Thursday.

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, Man., March 31. —Demands for wage increases ranging from 63 to 102 per cent. are to be presented by the Street Railwaymen's Union to Winnipeg Electric Railway Thursday. The proposed schedule provides for further automatic increases every six months in proportion to the increase in the cost of living if that increases during the life of the contract. The men ask 80 cents for "green" men during the first six months' service, 85 cents for those who have served more than six months but less than a year, and 90 cents for those who have served a year or more.

(Canandian Press.)

LONDON, March 31. — The Bolshevik troops have penetrated to Petrovsk, on the Caspian Sea in the Northern Caucasus, the Red cavalry occupying the town yesterday.

Vladikavraz, on the railway to Petrovsk, about midway between Black and Caspian Seas, was occupied by the Red forces on March 24th.

At Petrovsk, five armoured trains and enormous amounts of booty were taken, the statement announces.

All of the oil wells were found to be in order when the Red forces reached them, it is declared.

OVER ONE HUNDRED NEW CITIZENS ADDED TO THE COMMUNITY THIS MORNING

LITTLE GIRLS REACHED PETER BORO ON EARLY MORNING TRAIN —THEIR FIRST IMPRESSIONS.

When the 6.20 train on the C.P.R. arrived in the city this morning it carried 155 little new Canadians and left 101 of them in Peterborough, for this was the arrival of the first party of Barnardo Home children to come to Canada since September 1915, and not only was it a red letter day for the children but a red letter day for Miss Taylor and the staff of Hazel Brae ."It just seems like old times," Miss Taylor told the Examiner this morning.

The children, under the care of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hobday successor to Mr. A. B. Owen, and superintendent of the Homes, left London on the "Cicilian" on March 11 for their new home across the sea. The boys came from Stepney Causeway and Woodbridge Homes and the girls from Barkingside. They are nearly all English boys and girls.

The crossing was made in 17 days, the party arriving in St. John, N.B., on Sunday, March 28. The boys were taken on to Toronto this morning by Mr. and Mrs. Hobday, while their little companions on the boat and train were taken to Hazel Brae as expeditiously as possible. Cars and vehicles solved the problem, and by seven o'clock they had all been transported to the Home.

Two More Parties.

Miss Taylor said that in all probability two more parties would be brought out this year—one in June or July and another in September.

The reporter was taken in to see the children and it was a happy, laughing one hundred and one girls ranging in years from 10 to 15, that greeted him. Fairly agog with excitement over this long journey and the strange sights, and doubtless strange customs of Canadians, the little girls were on tip toe to see the strange young man who was soon encircled with eager little tots who followed every move with eager eyes.

"Did you have a nice trip over?" he asked

"Oh yes! oh yes! It wasn't very stormy at all and they were so nice to us."

"We had three courses for dinner," was how one little tot summoned her trip.

Were any of you sick? Miss Taylor asked.

The laughing mob who at once turned a little glum at the mention of it. Several little ones held up their chubby hands triumphantly—they were not sick.

We didn't see any icebergs at all, but lots of fishes. We saw two whales, added another rosy-cheeke little one. The entire party are the picture of good health in spite of their alleged sea sickness, and their dancing blue and brown eyes bore testimony to the fun they must have had on board. We saw lots of ships, but no submarines this time—the last party crossed when the Germans were carrying on the submarine warfare and met with some exciting experiences.

Prince Sent Message.

"The Prince sent us his best wishes," said one little black-haired girl. It was finally discovered that the Renown, carrying the Prince to Australia, passed them in mid-Atlantic, and with that spirit of kindness and thought for others, which has won his way into the hearts of his people, sent a wireless from his ship across 100 miles of water to Mr. Hobday, sending his best wishes for a safe journey.

Did you call at Le Havre?

Oh, yes, and we say a lot of Frenchmen and French policemen.

The girls' first impression of St John was very poor, but the woods and fields of New Brunswick and Quebec and the cities and farms of old Ontario have filled their eyes with wonder at the immensity of our country, an they all agreed that it was "fine" and they were going to like it ever so much.

Good-bye, good-bye, came from a sea of smiling faces of our little new citizens and they waved their hands good-bye as the reporter waved his to them.

OSTRICHES MIGHT GROW MORE PLUMES

EFFORT BY SOUTH AFRICAN FARMERS TO INCREASE THE QUILLS.

An effort is being made by the South African ostrich farmers to increase the plume quills of ostriches, and Prof. Deverden believes this can be done by as much as 25 per cent., but W. P. Pycraft, the great English naturalist is sceptical.

The number of plumes from each wing averages thirty-six, and occasionaly runs as high as forty-two in the South African species, and thirty-nine in the North African. The latter is the larger bird and its bones are denser. The Grootfontein School of Agriculture is trying by proper mating to breed a race of forty-two plume birds.

Prof. Pycraft writes in the Illustrated London News that the ancestor of the estrich undoubtedly possessed the power of flight, when the wing quills of the hand numbered sixteen, while the secondary feathers, attached along the forearm, probably did not exceed twenty-six. This was the original inheritance and it can never be increased, especially now that the whole wing has degenerated into a mere wreck of its original self

There are now about 1,000,000 birds on the African ostrich farms, and the value of their exported feathers is about $15,000,000.

Finally, a friend told me to try "Fruit-a-tives". In a week, the Constipation was corrected and soon I was free of pain, headaches and that miserable feeling that accompanies Dyspepsia. BLEEDS TO DEATH.

BELLEVILLE, March 31.—At an early hour yesterday morning a fatal accident occurred at the Canadian Cement Company's plant at Point Ann, the victim being an employee named John Powless. No person saw the accident, and the man had apparently been dead for some time when the body was found. Powless was employed in that portion of the plant known as the green clay storage tunnel. His duties were to shovel up clay, and the work called him in close proximity to a steam shovel. It is surmised that he came in contact with the shovel, which struck him a severe blow, fracturing his jaw and inflicting a severe wound under the left arm near the arm-pit. Powless was also hit on the head, and was probably rendered unconscious. The wound under the arm was such as to cause the victim to bleed to death. Dr. Boyce, coroner, of this city, was notified of the occurrence and opened an inquest. The victim was 50 years of age and was born on the Mohawk Reserve. A widow and one son and two daughters survive.

SCARCITY OF HOUSES IS DRAG ON CITY'S PROGRESS

ACCOMMODATION IS EXHAUSTED AND NEW FACTORIES ARE PREPARING TO BEGIN OPERATIONS—EXTENSIVE CONSTRUCTION WORK IN PETERBORO THIS YEAR BUT NO MOVEMENT TO BUILD HOUSES.

COUNCIL IS URGED TO ACT

A public meeting in the Board of Trade Rooms last night urged the City Council to issue debentures up to $300,000, to enable the Housing Commission to assist citizens in building houses; it also recommended that a committee from the Board of Trade cooperate with the Commission in selling the bonds locally and in trying to persuade manufacturers and wealthy citizens to erect houses on their own enterprise.

Mr. Edgar Worth presided over the meeting which was attended by about 50 men, including members of the council, merchants, manufacturers and others.

The housing problem was painted in colors that were of uniformly deep purple and was vividly delineated, as a decided inconvenience to many residents and also as an obstacle that may seriously impede the industrial expansion and general progress that are straining for a new local record this year.

Emphasis was laid on the fact that new companies are about to begin operations here almost at once, and that unless accommodation is provided for the people who will be attracted to Peterboro by the present opportunities, further efforts to secure new industries will be futile.

On every hand there have been reports of factory extensions to be made this season requiring labour beyond the local supply, and Mr. E. G. Patterson, superintendent of the Canadian General Electric Company, stated that if the city had sufficient housing accommodation the company would employ five hundred more men to-morrow.

Three Plans of Action.

City Clerk Armstrong outlined three different methods of financing housing projects. The amended provincial legislation would permit a municipality to issue debentures, which the Government would guarantee, thereby providing money to be loaned to persons desiring to build. The rate of interest would probably be six per cent at least. By the Housing Accommodation Act companies may incorporate for the purpose of building and disposing of houses. The third plan was simply by private enterprise. If persons saw the advisability of taking the initiative themselves then it became a private and individual matter.

A census of the city taken a few weeks ago showed that there were practically no vacant houses in Peterboro, Mr. Armstrong said. At that time 25 might be considered vacant. Some of them were too large, and others too small for the ordinary family, and the remainder were merely changing old tenants for new ones—thus indicating the negligible supply.

Mr. Armstrong turned to the demand which would be increased steadily during the year. The Canadian Nashua Company expected to start operations in a few days and the Canadian Aladdin Company in a few weeks. The Raybestos Company would engage men as soon as possible for the renovation of the Lundy Shovel Building, and within a year would be employing probably 75 men, and the two other companies probably 100. The Canadian General Electric Company would doubtless require many employees while their two new buildings were under construction, and expected to double their pay roll when the extensions were completed and ready for occupation.

"There is only one thing that stands in the way of Peterboro's expansion and growth, and that is the scarcity of houses,' Mr. Armstrong concluded.

Mr. Worth found a little comfort in the fact that all cities in Canada were confronted with a housing problem. "Those who take care of it will prosper," he said, with a reference to Oshawa's efforts to supply accommodation for its new residents.

Mr. Patterson.

Mr. E. G. Patterson said he realized Peterboro was on the verge of great expansion if the city was prepared to take care of the people who would need houses.

"Just to-day I had a letter from a man who wrote that he thought of putting up a malleable iron foundry. Another man in Toronto applied for a job saying that he wanted to come to Peterboro as he couldn't get a house in Toronto.

The Canadian General Electric Co. will take on five hundred men to-morrow if you have houses for them. We intend to try and complete our new buildings by December 1st and will offer a bonus to get them finished. I hardly expect, however, that they will be ready within a year. I have no suggestion to offer but we all realize that it is of the utmost importance to Peterboro that something should be done."

Mr. Worth mentioned a somewhat similar experience the Canadian Woollens Limited had met with during the past week. Nine men who had come here from Campbellford, Pembroke and other places, were unable to secure accommodation and the company had to keep them at the White House, until boarding places were found for them. "So the situation is really desperate," Mr. Worth remarked.

Mr. Dobbin's Proposal.

Mr. F. H. Dobbin of the local Housing Commission, recommended the issuance of debentures to the amount of at least $100,000, to be sold locally. Manufacturers could assist this scheme by taking blocks of the debentures and thus ensuring their sale in Peterboro.

From conversations with prospective owners of houses that might be built, Mr. Dobbin stated that quite a number of citizens had suggested that the houses need not be completed to the last detail. They were anxious to secure a roof over their heads, and would be content to put on the finishing touches when they found it convenient to pay for them. By that means Mr. Dobbin estimated a deduction of from $600 to $700 could be made from the first cost.

Suggestions that the old Oriental Hotel might be converted into an apartment house did not appear to be practical. The alterations would have to be extensive and consequently expensive. Beside it was hoped that the incoming citizens would have families who would help build up the city, and apartment houses were not generally desirable for persons with children. Mr. Dobbin said that the cost of houses might be beyond the means of laboring men but he believed that under proper auspices they could be built so as to provide homes for mechanics.

Mr. Dobbin said he believed that the hesitation of the Legislature to renew its loan was due as much to the injudicious expenditure of the money by municipalities last year as to any other reason.

Private Enterprise.

Ex-Mayor Duncan observed there were some citizens who could afford to lose $300 or $400 in houses for the advancement of Peterboro. "I am only a poor man but I am willing to do my share," he said.

Referring to the Housing Plans put into effect by some manufacturing companies Mr. Edgar Worth remarked that the Canadian Woollens Limited might build if it proved absolutely neccessary but they preferred not to do so.

Mayor McIntyre.

"The average workingman needs a 6-room house, but it should not cost more than $3000, and you can't build it to-day for that," said Mayor McIntyre. "At that I would build it all of brick instead of veneer, with lumber at its present price. I think it would be cheaper to build of solid brick."

A Universal Dearth.

"It is strange that the scarcity exists all over the country," Mr. W. H. Bradburn remarked. "A lady came to my office from Garden Hill a few days ago. She had tried to get a house in Port Hope but there were none available. A man from Syracuse told me it was just the same thing over there."

To Mr. Bradburn's enquiry, Mayor McIntyre estimated the cost of a 6-room brick house at from $3500 to $4000."

Mr. J. J. Hartley.

Recalling the houses of 30 years ago Mr. J. J. Hartley said that people to-day wanted all conveniences, "furnace and everything up to date." In those days families had to make sacrifices and found comfort in small homes. A house 22 feet by 28 feet would give two rooms and a pantry rown stairs and three rooms upstairs. Such houses to-day, Mr. Hartley believed, were within the reach of the average workingman. A private individual wanted to make at least six per cent. on his money. He could get 6½ per cent on investments.

"I have been renting houses for only 4 per cent. A house need not be completed at once. The cellar could be taken out later and a furnace put in. I have good houses to-day without furnaces. People could do without them for a few years. You dont want to go too elaborately about this. I believe a house could be figured down within the means of the average man."

Might Offer an Inducement.

Ex-Ald. Langford asked if the city could legally exempt property from taxes on improvements for a term of from three to five years as an inducement to those who build under the present conditions?

City Clerk Armstrong informed him that the law prohibited the council from granting exemptions of that kind. He pointed out that a house built now would not be assessed until 1921, and the owner would not be taxed for it until 1922.

Mr. Langford—"Couldn't the assessor look the other way for a while?"

Mr. Armstrong—"No."

Ald. Crowe offered the suggestion that during the summer months — while the houses might be building—many persons could use tents, and camp along the river if they choose.

In the general discussion upon a concrete expression of the meeting's views, City Clerk Armstrong recommended that it appeared advisable to try both the methods of housing by private enterprise and also under the direction of a local commission.

Mr. E. G. Patterson enquired if the council was prepared to issue $100,000 in bonds and put the money in the hands of people who desired to build. "If the council is not prepared to do that, we can't get anywhere," he declared.

Mayor McIntyre—I am pretty sure they would.

Ald. Turner—The plan will have my backing.

Ald. Gainey—I can't say off hand; I am in favor of some scheme, but I would rather see the manufacturers put up houses without asking the city to endorse the bonds. In regard to apartments, why not make apartments of some of your houses. I know men who have house big enough for two or three families. Ald. Turner has a family of two or three and his house is big enough for ten. I am willing to crowd myself if this would help. My opposition to the housing scheme at first was that

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 31, 1920.

THE PETERBOROUGH RANGERS.

No longer will Peterborough people read of the 57th Regiment. With the re-organization of the Canadian militia the old name has passed into history. The local unit becomes simply The Peterborough Rangers, the 1st battalion of which will commemorate the 2nd Battalion, C.E.F. It will seem strange not to speak of the 57th Regiment. For many years the name has been a familiar one with the people of Peterborough, and it has a host of traditions surrounding it that makes its passing a matter of regret. But though the "57th" is gone, the Peterborough Rangers remain, and with the memories of the old regiment and the glorious fighting record of the Iron Seconds which will be commemorated in the re-organized unit to inspire officers and men there is every reason to hope for a regiment that will be a credit to Peterborough.

CANADA'S FINANCES.

The difficulty of Canada's financing such an undertaking as providing all her returned soldiers with cash bonuses running from $1,000 to $2,500 each is often brushed aside by those favoring the plan as something trivial and unimportant. Finding $382,000,000, however, is an enterprise that cannot be lightly dismissed in view of the present financial condition of Canada as revealed by the estimates brought down last week which have opened the eyes of many people. There is very scant comfort in the statistics brought down in the House. It had been hoped that the estimates would show a revenue surplus, but instead a deficit of $70,000,000 on ordinary account alone is indicated, while in addition it will be necessary to borrow at least a hundred million to meet the outlay on capital account. It is not a very happy condition of affairs that, with the national debt in its present abnormal proportions, it is not possible to carry on the ordinary business of the country on current revenue alone. And the supplementary estimates have still to be taken into account. Even without the granting of the veterans' request, increased taxation is unavoidable.

THE MOTOR SHOW.

Apart altogether from the fact that the financial revenue secured from it will go a long way towards providing the Health Association with the funds needed for its splendid work in Peterborough, the coming motor show is of itself and on its own merits a very important event. Not only are the people brought into touch with the latest improvements in motor car building and with the newest motor accessories, but the annual show brings prominently forward the question of good roads. Associated inevitably with motoring is the road question, and the motor show will serve to place before the people the desirability of an improvement in the system of roadways of which Peterborough is the centre. The value of good roads cannot be over-estimated in these days of rapidly developing motor transport and the Peterborough district must keep pace with the rest of the province. For that reason the motor show is welcomed as a means of effectively putting the question before the people.

THE TRENT CANAL.

The approriation for work on the Trent Canal has been considerably reduced, according to the estimates brought down in the House the other day, and later developments indicate that there may be an effort on the part of the western supporters of the government to have the Trent Canal and other canal grants eliminated altogether for the present. Trouble has arisen over the decision of the government not to proceed this year with the completion of the Hudson Bay Railway, the reason given being that in view of the financial conditions, economy is necessary. Naturally the western members are indignant over this refusal and their resentment has taken the form of a protest against expenditures on the Welland Canal and the Trent Canal, which they claim will call for a greater financial outlay and a heavier supply of labour. A deputation of thirty membets waited upon Dr. Reid, Minister of Railways, and Hon. A. L. Sifton, Secretary of State, yesterday, and declared that if economy necessitated the abandonment of the Hudson Bay Railway scheme this year, the same reason would justify the government in refusing to proceed with the canal enterprises. The members representing the constituencies bordering along the Trent Canal should lose no time in starting upon a counter propaganda campaign. The canal, which has been under way for many years, is so near completion now that it would be a calamity if the work that still remains to be done were not pushed through as rapidly as possible. Whatever may be the merits of the Hudson Bay railway project, the Government's policy in connection with the scheme should not be allowed to interfere with the completion of the Trent Canal.

THE TEMPERANCE TANGLE.

Ontario people who sincerely desire to see the strongest temperance legislation possible in force in this province must be at a loss to understand the present complications in the situation. Hon. N. W. Rowell has declared that in the opinion of the Dominion Department of Justice, the amended Canada Temperance Act applies to the Province of Ontario and that therefore the passing of a referendum by the people of the province would prevent the importation of liquor. This is also the view of the Ontario Referendum Committee. On the other hand, Rev. Ben H. Spence, secretary of the Dominion Alliance, calls the amended act a "gold brick of the rankest kind." "As it stands," declares the Alliance secretary, "we know that by using Bill 26 we are launching the province into a prolonged, difficult, vexatious, expensive litigation that may hang us up for a considerable period."

The chief point at issue is over the validity of the bill as it affects the question of importation. The Referendum committee accept Mr. Rowell's opinion that the passing of a referendum would prevent the bringing in of liquor. The Dominion Alliance insist that such a course would not stop short-circuiting, that is the direct delivery from the breweries and distilleries to the consumer in the province. The matter will be brought to a head in a day or two when a motion will be brought forward in the Legislature asking the Dominion government to take a referendum in Ontario. The Drury government is not, on its own responsibility introducing the resolution, the task having been delegated to a private member.

THE ANOMALY AT WASHINGTON.

Comunications continue to go to Europe from Washington, theoretically from the United States government, announcing the policy and desires of the United States about affairs in Europe, Asia and Africa, the latest being one on the subject of Turkey. These communications are a curious anomaly, for two reasons. Inthe first place, if they came from a real goverment of the United States they would be absurd enough, because the government of the United States is refusing all responsibility for doing anything in Europe, Asia or Africa to promote the policy and desires which the communications set forth, or to co-operate in any way with anybody. In the second place, the communications are absurd in any case, because they represent no real government, but simply the ideas of a single man at Washington whose ideas about international affairs are being flouted by his own country and countrymen. Unquestionably, as was shown by the recent sudden and preemptory dismissal of Secretary of State Lansing by President Wilson, on ground that Mr. Lansing had not been sympathetic with some of the President's views and had also ventured to act on his own hook in some public matters, the present United States Cabinet is merely a mouthpiece for Presiden Wilson, a mere phonograph: so it is clear that any diplomatic messages emanating from the present United States administration are merely messages framed, not by consultation among a number of responsible, free-acting ministers of the American people, but by the autocracy of a single individual who happens to be called the president; clear, too, that at best this individual might not be representative of the opinion of his felow-countrymen, inasmuch as being elected for a fixed term of years he is not necessarily subordinate to public opinion at any time; clear, finally, in this particular Wilson case that the president who is sending out to other countries pronunciamentos about the affairs of the world has just had his views about the affairs of the world kicked out of the Legislature of his own land.

No situation in comic opera could beat this. If President Wilson has any sense of humor, he must be chuckling to himself continuously at the thought how one isolated human wiseacre at Washington like himself can keep busy issuing proclamations to several hundred millions of foreign people as to how they should behave themselves, while at the same time a majority of ris own countrymen at home are telling him that he is messing up the affairs of his own country.

Whether the president has a sense of humor or not, however, one would imagine that self-respect would suggest to him that when his views on world polity have failed to recommend themselves to his own people, he ought to be chary about pushing them upon other nations.—Ottawa Journal.

The increase in succession duty levies will not worry many newspaper men.

FIRE DESTROYS VALUABLE BARN

LOSS WILL BE IN THE NEIGHBORHOOD OF TEN THOUSAND DOLLARS—STOCK LOST.

One of the largest and best equipped barns in Peterborough county was destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon, together with a large quantity of grain, machinery and several head of cattle. The barn was owned by Mr. Hugh Fife of this city, and was located on the first concession of Otonabee. Mr. Henry Fife, son of Mr. Hugh Fife, resided on the farm. The loss will be in the neighbourhood of ten thousand dollars, with a very small amount of insurance. The loss includes the following:

Eight head of cattle.
Two calves.
One colt.
Twenty pigs.
Seven ewes.
Eight lambs.

Also silo, large quantity of hay and seed grain, and nearly all the farm machinery, including a new mower and plough purchased a week ago, milking machine and other high grade machinery. The cause of the fire is unknown. A small boy who was in the barn about the time the fire broke out was rescued with difficulty. Neighbors worked like trojans and succeeded in saving the house.

LEOLA'S TEMPERMENTAL LETTERS.

CHAPTER LXXXV

As I fingered over the package I slipped out the thin envelopes, and laid aside the fat ones which promissed more exciting reading. Then I hurriedly ran through those that promised little. Invitations, regrets, openings of fashionable milliners and dressmakers—all the inconsequential things that go to make up the day's mail of a woman socially prominent. These finished, I compared the date on the envelopes of the thick, and promising, letters and, selecting that most remote, I drew out the closely writtfen pages. After a few tense moments I read:

"Dearest Everett: — It was heavenly to be with you last evening. To night I am alone, and the thought of you keeps me happy. My soul, dear Everett, has one great faculty—that of loving you. And all my love is yours. Often you may doubt it—this willful nature of mine often will not be kept within bounds. But that is only casual. It is the other, my love for you, that counts. You swore you never had, never could love another. I should die did you love another while I was living; and even heaven would be hell if, after I was gone, you gave another what belongs to me even through eternity—your love.

"I have asked myself a hundred times what I have done to merit such supreme happiness? If you only knew, Dear Heart, how I pray to become the angelic being you think me. I am so far from perfect, Dear. My temperment, my pride will, I fear, give you many a sad hour—me, many a desperate one. But if love can make one over, then shall I be a different Leola—for your sake.

"Thank you for the roses. I did not put them in water and so preserve them. I held them close to my heart until they were all wilted and drooping.

"I shall see you this evening. Until then know that I am thinking only of you, my love—Leola.

I read the letter through to the end, an icy hand at my throat, my heart aching. So even before they were married, Leola had known she possessed all that Everett had to give of himself, of love. How she must have loved him, to write like that! It seemed almost sacrilege to me. She had said that "even heaven would be hell" if he loved another, gave anyone the love that belonged to her.

What a loving, passionate letter it was. Yet as I re-read it,—I realized that she was conscious of her own weaknesses. She had feared that her pride, her peculiar temperment would give them unhappiness—as I knew it had from what I had learned of their life together.

Who but one with just such a nature would hold roses until they drooped and faded instead of putting them in water to preserve them? I knew I never would even think of such a thing. Yet in a way, I sensed how such a confession would appeal to a man who was in love.

"Why am I such a practical creature?" I asked, as I dashed the tears from my eyes —angry tears that I could not make myself more like Leola. Then half laughing, half crying, I added: "I should have put them in water, cut the stems, and probably on the second day have put salt in the vase to preserve them as long as possible."

After a bit I drew out the next letter:

"My Own:— I am sorry I was so naughty. I longed even while being disagreeable to throw my arms about your neck and tell you how I loved you and ask you to forgive me. But this terrible pride of this contrary nature of mine, would not allow me. I feel like saying what Prosper Merimee did in his 'Letters to an Unknown'— you recall he said: 'You will never know all the good or all the evil there is in me. I have spent my life being praised for qualities which I have not, and being calumniated for faults which are not mine.. It has always been so ever since I was a little girl in pig-tails and pinafores. I am afraid it always will be so, altho for your sake I shall strive desperately to overcome the faults.

"After you left me, Dear, I gathered all the roses from where I had so spitefully thrown them, and gave to them the kisses I denied you. How I love them, those red, red, roses you send or bring me. Do, Dear, come early to-morrow. I shall be unhappy until you take me in your arms and tell me that you forgive me and love me not as much, but more than before—Your Naughty Leola."

"I never can be like her, never, never!" I exclaimed vehemently as I finished this second letter. "There is no use to try!" And because I could not be like the first wife of whom I was so jealous, I wept bitterly. Then I laid the letters away until another time. I could read no more of them.

To-Morrow—Life's Contradictions.

The Quick Way to Stop a Cough

This home-made syrup does the work in a hurry. Easily prepared, and saves about $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth) in a 16-oz bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make 16 ounces—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the tickling throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

MESSAGE FROM MARS RELAYED TO THE WORLD.

Man Claims to Have Received It from Martian Spirit.

TORONTO, March 30.—Mr. W. F. Binger, 2 Wellesley Street, who describes himself as a physical medium, claims to have had messages from municated through spiripheres sur-Mars, a Martian spirit having comsrounding this planet. He says that the messages were delayed, the sphere of the two planets having points of contact.

The planet, according to the medium, being smaller tha nearth, cooled and became fit for life similar to our own more than a million years earlier. There is no warfare as known on the earth, and life is very refined. They have known for a vast period of time the utility of electricity, all the heat, light, and power being derived from that for ages of our time.

They have had pretty much the same trouble in Mars as in this world, according to messages, and in order to increase production, the father and eldest son were ordered by Parliament to work on a farm till a crop was produced, and those at home worked at knitting, making cloth, linen, and boots.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Peterborough, March 30, 1920.

Editor, Examiner:

Sir.—Can you inform the people of Peterborough what has been done by the Board of Trade during the last twelve months, for the benefit of the citizens and the city.

Yours,

Chas. Duggan.

Address—104 Stewart Street.

Space and newsprint conditions will not permit the Examiner to supply this information through the columns of this paper. This information can be obtained by the more direct method of applying at the Board of Trade headquarters and is available to any interested citizen. The most of the information asked for has been in the columns of the Examiner during the last twelve months.—Editor.

Peterborough, March 17th, 1920.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Kindly allow me space in your paper for a little matter I think should come before the public.

It seems to me the citizens of our city, "like the story of sleeping beauty," have been sleeping for some time and it's about near the waking hour for some of us, or maybe they are so busy trying to make the dollars stretch to meet the high cost of living. Anyway they seem to have lost all interest in the way the high officials are running this place. Must we, the taxpayers of Peterborough stand by and see our good money we work so hard for, go to fill their pockets by raising their salaries every little while, and yet they expect working men to make ends meet and live on 45c. an hour; the same 45c. is supposed to go just as far as their $1.00, "it very near amounts to that." Do we get our bread and butter any cheaper? Is our rent lowered for us, and do they through their kindness of heart, make our taxes any easier to pay. A nice little per cent. is added on if we fail to come across with the coin ,and yet every time they find an idle 5c. or 10c. kicking around up goes some one's salary. If a working man can live and be comfortable on 45c. an hour, then what luxuries the high officials must be enjoying. And we must suffer this to go on; no one seems to care; it's just about time some one did wake up and take notice and take a little interest in things in general.

We, the poor housekeepers, know what a man's weekly (weakly) pay envelope means. There's no room for luxuries out of it; if we get a decent living that's about all we can manage, and in case of sickness, well, no matter ,we must pull through somehow. But, of course, if the rest of the taxpayers are satisfied I should worry, but I just wanted the high officials to know it's about time they raised the working man's pay. If they dared as much as suggested this thing themselves my woudn't there be a holler. Just as well as raise their own. Live and let live you know. I think the working man should be given a little consideration as he is the one that needs a raise if anyone does, more so where there is a large family to look after.

I would like all the high officials that read this letter to think things over and see if they are doing justice to the working men; then let us hear from them some time in the near future.

Yours truly,

JUST WOKE UP.

Peterborough, March 30th.

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

In your issue of March 29th, I noticed your Editorial on the question of Daylight Saving, the benefits that would be derived from it, that the City Council should pass it, etc., etc. but did you take into consideration the amount of confusion and inconvenience it is going to cause, if such a measure is passed.

In the first place the Railroads are going to be run on Standard Time and in connection with the Railroads the Post Office, the Letter Carriers, the Express Companies, the Hotels, the Commercial Travellers coming into our city, and those whose homes are here, and travel out from here. The Street Railway will in all probability observe Standard Time as they were opposed to the measure, I understood, before, so with part of the city, out of necessity, observing Standard Time, and part Daylight Saving Time, see the amount of confusion it is going to cause, if such a measure is passed; and for what? To let a few people who have automobiles, and some who want to play golf, have an hour more daylight to do these things. But you say, it allows those who are shut up in stores and offices that much more time for recreation. Well my answer to that is this—that if these people will get to bed at the usual Standard Time, and get up early, take that hour's recreation in the pure morning air, it will be a great deal more beneficial to them. But again you say, they won't do that, and my answer is—that if we have to enact legislation to get these out of bed in the morning, to benefit their health in the evening, their health isn't very bad, and we hardly need all this confusion for that purpose.

In your Editorial you seem to lay great stress on the benefits that would be derived from Daylight Saving. Would you please enumerate them, and show whether they are are monetary, physical or otherwise?

In conclusion I would say that I may not see eye to eye with you in this connection, but we hear so much about getting back to normal conditions now that the war is over, so why create so much confusion and inconvenience ... so trifling a matter as Daylight Saving, when only part of the people can observe it?

Yours truly,

MANY PETERBRRO LANDMARKS ARE EFFACED BY THE RUTHLESS HAND OF TIME AND PRESENT DAY NEEDS

THE NEW BRIDGE WILL BE INDIRECTLY RESPONSIBLE FOR THE REMOVAL OF SEVERAL IN EAST CITY—AN OUTSTANDING FIGURE IN THE LIFE OF THE COMMUNITY.

(By E. H. DOBBIN.)

Inseparable with the growth of communities is the disappearance of local landmarks. Peterborough has not now much of historic buildings, being of youthful growth and parentage as compared with places settled in Canada, many of them from fifty to one hundred years before. And conceding things to the march of progress we do not even hold what we have.

An instance of this is seen in the absolutely changed appearance of the territory about the east and west ends of the Hunter Street bridge. Forty years ago the locality was a hive of industry, because water power had to be used where it was created, from the raceways on both sides of the river. Aside from the lumber business, the bulk of manufacturing in Peterborough was carried on along the river at the points mentioned. All that survives is the old stone mill and the brick dwelling of Marcello Mowrey, with possibly Wand's shop, on the east side, while on the west side there is not even the smell. Capital was raised, invented, things made and sold, and—it has vanished. Axes, woollens, threshing machines, furniture, flour milling, pumps and windmills and farming mills, leathers, and many other manufacturers have gone the way of dissolution. To be replaced, on the west side by the magnificient buildings of the Quaker Oats Co. Even the power canal on the east side is filled in and a rank growth of willows fringe the banks of the canal and thrive in the bottom. And the city has applied for a conveyance that, if granted, will ensure the wining out of the old tail-race. To such base uses do we tend at last.

Outstanding Figure.

The advertisement in the local papers asking for offers to remove the old houses now in the property facing on Burnham Street, tells of the proposed destruction of a house, one of the old Scotch Village buildings and a local landmark. A long, low story-and-half rough-cast house, for so many years the home of Robert D. Rogers. In its palmy days it was fronted along the street line with a hedge of considerable height, while the ground to the rear was resplendent with a fine [illegible] large number of fine trees. Boys could peer over the fence. All else was forbidden ground. The name "Rogers" was one to conjure with. A man worthy of being the conspicuous figure he was in the life and interest of the locality during the forties and after wards. A pioneer among business men and a first candidate of the prosperity and advantages that would come to Peterborough if its people had only the sand to get out and claim their own. He enforced precept by example, and came to be known as one of the outstanding figures in the business world, so far as that world could be viewed in Peterborough. His personality is worth a passing reference.

He came, as an offshoot of the prominent Rogers family, that settled along the Lake Ontario shore in the days of the United Empire Loyalists. Born in the township of Haldimand in 1809. In 1834, at the age of twenty-five years he settled on a farm, and while at such work was one of the men who volunteered for duty in 1837, and with others assisted in the memorable cutting out venture that resulted in sending the perfectly good and valuable steamer "Caroline" over Niagara Falls in 1837. Came and located at the Scotch Village, (now East City) in 1842.

Going into business as a general merchant he had built the timber frame building known as "Rogers' Store." This building still stands on the property at the corner of Hunter Street and Driscoll Terrace Road. In its old age it does duty as a garage and general repair canter for motor cars, thus housing the most modern of transportation facilities. Still in place, in what was the street front of the building are the old 8x19 panes of glass windows. Glass was standard as being in two sizes, eight-by-ten and seven-by-nine inches. This form of phrasing was used to indicate the capacity of mea, being termed one or the other. The family lived over the store, the second floor being fitted up for household purposes. In this building several of the many sons and daughters were born.

In 1856 the store building had become too confined. The present brick store was built, the old wooden building being moved back. These old timber frame structures will stand any amount of hard usage and could be turned upside down without injury to the structure. As a notable piece of enterprise, Mr. Rogers brought from New York sets of iron shutters for the shop windows. These worked on the principle of a roll-top desk, being rolled up by means of a crank. Boys of the village would hang around the store about closing time and vie one with another for the privilege of turning the crank. Putting up the "shuts" on all stores was a sort of pre-bedtime rite and one not lightly discarded. Besides wooden shutters were useful in carrying home some combatant who had been laid out in a street fracas, of which there were many.

Continuing his enterprises in 1848 the walls of the same mill, known afterwards as the Otonabee Mill were laid or rather built, and the following year saw the mill in operation. Completing, as the chronicle says, the willing capacity of Peterborough, in the matter of flour, to 40,000 barrels of flour per annum. To-day, the mills of the Quaker Oats Co. would turn out this amount in two weeks. But Mr. Rogers was moving progress. Further on he added a plant for the manufacture of oatmeal, made by the time-honored process, that gave the meal a [illegible] flavor that was [illegible]. As a viand it might not have been appetizing, but there was no doubt of its being filling.

To complete the roster of industries he added a sawmill, and took a sporting chance in a barrels factory, helped out in sustaining the operations of a local woollen mill, added a fatherly interest in Ayre's Axe Factory, and in other ways helped out. Having about as many irons in the fire as one man could well attend to, besides the store business and the exporting of farm produce, wheat, etc., he fell to and in 1862 organized the Ashburnham Company of Volunteers, which was one of the most notably efficient companies of the 57th Battalion. He did not go with this fine lot of warriors on the Fenian Raid repulse venture, but it was said of him that he personally saw every man to the station and there were no laggards or missing. His service was recognized by the presentation of a handsome sword in 1866, on the return of the Battalion from service on the Niagara penisula.

Locally he was recognized by being elected Warden of the County, and at a time when the office sought the man. This position he held for many years, his rare good sense and efficiency in municipal matters making him a valuable man to have in considering public expenditure. He passed away in 1885.

The demolition of the old house will erase a landmark, the scene of much generous hospitality in the olden days. It has to its credit the sheltering of many marriages, and other functions. The owner was hospitable to a degree, and visitors to the locality who were at all publicly connected found a way to the house. The latch string hung outside the door, and the word welcome, if not actually inscribed on the portal, was understood to be taken as read. It is expected that the old building is now so infirm that it would not stand the rigors of removal to some other site and will probably be torn down and carted away. Some parts of it to re-appear in other shapes, the balance to be used as fuel.

TORNADO'S TOLL IS NOW 160 LIVES

MANY THOUSANDS INJURED, PROPERTY DAMAGE RUNS INTO MILLIONS.

CHICAGO, March 31.—The death list of the Palm Sunday tornadoes that swept sections of eight states to-night stood at 160.

Telegraph and telephone service with many isolated communities in the middle west had only been partly restored tonight and indications were that the toll of death and destruction would be augmented.

The known dead in six central western states numbered 105, while 55 were killed in Georgia and Alabama. The property loss in the Chicago area alone was estimated at $6,000,000, while in the other states affected the material loss was large. Elgin, Illinois, suffered the heaviest property loss, the damage there being $4,000,000.

Illinois was the hardest hit of the central states with 30 dead, more than 1,000 injured, and 2,000 made homeless.

Indiana reported 36 fatalities, and Ohio 26. Eleven were killed in Michigan, and one each in Wisconsin and Missouri.

The death list in Georgia was placed at 38 and in Alabama at 17.

QUARREL WITH HER FATHER DRIVES GIRL TO SUICIDE

NEW YORK, March 28. — Miss Norma Atkinson, twenty years old, daughter of Jay F. Atkinson, a wealthy resident of Orange, N. J., quarrelled about her music lessons with her father this morning. After the father had left for his New York office, Miss Atkinson went to the Highland Avenue Station of the Lackawanna Railroad, walked down the track 10 yards and hid behind a freight car on a siding. When she heard the Morristown express approaching she took off her hat and coat and threw herself in front of the engine. She was instantly killed.

The young woman left a note in her coat pocket addressed to her mother.

MISTAKEN BY BROTHER FOR ANIMAL AND SHOT

MAJOR CASSELMAN IS WOUNDED WHILE HUNTING FOXES NEAR MORRISBURG.

CORNWALL, March 31.—What might easily have proved a fatal accident occurred today when Major Casselman of Morrisburg was accidently shot with a .22 rifle in the hands of his younger brother, Fred. Casselman. The bullet lodged about four inches below the heart. The brothers were out for hunting and Major Casselman, who wore a colored sweater, was mistaken for a fur-bearing animal by the lad. Major Casselman was immediately rushed to the General Hospital here, where the operation of removing the bullet was successfully performed, and it is hoped that he will be able to resume his duties shortly.

PASTEURIZED MILK A GREAT FOOD

We cannot repeat to ourselves too often that milk is a splendid food. One quart of milk will supply as much protein as 7 ounces of sirloin steak, or 6 ounces of round steak, or 4.3 eggs, or 8.6 of fowl. It will also supply as much energy as 11 ounces of sirloin steak, or 12 ounces of round steak, or 8 1-2 eggs, or 10.7 ounces of fowl. Milk is the cheapest food considering its food value.

DRINK MILK SLOWLY

The proper way to drink a glass of milk is to take as long to drink it as one would take to eat a [illegible] steak. Drink it in small sips. There's a reason.

It is a real food for all classes and conditions of people, sick or well, rich or poor, old or young.

EAT BOARD'S RESTRICTIONS TO INCREASE PRICE OF WHEAT

DEPUTATION OF CANADIAN MILLERS INFORMED GOVERNMENT THAT THE SITUATION IS SERIOUS — GEORGE MACDONALD WAS SPOKESMAN.

CAUSING UNEMPLOYMENT

OTTAWA, March 31. — A material advance in the price of flour in Canada is indicated in an announcement here on behalf of the Canadian millers by George A. Macdonald of Peterboro, the head of a delegation of representative millers, which waited on the government to-day to discuss the serious situation which the Canadian mills are facing as a result of the action of the Canadian Wheat Board in continuing the restriction in the price of flour on the Canadian market and the lack of export markets for Canadian flour. The increase will be necessary to meet the increasing cost of manufacture, it is understood.

The scarcity of millfeeds in Canada is directly traceable to the lack of a market for flour and the consequent decrease in the volume of domestic milling, the millers state. They have asked the government to modify the regulations of the Wheat Board and to cooperate with the millers in inducing foreign buyers to take a reasonable proportion of Canadian as flour, rather than as wheat.

Vast quantities of flour are said to be available in the United States for export and this complicates the Canadian problem. It is said that more than 4000 men have already been thrown out of employment by the forced closing down of some of the mills, of which there are about 500 in Canada.

Leaders To Enter Contests

DOMINION LABOUR PARTY WILL RUN SIX CANDIDATES AT ELECTIONS IN JUNE NEXT.

IVENS NOMINATED

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, April 1.—The Dominion Labor party will run six candidates for city seats in the Legislature at elections in July, according to unanimous decision reached at a mass meeting held at Labor Temple. One or two candidates will be women. They are Mrs. William Kirk, Mrs. Geo Armstrong, wife of one of the strike leaders.

Among men nominated were William Ivens and Ald. John Queen, two convicted strike leaders, R. B. Russell, another strike leader who is serving a two year term at penitentiary, had been nominated by the Socialist party of Canada.

With reference to the position of convicted strike leaders who might be nominated finally by the Dominion Labor Party or any other Labor organization, it was stated that legal opinion had been obtained, that there was nothing in law to prohibit persons convicted of seditious conspiracy or common nuisance from being elected to the Legislature. Neither would they be disqualified by the fact that they might be serving a term of imprisonment, it was stated.

MEMBERS OPPOSED TO THE GRATUITY

MATTER OF A FEW DAYS UNTIL DECISION IS KNOWN.

(Canadian Press.)

OTTAWA, April 1. — When the House resumes on Monday next it is expected to be only a matter of a few days until there is an announcement from the government in regard to the sittings of the Special Committee on Soldiers Civil Re-Establishment and Pensions.

It is also intimated that before these committees begin work the the government will likely announce that it has not changed its attitude towards the cash gratuities but is as firmly opposed to them as ever.

Several returned soldier members of Parliament have already declared their opposition to the cash gratuity scheme and these say that they have not altered their opinions. They are in some cases however of the opinion that pensions should be increased in some directions and also some provision made for students and professional men who are experiencing difficulty in returning to civil life after service overseas.

There is talk of the Budget speech being delayed until the Premier's return in which case with the budget debate of three or four weeks duration, there will be no prorogation before the end of May.

Specially Fitted Cars Used For the Purpose.

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, April 1. — A special prison train, conveying fifty convicts from Edmonton to the Stoney Mountain penitentiary, passed through Winnipeg on Wednesday afternoon. The cars were especially fitted for the purpose, the windows being heavily barred and the door locks reinforced. The penitentiary at Edmonton is being closed, the prisoners serving short terms being moved to Prince Albert, and the worst characters to Stoney Mountain.

"A DOG FIGHT"

(United Press.)

LONDON, April 1. — Parliament to-day stood adjourned until April 12th. The supporters of the Prime Minister were confident that the Irish Measure would go through easily when it comes up for final passage. They saw yesterday's session as a victory for the government despite the attacks upon the policy.

The newspapers characterized yesterday's session as a "dog fight" between Lloyd George, Carson, Adamson and Joe Devlin, with Asquith, Lord Robert Cecil and others barking on the side lines.

CLAIMS BEFORE THE COMMITTEE

LEGAL COMMITTEE OF THE CITY COUNCIL CONSIDER ACCIDENT CLAIMS.

The Legal committee of the City Council met last night and ran through a considerable pile of communications on various matters. Those present were: Ald. Crowe, chairman, with Mayor McIntyre, Alderman Phelan and Alderman Copping. Alderman G. N. Gordon in a letter, expressed his regret at not being able to attend.

A memorandum regarding an accident to Wiliam Leslie was referred to the City Solicitor. A letter was read from Mayor McLean of Lindsay, regarding police court fines claimed by the Provincial government, was received.

Ald. Gordon wrote, suggesting that banks and similar institutions should pay income taxes where their branches are located instead of at the home office. It was moved by Alderman Copping, seconded by Alderman Phelan, that the matter be taken up by the Ontario Municipal Association.

A letter was read from the City Clerk pointing out that several polling sub-divisions had more than 300 names of voters. It was received.

Letters were read from Gordon & O'Brien regarding damage to the house of F. Dainton and also stating that the matter had been transferred to J. F. Strickland. The City Engineer in a letter reported the matter. Mr. Dainton reported verbally on the matter, but it was finally moved and carried that no action be taken.

No action will be taken on a letter from a local man claiming compensation for injuries received on Aylmer street on Dec. 6 last. A report on the matter was read from the City Solicitor.

C. R. Widdifield, City Solicitor, was heard in regard to prosecutions by the city officials under the O.T.A. After some discussion it was moved and carried that the Chief Constable be requested when he wishes counsel in a prosecution under the Act to call on the City Solicitor, who is paid by salary by the city and to certify when the City Solicitor prosecutes

MUSTAPHA KEMAL HAS DECLARED WAR ON GREAT BRITAIN—TURKS IN REBELLION.

CAPITAL QUIET

(United Press.)

CANADIAN WOOLENS WILL DOUBLE SIZE OF WORSTED MILL

HAVE PLACED ORDERS FOR THE MACHINERY—TWO MORE STOREYS ON M'DONNEL STREET BUILDING.

The capacity of the English worsted mill of the Canadian Woolens Limited factory on McDonnel street will be doubled when the latest plans of expansion are put into effect. This means that two stories will be added to the building now in use. Orders have been placed for the machinery, the manufacture of which will not be completed until next year. The company have erected a new building for a French worsted mill the exterior of which is almost finished. The extensions that will be made next year will be a big addition to the older building which will be doubled in both size and accommodation.

The McDonnel street factory is already an imposing establishment including the two new buildings that are under construction. They are the handsome general office buildings of the Canadian Woolens Limited and the French Worsted mill on the west side of the lot, and the long two storey building with basement and a large annex at the rear which have developed from the Bonner-Worth company's modest enterprise.

At the Auburn factory one new unit has been erected since last fall and it is reported that another is contemplated at the north end of the property. These establishments combined are rapidly becoming one of Peterboro's biggest and most flourishing industries, and there is a feeling that the new company's plans are not confined to the addition referred to in this summary.

RUSSIAN SOVIET SEEK AID FROM GREAT BRITAIN

(United Press.)

LONDON, April 1. — British authorities to-day were considering an appeal from the Russian Soviet government for aid for the Russian steamer Solovetzsky with 80 women and children, which has been fast in the ice off the Chilja River, northwest of Archangel, since January 24.

A wireless S. O. S. message last night urged immediate aid declaring the refugees aboard the vessel were in danger of starvation and were burning furniture to keep from freezing.

The Moscow Government urged Great Britain to send an icebreaker to the aid of the helpless ship, offering to pay all expenses of the rescue.

EARLY SPRING SUITS FARMERS

PETERBORO COUNTY FARMERS ARE PLEASED AT PROSPECT.

Citizens who have watched the weather for years and farmers state that they have never seen finer weather and such a bright early spring in years. The farmers are very well pleased with the outlook for good crops this year and the season is much ahead of last year. Considerable ploughing has been done and everything is being got ready for the seeding in a few weeks.

The roads in the country are in very good shape, hard and dustless and cars have been able to traverse nearly all the roads, the heavy fall last year left little moisture in the ground and this it is said is largely responsible for this ideal condition.

Yesterday the largest amount of hay brought to the market for years was brought in by farmers who are anxious to get their mows cleaned out a little. Hay at first brought $26 a ton but at the close fell to $23.

It is not long ago since hay brought $10 and at low ebb $6 and $8 but yet it is claimed that there is no money in it now at $23.

PAINTERS ARE OUT FOR AN INCREASE

A well attended meeting of the Painters' Local, No. 125, was held last night in the Labor Hall to discuss the proposed increase of 15c. an hour. After much discussion it was at last cut down to 10c an hour, but this would not be granted by some of master painters, and the result of the meeting is that unless some agreement is reached between the journeymen and the master painters before Monday the men will strike on Monday morning.

ACTION POSTPONED UNTIL TUESDAY NEXT—CHIEF SECRETARY FOR IRELAND RESIGNS.

LATE DESPATCHES

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, April 1.—Postponement of the Danish strike until next Tuesday shows, according to a despatch to the London Times from Copenhagen, that the Socialists are willing to give influential persons who they know are working for compromise, time to effect a settlement, and that the strike will not take place if the situation changes in the meantime.

A despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Co. from Copenhagen, says the Trades Union Congress in calling a general strike, requested that every effort be made by the unions to maintain order. The same despatch says King Christian on Wednesday notified Zahle that he desired to meet him and his cabinet before they quit office. He (Zahle) replied that neither he nor his ministers desired to visit the King as they could see no advantage in such a meeting.

GLASS OF SALTS IF YOUR KIDNEYS HURT

Eat less meat if you feel backachy or have Bladder trouble.

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.

ST. LOUIS, March 30.—The Third Baptist Church spent $2,389 in 1919 for advertising the church services in the daily newspapers, according to the report of Rev. W. H. He declared that advertising in the newspapers should be continued because people look there to ascertain where to go to be entertained or instructed.

GALEDONIAN CLUB MAKING PROGRESS

FOOTBALL CLUB MAKE A GOOD START—PIPE BAND SUGGESTED FOR THE CITY.

The Caledonian Club Athletic Club hed a business meeting last evening in the Woodmen of the World hall, at 7.30 p.m., Mr. Alex. Dick president, in the chair.

Th meeting decided to formulate a separate club from the Caledonian Club, which ended in the members accepting the title as Caledonian Athletic Club.

The colors of the team will be Royal Blue sweaters, white pants and stockings to match.

During the evening the secretary, Mr. Alex. McArthur, announced that he had received two splendid donations—one from Mr. G. N. Gordon, for $10, and one from Mr. Lawson, Heintzman Hall, for $5, which proved a great asset to the financial basis in running the club, and a vote of thanks was accorded to the gentlemen for their generosity.

A practice will take place on Friday morning at the Exhibition grounds at 9.30 a.m., and any football player who has not associated himself with any club will please turn out.

The following players have promised to assist: Ralph Brinton, D. Knox, John Perrie, J. Shaw, E. G. Hardie, C. Fenner, W. Cherry, A. McLeish, F. Bouness, W. Petrie, A. Hardie, T. McArthur, Alex. Dick ,and Alex. McArthur.

For this occasion Mr. Harry Taylor has promised to act in the capacity of trainer to the club.

Pipe Band.

The enthusiasm that prevailed at meeting to inaugurate a pipe band in Peterboro gave Piper MacDonald every encouragement to go ahead, and he has been promised the help of eight young men in his endeavour to accomplish his desire. There is still plenty of talent wanted for this band and if desiring to get any information of such, may do so by applying to Piper MacDonald, R. R. 5, Peterboro.

POTSDAM PALACES EMPTY AND FAMOUS GARDEN IN RUINS

GERMAN RESTAURANTS HAVE LOTS OF FOOD—STREETS ARE LITTERED, TRAVELER SAYS.

NEW YORK.—Frederick M. Fenwick, of 10 Bridge Street, who returned last week from a business trip to Germany, having left Berlin just before the Kapp revolt, says that there is in the capital a strong sentiment in favor of a Hohenzollern restoration.

"I talked with men of all ranks in Berlin," he said, "and the general opinion they expressed regarding the Government of Germany was in favor of a constitutional monarchy, with the son of the former Crown Prince as King of Prusia. He is the hope of the Hohenzollerns and is carefully guarded from harm somewhere in Europe, but the exact spot is a secret known only to a very few."

"Berlin has very much changed since the war," continued Mr. Fenwick, "and is nothing like the gay capital and flourishing centre of 1914. The houses and the stores are dingy for want of paint; the streets are dirty, and the gutters are filled with all kinds of refuse. The familiar receptacles for rubbish of former days have disappeared.

Praises Berlin Taxicabs.

"Only one sign of the former prosperity remains, and that is the taxicabs, which are far superior to any seen on the streets of New York. They are clean, comfortable and speedy. The fare is three times the amount indicated on the meter, but that, of course, is cheap compared with the taxicab fares we are accustomed to at home.

"Nearly every man in the streets was wearing a uniform of some sort or another, but there was no saluting of officers or standing at attention and clicking heels together, which was such a familiar sight in Germany before the war.

"There was plenty of food in the hotels and restaurants at reasonable prices in American money, but dear from the German point of view. Although the people had suffered severely from the lack of coal during the last two winters in Berlin, they had not touched the fine trees in the Tiegarten. The big palace in Unter den Linden from the balcony of which William II. made his historic speech in August, 1914, declaring war against France, is empty, and so are the palaces at Potsdam. The rooms have been stripped bare ,and the tombs have been robbed of all precious stones and decorations from the marble walls. The famous gardens and hot-houses which were the pride of Sans Souci have gone to ruin, and the plants are all dead. The rooms with Voltaire's writing scribbled on the bare walls remain, and the shell room in the new palace at Charlottenberg is intact; but nothing else remains for the future American tourist to visit.

Good Service in German Hotels.

"The service in the hotels in Berlin, Hamburg, Bremen, and other cities is very good indeed, and every courtesy is shown to Americans.

"The train service on the main lines was pretty good, and food can only be obtained in the restaurants at the principal stations. Hamburg was the best city I visited. It was spotless in its cleanly appearance, and the streets were so neat that I carried an empty match box to drop it into a receptacle because I did not dare to throw it down in the roadway with the stern-eyed guardian of the law watching me. The shipping of the port was improving every week, and steamships were leaving Hamburg for China and Japan, as well as for American ports.

"The North German Lloyd and panies were still paying part salaries to their officers and pensions to the employees who had retired before the war, I was informed. Hamburgers were more hopeful about the future outlook than the Berliners and were going about their business as they did before the war ,but they did not show much confidence in the Ebert Government and seemed to prefer a constitutional monarchy. I do not think there is much danger of the Bolshevist element obtaining control of Hamburg, as the inhabitants are too sensible.

"Bremen is a dead city, and its people are full of gloom because the fine docks constructed in 1914 are empty; and the same can be said of Bremerhaven, 30 miles away. The stores are full of merchandise, a good deal of which had evidently been manufactured a long time ago and kept in the ware-houses until the war was over."

CANADIAN RAILWAYS.

The annual statement of Hon. Dr. Reid, Minister of Railways, showing a deficit of $47,000,000 in the first year's operations of the Canadian National Railways, uncovers a problem that will soon have to be settled No matter what descision is reached the people will have to pay for one thing is certain that the rates will have to be raised and the money taken out of the pockets of the people in that way, or else the deficit will have to be made good out of the treasury, leaving the rates as they are. The report of the Minister is not very comforting to friends of public ownership. A deficit of $47,000,000 in the government owned lines does not compare very favourably with the fact that the Canadian Pacific Railway paid its usual dividend of 10 per cent. during the year. Unfortunately, too, the report indicates that this year's operations will be even more costly.

THE BACK YARD GARDENS.

During the last years of the war when food had to be saved for our allies overseas, the people of Canadian cities were urged to develop the back yard gardens to their fullest extent and to utilize vacant lots for the cultivation of vegetables. Hundreds of citizens, feeling it a patriotic duty, embarked upon gardening enterprises with profit not only to their pockets, but to their health. On the whole the scheme was a success, for enough vegetables were grown in the city to very substantially help the meanus in many a household. Last year with the war over and the patriotic impetus being absent, the back yard gardens dwindled to their pre-war dimensions. It was a mistake that should not be repeated this year. The world is still suffering from lack of food and prices are showing no downward tendency. The task of raising food supplies should not be left altogether to the farmer and the market gardener. Many citizens proved during the war that they could raise in their own yards the greater part of the vegetables they required Then why not go back this year to the system that had such satisfactory results in the days of battle? A back yard garden and the high cost of living are mortal enemies. It would be good business to bring the two into conflict again this season.

THE REVIVAL OF SPORT.

The interest that Peterborough's manufacturing concerns are taking in athletic sports this year is a healthy and encouraging sign. There will be less unrest, a more contented shop personnel, closer relations between the heads of the firms and their employees, a better spirit all around and a noticeable increase in production as a result of the embarking of such firms as the Canadian General Electric Company, the De Laval Company and Canadian Woollens into the sporting world. These firms and other manufacturing concerns in Peterborough are showing a spirit that will improve the efficiency of their plants and make the condition of their employees much more pleasant There is nothing that will develop esprit de corps in an industrial concern more than a winning ball team or a champion rowing eleven, a team that every ... general manager in his swivel chair to the youngster who sweeps out can and will support. The interest that develops in such a team in a manufacturing plant makes the daily grind less of a drudgery and has a tonic effect on the whole concern. Plenty of healthy, manly amusement similarly improves the living conditions of the city as a whole. People are glad to live in a community where recreation of a sane, helpful type is to be found and the Examiner rejoices that the firms mentioned have recognized the truth of this fact and have taken steps to encourage the participation of their employees in the various summer sports.

The City Council can do its part in this splendid movement by making the blessing of daylight saving possible. Much of the success of the various leagues that are being formed hinges on the decision of the Council in regard to summer time. Under the old conditions games in the evenings were hardly possible; the extra hour of daylight at the end of the day given by the new time makes it easy to hold baseball and football matches after supper, a very desirable condition of affairs both for those who play and those who only look on.

THE GRATUITY QUESTION.

The Examiner was asked by "Veteran" in a letter in last night's issue if this paper favoured any of the bonus schemes proposed by any of the soldier organizations. The Examiner's position in regard to gratuities has been frequently stated in these columns, but for the benefit of our correspondent we will say once again that the Examiner is not in favour of any gratuity scheme that involves the indiscriminate paying out of cash bonuses to every one who served, regardless of the circumstances of the recipient and regardless of whether or not assistance is needed. The Examiner believe that the first duty of Canada is to make sure that the widows and children and dependent mothers of the men who made the supreme sacrifice, and the returned soldiers who were badly disabled are adequately taken care of ,and that their pensions and allowances are on such a scale that they are able to keep themselves in comfort. That much at least is coming to them from the country for which they fought, and every Canadian should insist that the government does justice to these cases.

Of all the gratuity schemes proposed, the original G.W.V.A. re-establishment plan appealed to the Examiner as the most deserving of support, for it, as first drafted, was based on the need of the recipient, that is it was designed to help those who who by reason of their war service needed further assistance to re-establish themselves in civil life. The scheme had been carefully considered and if it could have been financed without too great a strain upon the country, would have done much to solve the problems of re-establishment. Unfortunately, and undoubtedly against the better counsels of the leaders of the G.W.V.A., the re-establishment scheme was almost completely changed at the recent Dominion convention. The clauses in regard to the need of the recipient were elimanated and the scheme turned into a demand for cash bonuses for every one, general and private rich and poor alike, and the main difference between it and other gratuity schemes now is in the matter of amounts.

It is only a simple statement of facts to say that among returned men themselves there are many who do not favour the cash bonus scheme, although, undoubtedly they will say, with "Veteran," "that if the government asks me to accept a thousand dollars, naturally I will say "sure."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The marriage of Mary Pickford and Doug Fairbanks seems to have created more interest than the League of Nations or the crisis in Germany.

If the housing situation does not soon improve, we can look for adds worded like this: Wanted—a lot centrally located on which to pitch a tent. Must be free from thistles and burdocks.

Herbert Hoover's hat is in the American presidential ring. There has been much less worthy headgear in the same position.

SANDRA THE JEALOUS

BY JANE PHILLIPS

LIFE'S CONTRADICTIONS.

CHAPTER LXXXVI

How strange life is! How more than strange were certain periods of my life! It is a terrible thing to be jealous of the living, to feel that one you love is spending time and thought with another. But it is infinitely worse to be jealous of the one who has superseded you in the affections of the man you love, when you feel that he still gives her the greater affection. One might fight a living personality of which one was jealous; but how impossible—and how wicked—to fight one who has passed on!

It had been several days since I had read Leola's Letters—days in which I thought of nothing else, felt almost as if I had had a glimpse of her living, so strong an impression did those written words make on me.

If Everett were kind I would think of what she had written—if he never had, never could love another. That was it. He could not love me because his love was filled with Leola. And I was living each day to love him more deeply; to long for his love in return more passionately.

At times I felt I must open my heart to him, must tell him how I suffered because of his fealty to Leola, must tell him I knew why he didn't love me. Then my pride would intervene—and yet I had so much pride, perhaps, as to hope that someday I would win him.
